

Oakland Tribune.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1911

THE SMARTEST FASHIONS OF WELL-DRESSED FOLK

Home for Thanksgiving

ELEANOR DEAR:

We went out to Jack's mother's country home to spend Thanksgiving and had such a delightful family reunion.

Betty is having several of her college chums there over the holidays, which will make a jolly party of young people to add zest to the company. I wish you and Bob were here, too. The dinner—well, I cannot possibly describe all the goodies that will grace the table. Enough to say, it will be a typical, old-fashioned New England Thanksgiving feast.

Jack and I met Betty and her friends at the train. I know you will be interested in their costumes, for they were all the latest fashions. One of the most attractive was a Norfolk suit in seal-brown corduroy, with very broad revers on the jacket of white corduroy. Broad, folded-back cuffs were also of white, and an inverted V-shaped panel set in the skirt was of white. An oval buckle of dull gold held the belt in place. She wore a large white beaver hat with a rolled brim, and a white fox neckpiece. A pretty blonde was enveloped in a big, comfy blanket coat of pumpkin yellow, with broad revers of white ratine. Her muff and boa were pointed fox.

The hat she wore was decidedly chic: an odd little bell shape of black velvet, that fitted well down over her face and was trimmed with a bright green silk bow, standing high on top of the crown and folded underneath the brim at the back.

Betty had on a stunning suit of blue cloth, cut on narrow lines. The coat showed a military collar and large revers of blue velvet striped with white. An applied piece on the coat was cut in curves and stitched in place. This trimming was carried out on the skirt.

Bright red buttons added a brilliant touch of color to the costume.

Her hat of black velvet was trimmed only with a wreath of large white roses.

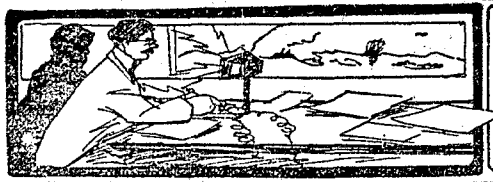

One of the other girls wore a large topcoat of sage-green camel's-hair cloth, and a little gray pokebonnet trimmed with green and faced with old-rose silk.

Time flies so quickly, dear, I must run along now and take care of household affairs.

Let me hear soon from you. With love to all. Yours,

MADGE.

ALEXANDRA CASTS OFF GLOOM

After 18 Months' Seclusion to Give a Big Dinner Party.

Princess "Pat" Determined to Be On Show in Canada.

(By CHESTER OVERTON.)

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Queen Alexandra after eighteen months of widowhood and seclusion, is at last opening Sandringham House to a big party which is to take place December 1 for a dinner to commemorate her 75th birthday. The party will include King Haakon and Queen Maude of Norway, ex-King Manuel, Princess Marguerite, Prince and Princess Christian. The court fester for the occasion will be the Marquis de Soveral, the former Portuguese minister. The Austrian ambassador, Count Albert Mensdorff, is also expected to amuse the ladies.

Princess Henry of Battenburg will remain in England only two days and then will hurry to Spain to be with her daughter, Queen Victoria Eugenie, for an interesting and almost annual event.

Meanwhile little Princess Mary is very depressed at the absence of her mother, Queen Mary. She is staying at York cottage, Sandringham, under the eye of Grandma Alexandra.

BACK IN LONDON.

Princess Patricia of Connaught, the prettiest member of the royal family, is back in London after a long visit to her sister, the Crown Princess of Sweden. She tells her intimates that she dreads leaving England to join her parents in Canada, but she sails early in December on the Empress of Ireland. The same steamer that took the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, Princess Patricia is devoted to outdoor sports and will enjoy the skating and tobogganing at Ottawa. At the same time she will miss the informal dances in London, which are constantly given in her honor, and the more or less unconventional life which she is to lead here.

"I shall be always on show in Canada," Princess Pat told a girl chum recently. The Princess has several great American friends, including Mrs. Montagu Elliott, who was Miss Fret and Mrs. Sheridan, formerly Mrs. Fret, but there seems no immediate prospect of her joining them in the ranks of matrons. She absolutely declines to entertain any matrimonial schemes since her one great romance with a member of her father's suite was nipped in the bud, her then suitor afterward marrying an heiress. She won't hear even of the continental princelings whom her parents picked out for her.

Princess Pat remains a romantic and somewhat pathetic figure at court.

LADY CONARD IN TOWN.

One of the few American hostesses entertaining in town now is Lady Conard, who will spend most of the winter at No. 35 Bruton street, although she will have week parties occasionally at her husband's country seat, Nevill Holt. Among the guests at her last dinner party were Mrs. Ava Astor, Lady Ancaster, Mrs. Rupert Beckett, Lady Marjorie Manners, Lord Curzon and Lord Alexander Thynne.

Many of her compatriots are doing their best for Queen Alexandra's operatic venture, putting in frequent appearances in the boxes. Among the most faithful is the Marchioness of Dufferin, who is a genuine connoisseur of music and a talented musician. J. J. Van Allen had a party of friends at Hammerstein's and the Duchess of Marlborough has made three visits. The opera, is the only thing that is keeping society amused nowadays for never has there been such a dearth of private entertaining. The only reason given for this dullness is the absence of the comic page problem is likely to form the subject for gossip before many moons wane. The Marquis of Tweeddale is 85 years old and in failing health and when the time comes for the succession of his son, Lord Clifford, it will probably be disputed by the Hay Newton family who are descended from Richard Hay Newton, the second Marquis who succeeded to the estates left in the 18th century.

MARRIAGE IS CAUSE.

It all arises out of the marriage of a pretty Lancashire girl, Dorothy Hay, daughter of a sergeant in the British army, who wedded John Hay, son of the second father of the second Marquis. It is alleged that Dorothy's first husband was alive long after her second marriage which is, therefore, void. The question was raised by the fact that in the year 1878, it is only in recent years that Dorothy has appeared in Burke's peerage and even now that family volume does not refer to her marriage. The Hay Newtons believe they stand an excellent chance of making a fortune out of the Countess of Chesterfield, Glasgow and Cranbrook.

ST. BERNARD DOG SAVES WOMEN FROM DEATH

GENEVA, Nov. 25.—A pathetic Alpine story comes from the Grand St. Bernard Hospice. Two Italian women, one aged about 30 and the other 25, were found by the St. Bernard dogs near the summit of the mountain, but in the early morning, exhausted from fatigue and cold, the monks carried the women to the hospice.

The older woman on coming around first—her daughter-in-law is seriously ill—explained that her two sons had been working at Martigny for several months, but had been suddenly called away to the war, and had left her penniless. The women, who have relations at a village near Milan, attempted to cross the St. Bernard Pass, as they could not buy tickets for the railway, and were only saved by dogs from the consequences of their rash act. After a rest in the hospice under the kindly care of the monks, the women, it is hoped, will be able to return to Italy.

William Jennings Bryan recently approves of Senator La Follette. We have always been taught that birds of a feather, etc.—Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 25.—Tolstoy's estate at Yasnaya is the subject of a tragic-comedy. Tolstoy desired it to be divided among the peasants. His family, who in business matters did not often see eye to eye with him, want to sell it to the government.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

TOLSTOY'S ESTATE IS SUBJECT OF COMEDY

(Special to THE TRIBUNE by International News Service.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 25.—Tolstoy's estate at Yasnaya is the subject of a tragic-comedy. Tolstoy desired it to be divided among the peasants. His family, who in business matters did not often see eye to eye with him, want to sell it to the government.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

They are asking $250,000, but the government appraisers fixed the outside value at $100,000. The government, however, is willing to pay $250,000 for the dead, but they will not submit to a measure of control of the family.

Among Persons and Things in Public Eye Are--

LAUNCHING OF THE GIULIO CESARE

ROYAL COMMAND IS CAUSE OF MUCH UNHAPPINESS

(Special to THE TRIBUNE by International News Service.)

(By HENRY T. LOVATT.)

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The unusual high favor in which an American peeress has been placed by Queen Mary, who has made her court practically an English preserve, has made the mother of four charming children happy, and the children themselves unhappy.

The peeress is the Duchess of Manchester, who was Miss Helena Zimmerman of Cincinnati, and the children are Lord Mandeville, the heir, who is 8 years old; his brother, Lord Edward Montagu, who is 5; Lady Mary Montagu, who has arrived at the distinction of 10 years, and Lady Ellen, who is 3.

There was a sad parting with these four when "mother" was commanded to attend the Durbar, for it meant that the children would have to spend Christmas at Kimbolton Castle, in Huntingdonshire, the Duke's English country seat, under the guardianship of tutors and governesses, while their parents would be far away in hot Bombay. But that is the fortune of the court's favorites. The Duchess was quite wretched at the thought of the broken holiday season and at first considered seriously taking the children with her, but that plan was officially called impossible. So the Duke and Duchess have started for the South of Europe, where they will embark at Marseilles for Brindisi for Christmas.

For the Durbar came the Duchess has planned several gorgeous entertainments and after that the ducal couple will go to Japan, then cross the Pacific and visit the Zimmerman home in America. So that it will not be until the beginning of 1912 that they will return home and then Christmas will be all over.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

MME. CURIE AND FOUR STUDENTS

ALL ABOUT THEM

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

The Giulio Cesare, one of the 22,000-ton dreadnoughts which were started in 1910, was launched at Scastelpotente two weeks ago. She will travel at a speed of 22 knots and carries thirteen 12-inch guns.

The name of Mme. Curie has been dragged into a suit for separation brought by the wife of Prof. Langevin of Paris. The professor left his wife some time ago because of jealousy. She charges she had reason to be jealous of Mme. Curie.

The pig-tailed army; Imperial Chinese forces of the old school at musketry drill.

Trafalgar Day, in London, with all its patriotic reminiscences, was celebrated with fervor and reverence. The statue of Nelson, most romantic of Britain's heroes, was decorated, and many beautiful wreaths were placed at its base.

Great Britain's largest and best armored battleship, King George V., was launched successfully. The warship was christened by His Majesty's aunt, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Hol

Competition Keen for Honor of Owning Largest Liner in World.

of the following: From the emperor of China, a magnificent 12-fold screen of rosewood, enriched with panels of cloisonné enamel subjects in colored composition, lacquer and pearl inlay; from the prince regent of China, a pair of standard of Beidagong red lacquer, five-

The king has been pleased to allow his presents to be shown in the Victoria and Albert museums, where they are arranged in one of the spaces in the Loan Court. The dressing table, the chair, and stool, by the way, are of special interest, and are

Mr. Jones, aged 32, a nurse, to the altar with his bride in this city this afternoon. There is a bit of romance behind the marriage. The doctor brought his first wife to a cancer hospital here about two years he presented himself at Madame Kohn's about midday on Tuesday last, attended by a couple of friends in a motor car. Despite the objection of the two governesses who were the only occupants of the house at the time, Prince Louis took of Richelieu. An influential committee has been appointed, and has secured the patronage of the French Academy without distinction of opinion, and the representatives of learned societies, writers, and artists to whom the memory of the patronage of the French Academy without distinction of opinion, and the representatives of learned societies, writers, and artists to whom the memory of will not have to undergo any special expense, as they have to give their cars an annual coat of paint for the inspection in May, until when this "color" law will not come generally into force.

QUAY ELOQUENT FOR 'LO'

BIRCHALL BLOODTHIRSTY

compensation against Mr. Barton, a farmer, who employed him. This decision was reversed yesterday by the Court of Appeals, which held that the accident did not arise out of the man's employment.

SUZETTE'S LETTER and Other SOCIETY NEWS

(Continued From Page 6)

Miss Ruth Winslow, Miss Evelyn Cunningham and Miss Genevieve Cunningham.

The drawing-room at the Stone tea was a most attractive study in decoration, with lovely pink Maryland roses, and the dining-room was most attractive with bright Christmas berries and greens.

CHARMING DANCER GREETED BY CROWD.

A large audience made up of many representative people greeted the efforts of Miss Rose Marie Zill, the charming young dancer, who has proven herself so great an artist. It was said last year that the world had grown mad on dancing, but that was hardly true. The world has come into an appreciation of dancing as a fine art, and so we have artists who portray for us the poetry of motion, or who express by dancing the noblest emotions. Such an artist is Miss Zill, who comes to California after careful training in the larger cities abroad.

The old days of just dancing school methods are over. Children must do something more than just kindergarten steps. They must move on to higher forms of the art of dancing—to those forms which make for physical culture as well as for grace and beauty. And Miss Zill illustrated all three in the program which she gave on Thursday evening at the Ebell Club. Her work has often been compared to that of Miss Maude Allen, but it is of a finer type, more picturesque, with the fire of genius and the youthfulness of spring in it. Some of her interpretative dances were splendidly given, notably the interpretation from Ibsen and the Shadow Dance from Dinarah. Her dancing was a real revelation to those who had expected a fine program, but hardly one representing such high ideals and such dances full of grace and beauty.

Among the prominent women on our side of the bay who were Miss Rose Marie Zill's patronesses were: Mrs. Frank C. Havens, Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. Blanche L. Boardman, Mrs. Oscar Luning, Mrs. John F. Connors, Mrs. John Charles Adams, Miss Mollie Connors, Mrs. Frederick Stolp, Mrs. J. P. Neville, Mrs. Edward Engls, Mrs. Harry Bishop, Mrs. F. B. Dallam.

There was a large attendance at Ebell Hall, and the dances were exceptionally well staged and very beautifully given.

OAKLANDERS COMING HOME FOR HOLIDAYS.

Many of our friends who have been traveling this autumn are making an effort to return to arrive home for the holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Requa have been spending the past six weeks in New York and write that they will arrive in Oakland on Thanksgiving Day, and they will probably be in time for the family dinner which Mrs. Requa is giving at Highlands. She usually has as her guests all the Longs and the Mark Requas, with Mrs. A. N. Towne of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Worden.

Mrs. A. A. Moore arrived home on Friday and there will be a large reunion of the Moore family. And it will be a Thanksgiving indeed for Mrs. Moore and Margaret Moore when they think of the terrible typhoon which the good ship Korea weathered.

The members of the Crellin party are turning their faces homeward and it is probable that Mrs. Crellin, Miss Mona and Miss Jane Crellin and Lloyd Crellin will spend the coming holidays in their Oakland home. Miss Alice Knowles, who has accompanied them on their European tour, will return with them. They are leaving London today and are planning to come directly to the coast.

MRS. WILLIAM COLBY IS A HOSTESS.

Yesterday Mrs. William Colby was a hostess, entertaining several friends at luncheon in her Berkeley home. A game of bridge followed the informal luncheon.

Mrs. Colby was formerly Miss

THANKSGIVING SILVERWARE

We are displaying a handsome assortment of new designs in Silverware and Carving Sets.

DIAMOND RING

FREE

to one of our customers. Ask for a ticket.

P. C. PULSE CO.

1059 BROADWAY.

Rachel Vrooman, the eldest daughter of the late Senator Vrooman.

MEMBERS OF LEAGUE PLANNING MEETING.

Cards have been sent out to many prominent women on our side of the bay announcing that "there will be a members' meeting of the California Civic League in the ballroom of the Palace Hotel on Wednesday afternoon, November 29, at 3:30 p.m., to perfect plans of organization, Executive session. College Equal Suffrage League."

Of the College Equal Suffrage League Charlotte Anita Whitney is president and Genevieve Allen executive secretary. The league has proven to be one of California's strongest organizations and it has a future before it of much promise.

Among the well-known members of the College Equal Suffrage League are Miss Whitney, Miss Eva Powell, Miss Ethel Moore, Mrs. J. R. Farrell, Mrs. C. H. King, Mrs. Charles H. Rowe, Miss Mollie Connors, Mrs. A. D. Thompson, Miss Matilda Brown, Miss Annie Florence Brown, Mrs. Harry Maxwell, Mrs. Frank C. Havens, Mrs. John Cook, Mrs. J. Cal Ewing, Mrs. Frederick Stolp, Mrs. Sarah Borland, Mrs. John Valentine, Miss Ethel Valentine, Mrs. Walter Starr, Miss Bessie Palmer, Mrs. Elsie Marwedel, Mrs. Frank L. Brown, Mrs. Kendall Morgan, Mrs. A. A. Moore, Mrs. Walter Henry.

The majority of the women graduates of the University of California bid fair to belong to the California

Civic League, which will make it one of the strongest organizations of women on the coast.

IDA AND ELSIE, ST. LEON, WITH POLY OF THE CIRCUS, MACDONOUGH

MACDONOUGH

Judging from the extraordinary numerical and artistic strength of the present Lambari musical opera company and the unusual success now being enjoyed by the organization across the bay, it is safe to predict that two immense audiences await the presentation in this city of the two important works to be sung here on Sunday and Monday nights, November 26 and 27.

While the Lambari company enjoyed a several weeks' stay in Oakland the past summer at so-called popular prices, the organization had been reduced to rather abbreviated form, but since leaving Oakland several weeks ago Mr. Lambari has augmented every department of his company, with the result that it is now said the well known impresario has far eclipsed any past effort he has ever made in the organization of a grand opera enterprise.

The company has recently enjoyed unprecedented success, and musical writers across the bay are unqualified in their endorsement of Mr. Lambari's songbirds as being the best he has ever brought to the Pacific coast.

The old favorites of the organization, such as Mmes. Levy, Bosetti, Glana, Cecchetti, Antola, Giovannini, Scleretti, Mon and others, as well as the more capable members of the old chorus and orchestra, have been retained. The principal singers mentioned above have repeated their successes in Los Angeles, San Francisco and other important cities since leaving Oakland in the fall. None of the Idora favorites will be heard in principal roles, however, at the coming Macdonough theater engagement of the Lambari company. The two big productions to be staged will have entirely new casts so deals with. Mrs. Wetherell, in this play, has the ordinary number of olive branches. One of her sons marries an actress, and to keep her in luxury forges his mother's name to a note. His actions cause her much sorrow and heartache. Another son is about to marry a frivolous creature, but Mrs. Wetherell prevents that match by telling the girl of her son's lack of wealth. There are the girls of the house with their little love stories. The twins must not be forgotten. They have a naval battle in the bath tub, a real nose-bleeding fight in the parlor, and make much trouble for their mother.

FIFI RONEY'S POODLES AT THE BELL

DAVID BISPHAM TO APPEAR AT YE LIBERTY

WILL KING, "COLUMBIA"

The beauty of "Mother" is that it ends happily, and the audience leaves the theater wishing for another act, reluctant to leave the ever-watchful mother. While the play makes a strong appeal to the sympathies it also tells the story of the lighter side of events at the fireside.

Six months is the record "Mother" enjoyed in New York city at the Hackett and Circle theaters. Wm. A. Brady, the famous manager, whose fame is always related with the success of wholesome plays, is directing the engagement of "Mother" at the Macdonough.

BELL

As an evidence that the best endeavor to get the Sullivan and Considine time, the announcement is made that Will Oakland, for years the tenor soloist with Lew Dockstader's minstrels, will be heard at the Bell the coming week. Few lyric tenors of today have the reputation of Oakland, who, it is conceded, possesses one of the rarest high tenor voices on the vaudeville stage. Having a phenomenal voice, Mr. Oakland has been able to corral about all the work he needed by making phonograph records, for which he received $100 a record. Mr. Oakland will render, aside from some of the late hits, such old-time favorites as "The Rose of Killarney," "When You and I were Young, Maggie," and "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

There will always be a place in vaudeville for reputable animal acts, first because children are perhaps more given to admiration of the little canines than they are to other acts. This is due perhaps to the fact that most every boy has a dog or cat as a playmate. And children seem to understand animals far better than grownups. Mme. Fifi Roney has a troupe of the most wonderful performing dogs in vaudeville. All are French poodles, many of which have taken prizes at dog shows in both Paris and London. It is expected that patrons of the Bell will find Mme. Fifi Roney's poodle troupe one of the very cleverest dog acts that has found its way over the circuit.

George A. Beane, who will be remembered as the funny Sultan in Henry Sawyer's "Sultan of Sulu," will be among the stellar attractions the coming week. It is Mr. Beane's initial vaudeville appearance in many years, and his forsaking the legitimate for vaudeville is received with much favor. He will offer a farce, "A Show Girl," which will give him opportunity for portraying a character of "the aged farmer," who has advertised for a wife, and which ought to permit of not end of bright comedy. The action is swift, the dialogue clever, with just a far as principals are concerned. Signor Guerrieri will preside over a magnificent orchestra, much larger and better than that provided him in the past. In fact, the engagement here will seem almost like the visit of a new and bigger organization, but the name Lambari remains and that means that the best will be given.

(Continued on Page 10)

THE COURTIER AT THE ORPHEUM

Theater patrons of Oakland are too familiar with the success of the new Lambari company across the bay, now at the Cort theater, to look to those called for anything further by way of detail. The most interesting feature of the return visit of Mr. Lambari's forces, aside from the fact itself, is his determination to give Oakland music lovers two big "royalty operas"—works of the first magnitude—entirely new to this city and the entire Pacific coast. "Present day opera" is the way Signor Lambari expresses it. The importance of such works as "Phais," the most widely discussed operatic work of modern times, is better known when it is realized that a heavy royalty is exacted by the publishers every time it is produced. Likewise "Samson et Delilah," which other stupendous work will be included in the repertory at the Macdonough theater.

Mme. Casazza, the gifted mezzo-soprano, will appear in the role of Delilah in the big Saint-Saens production. Mme. Casazza recently came direct from Milan, Italy, for the primary object of singing the leading feminine part in the big Biblical opera. Opening her American tour at Los Angeles with the Lambari company, this eminent artist sang herself straight into the hearts of the Angelenos and repeated her success on Tuesday evening in the city across the bay. One of Italy's foremost artists, Mme. Casazza's last success in her native country was in the role of Azucena, the gypsy queen, in Verdi's ever-popular opera, "Il Trovatore." The possession of a melodiously rich, pure and voluminous mezzo-soprano voice, she is also endowed by nature with the physical attributes that go so far toward making the great actress.

Appearing with Mme. Casazza in the big Saint-Saens masterpiece at the Macdonough theater will be the distinguished Italian tenor, Signor Carlo Carica, for three years leading tenor at Covent Garden, and last season with the Boston grand opera company. Signor Carica will assume the Samsonian part. The splendid musical piece will be given an elaborate presentation, as Signor Lambari is solicitous to give the music-loving element an opportunity to experience what it means to give a grand opera on the Pacific coast, with real grand opera artists. He has gone to immense expense and outlay to provide for his patrons the very best of the operatic market affords, and indications are that a rare treat is in store for those who are fond of "present day opera."

"POLLY OF THE CIRCUS." An event of the theatrical season will be

Miss Ida St. Leon in "Polly of the Circus." Frederic Thompson's magnificent production, to be seen at the Macdonough for three nights and two matinees, starting on Thursday matinee, November 30. This wholesome and simple story is one of the most delightful plays of recent years. It would be difficult to imagine a prettier scene than that with which the first act of "Polly" closes. It is there that the young girl of the circus world gets her first insight into things that are higher and better than, as she regards consciousness and realizes her helplessness, the minister reads to her, at her request, those memorable lines from the book of Ruth: "Entreat me not to leave thee; for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge." The curtain falls and the story is begun. Pathos is mingled through the play with no less excellent humor than Polly's slang, when she first converses with the minister about his people. She calls him a "sky pilot" and, talking of her business as compared with his ministerial duties, says: "One year you give them the rottenest kind of a show and they eat it up; the next year you give 'em a knockout and it's a frost." Those are but random examples. The circus scenes of the third act are revelations of stagecraft. It's all there, the rings, the horses, elephants, the clowns and acrobats and everything and everybody else. The setting of the last scene of the third act is as wonderful as it is beautiful—the circus trains and wagons winding their way up the pathways, while Polly remains once more and forever behind and with the man after her own heart. Taken all in all, "Polly of the Circus" offers more pure fun and wholesome entertainment than any play has had in a long time, hence its success

"Mother," which comes here on December 3, 4 and 5 at the Macdonough theater, is not a play of sentiment, unless it be that sentimentality that encourages happiness, joy, wholesomeness and hearty laughter, making all of us better for having had a bit of eternal gladness. It is true there are many tears in this latest New York success. What story of the typical American home could be devoid of the disappointments incident to raising a family? But it is the bright side of the family life "Mother"

OAKLAND Orpheum

Sunset Oakland 711; Home Phone A-3333
12th and Clay Sts. Week Beginning Sunday Matinee, Nov. 26.
MATINEE EVERY DAY!

REMEMBER, Entire Vaudeville Bill Changed Weekly Now!

"THE COURTIER"

D. A. Rolfe's Elaborate Musical Offering.

Marvelous Comedy Cyclists
Mosher, Hayes and Mosher
Direct from Alhambra Theater, London.

Six Bracks
Famous European Athletes.

Raymond, Burton and Bain
In a Tabloid Musical Comedy, entitled, "The Commercial Man."

Arlington Four
The Singing and Dancin' Messenger Boys.

New Dances by the
Four Fords
America's Premier Dancers.

Josie Heather
The Winsome Singing Comedienne, in entirely new selections.

New Daylight Motion Pictures

Jane Boynton
In a Pianologue.

EXTRA Operatic Concert
Each Night
At 8 O'clock
By Enlarged
Orpheum Orchestra

BELL

THIS WEEK

Matinee 2:30. Tonight 3 Shows, 6, 7:30, 9.

The Blue Ribbon Show!

WITH THE FOLLOWING BLUE RIBBON STARS:

WILL OAKLAND,
FIFI RONEY'S POODLES,
SEVEN BYRNE BROS.; 8 BELLS,
GEORGE BEANE COMPANY,
POWDER & CHAPMAN,
AND THE BLUE RIBBON STAR,
MARIE DORR,

Ye Liberty

PLAY HOUSE

Marjorie Rameau and the Bishop Players in the Dramatic Success,

BARRIERS BURNED AWAY

From E. F. Rice's Novel of the same title. Matinees, All Seats 25c. Evenings—25c and 50c. Tomorrow Night, Opening Performance of "The Rose of the Rancho." Entire house 25c.

Home Phone A-2857

COLUMBIA THEATER OAKLAND

10th St. Bldg. and Wash.

Commencing TONIGHT and All Week

Dillon & King's
Big Musical
Comedy Co.
Mostly Girls

POPULAR PRICES
10c—20c—30c
Two Shows Nightly
7:45 and 9.
Matinee at 3 p. m.—10c
Except Sundays & Holidays

The Girl Question
Settled Every Friday Night.
Chorus Girls' Contest.

Presenting the Jolly Musical Revue
'IN MEXICO'
A Mexican relish served continuously and well seasoned with pretty girls, funny comedians and handsome costumes.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST. of Oakland, California, Cordially Invites you and your friends to attend a

Lecture On Christian Science

By Judge Clifford P. Smith, C. S. B., of Brookline, Mass.
Member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.
At the Macdonough Theater, Sunday Afternoon, Nov. 26, at 3 o'clock.
The Lecture is Free—No Collection.

PRICES: MATINEES, 10c, 25c, 50c (except Sundays and Holidays). EVENINGS: 10c, 25c, 50c, 75c; Box Seats, $1.

MACDONOUGH THEATRE

ONE AUDIENCE THAT LEARNED LESSON

LAMBARDI'S WIZARDRY PROVES POWER

COMPANY NEARER TO HEART'S DESIRE

FLASHES FROM THE SPOTLIGHT

Tour Conducted by Leo Levy.

Sad Story of Josie Heather, Gas-Stove and Frank North

JOSIE Heather had lost several of her eye-lashes and two-thirds of her eyebrows, and was bewailing the fact on our arrival at her dressing room. "And I was so proud of 'em," she wailed. "Nursed 'em, and pampered 'em, and reared 'em according to directions on the bottle and Lillian Russell. And now feel 'em." And we accordingly ran our index finger over the fertile expanse above her eyes and got a shiver for our pains.

It was nearly ordained that we should never write this. Miss Heather is keeping house in an Oakland apartment, like all good wives should do. By the way, if you met her on the street, you'd probably accompany your bow with "How do, Mrs. Ford," being as she is the wife of one of the fur dancing family. That her husband's good nature and her own cooking, which is why she turned out the gas and allowed the oven to get well-filled before she applied a match.

Miss Heather is a capable comedienne, but Mrs. Ford knows little about a frisky gas stove, guaranteed of sound wind and perfectly harmless. Besides applying the above-mentioned match she explored the depths of the oven at the same time. Now the once beautiful foliage that adorned the neighborhood of her still beautiful eyes, is stubble. And we had a difficult time convincing her that all would be well in a couple of weeks. For further particulars write Lina Cavalieri.

TOURING VAUDEVILLE.

All of which is more piffle and not at all what we started out to write about. We were on a tour of vaudeville when we arrived at Miss Heather's dressing room, a journey that ended then and there because, although Miss Heather's chief claim to your appreciation is her work on the stage, we like her better as Mrs. Ford and a woman.

Vager a highball or a pair of bargain counter gloves that she knows not the meaning of the word "ego," Harken. It is of her art she talks and her "I" is as modest as the average actor's is not.

"I wasn't a happy woman," she told us, "when I discovered that the audience liked my work despite a lack of naughtiness in my songs, and though I never flashed a suggestive wink. I used to listen to the dance hall artists of London and note the enthusiasm with which their tuneless double meanings were received by the audience, and my heart sank when I thought of my own ambitions. But I started clean and worked hard and kept my act free from anything that I would be ashamed of, and I won 'em."

IRAH FOR HER.

And modest triumph gleamed in her lashes and she gloved in her rouged cheeks and rang in her voice. Thereupon we rose to the occasion and braved. And the little valet-feminine gender hurried to the room that we shouldn't see the tears of joy in her eyes. And the stage manager told us to put a mute on the noise.

Josie Heather deserves the fame she is piling up, and we write that from the influence of her eyes and the hypnotism of her smile. You must stop to consider that Vesta Victoria, Alice Lloyd and others of the number, escaped from the lion's den of dance halls, have acquired a reputation that is higher in the regard of the youth who goes to smoke a cigarette during intermission than it is in the mind of the lady that accompanies you the last time you saw Vesta and Alice. Victoria's forte is type vulgarity; Lloyd is suggestive in two out of five songs.

Josie Heather tells tuncful tales that are free from double meanings; she shies them without tripping you a wink. Blessed with a personality that is magnetic, she gets it over the footlights and you call her back for fifty-seven varieties of encores.

"I hope I see you again before I leave," she said.

We hope she does.

Actors certainly save money. At least some of them do. Those who don't exist on a live and let live basis, and ring in the cafe owner and the haberdasher. Frank North told us that in a monologue, of which all rights are unreserved. We reproduce it.

"Do actors save money? I know one who does. Guilty. I was taught a lesson some years ago and have remembered the power of the pocket. Uncle Sam's spangles in the pocket. A dollar in hand is worth two castles in the air. Thus it happened: "My wife and I were playing with a small company—or rather, the manager was one of the best laughs in the show—board day, it should have been, for that is all we ever received. Then came a time when we could not get a tear from my wife's eye. We were stranded in a little Pennsylvania town 300 miles from the street George Cohan made famous, minus money and in the dead of winter."

"I wanted to laugh. "Isn't there somebody you can kiss?" suggested wife. I was glad she thought of that for I was sad and it gave me a laugh. I remembered no one to whom a wife would mean charity.

"To make a long story longer, we tied ourselves to the deppo and I told our tale of woe to the baggage master. "Just put our trunk on the evening train," I begged. "Where's your ticket," he asked. Perforce, I told him my tale of woe again. "Think I'll take a chance and ride without a ticket," said I.

JOSIE HEATHER.

"He threw his hands into the air. 'A chance it is,' he informed me. 'You'd better not take one on that train without the necessary pasteboard.' What's the matter with that train?" "The train's all right," he answered, "but the conductor isn't. He's Hard-hearted Kelly, the meanest man on the road."

"I WASN'T AFRAID. "I wasn't afraid of any conductor living, having been associated with actors for a long time, and when the train left town it was with myself and the old gal aboard.

Scene two. Enters from upper end of car Hard-hearted Kelly. "Tickets," demanded Kelly. I started feeling in various pockets for the pasteboards. "Maybe you left them home," he said. "I'll throw you off right here." He considered finances and let us ride as far as the next station. Believe he'd have kicked me off if his shoes hadn't been shined two days before.

"FIVE YEARS PASS BY. "And now we'll skip five years. I was playing the same town, under different circumstances. Everything was lovely; meaning money in my pocket and a deal in the bank.

"Then came a bit of tragedy. There was a smash-up on the railroad due to their inability to make two trains pass on the same track. Among those printed at the top of the column in dead black capital letters was one Kelly—hard-hearted Kelly.

"Some dear friend thought a benefit for the widow would be in order, and being one of the showmen in town, I was asked to contribute a bit of talent. I gladly acquiesced. Then I went out, bought a green wreath and placed it on the mound that marked the resting place of the man who had put me off at the same town, five years before.

"I was grateful to him. He showed me the value of a dollar when you're far from home and taught me that taking a ticketless chance on a slow train through Pennsylvania is a twenty-one shot, with you on the wrong end."

JUST A PERSONALITY OR TWO.

Ida St. Leon, the former circus girl, but now interpreter of the title role in "Polly of the Circus," was a member of the original company in that play when Mabel Taliaferro starred in it. It was she who carried the circus performers in the tent scene.

Emilia Leovalli, late star of the Lambardi Opera Company, who made such an excellent "Mme. Butterfly" when the company was singing at Idora Park, has been appearing on the program at a cafe in San Francisco in company with Luisa Cecchetti, Mario Cortada, and M. Hediger, other former members of the company.

"The Rose of the Rancho," which will be the bill at the Liberty this coming week, is coming back to its old stamping ground where it was seen several years ago as "Juanita of

ONE AUDIENCE THAT LEARNED LESSON

THE knowledge of a theater audience is tremendous. Its belief that it knows even more, is of an appalling magnitude. It can detect a fake as readily as a mariner the approach of a storm. A theatrical reviewer is not employed to tell the populace how bad or good is the performance, but merely to relate in a new way what they know.

The audience is the greatest thing in the show world. It is it that knows it is as quick to sneer as a novelized knight of old is to fight. It slurs and slashes at will and woe be act, actor or actress on whom its displeasure falls. Something of its attitude amounts to cruelty, and of that there is this tale to tell:

Ralph Newhouse, husband of Lily Lena, her devoted admirer and the man she thanked for her success, was stricken with pneumonia in Salt Lake City, a week ago. On Thursday he was in a bad way and Miss Lena had to rush from his bedside to the Orpheum, where she forced a smile and danced in the light of a calcium ray that bared no breaking heart to the audience.

Thursday night the stage manager made his appearance behind the footlights. Said he: "I regret to announce that Miss Lena will be unable to make her appearance this evening."

Hisses loud and long from the audience, women joined in groaning and booing.

When they had quieted, the speaker went on:

"On account of the death of her husband."

There was a hanging of shamed heads and a silence that was eloquent. One audience had been taught a lesson.

Lily Lena has canceled her tour of the Orpheum Circuit and is on her way to England with the remains of her husband.

Have you run across the theatrical "capper" in the course of your ramblings along the great tight wire? He is the individual who haws-haws loudly, and without provocation when the prettiest woman in the show gives vent to some witticism, alleged or reputed. Sometimes he is paid to do it, more often he is a follower in the wake of the leading woman, and his wealth is sufficient to excuse him from working. So he trails the show from town to town, sits out in front and does his best to start a laugh, one, and the audience, and he smiles broadly at bright eyes on the other side of the footlights and waves a knowing hand to her.

There are two things in the theatrical game that will sour a good dinner in your paunch, and one of them is the theatrical "capper."

There is a bit of sentiment connected with the presentation of "Thais" in Oakland. The Massenet opera, which the Lambardi company will give here, was originally written for a San Francisco girl, a student at Miss College-Sybil Sanderson, who died several years ago. Miss Sanderson created the role in Paris and played it for many nights in the French capital, where she was a great favorite.

This from a Los Angeles interview with Sam Bernard:

"I am amazed at the knowledge of Pacific Coast audiences. Almost every locality has its characteristic opera-going gatherings. We know a New York crowd, a Chicago house, a Kansas City audience. But the Pacific Coast audience is a curious collection of all these, with a little European spice and knowledge thrown in. It rather scares a fellow to face, the bunch out here. If we fail to deliver we know they'll get wise in a minute. The Pacific Coast, I think, I may safely say, has the highest musical standard in America today."

And this from the man who almost fell down, as far as box office receipts are concerned, when he played in these parts. Bernard wasn't well enough known to register the tremendous hit his great talent deserved.

Oh, you flatterer, Sam-u-el.

Bare legs are not art, according to the feminine members of the Four Fords, and the American public is beginning to realize it. You may have talent, but if you can't deliver, you're not worth a cent. Your exposed lower limbs will not do it.

"There is still a great future for classical dancing in this country and we are going to give up everything else for it. Pantomime, we think, has yet to be developed, we see a chance to make it of something great. And so, next season we will abandon clog dancing for the other thing."

Here's luck.

Whether Will Oakland is named after this city, or we are named after him, has not been announced by the press agent. However, we do know that the noted contralto singer will be heard at the Bell this week in a few old-time ballads and more up-to-date songs. Coming, also, to the same playhouse are the Byrne brothers, who are scheduled to show "A Cow-Boy Rides" through the city, which is a splendid excuse for various stage tricks and acrobatics, to say nothing of farce.

San Juan. The play is by the local playwright, Richard Wright, and was seen at the Majestic in San Francisco and the local Liberty a year or two before the earthquake. It was later taken East and whipped into shape by David Belasco, who used it as Frances Starr's first starring vehicle in the season of 1908.

Oza Waldrop, one of the best ingenues that the Liberty ever had, has made the biggest success of her career since she went East several years ago during the past season in "Speed," a comedy based on the automobile speed mania. She played the leading role opposite Orrin Johnson, one of the stage's most successful leading men. The piece is now on tour following its appearance in New York. Miss Waldrop is a sister of the talented local pianist, Uda Waldrop.

LAMBARDI'S WIZARDRY PROVES POWER

COMPANY NEARER TO HEART'S DESIRE

DEANETTE ALVINA, lyric soprano, who will appear in Thais at the Macdonough this evening.

GRAND opera of mellow Italian vintage was poured forth by the Mario Lambardi troupe at Idora Park some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

Lambardi has made at least fifteen tours to the Pacific Coast, and while he had an excellent company that was giving remarkable value for some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

Lambardi has made at least fifteen tours to the Pacific Coast, and while he had an excellent company that was giving remarkable value for some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

Lambardi has made at least fifteen tours to the Pacific Coast, and while he had an excellent company that was giving remarkable value for some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

Lambardi has made at least fifteen tours to the Pacific Coast, and while he had an excellent company that was giving remarkable value for some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

Lambardi has made at least fifteen tours to the Pacific Coast, and while he had an excellent company that was giving remarkable value for some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

Lambardi has made at least fifteen tours to the Pacific Coast, and while he had an excellent company that was giving remarkable value for some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

Lambardi has made at least fifteen tours to the Pacific Coast, and while he had an excellent company that was giving remarkable value for some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

Lambardi has made at least fifteen tours to the Pacific Coast, and while he had an excellent company that was giving remarkable value for some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

Lambardi has made at least fifteen tours to the Pacific Coast, and while he had an excellent company that was giving remarkable value for some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

Lambardi has made at least fifteen tours to the Pacific Coast, and while he had an excellent company that was giving remarkable value for some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

Lambardi has made at least fifteen tours to the Pacific Coast, and while he had an excellent company that was giving remarkable value for some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

Lambardi has made at least fifteen tours to the Pacific Coast, and while he had an excellent company that was giving remarkable value for some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

Lambardi has made at least fifteen tours to the Pacific Coast, and while he had an excellent company that was giving remarkable value for some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

Lambardi has made at least fifteen tours to the Pacific Coast, and while he had an excellent company that was giving remarkable value for some weeks ago. Then Mario Lambardi became possessed of the ambition to take his troupe east of the Rockies in the hope of getting as far as Broadway, New York.

FLASHES FROM THE SPOTLIGHT

ADA REEVE, the English comedienne, who has on just arrived in America, is making a tour of the world. She came here from South Africa, via London, and after the expiration of her contract with Martin Beck to play the theaters on the Orpheum Circuit, she will go to Australia and hence to India. The American public, always quick to appreciate real ability, is showering much merited praise upon her.

The ever-popular "Checkers" will be one of the Macdonough's attractions before long and when it is seen it will have George E. Merritt in the role of "Uncle Jerry." Merritt has been "Uncle Jerry" ever since the play was produced six seasons ago.

"Polly of the Circus," which will visit Oakland again the latter part of this week is by Margaret Mayo, the author of "Baby Mine," the farce apropos of babies sent here a few weeks ago.

Forbes-Robertson, the famous English actor in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," is an attraction for the coming month at the Macdonough. The Macdonough management is wearing smiles over the announcement, for the play and actor are both considered the best the American stage has to offer.

Twenty years ago this week Oakland theater-goers were revelling in a farce comedy entitled, "Skipped by the Light of the Moon." This was at the Oakland theater, the present Macdonough being then only an architect's plan.

For the first time in their professional career as "stars," Montgomerie and Stone will be seen in all the principal cities west of the Missouri River. The tour will cover all the country west of the Rockies, south to Los Angeles, and north to Vancouver, making a hurried return trip to Minneapolis and St. Paul over the Northern Pacific railroad.

In addition to their repertoire of old minstrel classics, McIntyre and Heath will be seen while at the Oakland Orpheum in a brand-new skit called "Waiting at the Church."

When "Little Miss Fix-It" is seen here shortly it will be neither with Nora Bayes nor Eva Tanguay in the title role, both having resigned. Instead, Alice Lloyd, the popular vaudeville artist who was one of the Orpheum's biggest attractions, will be the star. Another about-the-bay favorite will be Grace Field, a San Francisco girl.

MISS ADA REEVE.

given in New York on Tuesday, November 6th, that Martin Beck might see the piece before he sailed for London. The small, but critical audience invited, pronounced the piece one of Davis' best efforts.

MACDONOUGH THEATRE

Phone Oakland 87

TWO NIGHTS ONLY

TONIGHT AND TOMORROW NIGHT

Lambardi Grand Opera Company

TONIGHT

Samson and Delilah

TOMORROW NIGHT

"Thais"

Orchestra and Company of 125 People

PRICES—$1.50, $1.00, 75c and 50c

THREE NIGHTS COMMENCING THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30

Matinee Thursday and Saturday

FAREWELL TOUR

Frederic Thompson

Presents

Ida St. Leon

In the Greatest Dramatic Success,

Polly of the Circus

And a NOTABLE COMPANY OF PLAYERS

St. Leon Family of Bareback Riders and Gymnasts

A Real Circus on the Stage

NIGHT PRICES—$1.00 TO 25c

Thursday Mat., 75c, 50c, 25c. Saturday Mat., 50c and 25c

THREE NIGHTS COMMENCING SUNDAY, DECEMBER 3.

Wm. A. Brady Announces

MOTHER

By Jules Eckert Goodman

Special Mothers' Day—Native Daughters' Attraction

Royal Welsh MACDONOUGH THEATRE

Ladies Choir In Concert

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 29

PRICES, $1.50, $1.00, 75c and 50c

Tickets on sale at Sherman, Clay & Co., Wiley B. Allen, Tupper & Reed (Berkeley), and at the Macdonough box office.

AROUND THE LIBRARY TABLE

Reviews of the Latest Books of Fiction, Travel and Science

Gossip About Makers of Books and Their Work

By MOLLIE E. CONNERS

"In the Footprints of the Padres," by Charles Warren Stoddard, is another delightful holiday book, brought out by A. M. Robertson, the well known San Francisco publisher. No Eastern publishing company could have sent out anything more truly artistic. The cover is especially worthy of note, in deep tones of gray, across which shines a panel in deep yellow, making a background for a Mission church in black. Black robe Franciscans are climbing the slope of the hill, and the church is superbly outlined against the yellow-toned background. Charles Warren Stoddard was one of California's most distinguished essayists. England had Charles Lamb, America has Agnes Repplier, and California Charles Warren Stoddard. One is glad that a San Francisco publisher has brought out so beautiful and thoroughly interesting a volume as "In the Footprints of the Padres." It is said of the book:

"So do Stoddard's pages catch and hold the lights and shadows of a world which is the more beautiful because he beheld it and living it—fostering his did. His prose is the essence of poetry."

And again in the introduction we read: "The old California that Stoddard loved lives on, and will, because he caught and preserved its spirit and its coloring, its light and life, and music. As the redwood thicket holds the sunlight, so do Stoddard's words keep bright, and living though viewed through a mist of tears, the California of other days."

TRAVEL IN 49.

There is a remarkably good description of the trip from New York to California, the various pictures given as a young boy would see them. The Stoddard came by way of Nicaragua, in the days of '49, and their first impressions of the Pacific coast and San Francisco are vividly portrayed. There is a picture of Oakland in 1856, which must be of absorbing interest to us on this side of the bay.

How one loves to read about that El Dorado of the West! We go, with the multitude, climb Telegraph Hill, and "Sunday is ever the people's day, and a San Francisco Sunday used to be as lively as the Lord's Day at any of the capitals of Europe. How the crowds used to flock to Telegraph Hill on a Sunday in the olden time! They were next to quiet folk who went there, and they loved to feast their eyes upon one of the loveliest of landscapes. They wandered about until they had chosen their point of view, and then they stood and gazed at an unclaimed portion of the hill. They squatted as was the custom of the time."

"In 'Pavement Pictures' one has one of the best chapters in the book. For the first time in the history of the four foreign quarters—Spanish, French, Italian and Chinese.

"For color work nothing better has been done in a long time than Stoddard's description of these foreign quarters. The reader knows the Spanish quarter by the human types that inhabited it; by the balconies like hanging gardens, clamorous with parrots; by the dark-eyed señoritas, with lace mantillas drawn over their blue black hair; by the shop windows filled with Mexican pottery, long strings of cardinal red peppers that swung under the awnings, and by the delicious odors that were wafted to us from the tables where Mexicans, Spaniards, Chilians, Peruvians and Hispanics were discussing the steaming tamales, the fragrant friol, and other fiery dishes that might put to the blush the ineffectual pepper pot."

VERSE BY MAC LAFERTY.

California is very much to the fore this year, in the literary world sent out, and we are to be congratulated that from our coast has come an important volume of poems, "The Army of Days and Other Verse," by James Henry MacLafferty. The book is published by Sherman, French & Company of England, and is sent out in the artistic style characteristic of these well known Boston publishers.

The dedication is to Mr. MacLafferty's wife, who was Miss Mary Benton of this city, and is in the following charming bit of verse:

"The day was long, then would I bring A tribute to the song I sing To one who in the singer's life Is every day a friend and wife."

"The Army of Days" takes its name from the initial poem, the days meaning men's lives. They sweep on with relentless strength, and the last stanza of the poem is as follows:

"Steadfast I'll stand with the knowledge shed That the man who wins against baser things, In his life is a man more like his God Than he who at ease to the tide's turn swings. Ah, thanks to Thee as I strive the while, That the days of life march single file!"

Of much interest to people in our city is the delightful poem, "The Oakland Hills." One of the best sustained poems in the volume is entitled "The Desert," and begins:

"In places man has called the Solitudes, There God abideth most."

Some of the shorter poems are of rare beauty, as for instance one entitled "There's a soothing thought," with a solace freighted:

"That may heal the deepest scars. For our sun must set Ere our eyes may get The light of more distant stars. Under the title, 'California, Bride of the Sun,' we read:

"Tawny the breasts of they billowing hillsides; Russet the reach of thy boundless plains, Purple the fringe of the sky that enwraps thee, Waiting the miracle wrought by thy rains. Burst into beauty to gloriously gown thee, Bride of The Sun for the bridegroom's caress."

There is an exceptionally fine book for a Christmas gift and one hopes for it many editions in the coming season.

BOOK BY MRS. WARD.

"The House of Richard Meynell," (Doubleday, Page & Co.) by Mrs. Humphrey Ward, is one of the notable books of the year. It is perhaps the strongest book that Mrs. Ward has attempted since she wrote "Robert Elsmere" twenty-two years ago. The book is a story of the life of a man, and is a masterpiece of modern English society. Mrs. Ward is on her "native" soil in this novel, and she has no rival in the portrayal of the large mental and moral movements of modern English society. The story is told in a simple, direct, and powerful manner, and is a masterpiece of modern English society.

"The House of Richard Meynell," (Doubleday, Page & Co.) by Mrs. Humphrey Ward, is one of the notable books of the year. It is perhaps the strongest book that Mrs. Ward has attempted since she wrote "Robert Elsmere" twenty-two years ago. The book is a story of the life of a man, and is a masterpiece of modern English society. Mrs. Ward is on her "native" soil in this novel, and she has no rival in the portrayal of the large mental and moral movements of modern English society. The story is told in a simple, direct, and powerful manner, and is a masterpiece of modern English society.

New Books

Find the Woman, by Gelett Burgess, the author of "The Heart Line," one of the greatest stories Burgess has ever written. . . . .Net $1.25

His Rise to Power, by Henry Russell Miller. A young fighting American sets out to smash the political machine of his State. A great book by the author of "The Man Higher Up" . . . . .Net $1.25

Average Jones, by Samuel Hopkins Adams. Average Jones is the cleverest detective Holmes. A refreshing, humorous, mysterious, original story. Fascinating from title to finish. . . . .Net $1.25 20 per cent discount on all new books unless marked net by publisher. Any book published can be obtained at our store on order.

Smith Bros.
BOOK DEALERS,
462 Thirteenth Street
OAKLAND.

DELIGHTFUL LOVE STORY.

Perhaps there was need twenty-two years ago of protest in England which resulted in Robert Elsmere. To day one takes for granted a religious toleration which would make rather impossible some of the situations in "The House of Richard Meynell." But that does not mark the least interest of the book, which weaves itself about a delightful love story, and a tragedy of wonderful interest.

In the new book we have again Catherine Elsmere, a woman softened, sweetened, melted by time. Much of the hardness of the old days is gone. Her daughter, Mary, is a lovely girl of fine ideals, and the love story in the book concerns itself with Richard Meynell and Mary. And it has a happy ending. We meet again Rose, who interested us so deeply in Robert Elsmere. She is happily married, and a helpful, specially normal woman.

Mrs. Ward has a genius for drawing incisive, enthusiastic women—one finds the type in "The History of David Greave" with its Paris episode, and in "Lady Rose's Daughter." The same type greets us in Hester Fox-Wilton, only in this case, it is about poor Hester, that the tragedy darkens.

Mrs. Ward stands almost unsurpassed in the beauty of literary style. Certainly no woman writer before the public today, accepting perhaps Margaret Deland, who wrote "The House of the Seven Gables." There is a dignity about her style, a sustained quality that is admirable. Mrs. Ward is at her best when she writes of the English scenes amid which her life has been passed. She deals with a masterly hand, with the social and religious influences characteristic of the England of her time.

A great human interest lies in the heart of the book, centered around Hester Fox-Wilton. The story is a story of a woman, a story of a woman who is the heroine of the story, but her calm, placid face characterizes her life before the strenuous, passionate life of poor ill-starred Hester.

Once more Mrs. Ward presents before us the inevitable story of a woman, and once again we are moved to pity that justice should be so far-reaching, that under certain conditions established by man, the innocent must suffer.

But there is light in the story also, and the romance of Richard Meynell and Mary Elsmere does much to compensate us for many things in the story.

Any novels of Mrs. Ward's must easily be among the leading books of the season, and Americans have always been among the most appreciative of Mrs. Ward's readers.

"LIBRARIAN AT PLAY."

A bit of fun, now and then, lights up the literary world, and brightens the literary horizon.

Edmund Lester Pearson, whose new book, "The Librarian at Play," sets forth so entertainingly the humors of the librarian's life, sends this to his publishers, Small, Maynard & Company, on publication day, amid the ancient idea of the librarian and his personality:

"Who is that aged gentleman a skipping over stile? Why does he laugh that funny laugh? And, oh, his smile! His clothes are awful curious. I'm sure it's many moons since I've seen a man so very old in purple pantaloons! And look! He grabs that little boy, he'll kill himself some day! And, there, he's jumping leap-frog above the clouds! He's looking at that! A rolling hoop! And whistles round and white! And at his age—I really fear he's not exactly right!"

"Now, calm yourself, there's no need to worry or to fret; he's done the same for many years, the very same thing, yet. And once each year he feels the need to frolic and to run; I'm sure it is a pleasant sight to see him at his fun. See how the children come to look, and see how off he goes, a-balancing a feather upon his nose, and he's a very learned man, I wish I were so wise. I wish I had great spectacles to help my feeble eyes. There now he's gone, and we must go, there is no use to stay, you must be glad to say you've seen The Librarian at Play."

"HOMESpun VERSE."

Sturgis, Walton & Co. send out this month "A Little Book of Homespun Verse," by that well known writer, Margaret B. Sangster.

To the host of Mrs. Sangster's devoted readers this volume needs no introduction. Here are poems to add sunshine to daylight for happy people, and to brace and comfort the weary and the sad.

To those who do not know Mrs. Sangster, suffice it to say that her poems are the song of a buoyant and optimistic spirit, full of contagious cheer and courage; of a spirit brave, faithful, and humbly serviceable; that she believes in the darkest clouds, and leads the way to springs of joy to be found in nature, in the daily round and common task of home, and even in the midst of years heavy with labor and sorrow.

The poems have the exquisitely human touch characteristic of James Whitcomb Riley.

There are many poems on many subjects, on the May time, the Spring time, poems of home, of love, of mother. The rhythm is very lovely, and the sentiments those that go to one's heart.

This is the time when the Christmas spirit is in the air, and one cannot do better than quote from Mrs. Sangster's poems. One of them entitled "On Christmas Morn'" brings us the story of three wise men:

"Three Kings were they of great renown, And from the East afar, Until it stood o'er Bethlehem town, They journeyed by the Star. This story they told us, and we know it, And there its light grew dim, To heaven's own child the Star had led; Its glory paled for Him."

"What gifts have we for Christ today? We, too, have seen the Star. And we have found the happy way To Bethlehem afar. Our gold, our myrror, our incense sweet, Shall we not hither bring? Ah, let us haste to kiss His feet, The Little Christ, our King."

Another very charming poem is entitled "The Christ-Child," and its ending carries a beautiful sentiment:

"And once a year, in the long long year, For a whole and happy day, To share again the heart of the child, Wherever the children play."

"We find Thee still in the stable dim, But, for Thy cradle bed, Oh, rest not in the manger stall. Take Thou our best gift, our love, our joy, Our little Christ, our King."

MOLLIE E. CONNERS.

JUNIOR AMERICAN MECHANICS.

Custer Council, No. 22, held its regular meeting last Tuesday evening, and a good attendance was present. The program in the second degree was held, and the work was performed in a satisfactory manner, and the candidates were much impressed with the ceremonies.

The whist tournament continues to be a success. The Hasekutsu, leading by Zenutsu by a scant margin, played for the last two months, being close and interesting.

Whist playing services will be held by Custer council Sunday evening, November 26, at Plymouth Congregational church, at 7:45 sharp.

AT THE THEATERS

(Continued From Page 8)

touch of pathos, and a splendid moral is brought out.

From reports that have been made on Powder and Capman, there isn't a more clever pair in vaudeville than this popular duo, and they are making a great big thing for themselves. Both were found in the support by Eddie Foy in "The Orchid." Mr. Powder is an exceptionally clever delineator of con songs and is equally proficient in German, Swedish and Italian character work. Their acting consists of singing, dancing with a generous mixture of smart conversation. The famous Byrne Brothers have created a million laughs all over the world in their "Eight Bells," which had a continuous run of ten years. Now they offer these "Eight Bells," laughable pantomime, "A Carriage Ride and Its Mishaps," with their famous animated white horse, whose antics have made a wonderful hit east of here. The production bubbles with new tricks, illusions and knock-about tumbling. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work, the mechanical effects and the excellent specialties keep the audience in a continuous uproar. Most of us can remember the "Eight Bells," the horse, and the wagon, through which the Byrne Brothers looped-the-loop, tumbled, somersaulted, crawled and jumped. Not the least interesting was the animated white horse who kicked, sorted, bit, danced and then tumbled. The vaudeville of the many stage tricks, the wonderful acrobatic work,

News of Woman's Clubs of Alameda County

THE attention of the majority of the clubs around the bay at the present time is turned to civic matters, but the efforts of the Oakland New Century Club are devoted, as always, to settlement work. At the regular monthly meeting of this club held at their hospitable clubhouse at the foot of Terrell street in the midst of 35 saloons, on Friday, in addition to their usual business, plans were discussed for the annual Christmas celebration which includes a big chicken pie dinner, Christmas trees and other pleasures for their neighbors. Federation plans were also one of the subjects touched upon. Their Friday meeting is an all-day session; reports are read about the various work of the different committees who carry on an active campaign on settlement lines during the month.

This organization has for its president, Mrs. Robert Watt, who has for 14 years—the life of the club—been at its head and given her best efforts for this splendid work. This is the only federated club of its kind in the United States, and it is purely a philanthropic one, expending between $2000 and $4000 a year. The cozy clubhouse is at the disposal of its neighbors, and besides being a place of rest and recreation, cooking and sewing classes and a boys' and girls' club are provided. Recently the boys' club has been turned over to the Y. M. C. A., under the direction of Mr. Robinson and is making much progress under his supervision.

After luncheon Mrs. Watt called upon the members for quotations, starting them herself with, "The saddest thing about tainted money is tainted ours," which was followed by a number of very appropriate ones. Seated around the table were Mrs. Robert Watt, Mrs. H. L. Eastman, Mrs. Julie Stratton, Mrs. Arthur Willis, Mrs. L. A. Whitehouse, Mrs. Geraldine Okey, Mrs. F. A. Ring, Mrs. J. R. Rohr, Mrs. William Blackburn, Mrs. E. H. Forester, Mrs. Grace Haden, Mrs. O. F. Olson, Mrs. Barrows, Mrs. Winnie MacFarland, Mrs. J. P. Wheaton, Mrs. G. W. Shaw, Mrs. Evelyn Webster, Mrs. J. L. Fuller, Mrs. R. Harris, Mrs. S. F. Jones, Mrs. J. C. Plunkett, Mrs. Pierre Vallin, Mrs. J. J. Platts, Mrs. Burt W. Sloan and several others.

The officers of this club are: President, Mrs. Robert Watt; vice-president, Mrs. C. J. Woodbury; second vice-president, Mrs. W. N. M. Okey; recording secretary, Mrs. W. C. Stratton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. L. Fuller; treasurer, Mrs. H. E. Cable; auditor, Mrs. M. E. Frinze, Mrs. O. Olson, Mrs. F. M. Hall and Mrs. C. E. Bissone.

CRICKET BOOK CLUB.

The next meeting of the Cricket Book Club will be held at the home of Mrs. William Heacock in Berkeley on the first Wednesday in December. This delightful little reading club meets monthly and enjoys an exchange of the new books, brief discussions and a social hour over the tea cups.

EBELL CLUB.

The Ebell Club will conclude its splendid weekly programs this month with a stereoscopic lecture next Tuesday afternoon by Ford Samuelson. Mr. Samuelson has given this popular lecture several times in this vicinity and is a lecturer of note. His collection of views is particularly fine, and the club members are very friendly in looking forward to this affair. Mrs. Henry C. Morris is hostess of the day, and will be assisted in receiving by the following: Mrs. Charles J. Woodbury, Mrs. C. W. Kinsey, Mrs. A. C. Posey, Mrs. Charles L. Smith, Mrs. J. E. W. Owen, Mrs. D. B. Huntley, Miss A. G. Willison, Mrs. George F. Gray, Mrs. J. R. Parrell, Mrs. Arthur L. Adams, Mrs. J. C. Coogan, Mrs. W. G. Gilmartine, Mrs. Samuel Brock, Mrs. T. B. Shaw, Mrs. James Allen, Mrs. R. V. Kinney, Mrs. Edwin C. Morrison, Mrs. Gordon Stoll and Miss Amanda Flint.

Mrs. Marion Nash and Miss Gertrude House furnished the program for the luncheon which was a most enjoyable one. Musicians around the bay, Mrs. Nash being a pupil of Alexander Hanemann. Miss House is the pupil of Godowsky of Vienna, and has studied with leading instructors of the day. She was the hostess of the day and was assisted by a score of prominent members of the club.

On Friday afternoon the tourist section of the club will meet, making Brussels the scene of the day. Mrs. J. E. W. Owen, Mrs. P. R. and Miss Gray will contribute the papers. This section is doing much earnest work under the leadership of Mrs. G. R. Williams and Miss Florence A. Newman.

DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

The social meeting of the Copo de Oro chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which was held at the home of Mrs. Lucia C. Morrow at the session, a particularly good one. Mrs. Merrill, who made her home in Jerusalem for sixteen years, gave a most interesting talk on "Jerusalem of Today as I Saw It." George Warnock and Miss Rosalie Harrison, both singers of note, contributed to the program and through the courtesy of Professor Palmer of Oakland, Mrs. Knowland secured the services of two Chinese college students, Herbert Chan and Arthur Lim, mandolin players. Professor Palmer accompanying them on the guitar.

Among the special guests were several state officers: Mrs. John Swift, vice-president general; Mrs. Frederick Jewell, past state registrar; Mrs. E. B. Fernald, state treasurer; Mrs. Ransom Beach, state auditor; and Mrs. Lucile Knowland, state historian. Arthur Lim, a talented mandolin player and student at the State University, is the son of the Chinese ambassador at Washington, D. C.

The hostess was assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. I. N. Chapman, regent; Mrs. Frank Otis, first vice-regent; Mrs. Frank B. Weeks, second vice-regent; Mrs. G. W. Hendy, recording secretary; Miss Alice Hunt, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L. L. Gillooly, registrar, and Mrs. P. W. Barton, historian.

After the program, light refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB.

A writers' section has been organized in the Twentieth Century Club in Berkeley and among the members is Mrs. Julia Foster, a well-known writer of short stories. Mrs. W. C. Morrow is president of the section, and Miss Amy Hamlin, chairman.

The parliamentary and current events section discussed "Foreign Affairs—Germany and France," at the session on Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. G. R. Kleeberger, as chairman.

On Friday, the French section of the club met at the home of Mrs. Adeline Seicher, under the leadership of Miss Eileen Sinclair. Mrs. E. B. McGraw is chairman of the section and plans many interesting features for this department of the club work.

This dramatic section is studying "Monna Vanna," with Mrs. Lawrence Jones, as leader.

An important event in the near future is the reception and dance to be given by the Claremont Club, Claremont Improvement Club and the Assembly Hall Company, which will be in the nature of a housewarming. This will be the first affair to be given in the beautiful new club house in the fashionable Claremont district, and will be a brilliant gathering. The officers of the club will receive the guests, among them being Mrs. and Mrs. W. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tanner, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Turpin, Mr. and Mrs. William Kett, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. O'Brien, Mrs. Frank McGuire, Mrs. H. H. Hufschmidt and Mrs. J. B. Zensperger.

MRS. JOHN N. PORTER, prominent in club work, being a member of the Oakland Club, Oakland New Century and Child's Welfare League.

OAKLAND CLUB.

Mrs. O. C. Voss, curator of the music section of the Oakland Club, arranged a delightful afternoon of music last week when Miss Gertrude House, a musician of marked ability, gave a piano recital, assisted by Mrs. Marion Nash, soprano. Mrs. Voss was assisted in receiving by Mr. James Ellison, Mrs. Leon Hall, Miss Grace Trevor, Mrs. F. C. Stoddard, Mrs. W. A. Schrock, Mrs. August Hanaberg, Mrs. Nora Ryle, Mrs. Frank White, Miss Elizabeth Simpson, Mrs. B. F. Merchant, Mrs. Jessie Dean Moore, Mrs. J. A. Thompson, Mrs. Frank McGuire, Mrs. H. Hufschmidt and Mrs. J. B. Zensperger.

The dramatic section of the club will present an interesting force in a few weeks. The first Wednesday in December will be devoted to business and the second Wednesday to the club's annual Christmas entertainment.

ADELPHIAN CLUB.

The most important meeting of the Adelphian Club last week was the basket luncheon which was held on Monday afternoon and which was followed by the second business session of the club. One of the topics under discussion was the tax for the biennial fund.

On Thursday afternoon the new book section of the club met with Mrs. W. R. Shaw as curator.

Mrs. L. Gillooly, curator of the art history section, read an interesting paper on Pottery of Ohio.

The Thanksgiving luncheon for the members of the current events section was a very enjoyable one and the menu in charge of Mrs. Henry Foss was a delicious one.

The program was in keeping with the holiday spirit and was arranged by Mrs. A. J. Burgen, curator. Mrs. Waldo Parkhurst gave a brief Thanksgiving talk; Mrs. F. J. Collier sang several songs and Mrs. C. H. Howard recited. Thanksgiving quotations and verses were at each plate and altogether it was a novel affair.

Mrs. Henry Rosenthal has arranged the program for the chamber union meeting of the Adelphian Club, Saturday, December 2. The children of the members of the club will be the special guests of the afternoon. It will be a Christmas entertainment in which eight young girls will take the leading parts. The program is as follows:

Reading, "Santa Claus and Little Blue"; Mrs. H. Hastings.

Song and dance specialties: Myrtle MacLean and Etienne Chaboud, Fantomine; "The Doll's Christmas"; Misses Douglas and Virginia Whitehead.

Assisting Mrs. Rosenthal in her duties as hostess of the day will be Mrs. L. N. Chapman, Mrs. Walter Gattis, Mrs. One Sturtevant, Mrs. John H. Rohr, Mrs. Edmund D. Rue and Mrs. J. S. McDowell.

Members of the dramatic section will present "Miss Fearless and Company," a three-act play, at the clubhouse, assisted by Miss Ted and Miss A. B. B.

Young girls will be the users at the entertainment, which will include Miss Pauline Storer, Miss Mary Dunbar, Miss Eileen Sturtevant, Miss Frances Garrett and Miss Charlotte Culver.

Two of William J. Locke's books, "The Glory of Clementina" and "The Beloved Vagabond," were discussed at the meeting of the new book-literature of the club last week. Mrs. Shirley Mansfield and Mrs. B. C. Brown led the discussion.

HILLSIDE CLUB.

Tomorrow evening a dramatic reading by Madame Jeanne Lavenberg, illustrated with stereoscopic views of "Chanticleer" and "The Blue Bird," will be given at the Hillside Club for the benefit of the clubhouse fund.

These in charge of the various tables are: Mrs. E. J. Boisa, aprons; Mrs. C. Alexander, fancy work; Mrs. J. D. Hoyt, bags; Mrs. Garthe Ferguson, dolls; Mrs. Frederick Reid, prize dolls; Mrs. James Gleason, chair of the entertainment committee; Mrs. E. S. Van Court, candy; Mrs. D. Webster, grab bags; Mrs. N. Anthony de Leon, handkerchiefs; Mrs. J. W. Umphred, lemonade; Mrs. George Ryan, table of mysteries; Mrs. N. H. Chamberlain, table of properties; Mrs. J. E. Coryell will have charge of the decorations.

WEST OAKLAND HOME.

The annual doll show for the benefit of the West Oakland Home will take place December 7, 8 and 9, and is an elaborately planned affair. A number of novel features have been arranged and the affair this season promises to be one of the most unusual ever held. The Little Workers are to have two tables this year under the direction of Miss Lillian Gar. At one table fancy articles will be sold, and at the other, pies, cakes, preserves, jellies and other delicacies. The officers of the Little Workers are: President, Miss Alice James; corresponding secretary, Miss Esther Hahn, and recording secretary, Miss Florence Holmes.

Mrs. J. A. Miller, the president of the home, assisted by members of the club, is devoting much time to this work. She hopes to make this year's show a phenomenal success.

BAY FEDERATION OF MOTHERS' CLUBS.

The reciprocity luncheon of the Bay Federation of Mothers' Clubs will be held at the Key Route Inn on December 7. About two hundred representatives from the bay district, including visitors from San Jose and the surrounding towns, will be present.

Mrs. Thomas Saabury, president of the reciprocity committee, and the executive board of the organization consists of Mrs. Thomas Saabury, president; Mrs. William Thornton Blackburn, Mrs. George Seybold of San Jose, Mrs. J. L. Hayes of San Jose, Mrs. Nellie Lane, Mrs. C. R. Kelly, Mrs. Evans Hancock and Mrs. E. A. Guelbault.

Last Tuesday the Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs held a business session in the Lafayette school, the president, Mrs. J. E. Spencer, presiding. Mrs. W. T. Blackburn, Mrs. Nellie Nelson, Mrs. H. N. Rowell, Mrs. Thomas Saabury and Mrs. Elinor Carlisle were special guests of the afternoon, and while they made no formal addresses, took part in the discussions.

The Child's Home Finding League and the endorsement of the movement for full textbooks in the public schools were two of the principal topics of discussion. The Federation will meet with the Alameda County Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis in Oakland Hall shortly.

HILL AND VALLEY CLUB.

Last Monday the Hill and Valley Club of Hayward met in the hall of the Bank of Hayward to listen to a lecture in connection with the health of the public school children by John H. Force, lecturer in hygiene at the University of California.

The musical numbers on the program were arranged by Mrs. B. Weihe, a prominent member of the Hill Club, which consisted of piano solos by Miss Roxana Weihe and violin numbers by Miss Miriam Weihe.

Dr. Force is a specialist in the work being undertaken by the Hill and Valley Club, and is also a writer of considerable ability.

MOTHERS' CLUB.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 there will be a meeting of the Mothers' Club at the Franklin school in East Oakland. Mrs. E. Spencer, president of the Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs, organized the club last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Elinor Carlisle, president of the Child's Welfare League, gave a very interesting talk on "Mothers' Clubs." At the next meeting questions of interest regarding the children of the district will be discussed. Mrs. Helen W. Ross was appointed temporary chairman and Mrs. George Jacobs temporary secretary. On Monday, officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

CIVIC CLUB.

Twenty-five women of the faculty of the Manual Training and Commercial High School have formed one of the newest civic clubs, the first meeting of which was held on Tuesday afternoon after the school session. The rights and privileges of voters and their responsibilities will be studied under the leadership of Miss Anna Keefe, teacher of civics and history. The sessions will be held every other week.

CHILD'S WELFARE LEAGUE.

The annual banquet of the Child's Welfare League will take place at the Key Route Inn on Thursday evening, December 7. Mrs. Elinor Carlisle, president of the league, will preside at the dinner, and an interesting program and lecture will be announced later.

CALIFORNIA CIVIC LEAGUE.

The College House Suffrage League, which conducted such a vigorous campaign during the past six months, has been re-organized into the California Civic League, and the Alameda Equal Suffrage League of Alameda has joined this organization and will be known as the Alameda center of the California Civic League.

Mrs. Robert Dean of San Francisco, addressed the organization at its first meeting held recently in Alameda, and he put another step through its throat, killing it.

DENNISON CLUB.

The program last Wednesday at the East Oakland Dennison Club was appropriate to the Thanksgiving season, a description of the landing of the Pilgrim fathers and their first Thanksgiving by Mrs. Bruce MacDonald being the principal feature of the afternoon. Mrs. A. R. Dow gave a dramatic reading and the afternoon's program was concluded with the serving of refreshments.

Owing to Thanksgiving the next meet-

CHIEF NOT KILLED BY GIRL LOVER

The Coroner's Jury Vindicates Miss, Who Says She Will Go Back to Mother.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 25.—In the presence of half a hundred persons at the coroner's inquest, Ada Lennox, the 21-year-old girl who was with Chief of Police William J. Dulaney when he met his death in her home last Friday morning, told in detail the whole story of the love of a middle-aged man of family for a girl. Her hearers sat astounded as she laid bare her life, freely acknowledging the conditions which had existed.

At the close of her story the girl threw herself and her mother, Mrs. Rose Lennox, on the mercy of the jury, her final argument being that her love for the police chief was too great to permit her to kill him.

Both the witnesses and her mother declared Dulaney had killed himself, because on the night before he had seen the girl walking with another man. It was testified that the chief had been drinking heavily. The jury found that he "came to his death by his own hand," the shot being fired either intentionally or by accident.

As Ada Lennox and her mother left the jail where they had been held, George Lennox, the girl's father, clasped her in his arms and the two walked away hand in hand. Mrs. Lennox, who has lived apart from her husband for years, followed slowly behind, unnoticed by the man whose name she bears. He had declared he would sacrifice all he had to save the girl, but had never mentioned the name of his wife.

Ada Lennox told newspaper men that she was going back to her old home.

"I shall spend my days with papa and my nights with mamma, just as I have done before," she said. "I loved Mr. Dulaney, and he loved me truly, despite the fact that he had a wife and children. I know it was not right, but then I loved him. It has all been so terrible, but, thank God, it is all over now, and I can go back home."

The people of Washington are astounded that there could exist here such a condition, and talk of the manner of man the councilmen elected as the highest peace officer. It is believed that the case will be the means of working a reformation here, the first steps of which will be a shake-up in the police department.

"$100 NOT ENOUGH" TO BURY HIM DECENTLY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The proper funeral expense of the average railroad employe formed the subject of a brief colloquy today between Frank V. Whitcomb, claim attorney for the New York Central railroad, and D. L. Cease, special representative of the railroad employes on the employe's liability and workmen's compensation commission.

Mr. Whitcomb was engaged in the presentation of the commission of some details which he thought should enter into the proposed legislation for the insurance of railroad men against accident, and, in case of death, incidentally mentioned $100 as a proper allowance for the cost of a funeral.

Mr. Cease took immediate issue with him, saying that he did not believe a man could be decently buried for less than $125 to $150. In reply, Mr. Whitcomb cited the fact that the Italian authorities had fixed $50 as the limit of funeral expenses of Italian subjects killed on American roads.

"But," responded Mr. Cease, "I was not speaking of Italians. I was speaking of American citizens."

Mr. Whitcomb gave the present total expenditures of the railroads of the United States as compensation to injured employes as almost $12,000,000, or about 1 per cent of the aggregate payroll of the roads. He placed the number of railroad employes at 1,648,023, of which number, he said, 3802 had been killed and 126,039 injured during the past fiscal year.

ing of the club will be omitted. Mrs. W. P. Stone will address the members at the first meeting in December on "Early Memories of Twenty-third Avenue." Preceding this a short business session will be held.

CLUB NOTES.

The California Federation of Women's Clubs and the California Congress of Mothers have united in preparing a volume that sets forth the laws of the state relating to children. The book will be issued shortly.

LORD AND LADY DECIES BEING EXTENSIVELY ENTERTAINED HERE

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Lord and Lady Decies, formerly Vivian Gould, who arrived here from Europe on the 17th to attend the horse show at Madison Square Garden, and primarily to attend the wedding of Lord Amoy and Miss Mildred Sherman, which has been set for December 2, are being extensively entertained during their stay here. They are making their headquarters at the home of Lord Amoy's father, George Gould.

LORD AND LADY DECIES are in New York from London, coming to attend the horse show, which opened last Monday in Madison Square Garden.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Lord and Lady Decies, formerly Vivian Gould, who arrived here from Europe on the 17th to attend the horse show at Madison Square

Garden, and primarily to attend the wedding of Lord Amoy and Miss Mildred Sherman, which has been set for December 2, are being extensively entertained during their stay here. They are making their headquarters at the home of

MUSICAL EVENTS OF PAST AND PRESENT WEEK ATTRACTIVE AND DIVERSIFIED

LEONARD BORWICK, whose piano recital this afternoon will be an event in local musical life.

PARALYSIS CAUSED BY SLAP ON BACK WOMEN'S CLOTHING CALLED 'INDECENT'

Friendly Demonstration Lays Low Man as He Fires Up Stove.

HARLAN, Ia., Nov. 25.—As a result of a friendly slap on the back, which was given him by Earl Wallace, L. R. Parker is paralyzed.

Parker is night operator for the Great Western here and was filling the station stove with coal when Wallace entered. When Wallace saluted him with a jovial cuff Parker fell to the floor, unable to move a muscle. Today he has a little use of one hand.

His home is in Dekalb, Ill., and he is said to have been injured recently in a street car accident in Chicago from which he is not recovered fully. His spine was hurt.

SAYS HUBBY'S PIETY FORCED ON DIVORCE

KEOKUK, Iowa, Nov. 25.—"I do not marry a man who is too religious," this was the statement made in court by Mrs. Margaret Crumly, a well-known Keokuk woman, when she asked for a divorce from Nelson B. Crumly, whom she charged with being a religious fanatic.

Mrs. Crumly has been married for over twenty years. She admitted her husband was a successful business man, but objected to his insistent religious teachings.

"I was continually told I would go to hell if I did not make my views coincide with his," she said.

BIG WOLF COMES FROM STINGY LAKE SWAMP

HIBBING, Minn., Nov. 25.—Frank O'Rourke killed a wolf today measuring over six feet from tip to tip in a swamp near Stingy lake. O'Rourke was hunting when he became lost in the swamp, a pack of about sixty wolves scented him and, coming up, began circling about him. O'Rourke's gun was loaded with buckshot and he fired into the pack. He dropped four, but three of the animals got up and ran away. The fourth was lamed and he put another shot through its throat, killing it.

ATLANTA GIRLS DRESSES DISGRACE TO WOMANHOOD, SAY PREACHERS.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 25.—Declaring that the dresses worn in the streets by Atlanta women are "indecent" and "a disgrace to womanhood," the clergymen and preachers have begun a crusade for reform. Leading ministers say that Atlanta women wear dresses in the street that in any other city in the south would mark them as women of the underworld.

The clergymen today joined the preachers and it was decided to launch a campaign to force women to cease wearing "indecent" dresses in the streets.

Miss Daisy Eckert, general secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, said: "Conditions are worse in Atlanta than in any other city I have been in. I have been in New York and other large cities of the east and west and women dress more brazenly in Atlanta. The way Atlanta girls and women dress would stamp them as denizens of the underworld in any other city."

Mrs. Laura White, a leading clubwoman, says: "It is disgusting the way Atlanta girls dress for the street. The fathers of these girls know exactly what the young men of today must think of their daughters. The abbreviated skirts are bad, but what is worse is the way these fashions outline a woman's form."

According to the crusaders, Atlanta women use more paint and powder than those of any other city. Mrs. Catherine Wooten, head of the Carnegie Library, says: "A traveling man from the north, representing a firm of druggists, told me that Atlanta is one of the best face powder markets in the country. Atlanta girls are like walking advertisements of a paint company."

Harry Watson, late prize comedian of the "Follies of 1910," when it was seen recently at the Macdonough, is Anna Held's chief support in her famous "Miss Innocence," in which she will appear here shortly after Christmas.

Bouwick Piano Recital This Afternoon Will Be a Feature

The event of the week will be the piano recital which Leonard Borwick will give this afternoon at the high school auditorium at 3 o'clock.

Musicians and music lovers from all the bay cities will gather in the auditorium to hear Mr. Borwick, whose reputation as a truly great artist has been thoroughly established during his stay. The following unusually interesting program will be presented:

- Organ Prelude and Fugue in G Major, Bach. (1655-1750). Arranged for piano by L. Borwick.
- Andante and Five Variations, Mozart. (1755-1791). Composed in Vienna for a clockwork instrument or music box, and belonging to Count Deym. Arranged for piano solo by L. Borwick.
- Rhapsody No. 1 in B minor. Op. 79, Brahms. (1838-1897).

- Fantasia in C. Op. 17, Schumann (1810-1856). Dedicated to Franz Liszt.
- "For him who thus in fancy lists. There waits a tone across the mists of earthly splendor, mysterious and sweet," Schlegel.
- In fantastic and passionate style, As a legend. Moderate, but with energy.

- By Chopin (1810-1849).
- Impromptu in F sharp minor. Op. 36.
- Etude in G flat major. Op. 10, No. 2, on the black keys.
- Etude in A minor. Op. 25, No. 24.
- Nocturns in G major Op. 27, No. 2.
- Etude in E minor. Op. 25, No. 5.
- Berceuse. Op. 57.
- Scherzo No. 3 in C sharp minor. Op. 39.

- Tocatta; (b) La fille aux Cheveux de lin (The Girl with the Flaxen Hair), Debussy (b. 1812).
- Etude de Concert, Liszt (1811-1886).

HALF HOUR OF MUSIC.

The musical and dramatic committee of the University of California announces that the half-hour of Music in the Greek Theater this afternoon will be given by the Treble Clef Club of San Francisco, of which Mrs. Milton McMurray is president, Paul Steindorff, musical director, and William Goodrum, accompanist. Beginning with this Sunday these half-hours will be held at 3 o'clock, and will hereafter be the time of commencement during the winter months. The program will be as follows: Chaminade's St. John's Eve, by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "With Revels and Vassals," by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "The Lattice," Treble Clef Club; Bartlett's arrangement of Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," by the club, with the mezzo-soprano solo sung by Mrs. G. B. Ayers; "Wordman's "With Revels and Vassals," by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "The Lattice," Treble Clef Club; Bartlett's arrangement of Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," by the club, with the mezzo-soprano solo sung by Mrs. G. B. Ayers; "Wordman's "With Revels and Vassals," by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "The Lattice," Treble Clef Club; Bartlett's arrangement of Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," by the club, with the mezzo-soprano solo sung by Mrs. G. B. Ayers; "Wordman's "With Revels and Vassals," by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "The Lattice," Treble Clef Club; Bartlett's arrangement of Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," by the club, with the mezzo-soprano solo sung by Mrs. G. B. Ayers; "Wordman's "With Revels and Vassals," by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "The Lattice," Treble Clef Club; Bartlett's arrangement of Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," by the club, with the mezzo-soprano solo sung by Mrs. G. B. Ayers; "Wordman's "With Revels and Vassals," by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "The Lattice," Treble Clef Club; Bartlett's arrangement of Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," by the club, with the mezzo-soprano solo sung by Mrs. G. B. Ayers; "Wordman's "With Revels and Vassals," by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "The Lattice," Treble Clef Club; Bartlett's arrangement of Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," by the club, with the mezzo-soprano solo sung by Mrs. G. B. Ayers; "Wordman's "With Revels and Vassals," by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "The Lattice," Treble Clef Club; Bartlett's arrangement of Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," by the club, with the mezzo-soprano solo sung by Mrs. G. B. Ayers; "Wordman's "With Revels and Vassals," by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "The Lattice," Treble Clef Club; Bartlett's arrangement of Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," by the club, with the mezzo-soprano solo sung by Mrs. G. B. Ayers; "Wordman's "With Revels and Vassals," by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "The Lattice," Treble Clef Club; Bartlett's arrangement of Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," by the club, with the mezzo-soprano solo sung by Mrs. G. B. Ayers; "Wordman's "With Revels and Vassals," by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "The Lattice," Treble Clef Club; Bartlett's arrangement of Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," by the club, with the mezzo-soprano solo sung by Mrs. G. B. Ayers; "Wordman's "With Revels and Vassals," by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "The Lattice," Treble Clef Club; Bartlett's arrangement of Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," by the club, with the mezzo-soprano solo sung by Mrs. G. B. Ayers; "Wordman's "With Revels and Vassals," by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "The Lattice," Treble Clef Club; Bartlett's arrangement of Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," by the club, with the mezzo-soprano solo sung by Mrs. G. B. Ayers; "Wordman's "With Revels and Vassals," by the club, with Miss E. Luke as soprano soloist; soprano solo, "The Lattice," Treble Clef Club; Bartlett's arrangement of Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," by the club, with the mezzo-s

THE THROAT IS EASILY IMPROVED

SAYS Lillian Russell

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

(Copyright, 1911, By Lillian Russell.)

ALTHOUGH I already have given a great many hints on care of the neck and shoulders, I lately have received a number of letters asking me to write a thorough treatise on care and beautifying of the throat. Women as a rule do not pay half enough attention to their throats.

The first thing to do is to take your indispensable hand glass—if you have one of those which we of the stage use, with the magnifying glass on one side and the ordinary mirror on the other, so much the better—and look at your throat carefully from all sides.

If you are over 30 years old and are thin you will probably find that the skin of your neck is brown and leathery and that it hangs more or less loosely. You will probably find also that the cords each side of the throat are unduly prominent and that there are hollows in front at the base. A little sinking hollow behind the ears will be found by many.

Beauty Ill of Fleshy Woman.

However, the woman with the thin neck has not one beauty ill to fight which she of the fleshy one must, and that is the big lump of flesh just at the base of the neck in the back—a most unsightly protuberance and one which is hard to eradicate.

The fleshy woman's neck will show a series of wrinkles where the overlapping double or triple chins allow them to be seen, but the skin upon her neck is more apt to be softer than upon a thin throat.

The throat, like the hands, is apt to show age earlier than the face, and this is simply because, like the hands, it receives less attention than the face.

The beauty seeker must realize that to be beautiful she cannot neglect any part of her body, as every part has a distinct influence upon the whole. In most of the beauty shops when a woman goes for a massage her face is carefully treated and her throat left absolutely alone. I think it would be better sometimes if the scalp and throat were massaged carefully and the face left without it.

Swanlike Neck Beautiful.

The woman with the long neck is to be greatly congratulated, and let no thin woman make the mistake of thinking that a long neck is not beautiful. The greatest beauty that Ethel Barrymore has is her swanlike neck, and she has always had the good sense to leave it collarless, thereby doubtless insuring a beautiful throat as long as she lives.

There is nothing less artistic in a woman's dress than the high collars which reach up to the ears. This style was originated by Queen Alexandra, who found that her throat was growing old and saggy, and straightway she had her collars reach up behind the ears in little points, covering that telltale age mark.

Whistler, the artist, deplored this high collar. He said it made a woman look as if her head were detached from her body and obliterated all grace of movement of the head.

The throat should be splashed and washed with cream quite as often as the face, whether you have a fat neck or a thin one. From the time a young woman begins her good grooming, if she has not been taught it from childhood by her reasonable mother, she should rub cold cream upon her throat. This will not only leave it clean, white, and soft, if used habitually, but it will help to ward away colds.

Complaint of Fleshy Woman.

One woman has said to me: "My throat is too fat. I have a great lump of flesh at the back of my neck and my chin is frankly a double one. Notwithstanding my neck is fleshy, it still has three distinct wrinkles about it. What shall I do for it?"

This woman will have to exercise a great deal of care and patience to bring back her throat to its normal size and beauty. In the first place, she will have to diet carefully to reduce her flesh all over her body, and she will have to take long walks and a great deal of exercise. I do not believe in taking any drug into the system to reduce flesh, and the most rigorous self-denial is necessary to the woman who would reduce herself. This is the reason why so few women will do it. They haven't the stamina of will and strength of character to deny themselves the pleasures of the table and the rocking chair.

We will say however, that this patient has started in on the reducing regimen. Then she must pay special attention to her throat, as here the skin gets flabby quicker than on almost any other part of the body when the flesh is taken off.

Use Cold Water Compress.

I would advise, first, a compress of cold water upon the throat every other night for a couple of months and a rubbing of the flesh daily from the chin down toward the bust with a good skin food. After this is done the throat should be sprayed with cold water. You can put on a bath spray and allow the water to become as cold as you can stand it up under your chin and all over your throat. This will bring the blood to the surface and will be a health giving shock to your whole system.

For the lump on the back of the neck there is nothing better than spirits of camphor rubbed in daily until the flesh is warm and tingles. Indeed, one of the latest ideas for reducing the flesh is a camphor rub. This is drying, you know. Recently I was in the woman's athletic club of one of the large cities, and when I was taken down to see the baths and through the dark Turkish bathrooms the pungent smell of camphor assailed my nostrils and I was told that all the women of the club were taking camphor rubs. I have not used it myself as a beauty help, and I should think it would be almost too drying to use frequently, but it is particularly good for the fleshy spot at the back of the neck.

The three distinct creases or wrinkles about the

LOOK AT YOUR THROAT CAREFULLY. IS THE SKIN BROWN. ARE THE CORDS PROMINENT. ARE THERE HOLLOWS BEHIND THE EARS? LEARN HOW TO OVERCOME THESE DEFECTS.

Keep Your Shoulders Straight and Twist Your Head to the Right and Left

Photo. BY MOFFETT

Walk About the Room, at Least an Hour a Day with a Book on Your Head.

Throw Your Head Backward as Far as Possible

neck are considered a great beauty when the throat is youthful and are called the collar of Venus; but, alas! they are like dimples—as one grows older the soft creases resolve themselves into ugly deep wrinkles. This, of course, can be averted by constant care.

Blowing Fills Out Throat.

When your throat is too thin and the hollows and cords show unpleasantly there is nothing that does it so much good as blowing. Hold up your chin and imagine you are keeping a piece of thistle down in the air by your breath. Blow carefully and softly this way and that. If you will do this before the glass you will find that the air fills out the hollows of your throat; it even softens the "fiddlestring" places of which so many women complain.

The girl or woman with the thin neck should feed it generously with flesh food; and she should also use the cold spray. If it is impossible to obtain the spray, one may use a piece of ice inclosed in a small piece of cheesecloth. Ice is one of the best invigorators for the skin that I know; it also helps much to contract large pores.

By the illustration here given I am showing a number of exercises which will help much to restore the contour of the throat and chin.

In the first place, one should make a practice of walking with something on the head, as to do this one must keep the chin up at its proper angle. Not one woman in a hundred keeps her chin up high enough. The mere act of raising it will help much to beautify the throat.

Exercise for the Morning.

Then in the morning one should throw one's head back just as far as possible, stretching taut the cords in front; then droop the head upon the chest as far as possible, stretching the back cords of the neck in the same way. These movements should each be practiced at least ten times. When the head should be turned from one side to the other as far as possible, not moving the shoulders.

You probably will find that this will make you warm the first two or three times you do it, and it is better to try only a few movements at first.

After these exercises, if you have a fleshy throat, let some one give you the camphor rub; and if your throat is thin, go through the thistle-down blowing exercise.

Never wear a collar of any kind when you are in your own home; and go without one as often as possible in your street attire.

There Is Nothing So Good for a Slim Neck as the Blowing Exercise.

As you grow older, remember to dress your neck in softer fashion; the hard lines of the tailored collar and shirtwaist are not for the middle aged woman, who should always be attired in the most feminine appearing garments.

I cannot tell you how gratified I am that so many women are taking interest in this same beauty culture; and they are learning that beauty, first of all, means a healthy body as near perfect as possible, a mind able to spread itself beyond the petty little fads and follies supposed to be the limit of womanly intelligence, and a spirit full of sweetness and charity. That I am hoping to promulgate this idea gives me not only a great pleasure but fills me with a great pride.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

MRS. E. M.: Salt footbaths, frequent bathing of the feet with hot water, and a little ammonia and frequent change of stockings are advisable for excessive perspiration of the feet. This is usually caused from nervousness, anemia, and poor circulation. Wear white stockings where it is possible. You should change your stockings twice a day and wear sandals when possible. Spirits of camphor applied to the feet will sometimes cure this condition. I am sending you the cleansing cream, the green soap treatment for blackheads, the strengthening exercise for the eyes, and the bleach for brown neck which you asked me for.

DOROTHY: Your oily skin may be due to a torpid liver, too much rich greasy food, or an impaired circulation. Try a diet of fresh fruit, green vegetables with meat only once a day. Which hazel is an excellent remedy for an oily skin. If you will wet a cloth in hot witch hazel and place it over the nose it will reduce the pores and correct the oiliness. If you will send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope I shall send you a recipe for an excellent lotion to correct the greasiness.

C. B.: To remove callous spots from the feet, soak them every night for at least ten minutes in hot water made soapy. At the end of that time, after drying, the hard places are rubbed with a piece of pumice stone, not the prepared kind, but the stone that is in its rough condition. Constant rubbing night after night will greatly reduce the spots. To prevent the callous from hardening, cover it with vaseline or cold cream. Am sending you the French tonic for the eyebrows.

L. M.: The end of an orangewood stick covered with absorbent cotton and dipped in olive oil and passed around the base of the nail will soften and prevent hangnails and roughness of cuticle. I am delighted to hear that my little sermons are doing you so much good, and thank you for your kind wishes.

T.: I shall mail you the recipe for skin food, which I have used with the greatest success for twenty years, also instructions for facial massage, if you will send me the necessary self-addressed, stamped envelope.

MRS. R. F. D.: We never publish anything under the full name of the writer. If you wish the formulas for skin food and the face bleach, write me a note asking for them, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and I shall be glad to send them to you.

B. M. N.: Blackheads are usually caused from a sluggish circulation, indigestion, anemia, and sometimes it is due merely from neglect in cleansing the face. Moderate doses of Epsom salts, combined with care in keeping not only the face but the skin and entire body clean, will eliminate the pimples. Outside applications are of little value. The body must be kept clean inside as well as out. If you will send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope I shall also send you the green soap treatment for blackheads and a soothing, healing salve for pimples.

ROSE: The most effective remedy for superfluous hair is the electric needle. It is a most annoying beauty blemish and I advise you to take the treatment as soon as possible before the growth becomes heavier. However, if you feel that you cannot afford the electric needle, write me again asking for it and I shall send you an inexpensive remedy. If you will send me a self-addressed envelope I shall also send you recipes for glove paste to keep the hands soft and white, and a good cream.

STELLA: Plain yellow vaseline is an excellent remedy for scanty eyelashes. Apply the vaseline at night, but be exceedingly careful that you do not get any into the eye, for oil of any kind irritates it. It does not make them darker. To do that, mascara is good. Get it as near the shade of your hair as possible, or a little darker. You can get it at any drug store.

A. B.: If you have only a few gray hairs I advise you to pull them out. Probably your scalp is not properly nourished. Scalp massage is the secret of keeping the hair healthy. It is easily done and not a great tax on either time or patience. The scalp is loosely attached to the underlying skull, as any one can prove with the fingers. When the scalp becomes adherent to the bones and will not move easily, then the hair will fall and the healthiness of the hair follicles will become impaired. If you will send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope I shall be glad to send you instructions for scalp massage and an excellent hair tonic in which I have perfect faith.

MRS. A.: A woman need not despair nowadays when wrinkles begin to form from nose to mouth, crows' feet branch out from the corners of the eyes, and wrinkles appear across the forehead, for these can be cured if not too long standing, and the process is a pleasant one rather than otherwise. The first requisite of all is to have the skin clean and supple, a cleansing cream and a good skin food being necessary for this purpose. Write me again, sending me the necessary self-addressed, stamped envelope, and I shall be glad to send you the recipe for the skin food, which I have used with the greatest success for over twenty years, and also the recipe for the cleansing cream.

The Oakland Tribune.

NOVEMBER 26, 1911

DANNY DREAMER SENIOR

(Copyright: 1911: by The Tribune Company, Chicago, Ill.)

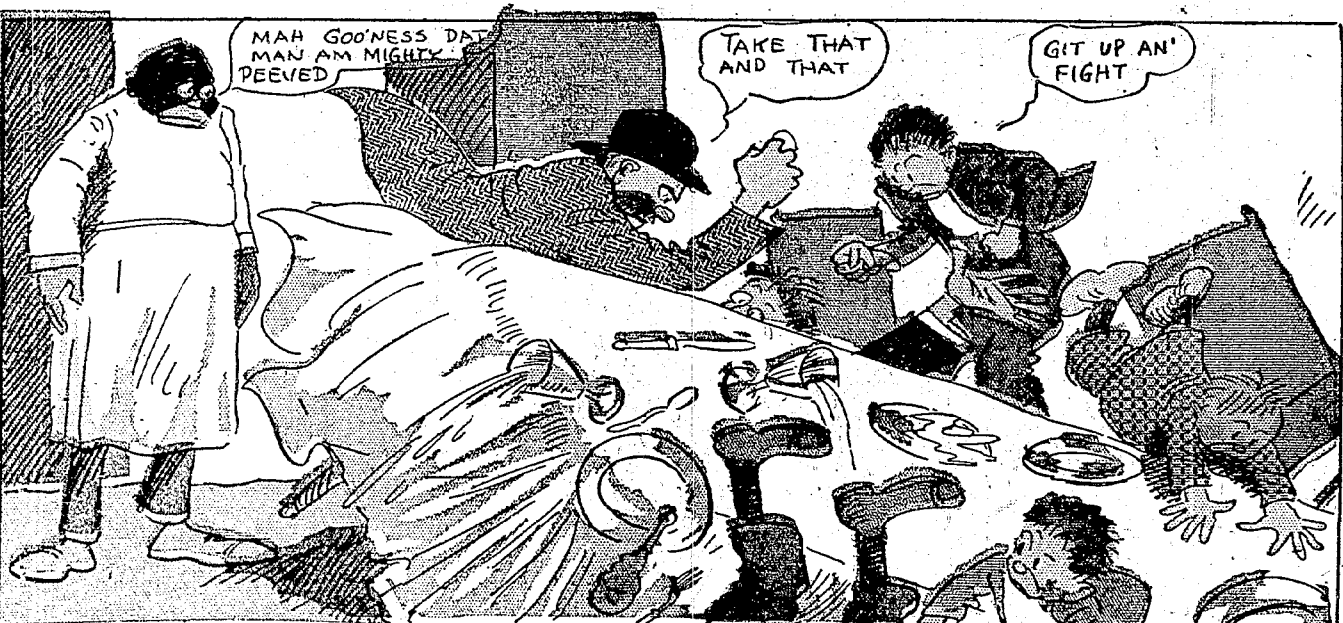

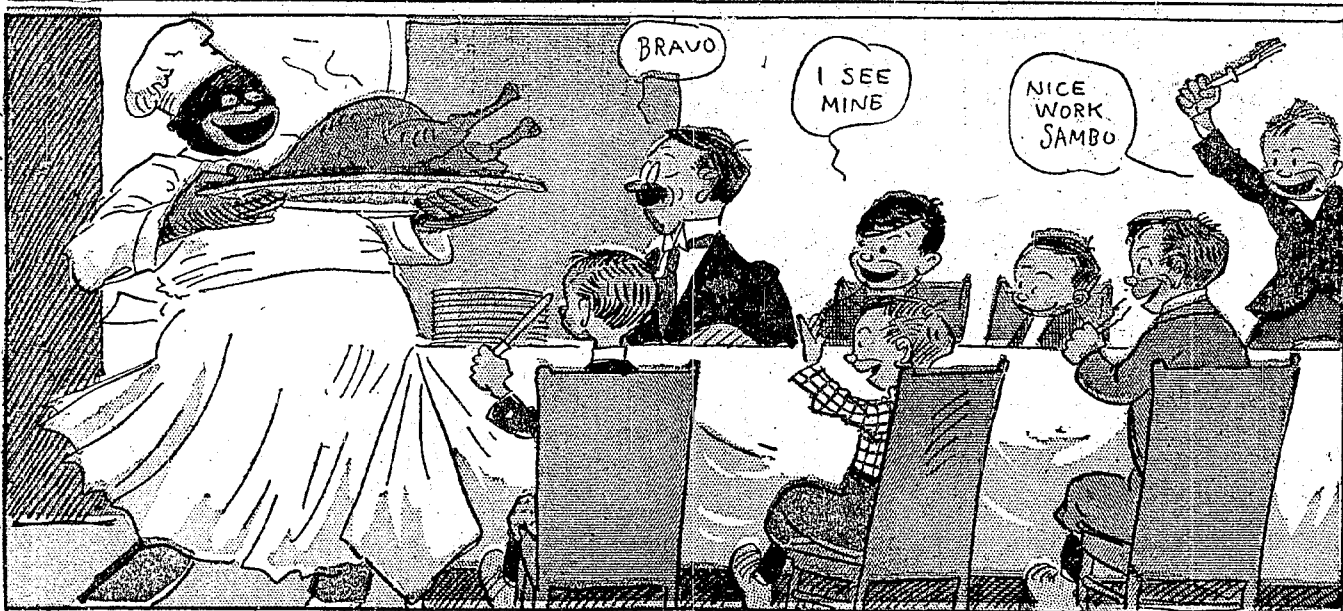

Trade Mark Registered

MR. DREAMER IS GOING TO SHOW THE BOYS A GRAND THANKSGIVING IT WENT THIS FAR—

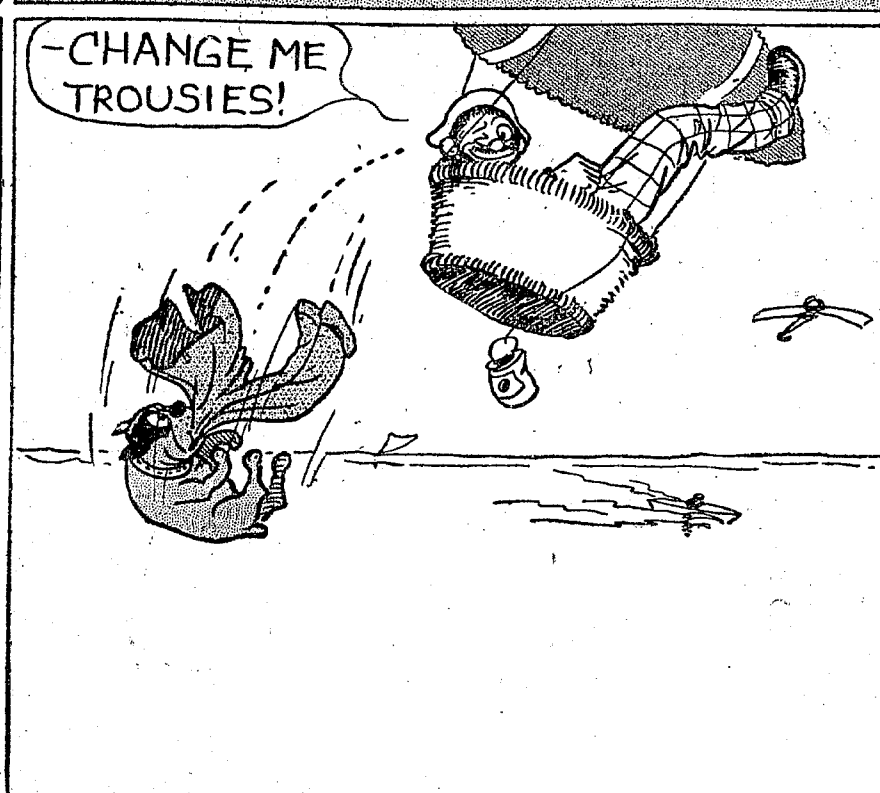

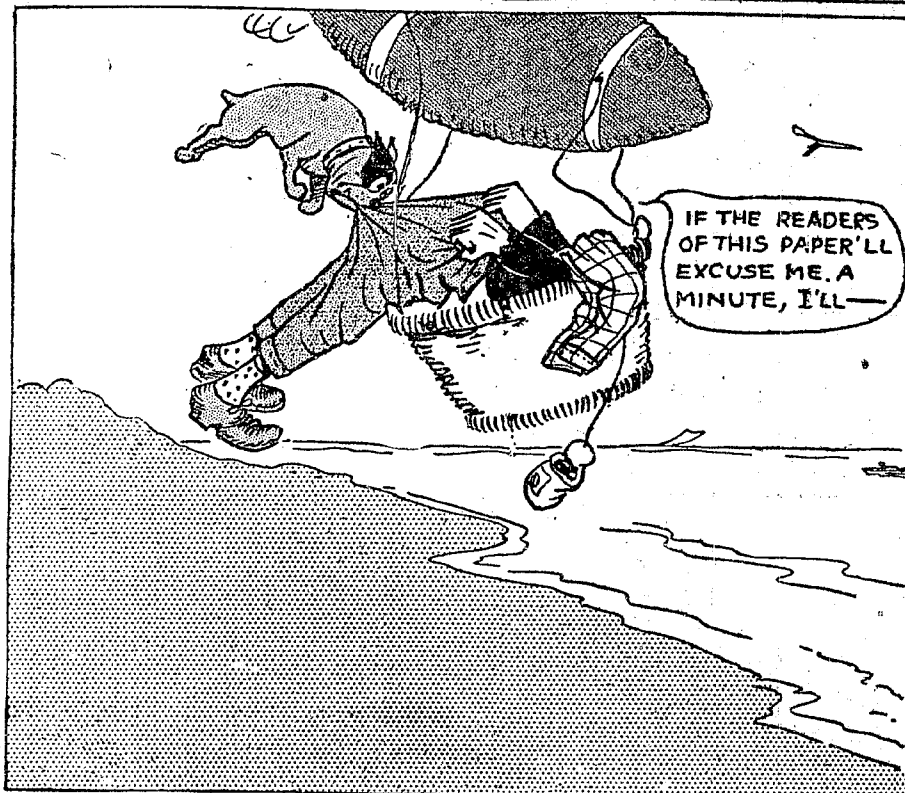

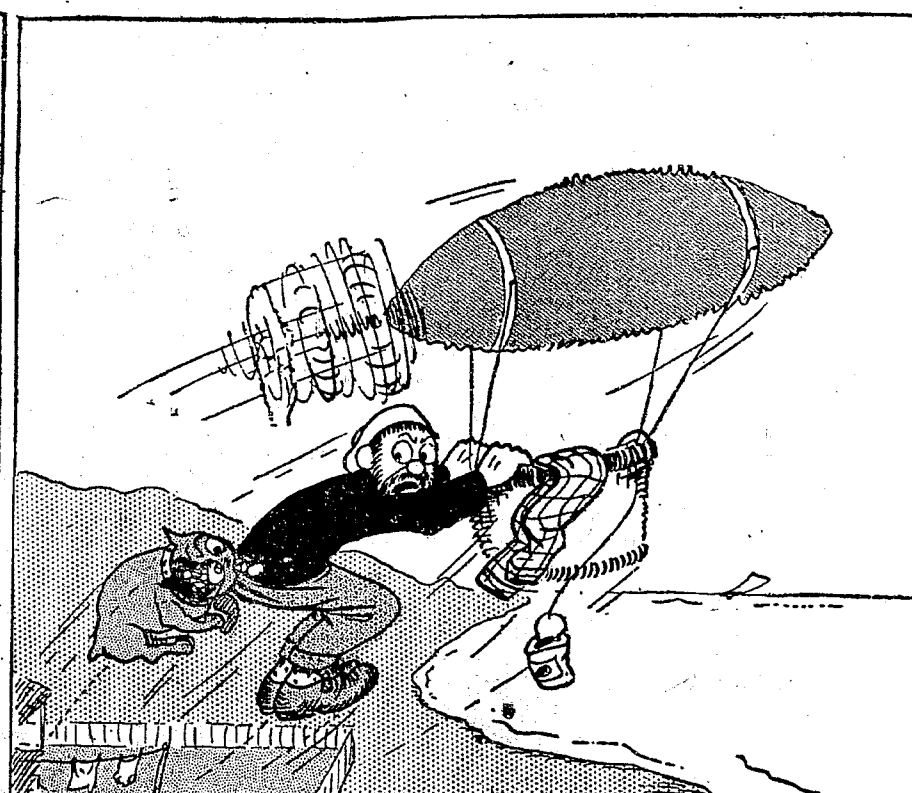

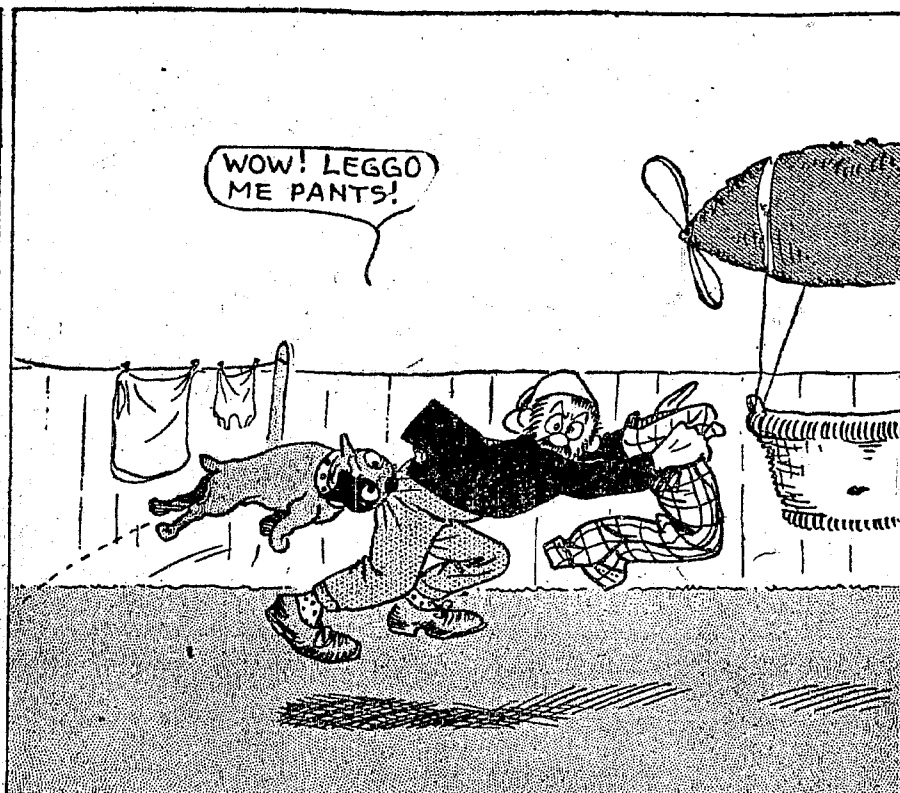

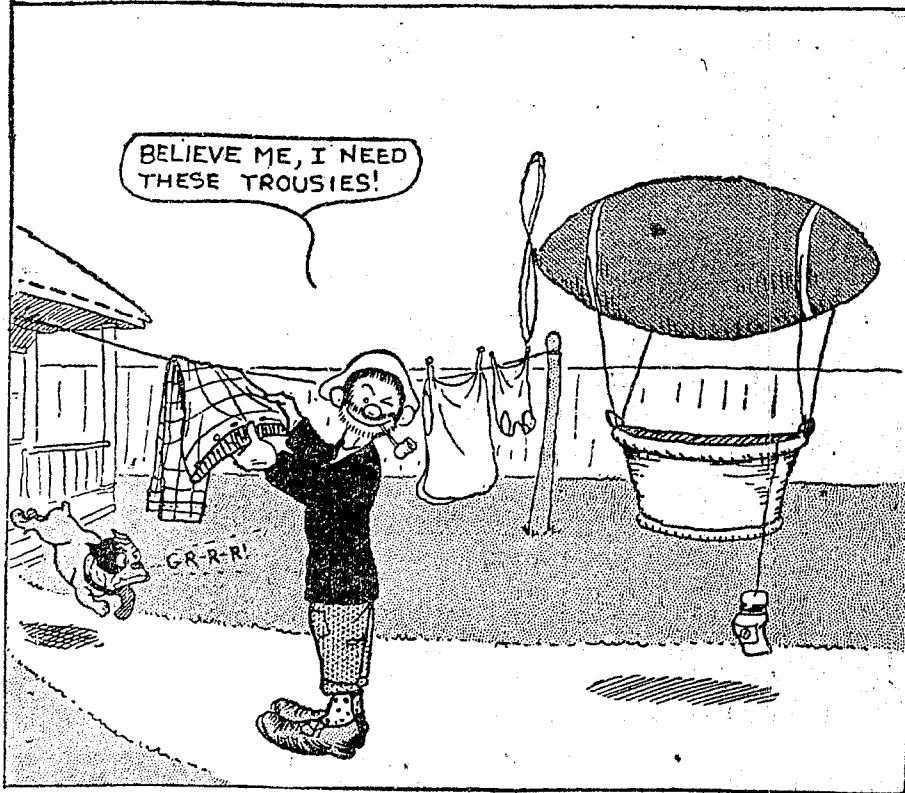

AFTER SUCH A LOVELY BEGINNING THIS IS THE WAY IT ENDED. CAN YOU BEAT IT?

UP IN THE AIR WITH HUNGRY HALLEY

ZEKE DIDN'T GOBBLE THE TURKEY

LOOK OUT FOR MOTORCYCLE MIKE!

MRS. STOUT AND MISS LEAN BECOME MATINEE IDOL WORSHIPPERS.

TEDDY GETS ON THE GOOD SIDE OF MR. TURK-THE OUTSIDE

HONEST, HAROLD, DO YOU MEAN WHAT YOU SAY?

SHE CLEANED AND DRESSED THE TURKEY

THEY HAD SOME FRIENDS FOR DINNER

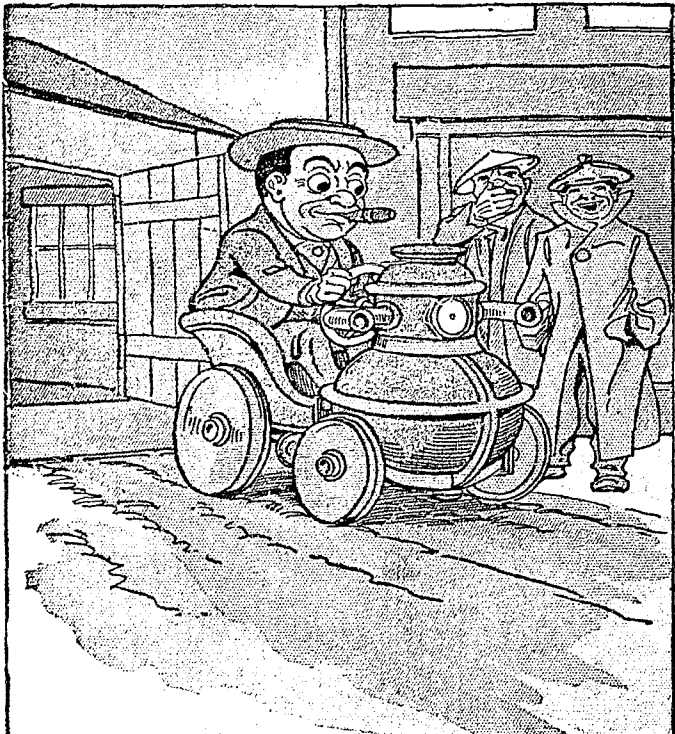

IT WAS A THANKSGIVING PI

THE MEAL RESTED HEAVILY ON HIS STOMACH

OLD OPIE DILLDOCK'S STORIES.

(Copyright: 1911: by The Tribune Company, Chicago, Ill.)

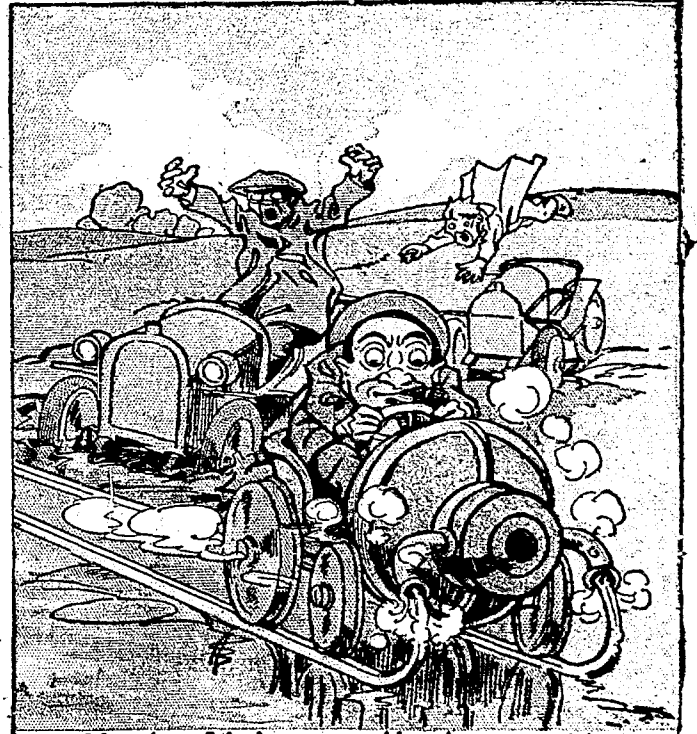

When I took my automagizzy—a machine of my own invention—out of my garage the day I completed it, I came upon two chauffeurs who laughed long and loud at the small wheels and the altogether clumsy looking machine. Then it was I challenged them to race.

They agreed, and so we buzzed out upon an open road, I in the lead and they trailing. They continually jested with me about the blast furnace in front of my contrivance, but I set them a pace which, try as they would, they could not surpass.

We were clipping along at a most merry pace, when a hundred yards or so ahead loomed up a marshy stretch of road which I knew they could not negotiate. I tried to wave them back, but they only laughed the harder and told me to go on, I was doing nicely.

Meantime, I had upset my blast furnace, and hitting the soggy ground I emptied out of the two side arms a stream of molten steel. This was mixed with a solution of my own make which caused the steel to immediately congeal and thus form tracks upon which I raced.

They were hopelessly stuck in the swamp as I raced ahead and stretched out my steel tracks. Over the marsh I smoothly glided, my blast furnace working nicely and throwing out miles of steel track. The chauffeurs called me, but I paid no attention to them.

Coming out again upon a stretch of solid ground, I spun my steel track into a large and perfect circle, shutting off the furnace as I did so. Then I set the huge circle in motion and rode around in it until the twilight deepened and the sun went down.

Soon I came upon a chasm, wide and deep. Without checking my speed, I loosened the circle at the spot where it had been welded and stretched it out flat. This I threw back in the furnace, melted and poured out again in a straight track across the chasm.

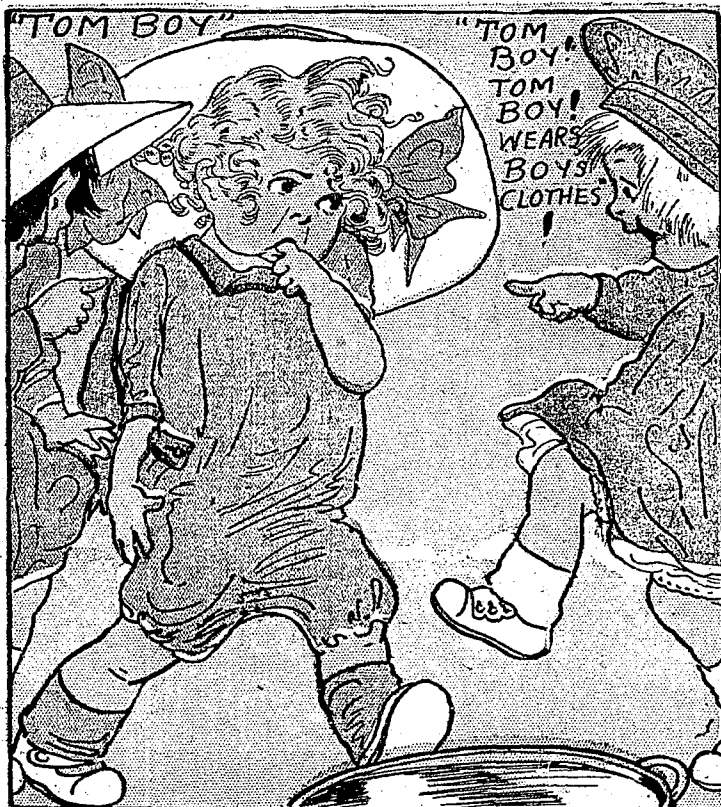

Then I hastened back to the unfortunate chauffeurs. With the furnace turned on full blast, I constructed a steel arch across the marshy place wherein they were stuck, fastened a steel rope to their machines and in a few moments lifted them out on hard ground.

MAMMA'S ANGEL CHILD TRIES FLANNEL JUMPERS

Oh Ma! Jumpers Isn't Stylish!"

"Every Time I Dress You Up Pretty and I Turn My Back, You Get All Dirty! I'll Just Put Some Flannel Jumpers on You and Maybe You Can Keep Clean!"

"TOM BOY!"

"TOM BOY! TOM BOY! WEARS BOYS' CLOTHES!"

"MA!"

"Ma! I Sat Down in a Pan of Water!"

"MA!—These Clothes Is Lighter Than My SKIN!"

"SIT DOWN!"

"I C-CAN'T SIT DOWN! I KIN SIT DOWN IN MY SKIN—B-BUT I C-CAN'T SIT DOWN IN THESE CLOTHES!"

ROGERS DEFIES RACKING "THIRD DEGREE"

MURDERERS MAY BE IN CUSTODY

Couple Are Arrested at McCloud Accused of Being Slayers of Alameda County Farmer

Four Years After Brutal Killing
Officers Jail Suspects in Far-Off Town

McCLOUD, Cal., Nov. 25.—Charles Gray and Gladys Wallace were arrested here last evening by a Pinkerton detective on the charge of having participated in the murder of an aged farmer named Ratje Cordes near Pleasanton, Alameda county, about four years ago. The woman was taken in a resort at Red Cloud, in the suburb. The man was arrested a few minutes later while he was working on the roads nearby.

They are held incommunicado pending the arrival of Alameda county officers. Details of the murder are not revealed here as the Pinkerton detectives are not disposed to discuss the case.

What evidence the detectives have against Gray and Gladys Wallace is not given out. Prior to arresting the woman the detectives talked with her a few moments. When she saw the drift of the conversation she collapsed.

When Gray was arrested he showed considerable agitation.

BLUDGEON WAS USED.

Ratje Cordes was an aged farmer who lived alone in a cabin about two miles from Midway, in the most distant part of Alameda county. Owing to the lonely life of the man it was believed by many people that he had a large sum of money concealed somewhere about the premises.

The morning of January 9, 1908, neighbors found the body of Cordes

Continued on Page 18, Col. 5.

Battling Nelson Not Able to Beat Ponthieu

Fighters Box Ten Rounds to a Draw, Bat Slashing Away
as Usual.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Battling Nelson and Louis de Ponthieu fought ten rounds to a draw here tonight. Former champion Frank Erne was in the corner of his opponent. Nelson fought his old-time slashing battle, while his opponent jabbed him at long range. The French boy was much more clever and as long as he kept at long distance he had it on the Dane, but the moment Bat got him in close De Ponthieu was lost. However, the bout went the limit and neither scored a knockdown.

Cigar Maker Found Dead in His Room

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—H. C. Anderson, a cigarmaker, living at 410 Geary street, was found dead in his room at 10 o'clock tonight. He had evidently shot himself some time last night, but was not missed until today. He left notes asking that a brother in Juniper, Ind., be given benefits amounting to $700 which would be coming from various organizations to which he belonged.

White Women Arrested in Raid on Chinese Opium Den

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The largest and most spectacular roundup of drug fiends and illicit drug sellers in San Francisco took place tonight, when police and deputies of the state board of pharmacy descended upon Chinatown and its adjacent districts and raided 57 opium and other dens, taking more than 100 prisoners to police headquarters. Chinatown and its crooked alleys has rarely witnessed such excitement as it did when the raiding force of 125 men appeared and began to make prisoners. Four patrol wagons were kept busy taking the prisoners to police headquarters. Many white men

Wealthy Indian Prince Badly Hurt at Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 25.—His Royal Highness Jaisint, the Gaekwar of Baroda, heir apparent to the throne of Baroda, India, a sophomore at Harvard, was seriously injured in jumping off a moving car near Harvard square shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon. He was picked up unconscious and taken to a local hospital, where it was stated

AUTOIST IS HELD FOR FELONY

Charles Richter, Who Ran Down Man, Is Lodged in County Jail

Battles With Constable to Avoid Arrest and Is Beaten
Over Head

Charles Richter of Alameda, the autoist who yesterday morning ran down Frank Francis, a barber of Centerville, and left him for dead in the roadway, was locked up in the county jail this evening charged with a felony.

After his exciting capture by Constable Bontello of Alvarado, Richter was taken back to Centerville and identified by his victim, who swore to a warrant for his arrest. Following the necessary formalities before the justice of the peace, he was brought to Oakland and lodged in jail. He will be arraigned in Centerville next Wednesday.

NEAR SECOND ACCIDENT.

Richter's running down of Francis came near being repeated with fully as serious results as one of the details of his capture in Oakland by Constable Bontello, who pursued him in an auto. The fleeing man was only taken into custody after a chase which was continued for more than twenty miles and only after Richter, going at a pace estimated at forty miles an hour, had crashed into the machine of Charles Taylor of Oakland, forcing both machines to the curb and stalling them there.

According to Taylor, he was running at a slow speed, about ten miles an hour, down Fourth avenue, when at the intersection of East Eighteenth street he saw the swiftly approaching automobile driven by Richter. He slackened up to see which direction the approaching machine would take, and when the unknown driver began to turn into Fourth avenue Taylor swerved into Eighteenth street. He had gotten about to the middle of the road when the driver of the other car changed his course suddenly and bore straight down on him, catching him sideways and giving him a shove toward the curb.

The blow crushed in the running board and metal toolbox on the side of the car before it swung away again, only to hit again, and still again, when the two cars came to a stop against the curb. Taylor fails to stop

Continued on Page 18, Col. 1.

Body of Youth Still Floating in the Bay

Young Wireless Operator was Probably Struck Before Landing in Water.

Corral Ree, the young wireless operator of the steamer Watson, who fell overboard from the vessel last Thursday night while attempting to go aboard a barge alongside, off Port Costa, is believed to have been struck on the head in the fall, as the body has not been recovered. A rope thrown to him by members of the crew was not grasped by the man in the water, and it is probable that he was unconscious at the time. The Watson sailed yesterday afternoon for Seattle.

White Women Arrested in Raid on Chinese Opium Den

and women were arrested in the raids, although the majority of the prisoners were Chinese. In the opium den at 23 John street, run by Robert Bean, six white women were arrested with the proprietor. One of the women, who was a handsome blonde not more than 20 years old, cried hysterically while being taken to police headquarters, saying that she had been out sightseeing and had been taken to the place by a companion. She gave an address in the Mission and sent for friends, who secured her release on bail. A patrol wagon load of evidence was secured during the raid in the shape of opium and the like.

Wealthy Indian Prince Badly Hurt at Harvard

he was suffering from concussion of the brain. He also received a nasty gash on the nose. The Gaekwar is one of the richest students in Harvard and is said to have a yearly income of $5,000,000. He lives in Dunster Hall, one of the "Gold Coast" dormitories. His father holds sway over 2,000,000 subjects and it is said India owes him more progressive ideas than any other living man.

'ROOSEVELT BARK BAD': HEARST

Colonel Declared to Be Most Boisterous, Disturbing and Destructive President

Country Not Yet Recovered
From Panic Into Which Former Executive Hurled It

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—The Record-Herald this morning prints the following dispatch:

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—In response to a series of questions submitted by Sumner Curtis, Washington correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald, William Randolph Hearst gave the following interview tonight:

"In your opinion is Colonel Roosevelt a candidate for the presidency in 1912?"

"In my opinion Colonel Roosevelt always has been a candidate for the presidency and always will be a candidate for the presidency. But I do not think that Colonel Roosevelt will be the candidate of any party for the presidency in 1912 or in any subsequent year."

—WAS MOST BOISTEROUS.

Mr. Roosevelt has been president of the United States and has been the most boisterous, bombastic, disturbing and destructive president that the United States has ever had."

It is astounding to hear Mr. Roosevelt criticizing Mr. Taft for disturbing business, when Mr. Roosevelt in his term so completely disturbed business as practically to put it out of business. Mr. Taft's activities may not be exactly benefiting business, but the main trouble with business is that it has not yet recovered from the panic into which Mr. Roosevelt hurled it by his indiscriminate attacks and inflammatory utterances.

Mr. Roosevelt's trust policy was, to be sure, more than a little, but confidence can be dissipated, investors terrified and business demoralized by a sufficiently loud bark. When Mr. Roosevelt was president he was forever publicly denouncing American big business and American big business men, while secretly doing those men in their trust transactions and even involving them as "practical men" to help him write his public documents.

TWO-FACED, HE CHARGES.

At the very moment when Mr. Hariman was being publicly assailed by Mr. Roosevelt he was being privately invited by letter to visit Mr. Roosevelt in Washington and express his opinion on a presidential message.

At the very moment when the Standard Oil Company was being attacked publicly by Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Rogers was being invited to visit Mr. Roosevelt in Washington and Mr. Rogers' request for appointments and promotions were being duly honored by Mr. Roosevelt. At the very moment when the trusts were being denounced publicly by Mr. Roosevelt and their growth deplored by Mr. Roosevelt, liberty was being privately granted by Mr. Roosevelt and immunity guaranteed by Mr. Roosevelt to the steel trust in its absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company. But it was not so much Mr. Roosevelt's secret dealings with the trust magnates that unsettled business in America as his extravagant and indiscriminate denunciation of American business conditions.

FOREIGNERS SCARED.

"A great part of the capital employed in developing American enterprises is invested from abroad. These foreign investors are naturally somewhat timid of investments so far from home, and disposed to watch investments very carefully."

"All Mr. Roosevelt's extravagant expressions and indiscriminate attacks were printed in full in the papers and the foreign investors, reading these reports and knowing nothing of Mr. Roosevelt's secret association with the trust magnates became frightened at conditions in

Continued on Page 21, Cols. 1-2

Battleship Oregon Anchors Off Monterey

Officers Are Guests at Banquet and Dance Given at Del Monte.

DEL MONTE, Cal., Nov. 25.—The United States battleship Oregon steamed into Monterey bay at daybreak this morning and will remain but twenty-four hours. At 10 a. m. a party made up of Colonel Miller and staff and Major Martin of Monterey paid an official visit to the commanding officer of the warship. After the return of the official visitors the officers were the guests of the Chamber of Commerce and were taken in automobiles around the famous seventeen-mile drive to Pebble Beach Lodge, where a short stop was made. In the evening a banquet was given at the Hotel Del Monte, at which 250 guests from Monterey and Pacific Grove were present. After the banquet the diners made their way to the ballroom.

MME. CURIE'S LOVE LETTERS TO AFFINITY STARTLE PARIS

MME. MARIE CURIE, the famous scientist, whose love letters to her affinity have created a sensation in Paris.

Noted Woman Scientist Writes Passionate Appeal to Professor Langevin

"Force Your Wife to Leave
You," She Entreats Her
Soulmate

PARIS, Nov. 25.—Mme. Marie Curie, who, calling to her aid the influence of the greatest and most respected savants of France, has sought to wrap herself in the virtuous cloak of science as a protection against the exposure which has shocked even the not over sensitive Parisians, has been stripped before the public by the publication of her love letters sent to her fellow scientist, Prof. Paul Langevin.

That love laughs at science and respects neither persons nor age is shown by the amazing revelations made in the letters. French gallantry decries the action of Gustave Thery, the journalist, in publishing these private letters, saying it is a woman who is exposed, but Thery replies: "I thought there were two women, one of them is fighting for her husband and children."

MME. CURIE'S LETTERS.

The character of these remarkable letters and some idea of the sensation which they have caused may be gained from the following extracts:

An Revolt, dear Paul, I take your dear head in both my hands to caress it lovingly and tenderly with motherly love. I will write you again from home. Be careful when you go to our place, also to the postoffice, where people who know you are often found. Next time I will write you under the same initials, M. P. L., adding for safety's sake the number 226.

If your child is employed to spy on you it seems too certain there is a danger, which from a moral point of view it will be very difficult to avoid. I her mother asks her every day. Scruples of this kind are foreign to her.

There is a fog today. The sea is gray and dismally. I shall go to the post with this.

I regret I cannot renew the flowers at our house to give you pleasure. There is some fine ferns which I would like to place there for you. Many tender kisses.

YOUR TENDER EYES.

The following letter is given to explain Mme. Curie's attitude:

Dear Paul: I spent last evening and night thinking of you and the time we had together. Its remembrance is delightful. Still, I see your kind, tender eyes and your affectionate smile. I am longing for your sweet presence.

How sweet would be the liberty to see each other as often as the diversity of our occupations allowed—to work, walk and travel together when circumstances were favorable. Between us is a profound affinity which for its full development needs a felicitous course of events. In the past we have had a presentment, but have only awakened to a full consciousness of it by being brought in contact with each other.

The instinct which drew us together has been very strong since it has helped us to overcome so many painful impressions arising from the totally different way in which each had understood and organized his private life.

DEEP AFFECTION.

Now behold us bound together by a deep affection which we must not allow to be destroyed. Is not the shattering of a deep and sincere affection comparable to the death of a child whom one has cherished and seen grow up and may it not in certain cases be an even greater misfortune than that?

What could not be drawn from this instinctive feeling, so spontaneous with a view to much in keeping with our reason; so compatible with our intellectual needs for which it is so admirably adapted?

For my part I think everything might be obtained—mutual love, solid friendship, hopeful courage, and even children born of mutual love, of the widest sense of the word.

AT RISK OF LIFE.

My heart tells me some times that I must be attached to you by very strong cords in order that I may make up my mind to preserve these cords at the very risk of my position and my life when there are some other important duties to be discharged.

Think of that, dear Paul, when

Continued on Page 19, Cols. 3-4

CUSTOMS OFFICERS SEIZE GOWNS; WOMEN WEEP

$5000 Will It Cost Miss Bradbury of Los Angeles to Secure Property

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—For every dollar that her non-compliance with the customs laws has cost her, Miss Louisa Bradbury of Los Angeles shed a tear when told today by Surveyor Henry that her foreign purchases had been seized and that it would cost her $5000 to get them back. By the time Surveyor Henry had concluded his decision Miss Bradbury was weeping profusely and her niece, Miss Marian Winston, 22 years old, was also crying.

The customs officers also have a list of Los Angeles people whom Miss Bradbury had brought goods in without paying duty.

Miss Bradbury is the sister of Colonel John Bradbury of Los Angeles and arrived with her niece on the Lusitania last Friday with five trunks which hold the laces, gowns and hats she had purchased during her two months' stay in Europe. She had not enumerated any of the articles in the declaration and when a customs man asked her if she had bought anything that was dutiable she said she had.

"Why did you not make a list of them on the declaration form?" the inspector asked.

"It was too much trouble and I did not think it mattered," was the reply.

The inspector ordered the trunks to the public stores for appraisement and told Miss Bradbury that she and her niece would be required at the customs house today, the women, accompanied by an attorney, faced Surveyor Henry. The case was a new one to the customs authorities and they were not sure whether Miss Bradbury intended to smuggle or not.

Maricopa Consolidated Strikes Gusher Sand

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 25.—The Maricopa Consolidated Oil Company has struck the gusher sand at a depth of 2600 feet on section 32, 12-23, on the Maricopa Flat, between the new Coronado well and the old Consolidated Midway. The well is reported flowing at 1500 to 2000 barrels.

Banker-Convict Is In Critical Condition

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 25.—If his condition permits, Charles W. Morse, the banker-convict, who is ill at the federal penitentiary here, will be removed to the army hospital at McPherson Sunday morning, where he will be under charge of Major Baker, chief surgeon of the post.

It was intended to move Morse this afternoon, but about 3 o'clock he took a turn for the worse and his condition is said to be critical. A consultation between Drs. Calvin Wol-ren and L. A. Fowler, former prison physicians, will be held, it is said, before Morse is removed to the hospital at Fort McPherson.

It is understood Morse is suffering from incipient Bright's disease and complications, but the physicians do not agree about his condition. Four trained nurses are on their way from Washington and will be in attendance on the sick man at the fort, where all preparations have been made to receive him.

Sex May Be Regulated, Declares Paris Physician

PARIS, Nov. 25.—The mystery of the sexes, which has ever baffled physicians, would seem to have been solved so far as regulating birth is concerned, according to a paper read by Prof. Leon Lubbe before the Academy of Medicine here. It is claimed that experiments with ad-renalin will determine in advance the sex of a child. It is contended that if the substance is injected hypodermically into the father of a baby a girl will be born, and if injected into the mother the offspring will prove to be a boy. The paper was written by Dr. Robertson and his claims are supported by Prof. Lubbe.

IRON NERVE CONQUERS POLICE

Prisoner Almost Faints, but Insists He Did Not Kill
Goodman

Detectives Grill Their Subject for 150 Minutes Without Wringing Confession

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The "third degree," that dreaded ordeal condemned by moralists the country over and scathingly criticized by prison reformers, was given to John S. Rogers, suspected murderer of Benjamin Goodman, in all its deadliness for two hours and a half tonight. The strain upon the nerves of this man, against whom the police have carefully weaved a strong web of circumstantial evidence, was almost overpowering. He wavered and broke on the wheel of the machine-like steadiness of the questions fired at him; he wilted, almost fainted, and then went into paroxysms of hysteria, but still he did not reveal. He did not confess; he did not say anything that would in the remotest manner aid his prosecutors.

SUSPECT MERCILESSLY GRILLED.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the scenery being duly set, the detectives began their work and it was 10:30 o'clock before the suspected man, his body wet with perspiration and his brow furrowed with the signs of worry and despair, was almost carried down to his cell. During that 150 minutes of grilling, grueling cross-fire of questions and answers through all the stages of human emotion.

He was at first jaunty, poking ridicule at the four stalwart detectives and the representatives of the press who were gathered in a ring about him. He was jovial and joking, but as his spirit was worn down by the incessant and indomitable boring of those who were interrogating him his flippancy soon turned to anger. He became sulky and morose and then at last he burst into tears. He yelled and screamed in his hysteria and cried out: "I didn't do it; I tell you I didn't do it." Recovering again from this stage he plunged once more into a sulky, quiet answer as he was compelled to do with a stoic yet or no, and giving absolutely no information for the benefit of those who were trying to break down his iron reserve and to humble him in the dust and mire which he had for money.

FARIES EVERY THRUST.

Every conceivable trick known to the shrewd sleuths was adopted by the experienced detectives before him, but he fended with them, parrying every thrust and avoiding every stab which might seem to open up some angle and lead to a confession or an admission of possibility. This was the most strenuous sweating which has been given the accused man since his first arrest on Wednesday, but when it was over the detectives confessed that in this instance they had met their match.

"He did not give us a single new line to work upon," said Detective Sergeant McGowan. "He refused absolutely to say a word, and although

Continued on Page 18, Col. 4

Mayor Rolph Guest Of Oakland Friends

Attends Birthday Party; Showers Hearty Congratulations On Captain Lewis.

Mayor-elect James Rolph of San Francisco, Mrs. Rolph and Miss Annie Rolph were the guests of honor at a small gathering last evening in the home of Captain and Mrs. W. T. Lewis, 533 Chestnut. The occasion was the celebration of Captain Lewis' sixty-seventh birthday. The other guests present were Mrs. May Waterbury of Berkeley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis and Earl Lewis.

Captain Lewis has been connected with the Hinds-Rolph company for the last 13 years in the capacity of port captain and his services are held in high esteem by his employers. During the recent campaign Lewis worked faithfully in support of Rolph's candidacy and the affair of last evening was sort of a mutual congratulation.

Imperialists Repulsed After 36-Hour Fight

Premier Yuan Shi Kai Distrusted Alike by the Manchus and the Chinese.

PEKIN, Nov. 25.—Continued fighting at Hankow and in the vicinity of Nan-king is taken by many Chinese to mean that Yuan Shi Kai, while reassuring foreigners with a view to obtaining a loan and placating the moderates with pretended pacific measures, is intent upon crushing the rebellion with force. His position is becoming intolerable, and neither Manchus nor Chinese trust him. After an attack on Hankow, which lasted thirty-six hours, the imperialists were repulsed Thursday and driven across the Han river.

DEAF MUTE CURED BY SURGERY

Removal of Obstruction to Ear Tubes Restores Speech and Hearing

Patient Is 13-Year-Old Daughter of A. Newman, San Francisco Manufacturer

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The power of speech and hearing has been given to 13-year-old Josephine Newman, daughter of A. Newman, a wealthy manufacturer, after ten years spent in searching for a cure for her. The parents almost had come to believe that the girl would be a deaf mute for life. A growth which obstructed the ear tubes and which had prevented the girl since her birth from hearing was cleared away in an operation two weeks ago at Mount Zion hospital and today the parents were informed that with special treatment their daughter would be able to speak and hear a little better each day, and that within six months she would be a normal child.

The girl never had talked beyond incoherent mumbling of the kind that deaf mutes utter. The trouble was not discovered until the baby was 2 years old, and since that time the parents went to many parts of the world and tried many things to bring about a cure.

The operation at Mount Zion hospital was tried as a last resort. One of the physicians said that while it was not exactly an experiment, there was no certainty that a cure would be effected. It was a theory put into practice and tested and it worked. The girl now repeats simple words and is able to hear a little. Treatments are being given to stimulate her almost paralyzed organs. Her parents live at 417 Central avenue.

RICHTER JAILED ON FELONY CHARGE

Autoist Captured in a 20-Mile Race After He Collides
With Machine.

Continued from Page 17

Understand why the impact did not overturn his machine, at the speed at which Richter was going.

RICHTER FIGHTS.
The pursuing officer was close behind Richter and when his car stopped he sprang out with the officer after. He fought strenuously to escape arrest, even after the handcuffs were upon his wrists, and was only subdued by repeated blows over the head. He was then taken to Niles, after which he was brought to Oakland.

In the meantime Taylor had notified Richter's wife of her husband's troubles and was informed that he had only had the machine a few weeks, but had several times been in trouble for reckless driving.

FRANCIS WILL RECOVER.
Francis is believed to be out of danger, though, according to physicians attending him, it is impossible to tell whether he is seriously injured internally or only slightly jarred. His outward wounds, though very painful, are not grave. No bones were broken. Francis is a married man, his home being some distance from Centerville. He is being cared for at his brother's home in Centerville.

St. Helena Belle Becomes a Bride

Miss Martha Reynolds and B. C.
Denio Are Married in
San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—B. C. Denio, a young business man of Vallejo, nephew of W. D. Pennycook, editor and publisher of the Vallejo Chronicle, and Miss Martha Reynolds, popular belle of St. Helena, were married at the Cathedral at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. The bride is a niece of George E. Hansen and a graduate of Ursuline Academy, St. Helena. The honeymoon will be spent in the southern part of the state.

ROGERS RAGES AND WAILS WHEN SLEUTHS BAIT HIM

MRS. MARIA ROGERS, mother of John S. Rogers, and the murder suspect's three children. Top, Lillian, 1 year old. Below, left, Jessie, 4 years old, and Dorothy, 5 years.

RETIRING PRINCIPAL IS GIVEN HIGHEST PRAISES

J. F. Chandler of Franklin School Guest of Honor at Reception Given by Alumnae and Friends

J. F. Chandler, principal of the Franklin School for nearly a quarter of a century and soon to retire following his voluntary resignation, was tendered a large reception last night in the Franklin School building, Tenth avenue and East Fifteenth street, by the pupils and alumnae of the school, their parents and friends. Several hundred guests were present to greet the guest of honor and to listen to a program of musical numbers and speeches.

The idea of complimenting Principal Chandler, who is the second principal which the Franklin School, one of the oldest in the city, having been established in the early 70s, has ever had, was originated by the parents of the pupils attending the school and by a number of the alumnae. Chandler has resigned his position, to take effect at the end of the present term, and is to travel and rest for a time before taking up new work. He has been one of the most popular of principals in the Oakland school department and is considered one of the most valuable men at the head of the city's schools as well.

Charles E. Cornell, one of the oldest graduates of the Franklin School, acted as master of ceremonies for the informal program which was given during the evening, after the meeting had been called to order by J. W. Evans, former school director of the East Oakland school district.

McCLYMONDS SPEAKS.
Superintendent of Schools J. W. McClymonds addressed the guest of honor of the evening on behalf of the board of education, extolling him highly for his record as principal of one of the most important of the city's schools. "It has been nearly twenty-five years since I first knew Principal Chandler, and in all that time I have known him as one of the finest of schoolmen and gentlemen," said the speaker.

The gratitude of the parents of the pupils of the school was then voiced by Dr. J. H. Pond, former principal of the Oakland High School. Dr. Pond spoke of the debt which the fathers and mothers of the Franklin School children owed to Principal Chandler for his example and guidance of the growing children and of the splendid results which he had achieved in the quarter century of his administration here.

Judge Henry A. Melvin, as one of the distinguished alumnae of the school, although not a pupil under the guest of honor, spoke for the alumnae, relating a number of interesting anecdotes of past school days. In the course of his remarks Judge Melvin spoke of such prominent alumnae as Miss Keith Wakeman, actress and authoress; Caro Roma, composer and singer; Ross Tucker, engineer of New York; P. J. Walker, contractor, and many others.

HEART IN HIS WORK.

Chandler himself was then asked to speak, and in an eloquent way expressed his appreciation of the compliment paid him in the evening's reception.

"It is far more than I deserve," he said, "but it is something for which I want to thank you again and again. I have made a success of the administration here, it is because without any special help I may say my heart has been in the work. And when I have failed, as I have done many times, it has been a failure of the judgment and never one of the heart."

Other features of the program were orchestral selections by the Leach Orchestra of young men, under the direction of Miss A. Harvey; choral numbers by the school's graduating class of boys and girls, under the leadership of Mrs. Bertha Cromwell, teacher of the graduating class and chairman of the teachers' committee of arrangements for the affair; and solos by Miss Elizabeth Wilcox, a Franklin school graduate, accompanied by Miss Ruth Elder, and Mrs. Fred Laurer, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Wilcox, piano, and Miss Kittie Webster, violin.

COMMITTEES IN CHARGE.

The details of the reception were in the hands of Mrs. R. D. Holmes as general chairman, with Mrs. James Pond as chairman of the program committee, and Mrs. John P. Cook, chairman of the reception committee.

In the receiving line at the reception proper were Mrs. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. von Koenigsberger, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Vane, Mr. and Mrs. George Mason, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Gladys Davis, Mrs. Niel Calley, Mrs. Bertha Cromwell, Miss Margaret Porter, Miss Kate Morris and Mrs. Du Ray Smith.

Coach Derailed; Ferry System Is Tied Up

As a Southern Pacific local train on the Seventh street line approached the mole on the 11:20 run last night a switch on one of the newly installed tracks failed to work, the rear trucks of the hind coach being derailed, with the result that traffic was blocked for nearly half an hour. Little damage was done and the system was soon in working order. Recently a great amount of repair work has been done along the mole preparatory to installing the electric system, and most of the tracks have been temporarily disarranged.

SANTA CLARA MAN INHERITS $20,000,000

SANTA CLARA, Nov. 25.—A third share in a $60,000,000 estate has fallen to C. Norman of Santa Clara, according to word received from France today. The estate was left by Marie Janet and Norman is the eldest son of a brother of the decedent, who had no direct heirs.

ARCHBISHOP GRANTED A PRIVATE AUDIENCE

ROME, Nov. 25.—A private audience was given by the pope today to Archbishop Farley of New York. The archbishop is one of the cardinals-designate.

CLUBS HIS HEAD TO PASS "COP" EXAMINATION

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—A physical examination is compulsory for the prospective policeman, and in order to meet the various requirements of the civil service examination odd methods are frequently resorted to.

In one instance a candidate struck himself on the top of the head with a club in order to raise a welt which would bring him to the required height. He succeeded in passing.

'I'M INNOCENT' HE SNARLS SAVAGELY

Strain of Gruelling Inquisition Leaves Suspect Weak and Trembling.

Bursts Into Tears and Hysterics, Yet Proves Master of Harrowing Ordeal.

Continued from Page 17

he broke down and cried and protested against our questions he gave us absolutely no hope."

POLICE STRENGTHEN CASE.

The day and the night was spent by the officers in strengthening the evidence they already have. Diagrams in elaborate detail were made of the basement of the California Produce Company and of everything necessary to be properly displayed to the coroner's jury, which convenes on Tuesday. Witnesses were looked up and subpoenaed. Alibis given by the men under arrest were run down, the detectives endeavoring to substantiate them. It was a day of picking up loose ends and making firm and strong the chain of circumstantial evidence against Rogers, who is the only one of the quartet now in custody against whom the police have sufficient testimony to place a charge following the inquest.

MORE EVIDENCE EXPECTED.

Tomorrow morning several remote bits of information which have come in through Acting Detective Ryan to-night, but which the police will not give out, will be looked into by the officers, but for the present unless some more comes forward with some new information of sort vital to the case, it is probable that the evidence now in it all that will be ready for consideration by the men of the coroner's jury on Tuesday.

ROGERS' CHILDREN IN OAKLAND.

The three little children of John S. Rogers, San Francisco murder suspect, live in Oakland with their grandmother, Mrs. Maria Rogers, at 1553 Third street. The youngest child is Lillian, 1 year old; Jessie is 4, and Dorothy is 5 years old. Rogers and his wife have been separated since December of last year. His wife does what she can to aid in the support of her children, but her earnings are meager and uncertain. Rogers' mother cannot believe that he is guilty of the crime of which he is suspected, and her grief is most piteous to behold.

CLERKS TO SEEK EIGHT-HOUR DAY

Postoffice Employees to Start a Campaign for Shorter Working Hours.

The United National Association of Postoffice Clerks have determined to institute a campaign for an eight-hour day. By a unanimous vote the order, at its convention this year, decided that to work for that end would be their chief aim in the future.

Postoffice clerks occupy the unique position of being practically the only class of government employees who are not protected by any act of Congress, limiting in any way their hours of labor. The principle of an eight-hour day for government employees is well established. In recent years this principle has even been extended to cover the employees of private contractors who might be employed on a government contract.

It is pointed out by the clerks' organization that when the men are required to work overtime they should be remunerated with double pay, and that there should be a sufficient number of clerks always on hand in order that the work of the department may be carried on with the greatest efficiency. As President Taft has expressed himself in favor of the eight-hour day for government employees, it is likely that something will be done to relieve the conditions under which the postal clerks now labor.

Congressman Thomas L. Reilly of Connecticut has introduced a bill in Congress, known as H. R. 1692, which is now pending before the committee on postoffices and post roads, of the House of Representatives. It is generally believed that if this bill is enacted into law it will accomplish the purpose desired.

PULLS OUT HIS FINGER IN DUEL OF STRENGTH

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 25.—Frank Pollinski, a strong man of Pittsburg, today pulled the right forefinger of Joseph Duskey out by the roots by a tug of war with fingers locked for an ice cream soda.

The men are miners and both unusually strong. This morning, in discussing their strength, they made a bet of ice cream soda, the stronger man to win. They locked their right forefingers, braced themselves and pulled.

For several minutes the men kept pulling and twisting, without either gaining much, and then the terrific strain parted the tendons and muscles of Duskey's forefinger, and it came off at the second joint.

Duskey was game, and despite the pain and loss of his finger, insisted on treating.

ACCUSE COUPLE OF BEING MURDERERS

Are Orrested in McCloud On a Charge of Slaying Aged Farmer.

Continued from Page 17

lying in the doorway with his skull crushed in by some heavy instrument. Search revealed the cause of death when a blood-stained shotgun barrel was discovered near the spot, as well as a large rock, also bloody, that had been used in beating the head of the victim.

In spite of an offer of $500 reward for the slayers by Governor Gillett, augmented by half that amount from Sheriff Barnett of Alameda county, no one was convicted of the crime. A number of arrests were made, but nothing definite could be learned. T. H. Cordes, brother of the murdered man, then offered an additional $100 reward, making a total of $850.

MATTER WAS DROPPED.

Following the inquest, which was held at Pleasanton, the matter died down and until it was announced that arrests in the case had been made yesterday it looked as the perpetrators of the crime would go unpunished.

Just what evidence the detectives have concerning the two persons in custody has not been learned here. A deputy sheriff will be sent after the two prisoners either this afternoon or tomorrow morning, and the couple brought back here to stand trial.

Sheriff Frank Barnett left Oakland three days ago on a mysterious trip and it is believed that he may have gone to McCloud in response to a request from detectives who believed they had sufficient evidence to warrant an arrest. That the officers of the law had not dropped their quest for the murderers of Cordes is made evident by the apprehension of Gray and Gladys Wallace after nearly four years.

Gen. John T. Cutting Is Dead in Toronto

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—After an illness lasting several years, General John Tyler Cutting died yesterday at Toronto, Canada, from arterio-sclerosis. General Cutting was 67 years old and became identified with the national guard in California. He was killed today by falling twenty-five feet from a tree which he had been trimming.

Football Hero Killed In Tumble From Tree

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Noble Reneker, 23 years old, and a student at Whittier College, the best football player on the team, was killed today by falling twenty-five feet from a tree which he had been trimming.

20-YEAR-OLD WIFE KILLS HUSBAND AND SELF

DENTON, Tex., Nov. 25.—Unable to effect a reconciliation with her husband, to whom she had been married only six months, Alma Fugh, 20 years old, shot and killed him, and then shot a bullet through her own brain. They separated in July, and he had brought suit for divorce.

Mrs. Fugh went to her husband's boarding house and demanded that he return and live with her. When he refused she fired the fatal shots.

DISAIDED LOVER KILLS GIRL AND TWO BROTHERS

VIENNA, Nov. 25.—The announcement last night that Dr. Robert Holzmann von Hort, formerly connected with the ministry of justice, was one of the victims in the tragedy of his home was erroneous. The doctor escaped harm, but his two sons and his daughter were shot and killed by the family tutor, Matkovic.

The tutor was in love with the girl, who, however, failed to return his affections. The family tutor was shot.

F. W. HAWTHORNE DIES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—After an illness of several weeks, Frank Warren Hawthorne, editor of the New York Commercial, died today at Montclair, N. J. He had been at his work up to last Friday even though suffering considerable pain for some time past.

City of Paris

UNION SQUARE

FOUNDED 1850

GEARY AT STOCKTON

Sale of Imported Gowns, Suits, Wraps and Coats

THIS SALE TAKES PLACE ON

Monday, November 27th

AND INCLUDES MODELS, AS WELL AS ALL OUR IMPORTED SUITS, WRAPS AND COATS, MADE BY SUCH WELL KNOWN FASHION CREATORS AS "PAQUIN," "POIRET," "CALLOT," "LUCILLE" AND "MARTIAL ARMAND" AT PRICES THAT COMMAND IMMEDIATE ATTENTION.

From $50.00 Up

Lyon's Chiffon Velvets At Greatly Reduced Prices

A splendid range of plain colors in all the fashionable tints—43 inches wide—reduced from $6.00

To $4.50 Yard

NOVELTY CHIFFON VELVETS in rich, handsome designs so much in vogue in Paris—40 inches wide—reduced from $20.00

To $12.75 Yard

STRIPED CHIFFON VELVET—42 inches wide—reduced from $5.00

To $2.90

Blankets and Comforters Special Value

CALIFORNIA WOOL BLANKETS—three-quarter size—pair ..... $5.00 and $6.00

CALIFORNIA WOOL BLANKETS—Full size—white and fleecy—pair ..... $6.00 and $7.00

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF THE FINE AUSTRALIAN WOOL BLANKETS.

LAMB'S WOOL COMFORTERS—Nine-inch plain silk border—each ..... $6.00

LAMB'S WOOL COMFORTERS—Silk covered—nine-inch silk border—each ..... $8.00

LAMINATED COTTON COMFORTERS in beautiful designs and borders of silk ..... $4.00

TOYS

TOYLAND ON OUR FOURTH FLOOR is bigger and merrier than ever. Here the youngsters will find just what Santa Claus is going to give them for Christmas.

VISIT OUR STATIONERY SHOP ON THE MAIN FLOOR.

Complete lines of the newest features in CHRISTMAS CARDS AND NOVELTIES.

4-YEAR-OLD FALLS THREE STORIES; ONLY BRUISED

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 25.—Falling down an elevator shaft from the sixth floor of the Scanlan building and escaping with a few bruises was the remarkable experience of Gertrude Pettigrew, a four-year-old child of Thomaston, Tex. Her escape from death was due to the bravery of Richard O'Rourke, chief engineer of the building, who caught the child in his arms. O'Rourke was knocked down and severely injured.

GETS $66,000 IN LUMP SALARY FOR 22 YEARS

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—Sixty-six thousand dollars was due W. F. Fowler, registrar since 1889, when he tendered his resignation to Mayor Fitzgerald today. During the twenty-two years Mr. Fowler has held office he has never collected a cent. His salary was $6000 a year. Mr. Fowler said that his advancing years prevented further service in the office.

City of Paris

UNION SQUARE

FOUNDED 1850

GEARY AT STOCKTON

SPECIAL SALE OF FURNITURE DRAPERY AND UPHOLSTERY MATERIAL

INCLUDING OUR ENTIRE STOCK OF PERIOD FURNITURE
IN OAK, MAHOGANY AND ENAMEL

AT 25%
REDUCTION

AN UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY TO SELECT DRAPERIES AND FURNITURE COVERING AT THESE PRICES.

My New Invention Enables Me to Supply TEETH

CHEAPER THAN THE OLD WAY.

Here is a special for ten days only. Full set, made of thin, light, durable metal; does not run over the roof of the mouth. Takes the place of gold, and is just as good. Price $18.00. All kinds of dentistry, at fair prices. Only eight more days left.

Dr. Jesse B. Schaffhirt

ALVEO DENTIST.

Opposite Heald's College,

72 San Pablo Avenue, Corner Sixteenth.

Out of High Rent District.

Phone—Oakland 1235. German and French spoken

Hours—9 to 7 p. m.; Sundays, 10 to 12.

S. T.

ESTABLISHED 1854

The White House

ENTRANCES
GRANT AVENUE SUTTER STREET POST STREET

ORIENTAL RUG SALE

ORIENTAL RUGS FROM THE REGULAR STOCK AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.
LARGE CARPETS AND SMALL RUG SIZES.
PURCHASES WILL BE HELD UPON REQUEST FOR HOLIDAY DELIVERY.

ONE OF THE LARGEST STOCKS TO SELECT FROM.
A SUPERB COLLECTION
A FEW EXAMPLES:

SAROUK CARPET, 9X12 FT.	$400—NOW	$280
SERAPI, 14'6X9'6	$300—NOW	$200
KERMANSHAH, 12'5X8'8	$400—NOW	$300
KHIVA, 10'6X8'8	$150—NOW	$110
SAROUK RUGS, 6'7X4'4	$125—NOW	$ 90
KERMANSHAH, 6'10X4'4	$100—NOW	$ 75

LACE CURTAIN SALE

200 PAIR IRISH POINT CURTAINS, REGULAR $7.50
NOW $5.75 PAIR.

FURTHER SHARP REDUCTIONS ON FURNITURE

EVERY PIECE OF FURNITURE HERE MENTIONED IS OF GREAT INTEREST TO THOSE WHO ARE FURNISHING THEIR HOMES ECONOMICALLY. YET WHO DESIRE FUR-NITURE OF HIGH CHARACTER.

MAHOGANY TABLE	$50.00—NOW	$32.50
MAHOGANY TABLE	$18.00—NOW	$13.50
MAHOGANY ROCKING	$17.00—NOW	$12.00
MAHOGANY DINING CHAIRS	$18.50—NOW	$11.50
MAHOGANY BED	$80.00—NOW	$60.00
MAHOGANY DRESSER	$100.00—NOW	$70.00

Raphael Weill & Co. Inc.
SUTTER, GRANT AVE. AND POST STS.,
SAN FRANCISCO.

FIRE SWEEPS CANYONS; RANCH HOUSES BURNED Hundreds Battle Flames, Which Showered Santa Monica With Ashes and Did Great Damage

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Destroying property worth almost a million dollars, making a clean sweep of Escondido, Rustic, Kollar and Sycamore and smaller canyons and partially destroying beautiful Santa Monica canyon; eating its way unchecked through the government forest reserve near the mouth of Rustic canyon, the great forest fire which has been burning for a week, is now raging at the gates of Santa Monica and the city is being showered with ashes. With a force of men fighting the flames one mile north of Santa Monica and endeavoring by back firing to save the canyon school house, a squad of firemen stationed at the Palisades in North Santa Monica to guard against fire starting in the residence district, and fully 500 men battling with the wall of fire in the canyons and mountain country, a desperate effort is being made to check the worst fire ever experienced in the Malibu country.

MISSION INN IN DANGER.
The battle in Santa Monica canyon is perhaps the most desperate being waged. Reinforcements by scores of students from the Santa Monica high school, the fire fighters are working furiously in an effort to save the Mission Inn and numerous cottages located in the beautiful canyon, which is one of the show places of Southern California. Unless the flames are checked by 2 o'clock tomorrow morning it is believed that the canyon will have been gutted by the flames.
Besides sweeping the government forest reserve, where the experimental station and other valuable buildings are located, a wall of fire has routed fighters employed by the Santa Monica Water Company and the water sheds of the company near Rustic Canyon are a prey to the flames. Unchecked, they are eating their way through the watersheds and destroying almost the entire properties of the company valued at many thousands of dollars.

The company has been forced to cut off its supply of water to the residents of Westgate, north of Santa Monica.

FIRE IS CHECKED.
Late tonight the report came that the flames which threatened the Mission Inn and cottages in Santa Monica canyon had been checked and the fire near the city limits of Santa Monica was not dangerous.

Santos, Coral and Largo canyons have suffered from the flames and fire fighters returning to Santa Monica tonight declare that the improvements on the Barton, Spencemaker, Diaz, Banning, Mellis, Gilson and Brown ranches have been destroyed.
A determined fight has been made by the Ridge estate to save their property from the flames, and a large force of men are at work on the ranch.
There are now five or more distinct fires in the mountains between the Ventura county line and Santa Monica, covering an area of about fifty square miles. Unless a heavy rain or fog sets in the entire mountain will be devastated.

AUTO VICTIM WAS SON OF SINGER

Frank Saville Smith, who was killed in an automobile accident here Thursday morning, was the only son of Frances Saville, a singer whose talent has brought her fame in her native country, France. She has a residence in Vienna and in many other continental centers. She appeared before the American public in 1896 and in 1900, coming with the De Reszkes. Another relative of the ill-fated man is a prima donna at the Metropolitan opera house in New York City. L. M. Simonson of San Jose, an uncle, will take charge of the affairs of the Security Building company, of which Smith was the head. Simonson was formerly a director in the company.
A. F. Walther, superintendent of the P. J. Walker company, who was also seriously injured in Thursday's accident, is reported to be on the road to recovery. Miss Anna Carlson, a San Francisco actress, who was slightly injured, has recovered sufficiently to be about.

MRS. AXTELL VISITS HUSBAND IN JAIL

STOCKTON, Nov. 25.—Editor S. B. Axtell, found guilty last evening of murder in the first degree and recommended by the jury to life imprisonment for killing Charles Solares at Lodi, enjoyed the company of his devoted wife the greater part of this afternoon in the county jail corridor.
It is understood that the attorneys for the defense will seek a new trial, and that this will be denied by Judge C. W. Smith. When the case was heard, Mrs. Charles Solares, widow of the editorial victim, it is understood, will disavow all property here and with her family, make her home with Eastern relatives.

YOUNG MEN, HERE IS GOOD ADVICE

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—John Bigelow, the grand old man of New York, historian and author, celebrated his 94th birthday, and among the callers at his Gramercy Square house was Andrew Carnegie, who is also celebrating his birthday, it being Carnegie's 76th anniversary.
Bigelow was in excellent health, and gave to young men this message: "Let young men of the nation make their disputation work. Let them make work habit in work there is joy, and there is pleasure and in work there is fulfillment of dreams and eventually success."
Here are Carnegie's maxims of life: "Always live within your income, no matter how small it may be."
"Don't be satisfied with just doing your duty. Do something for your employer."
"If you would succeed do not drink. Don't even enter a drink saloon, and don't smoke."
"Twenty-five dollars is enough to support a wife on."
"All young men should marry, and to make their home happy, bless it with a child."
"The right man should marry his daughter to the poor man."
"The rich man should pick out for a son-in-law an industrious employee."
"Women are all alike. Bless them all."

BOY FALLS INTO VAT OF BOILING TARTAR

STOCKTON, Nov. 25.—Fletcher Snipes, the young son of John Snipes, a Woodbridge farmer, is at his home in a critical condition as the result of falling into a vat of boiling tartar. He was horribly burned from the waist down, and his recovery is doubtful.

Bride of Aviator Atwater Keeps Out of the Public Eye

MRS. W. B. ATWATER, who, as the widow of the late Senator Platt, astonished her friends by her recent marriage.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Since the death of Senator T. C. Platt of New York, his widow has been living at Central Valley and has not been at all in the public eye. Recently she astonished her friends by marrying William B. Atwater, a young aviator, whose home was at Fishkill, Atwater is a great deal younger than his bride.

The aged Senator from New York and his wife did not live together very long. By an agreement of separation between them, Mrs. Platt, the present Mrs. Atwater, became wealthy.

'OUR LOVE MUST LIVE'— MME. CURIE TO AFFINITY

'Your Wife,' Writes Noted Scientist to Prof. Langevin, 'Is Too Rude and Violent to Let You Live in Peace'

Continued from Page 17.

you feel overpowered by the fear of injuring your children. They will never risk as much as my poor little girls, who may be orphans any day if we do not come to some settled resolution. Can I think only it would be a separation, as far as possible, a peaceful one?

"WIFE A DRAG ON YOU."
Your wife is incapable of remaining quiet and allowing you your liberty. She will always try to be a drag on you for all sorts of reasons—material interest, the wish to amuse herself, even idleness.

You must not forget either that you have constantly before you matters of discord relating to the education of your children, of family life.

They are the same discordant subjects which have rendered your life unhappy since your marriage and to which I am a complete stranger, a settled regime on a footing of mutual liberty, but with the appearance of conscious agreement for the sake of the children can never exist with you.

TOO RUDE, TOO UNSCRUPULOUS.
Should she agree to keep a life she would never be able to keep such an agreement, being of too violent a temperament, too accustomed to get the upper hand by violent means. Then she is too rude, too unscrupulous to understand the harm she is doing the children.

I am completely convinced it is quite a delusion, on your part to want to dispute with her about the children in your common life, for you cannot have them sufficiently under your care. Again you must place yourself in open hostility with their mother about them, which is very disagreeable.

"If you exercise your influence on them usefully only so far as you succeed in withdrawing them from the family life. This is absolutely my opinion. A badly constituted family in which discord reigns is certainly a more harmful place for children than for them to be with strangers. Even to leave your children when they are quite young principally to their mother and her family would be still less harmful than to give them the daily example of a family in open war."

I am more and more convinced that if a separation be made, your wife would very soon grow tired of looking after the children, whom she is incapable of managing, who worry her, and of whom you would gradually resume the management, under circumstances in which you would no longer be constantly opposed by a hostile element.
Briefly, dear Paul, you have not only your children's consideration, but also your own future in the scientific world, your moral and intellectual life. All this has been in great danger for years past.

PUPILS ALARMED.

All your friends know this, although they do not know the reasons. You know what Perrin thinks. All those who love you—Perrin, Weiss, Bernard, Urbain—have been uneasy about you for years. Your college pupils speak with evident alarm of your state of fatigue, evident to every one.
You must take all this into consideration. You can neither live, breathe nor work in the atmosphere you have made for yourself. You were recently unable to work except when your wife was at the hospital.

Your family is the center of destructive power, and I believe quite exceptionally so. You cannot live in this family without being engulfed for its own use contrary even to the interest of the family itself, which should utilize you with more discernment.

FAIR TOO SELFISH.
Your children even become in this environment an instrument of oppression as regards yourself and in many ways as regards their mother, who is far too selfish to allow herself to be imposed upon.

It is certain your wife will not easily consent to a separation, for she has not the interest to do so. She has always lived seeking her own advantage at your expense and she will not find another so advantageous a situation.

Further, it is in her character to remain if she supposes you wish her to go.

You must therefore decide, however painful this may be for you, to do all in your power to render life impossible to her.

TO FORCE SEPARATION.
You must deprive her of all its pleasures and distractions or the belief in the possibility of an agreement, and the first proposition made by her to separate, taking the children, you must accept without hesitation and put an end to any blackmailing she may attempt.

In this respect suffice for the present that I mean remains a boarder at school and that you live in Paris at the school. You can go to see the other children. The change will not be so great as you think. It will be surely better for every one.

We will continue the same precautions as hitherto, not to see each other until our position is assured. Better that the proposition come from her, but it is to be feared it will be a long time.
Why did you not accept after that all of the bottle the separation she then proposed? (Professor Langevin threw a bottle at his wife's head at Mme. Curie's suggestion.)

Now it will be harder.

"HUMOR YOUR WIFE."

If she requests you to continue avoiding me, this can be granted, as she will give up easier if she thinks you will be deprived of all affection. Matters could be arranged, and it would look better for outsiders who would disapprove your leaving your wife for another.

Frankly, it is better to leave her for the reason of incompatibility of temper.

Do your best to hasten matters, as we cannot continue to exist under present conditions.
Think that last year you lived in a state of permanent hostility with your wife. Definitely from now on you must devote yourself to regain periodically some of the ground lost and advance toward the end in view with determination in order to obtain an acceptable life and be able to take up your work again.

You will see what a relief it will be to yourself if you see less of the younger children. Next year you must put Andrew in

San Francisco

Prussia's

139-143 GEARY ST.

San Francisco

204 New Tailored Suits

Which Ordinarily Should Sell for $35.00 to $45.00 on Sale Monday at $19.75

These are fresh new Suits—not old ones reduced. They are in the very height of fashion in the best of this season's models and in the choicest materials and smartest colorings. Cheviots, Diagonals, Serges, Tweeds, Broadcloths and Mixtures in browns, grays, tans, wistaria, navy and black.

Some are in plain tailored models of exquisite tailoring; others in fancy effects beautifully trimmed in velvet, braid, satin, buttons, etc.

Styles illustrate the broken waist line effect in the back—the side fastening coat and the high-waisted skirt. All sizes in the lot, 34 to 44. Not a single suit which would not readily sell for twice the money asked at the sale. Choice Monday at $19.75. Early choosing desirable. See windows for specimen styles and values.

Girls' Suits $15.00

Much Under Value

Suits for girls and smaller women that are exceptional from every standpoint are on sale Monday under value; 14, 16, 18 misses' sizes; 13, 15, 17 junior sizes, in plain tailored, Norfolk and fancy styles. Splendid cloths, tailored as only Prussia garments are tailored—cleverly styled in modes that appeal to misses and which are adaptable for smaller women. Excellent range of colors and sizes. Values fully $5 to $10 more. These on sale Monday at $15.00.

Hand Embroidered Crepe Waists 95c

Fine Crepe Waists, hand embroidered in an excellent style, in all sizes, on sale tomorrow at 95c. The style is good, or it would not be shown by this house. The value is big, or it would not be advertised. See these Monday at 95c.

school with Jean. Possibly they could live with you.

One of the first things to do is to regain your room. I have promised to make you no reproaches; you can rely thereupon. I have in you the greatest confidence concerning your intentions, but I fear more than I can tell you some unforeseen events. You must be suspicious of all this.

NIGHTS OF HORROR.

As long as I know you are near my nights are atrocious. I cannot sleep. With the greatest difficulty I fall asleep at 2 or 3 o'clock and awake with a sense of fear. I cannot even work. Do your best to end this state of affairs. Never go near her unless she sends for you. Work late and let her grow weary of waiting. Do this, my Paul, I implore you.

Don't be vanquished by her crying and tears. Think of the proverb that the crocodile cries because it has not eaten long. Your wife's tears are of the same nature.
She understands that she has nothing to expect from you. When she has made her decision she will no longer be unhappy as you will give her largely the means to live after her own fashion. She can then seek pleasure, even affection, elsewhere, and find both.

NO HOPE OF SECRECY.

Unfortunately it cannot be hoped that what has happened will not be spread abroad, but as it is your wife who has spoken, it is but natural to make her bear the consequences. All the more she will speak again.

To avoid gossip at your home and the intrusion of your wife, etc., isolate yourself. Take advantage of the first opportunity to make her understand that access to your school has been closed to her. It is perhaps on this that she relies to remake for herself a more agreeable life in another sphere. I have already told you I could not allow access to the school being forbidden me.

FEARS SHADOW.

Briefly, dear Paul, I must put you on your guard against the watch which will be kept of you. Remember there is here a very grave danger. Your wife knows you are distrustful of her, and may have you shadowed by another person.

Be sure you are not followed by any one when you come to me. Tell me what you have done about seeing me. Arrange everything, then I shall be more at ease in communicating with you. I am looking forward with impatience to the joy of seeing you again and hope to have news of you tomorrow through Henrietta and the letter she will bring me.

Mme. Curie, who is rather thin, is of medium height, with a narrow, pallid face, far from pretty, framed in loosely worn dark hair, turning grey. No one could imagine her as a coquette. Nor does she look any more like a woman of science. She is seemingly a homebody, careless about her dress, with a motherly look which would win sympathy from the most hardened.

Had it not been for the publication of her letters after her strong denial, supported by her fellow savants, Mme. Curie would have been able to retain the respect, confidence and sympathy of the French public which her character seemed to justify.
The duel arranged between Professor Langevin and Gustave Thery, the publisher of her letters, was not fought. Thery, professing the highest admiration for the distinguished scientist, declined to shoot Langevin.

The latter, seeing Thery's pistol turned downward, would not fire at a defenseless man.

Charges Lead to Duel; Blood Drawn

PARIS, Nov. 25.—A vicious duel with swords was fought Thursday by M. Daudet, editor of "Action Francaise," and M. Chervet, editor of "Gil Blas."

The affair grew out of the allegations made against Mme. Curie and her co-worker in scientific research, Professor Langevin, by the wife of the latter in the suit which she recently instituted.

There were several force bouts with the swords, Daudet, being finally wounded in the arm. A reconciliation between the combatants followed.

The charges in which the two eminent scientists, Mme. Curie and Professor Langevin, have been involved, were based upon the fact that they were much in each other's company in their scientific researches.

This gave rise to a jealous feeling on the part of Mme. Langevin, who brought suit against her husband coupling his name with that of Mme. Curie.

TWO HUNDRED MILLION NAMED

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 25.—The United Properties Company of California, with headquarters in Oakland, and of which Frank Smith is the head, filed articles of incorporation today for $200,000,000.
It is the largest incorporation received in a long time at the capitol, the filing fee alone being $20,711. The corporation includes the Key Route railway and ferry line and proposes to construct an electric line connecting Sacramento and Oakland.

The incorporators are C. B. Seabush, H. Ralph Ewart and Harold W. Davis.

ATTEMPTS TO HUG WOMAN; BEATEN

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 25.—Because Will Haubert, baggage agent at the Southern Pacific station up to last evening, attempted to embrace the wife of G. S. Smith, conductor on the Coalinga-Porterville passenger, he is today nursing two black eyes, sundry cuts and bruises and mourning the loss of his situation.

Mrs. Smith was in the baggage car of the train waiting for her husband, when Haubert entered and attempted, she says, to put his arms around her. She repulsed him, and when her husband entered the car a few moments later she told him.

Smith started on a search for Haubert, and when he located the baggage agent "cleaned him" to use Smith's own phrase.

Shortly after the "cleaning," Agent H. D. Johnston, in charge of the station employees, added Haubert's discharge to his other troubles.

DESCENDANTS OF PIONEERS HOSTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The Auxiliary of Pioneer Women devoted this time to the entertainment of children this afternoon at a meeting held in Pioneer Hall. The little folks were all participants in the day's affairs and were present in their capacity as posterity to several well-known founders of this state. In the midst of this patriotic representation talent was not missing, the juveniles demonstrating their various lines of cultivation, offering a program of songs, recitation and dancing.

Some charming sailor dances were given by John F. Madden Jr., grandson of John F. Madden, the pioneer. He was accompanied by two other little dancers, Preston Bentley and Irving Woodward. A piano solo was given by Marian Stovel, granddaughter of Mrs. J. L. Martel, and a song by Katherine Masten, granddaughter of Mrs. Martel and the late N. K. Masten. A recitation, "The American Flag," was delivered by George Buckingham and Ross Pratt, the former a grandson of Henry Luchstinger, and the latter a descendant of the late Samuel Holladay.

The affair was in charge of Mrs. A. Rosenthal, the president of the auxiliary being Mrs. Aylett Cotton. After many congratulations upon their good achievements the children were further made happy by being served with ice cream and cake.

MAJOR LEWIS MUST LEAVE UNIVERSITY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Under the policy adopted by the war department some months ago deciding against discharging majors or captains are military instructors at college, Major E. M. Lewis of the infantry corps, stationed at the University of California, will be relieved by a lieutenant of the army.

TWO MEN DIE FROM BURNS AFTER EXPLOSION

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 25.—As a result of burns received in a gasoline explosion, while boring a well on Capitol Heights, John Whitt and Guy Huston were so badly burned that they died several hours afterward.

AUCTIONS SALE

Auction Sale of Valuable Merchandise and Fixtures
San Leandro, Tuesday, November 28, at 10 o'clock, A. M.

Dissolution Sale of Valuable Grocery Store

Valuable merchandise consisting of a large line of groceries; also strictly modern equipment consisting of first-class, new computing scales, counters, cash registers, phonographs, a valuable motor delivery wagon, fixtures, etc., to be sold at auction by J. A. Munro & Co., on TUESDAY MORNING, November 28, 1911, at 10 o'clock, at the San Leandro Cash Store, East Fourteenth street, San Leandro, Cal. L. Ernest Phillips, Attorney and Assignee, 513-514 Union Savings Bank building, Oakland, Cal.

DIAMONDS AND WATCHES

ON CREDIT
BRILLIANT
JEWELRY CO.
1218 BROADWAY
FIFTH FLOOR, BRANCO
SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF.

ROWELL SOUNDS LA FOLLETTE BOOM

The So-called Progressives, Including Suffragists, Start
Anti-Taft Campaign.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Under the name of the LaFollette League of California, a number of supporters of the so-called progressive Republican movement in the state today launched a campaign in behalf of the insurgent leader from Wisconsin for President of the United States.

A permanent state organization was inaugurated, with Chester L. Rowell, one of the founders of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, as president and Charles R. Detrick, secretary of the Republican state central committee, as secretary.

WOMAN IN OFFICE

A striking feature of the proceedings was the election of a woman to the office of vice-president. The "new voter" so honored is Mrs. Charles D. Blum of San Jose, one of the leaders of the suffragist movement in California, and whose husband is a member of the state highway commission.

Organization will be completed when President Rowell appoints his committees. These include executive, finance and auditing, campaign publicity and law committees. The campaign is to start in earnest, with literature or oratory, and organization in every district of the state, all in anticipation of the presidential primary to be held next May, when the Republican voters of the state are to choose their own delegates to the national convention of their party and, at the same time, instruct them as to their preference in the matter of a candidate for President.

JOHNSON IN LIST

The conference at which all this was accomplished was called several days previous by Secretary Detrick at the headquarters of the anti-Taft movement in California. Including Governor Johnson, Lieutenant-Governor Wallace, former Governor Pardee, Chester Rowell, Rudolph Spreckels, Francis J. Igo, several officials of the state administration, members of the state legislature and others.

The band of reformers gathered at the Palace Hotel this afternoon in the ballroom and there was an attendance of about 300, including a sprinkling of the newly enfranchised fair sex.

DIVORCED COUPLE MAY TRY AGAIN

Kitty Gordon, Beautiful English Actress, Will See Her Former Husband.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Kitty Gordon, who has been called the most beautiful of English actresses, and who is now appearing as the Enchantress at the New York theater, tonight sent a cablegram to Captain the Hon. Henry Beresford in London, whom she divorced early in March, which may pave the way for a reconciliation and remarriage. The cablegram read:

"Come with baby to see me Christmas. Will talk things over then."

"Baby" referred to in the message is Vera Beresford, the 8-year-old daughter of Captain Beresford and Miss Gordon, who is at present a pupil in the Benedictine convent in Scotland.

It is said that Captain Beresford, who did not defend the divorce action brought by Miss Gordon, has never lost hope of a reconciliation with his beautiful actress wife, and even though she announced at the time the decree was granted that she was to marry Count Henry de la Roche, a French nobleman, next June, Captain Beresford has been a persistent suitor for Miss Gordon's hand in remarriage. He was encouraged in his suit, it is said, because during their married life they had had several differences which were successfully patched up.

Captain Beresford is a brother of Lord Decies, who is next in line of succession to the title should Lord Decies die without issue. The brothers are said to be in thorough sympathy, and it is noted with interest among the friends of Miss Gordon that Lord and Lady Decies attended the performance of the "Enchantress" Friday night, and that Miss Gordon, who was formerly brother-in-law from the stage as though she knew he and Lady Decies were to be present, and that Miss Gordon hurried away after the performance leads many to believe that Lord Decies acted as an ambassador for his brother and met and had a long talk with her. It is also noted that Miss Gordon, after the performance, was entrusted with by his brother.

Grass killer kills cattle, not grass.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Nov. 25.—A quack grass destroyer placed in a field shortly afterward used as a pasture destroyed a herd of forty-eight dairy cows belonging to Herman Weinken near here. Eleven of the animals died yesterday and there is no hope for the others.

Celery crop this year at Stockton is large.

STOCKTON, Nov. 25.—The indications are that the celery crop this season will be the largest ever raised in California, and that they expect to ship more than 700 carloads to Eastern markets. Already the shipments from Antioch amount to six carloads a day, and the season has scarcely begun.

To give a dance.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The senior class of the Commercial Evening School will give a dance Friday evening, December 1. Among those interesting themselves in the success of the affair are Miss Ada Shary, Miss Lydia Fuller, Miss Adelaide Kaneen, Harry A. Hertenstein, Samuel Ladar, Tyson Lockerman and Miss Emma Glesler and Miss Laura Moyné.

LORD CAMOYS WINS BRIDE AND MONEY

WEDDING PLANS CHANGED BY ILLNESS

LADY CAMOYS, who was Miss Mildred Sherman until her wedding yesterday. Her nuptials were celebrated in simple fashion.

Aged Father, Near Death, Sees Marriage After Settlement Is Made on Son-in-Law

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—In startling contrast to the pomp and splendor of previous international matches, Miss Mildred Sherman, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Watts Sherman and heiress to many millions, was united this afternoon in simple ceremony to Ralph Francis Julian Stonor, Lord Camoys, head of one of the most ancient houses of Great Britain. The ceremony was performed in a tiny room on the third floor of the Sherman mansion at 833 Fifth avenue by Father William Meenan of St. Mary's church, Newport. Owing to the serious illness of the bride's father the date of the wedding had been changed from December 2 to today.

It had been announced that the wedding would take place beside Sherman's sick bed, but shortly before the time set for the ceremony (3:45 o'clock) Sherman requested that he be dressed and wheeled into the little room on the third floor, which is a part of his private suite and serves him as a sitting room. This was done and, promptly at the hour set, the wedding was solemnized.

12 PERSONS IN ROOM

It was a dramatic scene. The bride and bridegroom stood side by side before the venerable priest, who was stationed a few feet away from the chair in which the master of the house sat, half reclined. There were in the room just a dozen persons, Lord Camoys, Miss Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Gillespie, brother-in-law and sister of the bride; Mr. Harold Brown of Newport, daughter of Sherman by a previous marriage; Mr. and Mrs. Norrie Selar, the latter a half-sister of the bride; Miss Audrey Hoffman, granddaughter of Sherman; Hon. Hugh Stonor, brother of the bridegroom; and Father Meenan.

The afternoon service rather low in the house, shot its golden rays through the curtained windows. They illuminated the haggard face of the head of the house of Sherman, played kindly upon the sadly radiant visage of bride and bridegroom and accentuated the somberness of the attire of the few witnesses.

KISSES AGED FATHER

The brief service was over in a few minutes. The guests crowded about, congratulating the young couple. Lady Camoys bent over and kissed her father on the forehead. The old man, now so near the end of his days, pressed her to his bosom and murmured words of hope and good wishes for the future.

Then the assemblage adjourned to another room, where a buffet tea was served.

The latest international marriage was performed only after a day of rumors. These involved the possibility of Miss Sherman's renouncing her Protestant Episcopal faith in order to become a Roman Catholic, the amount of the marriage settlement transferred to Camoys and the condition of the bride-to-be's father. Regarding the rumor that Miss Sherman was to renounce the faith in which she had been reared, the following statement was made early in the morning on behalf of the family by Lawrence L. Gillespie, brother-in-law of Miss Sherman:

"The Sherman family authorizes Mr. Lawrence L. Gillespie to deny that Miss Sherman has given up her faith and entered the Roman Catholic church or is even contemplating such a step."

DISPENSATION SECURED.
It was learned, however, that Lord Camoys had procured a special dispensation from the Vatican permitting him to marry a non-Catholic. This dispensation is granted only upon stipulation that the marriage shall be performed by a priest of the Roman Catholic church and that the issue of the union will be brought up in the Catholic faith.

Both Sherman and his wife, who is a daughter of the late John Carter Brown, founder of Brown University and fifty times a millionaire, agreed to these stipulations. Dr. Meenan, a personal friend of Sherman, was chosen to perform the ceremony.

The illness of Sherman, the openly expressed fear that he would not live another week, were responsible for the change in plans of the wedding. Four hundred invitations had been sent out for a wedding reception to follow today's ceremony, but these were recalled as soon as Sherman's condition became alarming. Lawrence L. Gillespie was to have given Camoys a bachelor dinner Friday night at the Union Club, but the invitations were recalled and Lord Camoys, his brother, Sherman's attorney and Gillespie spent the evening arranging the terms of the marriage settlement.

Lord Camoys at the Hotel Plaza refused to discuss the terms of the settlement. He would not deny, however, in a report that a joint trust fund for himself and his bride had been established. This fund, it is hinted, is in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. This would insure Lord and Lady Camoys an income of at least $50,000 a year. In addition to this it is pointed out that Lady Camoys is very wealthy in her own right.

Many beautiful and costly gifts were received by the bride from her relatives and friends here and as many more are awaiting her in England, including some of the Stonor family gems. Miss Sherman wore a gorgeous gown of pointe d'Alencon lace made on long and graceful lines in semi-princess effect with a glint of silver through in. The large court train was of white satin elaborately embroidered with silver in a leaf design and over it fell her veil of pointe d'Alencon fastened with orange blossoms. She wore no jewels, although many were included in her wedding gifts.

ONE BURNED TO DEATH

A DAY IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—William L. Beers, who has retired as fire marshal of New York city, told the Wagner-Smith state factory investigating committee that an average of one person is burned to death daily in New York city because of carelessness, lack of adequate fire protection appliances or incendiarism.

The majority of the fires, he said, are caused by careless use of matches, cigarettes and gasoline, and the financial loss from these causes amounts to about $10,000,000 a year. In 1910 there were 922 fires in Manhattan, the Bronx and Richmond, and Mr. Beers said that most of these fires were preventable.

"A study of the work of pyromaniacs shows that they work systematically," said Mr. Beers. "I have here a chart, showing how one of these perverses has been working regularly every Friday night for the last six weeks, setting from two to four fires each night along Amsterdam avenue. He is still working."

KILLS HIS RIVAL TO WIN A ROAD RACE

HANOVER, Pa., Nov. 25.—As the outcome of a wager made during a drunken carousal, Charles Spensler, 25 years old, of Hanover, was fatally shot by Bert Hamm of McSherrytown. The two men decided on a horse race to settle the bet. The race was won by Hamm, who was riding a horse named "The Winner." Spensler, who was riding a horse named "The Loser," was shot in the chest by Hamm during the race. Spensler died shortly after the race. Hamm was arrested and is being held in jail.

FIRST-HAND DATA ON

HOW TO LIVE TO BE 95

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Instructions in how to live more than 95 years, based on the experience of those who have reached that age, is one of the purposes of a school of self-preservation, which has just been established here. It is planned to publish biographies of a history of all persons in the United States who have reached that age.

It is said that at present there are about 3000 of these.

Tabulated reports will be made up from blank forms of interrogatories submitted to these persons, showing the manner of life, habits, diet and other particulars of those who have enjoyed good health and have lived to a great age.

HOUSEKEEPER 30, AND YOUTH OF 14 MISSING

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Bernard Herbert, 14 years old, a son of Frank Herbert of 347 Sixt street, disappeared from his home recently and has not been found. On the same day Miss Bertha Atkinson, 30 years old, housekeeper and governess in the Herbert home, also left. Mr. Herbert fears the two may have gone away together.

The boy had had trouble with his father. His mother was affectionate toward the lad, according to Mr. Herbert, but he denied he had any reason to suspect it was not a natural feeling of a woman for a motherless boy.

Mr. Merchant! That idea of yours. Let THE TRIBUNE commercial artists work it out for you. Drawings and cuts promptly furnished for all advertising. Phone Oakland 528.

OVERSTOCKED

There are several big reasons why an offering by this store always brings responsive buying. The prime reason is—VALUES. The second reason is—Honest Advertising. The women of Alameda county know that when we make a statement it's THE TRUTH. We never advertise mis-statements, never exaggerate values. Right now we are offering exceptional inducements in the newest Fall and Winter Suits, Coats, Skirts and Furs. It is decidedly to your advantage to avail yourself of the reductions now in effect.

$35.00 Man-Made Suits $25.00

$27.50 Tailored Suits $19.50

$22.50 Tailored Suits $14.75

$17.50 Tailored Suits $12.50

$15.00 Tailored Suits $10.00

$15.00 Trimmed Cheviot Suits $10.00

$37.50 Novelty Suits $25.00

$42.50 Novelty Suits $29.50

$50.00 Novelty Suits $35.00

Man-Made Ink Blue Serge Suits

The Ink Blue Serge is unquestionably the most popular suit of the season, and we pride ourselves on the scope of our showing of these popular garments. Our assortment is the largest to be found anywhere. The material, the style, the tailoring and the prices make this the peer of any suit offered by any store, anywhere. Skinner satin lined.

$13.95

$17.50

$20.00

$22.50

$25.00

$27.50

$32.50

BIG REDUCTIONS ON LONG COATS

EVERY NEW AND POPULAR STYLE.

EVERY WANTED COLOR AND MATERIAL.

For LADIES, MISSES and JUNIORS

Now . . . . . $5.00 to $45.00

FURS

Big reductions on Coats, Sets and Single Pieces.

Toggery
CLOAK SUIT HOUSE

Eleventh and Washington Streets, Oakland

$22.50 Caracul Coats $14.75

$30 Seal Plush Coats $22.50

JOHN D.'S ALMONER SAYS ATTACK IS GROUNDLESS

Denies Generally and Specifically That Merritt's Contentions Are True and Defends Rockefeller

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Rev. Frederick T. Gates, John D. Rockefeller's almoner, made a bitter attack in a carefully prepared statement issued tonight from Standard Oil headquarters, 26 Broadway, on the brothers, Albert and Leonidas Merritt, who before the congressional steel trust investigating committee testified that they had been squeezed out of millions through the connivance of Rockefeller and Rev. Mr. Gates in a Mesaba iron ore deal.

Dr. Gates explains he was making an inspection of the Western Maryland Railroad with some fellow directors while the Merritts were testifying before the Stanley committee and that he received a full stenographic report of their testimony only today.

"I have to say," he declared in the opening of his statement, "that not one syllable of the words which Leonidas Merritt put in my mouth was ever uttered by me. I have further to say that not one of the wrong acts which Leonidas Merritt says Mr. Rockefeller committed or that I committed in his behalf was ever done by either Mr. Rockefeller or me and that both Mr. Rockefeller and I on oath denied all the wrong acts specifically and in detail 18 years ago."

CHARGES WITHDRAWN

"I need not add that every one of the Merritts who made the charges joined in making them, withdrew the charges over his own signature because the full document in which they did this was given to the Associated Press from this office only a day or so ago."

Continuing, Dr. Gates says: "But I wish once more, specifically and with all the emphasis I can command, to deny not only in general but in detail, these outrageous charges of Leonidas Merritt. Leonidas Merritt was never invited to come to New York by Mr. Rockefeller or his agents."

When Mr. Merritt came to New York he was not solicited by Mr. Rockefeller or his agents to remain in New York.

"Neither Mr. Rockefeller nor his agents ever solicited Leonidas Merritt or any one else to unite in a consolidation of iron properties. The consolidation was conceived and effected by Mr. Merritt and his friends without solicitation from Mr. Rockefeller or his office."

"Mr. Rockefeller never made a demand or call loan of any kind to Leonidas Merritt or any of the Merritt brothers. All the loans made by Mr. Rockefeller to the Merritts were time loans with specific dates of maturity named in the notes, and neither on the dates of maturity or any other time did Mr. Rockefeller ever demand payment for these loans. They were permitted to run on indefinitely. At no time was Leonidas Merritt told that he must pay these loans either in twenty-four hours or any other date."

NO PRESSURE USED

"Not the slightest pressure was ever put upon Merritt or any of his brothers at any time to pay their loans. Mr. Rockefeller was perfectly willing to carry them. They knew well that the pressure upon them came from other creditors of long standing—not Mr. Rockefeller."

Mr. Gates states that in February, 1894, the Merritts offered to sell Rockefeller 90,000 shares of stock for $900,000, or more than twice the amount he owed Rockefeller. This offer was accepted, the Merritts being given an option at 6 per cent for one year to buy back more than half the stock. Mr. Rockefeller had previously purchased several thousand shares of the stock at $10 a share. The Merritts offered him 12,000 shares at the same price two weeks later, which he purchased. He also bought stock from others than the Merritts at the same or lower prices.

The Merritts, Gates says, was not extended, because they had not asked that this be done, although the members of the Merritt family had been granted extensions year after year by Rockefeller.

The value of the stock, according to Gates, increased only slightly in 1896. From then on it advanced until it reached par in 1901. The reason for the low price in 1894, Gates says, was that it was generally believed that the ore was of an extremely low quality.

GAVE HIS BACKING.
"During the early years it was open to all the furnace companies of the United States," he says, "the Carnegie included, to buy this consolidated stock at these low prices, and apparently nobody wanted it. These were the reasons why the stock was so very low in the years 1894, 1895 and 1896."

The increase, he says, was due to the furnace men adapting their furnaces to the ore because of its cheapness.

"But the main thing that increased the value of the stock," he continues, "was that Mr. Rockefeller gave the whole enterprise his financial backing. He poured into the railroad, into the mines and into the steamships to carry the ore millions after millions. We find that his advances to the enterprise up to 1901, when he sold out his stock, amounted all told, to nearly $19,000,000. This was altogether apart from his purchases of stock."

URGES CAR COMPANY TO PREPARE ROADWAY

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 25.—At the last meeting of the board of town trustees City Clerk J. W. Harbert was instructed to communicate with the Oakland Traction Company relative to the repairing of Hayward avenue. By the terms of an agreement with the city the traction company has to do a portion of the repair work between the car lines. A conference will be held next week between Street Superintendent Geisenhofer and representatives of the company.

At the same meeting the following claims were allowed: M. G. Serpa, $78; G. Ferrari, $33; J. E. Quinn, $14; Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, $4; A. H. Kopperud, $547.45; George Geisenhofer, $9; J. B. C. Schmidt, $1.25; Ed Hoerst, $10.11; L. J. Vialan, $115.60; M. Enoch, $50.50; W. E. Oakes & Co., $6.25; Thomas G. Garcia, $33.75; Joe Freitas, $13.25; Joe Cosbie, $3.60; Frank J. Farla, $52.50; Joseph Dutra, $8.75; Pacific Gas and Electric Company, $266.66; J. E. Pereira, $10.75; R. H. Goodwin, $158.80; W. J. Craton, $11.80; Willyson, $23.90; Thornton O. Johnson, $2.50; T. Crabtree, $1.08; Pacific Gas and Electric Company, $3.20; C. W. McLaughlin, $3; J. H. Beecher, $27.

Oakland's New Photo Theater About Ready

MANY NEW AND PLEASING INNOVATIONS INSTALLED.

Only Photo Theater in Oakland that has daylight pictures, is steam heated, widest of aisles and numerous exits. Great precaution taken to insure the safety and comfort of our patrons. The latest opera chairs (1700) will be installed. Ladies' rest room. The mezzanine floor will be reserved in sections for theater parties and families. Automobile section of 3 rows in mezzanine will be 15 cents. The MUSIC has been given extraordinary attention (like it in America). The Grand Lyric Photo Theater has been under careful construction by Mr. Valkenberg (the world's graduate of combination organ builders) and his assistants for the past 7 months. Every device is specially designed and invented by him, and is patented with the result that every phase of expression, action and sentiment will be brought into an artistic finish. The silent Photo Play will live to speak through this interpretation, which is only possible on this instrument. So far as is known no other instrument of its kind is in existence today. Further details of its merit and value to Photo Plays will be given to the public after its first demonstration.

the value of the stock," he continues, "was that Mr. Rockefeller gave the whole enterprise his financial backing. He poured into the railroad, into the mines and into the steamships to carry the ore millions after millions. We find that his advances to the enterprise up to 1901, when he sold out his stock, amounted all told, to nearly $19,000,000. This was altogether apart from his purchases of stock."

ELAMATS WIN GAME FROM LOYAL SONS

The Elamats basketball of the local Y. M. C. A., by a score of 19 to 15, defeated the Loyal Sons, also a Y. M. C. A. team, in a fast game played at the association building last night. The two teams were the runners-up in the contest which has been going on at the association gymnasium for a number of weeks, and the outcome of the game was eagerly watched.

The Elamats lined up with H. Guarini and E. Carpenter, forwards; M. Jones, center; and Fisher, Wodden and Woods, guards, while the Loyal Sons played Bill Fox and George Hietta, forwards; Nute Holden, center and Rhoda, Anderson and Frank I. Gullford, guards. G. C. McCart acted as referee.

FRANK ARRAIGNED ON ARSON CHARGE

LIVERMORE, Nov. 25.—Antone Frank was brought here from the county jail yesterday by Deputy Sheriff E. J. Sweeney and arraigned before Justice O. S. Fitzgerald on the charge of having set fire to Mrs. A. Bankowski's barn. His preliminary examination was set for next Wednesday unless he is committed to an asylum in the meantime. He has now practically recovered from his injuries.

Frank was severely wounded by Mrs. Bankowski on her ranch several weeks ago, when she shot him through a door.

CHINESE REBELS BUY CLEVELAND AEROPLANE

CLEVELAND, Nov. 25.—A Cleveland built aeroplane was sold last night by its builder, Edward Stewart, to Moy Poy, an emissary of the Chinese revolutionaries. The machine is to be shipped at once to San Francisco, and thence to China for military use.

Gold, Sullivan & Co.
253 POST ST.

$19.50
Special

For a Strictly Man Tailored Lady's Suit in Serges, Cheviots and Rough materials. The best value ever offered, and every suit this fall style.

Get Your Next Suit From Us and Be Satisfied.

ROOSEVELT WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE, SAYS HEARST

Editor Declares Taft Is Sincere and Consistent in His Endeavor to Break Up Trusts of Country

Continued from Page 17

America which they supposed were truthfully related by the president of the United States, and withdrew their capital.

"It is an indisputable fact that the tightness of the money market which precipitated the panic of 1907 was first brought about by the wholesale withdrawal of foreign capital."

CAPITAL WITHDRAWN

"It is an indisputable fact that the wholesale withdrawal of foreign capital was due to the growing distrust of business conditions in America and it is an indisputable fact that the growing distrust of business conditions in America was due to the dissemination throughout Europe of the reckless and thoughtless speeches of the president of the United States."

"Mr. Roosevelt may have done good things while he was president. I am disposed to concede that he did a number of commendable things. But developing business along any lines, even the most simple and legitimate, is not a matter either within the character or capacity of Mr. Roosevelt. It is a ridiculous thing, therefore, to see Mr. Roosevelt attacking Mr. Taft for disturbing business that Mr. Roosevelt himself, when president, wholly demoralized and partly destroyed."

TAFT IS DEFINITE

"Mr. Taft has at least some definite trust policy, mistaken one, I truly believe, but nevertheless a definite policy which he consistently and conscientiously adheres to."

"Mr. Taft apparently believes that combination is a menace to the community, that the policy of permitting combination, but controlling and regulating its dealings with the public, is ultra-socialistic, and that the only way to protect the public from the abuses of combination is to destroy combination and restore competition. I personally believe that Mr. Taft is entirely wrong but I believe that he is honestly wrong. I believe that combination cannot be destroyed, and that it ought not to be destroyed, that the advantages of combination are many and that all that is necessary for the government to do is to control combination and so regulate its dealings with the public that the public will be allowed to participate in the advantages of combination."

HAS HAD NO POLICY

"Mr. Roosevelt, however, has had no policy in regard to the trusts. The only thing that occupied his mind was the trust's policy in regard to Mr. Roosevelt. When a trust supporter contributed to Mr. Roosevelt's campaign, it was a good trust. When a trust opposed Mr. Roosevelt, it was a bad trust. When a trust differed with him on a matter of policy, it was a bad trust."

"Mr. Roosevelt, I say, had no general policy in regard to the trusts, but he had a personal policy in regard to this or that trust, or that trust, and this trust, or that trust was a good trust or a bad trust according to Mr. Roosevelt's opportunity to make personal capital out of the situation in which it was concerned."

"As a matter of fact, from the viewpoint of public policy, there are not good trusts and bad trusts, but there are certain good things in all trusts and certain bad things about all trusts. The good things about the trusts are the economic advantages of combination. The bad things about the trusts are the various misuses of the power of monopoly."

DISCUSSES TRUSTS

"The economic advantages of combination allow a trust article to be produced at a minimum cost. But the power of monopoly, on the contrary, enables the trust article to be sold at a maximum price."

"The difference between the low cost of production and the high price due to monopolistic control of the market all goes to the trust promoter and manager and is generally capitalized into immense issues of stocks and bonds."

"But whether so capitalized or not, the excessive profit goes to the owners and promoters of the combination, and the consumer is not allowed to participate in the advantages of the lower cost of production, which is one of the essential economic advantages of combination."

"It seems clear to me, therefore, that it is not desirable to destroy all combination, but merely to insure to the people a share in the advantages of combination."

"It is not necessary even to destroy such trusts as a President, in his personal opinion or selfish interest may pronounce bad. But it is necessary to compel all trusts to be good; that is, to share with the consuming public the economic advantages of the trust."

LEGAL SYSTEM NEEDED

"If the Taft policy of indiscriminate legal attack is not wise, then the Roosevelt policy of indiscriminate verbal attack is not wise."

"What is needed is a legal system which will preserve the advantages of combination and prevent and punish the specific acts and conditions which inure to the public injury."

"The over-capitalization of trusts must be prevented. Any capitalization of the power to extort money through monopoly must be made impossible.

"I believe this much will soon be accomplished. I believe that Mr. Taft is in favor of such a measure and that his railroad securities commission, headed by Professor Hadley, has recommended such an enactment."

"Mr. Roosevelt is also said to favor such a measure, but I introduced exactly such a bill in my last term in Congress when Mr. Roosevelt was President, and had no assistance from Mr. Roosevelt in the effort to make it the law."

"The mere prevention of over-capitalization will not, however, prevent extortion. A combination which has a virtual monopoly can extort high prices and secure excessive profits, no matter what its capitalization may be. As a matter of fact, a combination which is a virtual monopoly will extort high prices unless prevented from doing so, either by the injection of competition or by government control."

"If compulsory competition is a wasteful, expensive, unscientific and outworn method of conducting business, as it surely is, then there remains nothing but government control of trusts—nothing but punishment by government of specific acts of coercion and oppression, and regulation by government either of profits or of prices, whenever a trust abuses its power of monopoly by fixing the prices of its product at extortionate figures."

"Mr. Roosevelt makes the somewhat showman statement that Mr. Taft's policy is a policy of destruction, while what is needed is a policy of construction; but what has Mr. Roosevelt to offer in contrast to Mr. Taft's policy of destruction except his own policy of selfish discrimination and reckless denunciation?"

FAILS TO DISCERN

"Mr. Roosevelt fails to discern the subtle distinction between a policy of construction and a policy of conversation."

"Would Colonel Roosevelt be more acceptable to some of the so-called trusts than Mr. Taft would be?"

"Undoubtedly Mr. Roosevelt would be more acceptable to some of the so-called trusts than Mr. Taft would be. Mr. Roosevelt would undoubtedly be more acceptable to the steel trust than Mr. Taft, more acceptable to the sugar trust than Mr. Taft and more acceptable to any trust that had befriended Mr. Roosevelt's term of office by Mr. Roosevelt's passive protection or active assistance."

"But I do not think that Mr. Roosevelt would be more acceptable to the average businessman, big or little, than Mr. Taft. As a matter of fact, I think that the average businessman who has no special favors to ask of government, and only desires a government which will insure generally acceptable business conditions, is more likely to vote for the Democratic candidate in this coming presidential campaign than for either Mr. Taft or Mr. Roosevelt."

CONSTRUCTIVE LEGISLATION

"If the Democrats have only the intelligence and judgment to nominate an able man, thoroughly in sympathy with the requirements of the mass of the citizens, and with sound business views, and with the sense to encourage all honest business along legitimate lines, he will be overwhelmingly elected; and his election will be of incalculable benefit to the country."

"The country needs a government which will encourage all legitimate business and will compel all business to be legitimate. The country needs a government which will adopt for the benefit of business conditions General Grant's immortal motto: 'Let us have peace.'"

"Let us have peace, but with honor—with the interest of the public considered first and above all, but without any unnecessary interference with business after the interests of the public have been properly protected."

"Let us have peace, and let us have a definite policy of constructive legislation which will insure peace."

"Let us have peace and harmony and co-operation and prosperity. Let us proceed to the creation of the greatest possible wealth and to a just and equitable division and distribution of wealth, not for the benefit of any favored classes, but for the general advantage of the whole community."

TAFT TO BE CANDIDATE

"Do you think Mr. Taft will be the Republican nominee?"

"I think Mr. Taft will be the Republican nominee if his old will only continue long enough and keep him at home long enough; if he will only stay in Washington and attend to the public business that he is elected by the people to attend to and no longer go campaigning about the country seeking re-election."

"The best claims and credentials of a president for re-election are the records of his beneficial achievements. Those records are not to be made by work in Washington, instead of by words throughout the country."

"I think the American people have a great respect for the office of President and that they do not like to see their President engaged about the country obviously soliciting votes for a second term."

"I think that Mr. Taft has injured himself in every one of his junkets and that he would be immeasurably stronger with the President's endorsement of the country in Washington and spent his time in the public service instead of personal solicitation."

Only Mr. Taft can prevent his own

MANY MOURN AT BIER OF OLDEST LOCAL OFFICER

The Late H. B. RAND

Hall Bergin Rand, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Damon, 4233 Duboce avenue, San Francisco, last Tuesday morning, was the oldest retired member of the Oakland police department, having served in all 24 years, four months and 25 days at the time of his honorable discharge, July 1, 1901. Mr. Rand entered the department February 5, 1877, and was one of the best known policemen in the state.

After his retirement he went to live with his daughter, but always made it a point to be present at the annual drill and inspection of the police held in the spring of each year. The aged ex-officer was present last year and at that time fired an old gun that his father had carried at Hunter Hill, by way of salute. He was so infirm, however, that the recoil of the piece nearly knocked him over and he had to be aided by two patrolmen who stood near by.

The funeral was held last Friday afternoon from the Masonic temple in this city and was conducted by the local lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, of which organization Mr. Rand was a member. Officers of the police department attended in full uniform. Mr. Rand was 86 years of age at the time of his demise. He is survived by a son, Dr. David H. Rand, of Portland. He was the grandfather of Frederick Damon and great-grandfather of Marshal Damon.

At the celebration of the late officer's sixtieth anniversary, which occurred at the St. Mark hotel here January 17, 1910, there were four generations present. During the evening a poem in honor of the occasion was read by Mrs. Carrie Armstrong, only sister of the late Mrs. Rand.

nomination, but Mr. Taft's election will depend not only upon Mr. Taft but also and more particularly upon the Democratic nomination.

If this is a wise one, a popular one and a truly democratic one, not only Taft nor any other Republican will win in this election.

TALK OF THIRD PARTY

"Will the progressives nominate a third ticket?"

"I do not think the progressive Republicans alone will nominate a third ticket, even though they should be greatly dissatisfied with the regular Republican nomination, but it is possible, in fact probable, that if the Republican convention should nominate a reactionary candidate, the Republican and Democratic progressives would then unite in a third party, nominate a third ticket and elect it."

"I feel confident that such a ticket, if a representative one, would be elected. The vast majority of the people of this country have come to be progressives. They are tired of reactionary policies, they are tired of unmeaning and unavailing promises of reform from the old parties. They are, perhaps, each one hopeful that his particular party will be the party of genuine progress and reform but they are all ready, after their own party betrays them, to desert it and to unite with the progressives of the opposing party to form a new and genuine progressive party."

PRINCIPLE MORE POTENT

"Principle has become more potent than party ties with the majority of the people in this country. The era of education has passed. The people have discovered what is wrong and have devised what is necessary to set it right. Parties must proceed in accordance with the public will, or they will secure no public support."

"The prospects of success for the Democratic party are bright, not merely because the Republican party has been indifferent to the demands of the people, but because the Democratic party in Congress and in most of the States of the Union has been sincerely and successfully endeavoring to carry out the will of the people."

"The Democratic party has largely regained the confidence of the people, which for a long time it had lost. In California it has shown itself capable of a scientific, judicious as well as progressive. It was given a trial in the last election and where it has shown its worth has retained the public support. In New York, where it was shown itself corrupt and incompetent, it has been continuously rejected from power and this is a sincere satisfaction to all good citizens and to all good Democrats. It marks the Democratic contrast clear, the patriotic lesson plain."

"If the Democratic party shall nominate true progressive Democrats on a truly progressive platform it will deserve the support of the people and will secure it."

WOULD BE DEFEATED

"But if the Democratic party in convention shall be indifferent to the public demand, shall fail to its own pledges and principles, it will be defeated and will deserve to be defeated."

"With two reactionary tickets in the field I believe that a third progressive party will be formed; that it will embrace the progressives of the old parties; that it will name progressive candidates and elect them to the Presidency and Vice-Presidency of the United States."

"I believe that the progressives are in an actual majority of the citizens today and that with the reactionaries divided into two camps, the progressives would be an overwhelming plurality and their success would be assured."

"Who do you think is likely to be the Democratic nominee?"

"I do not know. I have indicated the kind of man that I think ought to be the Democratic nominee."

"Whom do you favor for the Presidency?"

TWO FAVORITES

"I am in favor of any good man who is a good Democrat and a sound progressive. I have been disposed to favor Champ Clark or Oscar W. Underwood, because I think they have been mainly responsible for the highly creditable and successful work of the Democrats in Con-

From Now Until Christmas

A SPLENDID CHRISTMAS GIFT

This new $375 PIANO—modern in every detail—for $277.50

$5 CASH--$6 PER MONTH

Or $1.25 Per Week if Preferred

No Extras—No Interest For One Year

This is one of the enormous savings in cash and terms given you between now and Christmas by the Kohler & Chase Piano and Player-Piano Club.

KOHLER & CHASE
PIANOS
AND PLAYER-PIANOS

At 26 O'FARRELL STREET, SAN FRANCISCO and at
BACON BUILDING, 473 TWELFTH STREET, OAKLAND

SOLE AGENTS
"WEDER"
"KNABE"
"FISCHER" PIANOS
GENUINE "PIANOLA"
and
"WURLITZER"
ORCHESTRIONS

SOLE AGENTS
"LYON & HEALY"
HARPS
"MARTINS"
MANDOLINS
"BOOSEY"
and
"YORK"
BAND INSTRUMENTS

If you live in the country cut this out and mail it to Kohler & Chase
26 O'Farrell St.
San Francisco.

Please mail free booklet and art catalogue telling about your Piano and Player-Piano Club to

M. ....

gress and because that work has done more to establish the party in the good opinion of the public than any other thing has done or could have done.

"The people have shown great devotion to the public interest, great conscientiousness and sincerity in adherence to Democratic progressive principles, great judgment and moderation in recommendation and action."

"I believe, too, that the time has come when the claims of the South for recognition by the Democratic party should be seriously considered. Sectionalism no longer exists in this great country. No better proof could be given of that fact than the nomination of a Southern man for the Presidency."

"There are other good men, good Democrats and sound progressives in the party, however, and their claims are all worthy of consideration. I do not prefer to do more than indicate a preference."

"What is likely to be the chief issue of the 1912 campaign?"

"The chief issue in the 1912 campaign will be the issue between reactionary and progressive policies, the old issue between those who believe in the conduct of government by the agents of privileged interests for the advantage of privileged interests and those who believe in the conduct of government by the people for the general good."

"The tariff is merely incidental to this broader issue. The trusts are merely incidental to this broader issue and any other political question which may arise will name progressive candidates and elect them to the Presidency and Vice-Presidency of the United States."

"I believe that the progressives are in an actual majority of the citizens today and that with the reactionaries divided into two camps, the progressives would be an overwhelming plurality and their success would be assured."

"Who do you think is likely to be the Democratic nominee?"

"I do not know. I have indicated the kind of man that I think ought to be the Democratic nominee."

"Whom do you favor for the Presidency?"

"I am in favor of any good man who is a good Democrat and a sound progressive. I have been disposed to favor Champ Clark or Oscar W. Underwood, because I think they have been mainly responsible for the highly creditable and successful work of the Democrats in Con-reactionary party on the other hand. "It will be solved by some sound and judicious but sincerely progressive party. Whether that party will be a reorganized Republican party or a genuine and faithful Democratic party or a newly formed progressive party only the next election will decide. But the preservation or rather the restoration of popular rights and liberties and opportunities, the conduct of government by the people in the interest of the people will be the overwhelming issue of the campaign of 1912 and the party which most conscientiously and convincingly presents those issues will win."

STORK BRINGS JOY TO MORGUE ATTACHE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The Coroner's office, where all is usually gloomy and where the deputies rarely display much happiness was the scene of a joyous demonstration tonight as the result of the arrival of the stork at the home of Chief Deputy Jack Whelan. At 8 o'clock Whelan learned the interesting news that he was the father of a bright baby-boy and the demonstration followed.

LOS ANGELES WOMAN GETS STATE POSITION

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Mrs. Alice Bryant of Los Angeles was today named by Governor Johnson as a member of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, to succeed C. Moore of Los Angeles.

DR. AKED'S SERMONS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Rev. Dr. Charles F. Aked will deliver an address tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at the First Congregational church, Post and Mason streets, on "The Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man." His evening topic at 8 o'clock will be "Ivan Turgenev—A Study in Human Relations."

DROPPED FIFTY FEET.

Accidentally on his wife's appearance he mistook his ground, taking an awful drop. Instead of falling out he "fell in." She had completely changed on the California Credit, $1.00 a week plan. 59 Stockton St. Upstairs.—Adv.

DAIRYMEN CONTENTANTS SETTLE THEIR TROUBLES

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—A compromise was today effected in the will contest over the estate of the late Julia Dryman, consisting of real and personal property of the value of $16,000. By its terms, Mrs. Mary Kloss and Mrs. Margaret Hynes, nieces of the decedent, who were cut off with bequests of $100 each, are given $100 each, and the residue of the estate is taken by another niece, Miss Josephine Dryman, proponent in the testament.

When the case was called before Judge Thomas F. Graham in the Superior Court a week ago, the court suggested a postponement and an effort on the part of the contestants and proponent to get together and save expense by a settlement. Mrs. Dryman, for some time before her death, was an inmate of a local hospital. It was charged by the contestants that during that period Miss Dryman secured the making of the will by undue influence.

WILL ERECT MONUMENT ON SITE OF GALLOWS

MANKATO, Minn., Nov. 25.—A monument will be erected on the site of the gallows upon which 23 Sioux Indians were executed December 26, 1862, for the part in the massacre of the preceding summer. Among those present yesterday to decide upon the site were a number who aided in the execution of the Indians.

SERVICES AT ST. IGNATIUS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Rev. Father Mahony will preach at the 10:30 o'clock mass tomorrow morning at St. Ignatius' church, Hayes and Shrader streets, and in the evening Rev. Father Ford will preach. On November 29 the novena, preparatory to the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, will begin at 7:30 p. m.

SERVICES AT CHAPEL.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—At Holy Innocents' Episcopal church, Fair Oaks street, between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth, Rev. F. C. Murgotten, the rector, will officiate at all services tomorrow. Holy communion will be celebrated at 7:30 a. m., and the morning and evening prayer will be at the usual hour.

Personal Mention

J. S. MORROW was a visitor in Grass Valley during the past week.
E. A. BURPEE is a business visitor in Downsville.
JOHN GLARE has been visiting in Graniteville.
MRS. WILLIAM MCARTHY has been visiting with Mrs. Robert Horne in Los Angeles.
MRS. IDA MCGUIRAN has been making a week's visit with friends in Newmarket.
G. E. WARD was a recent visitor in Poisson, where he formerly resided.
MISS ANNIE and MISS ELIZABETH MEYER are in Red Bluff, where they were called because of the dangerous illness of their father, George Meyer.
MRS. I. EDWALL has returned to her home in Red Bluff after a visit with friends here.
MRS. T. EYKE has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. P. Wilkes, in Vallejo.
F. J. EARLY and Milton S. Hamilton were looking after business interests in Reno recently.
O. E. HOTTE was a recent Marysville visitor.
FRANK KNOWLES is making a brief visit with friends in Grass Valley.
MRS. M. WOLFE is making an indefinite stay in Sonoma.
MRS. W. F. LUFOLD is in Placerville, having been called there by the serious illness of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Becker.
MRS. ALBERT VAN DER NAILLEN visited with Mrs. Andrew Ford in Berkeley recently.
W. D. REED visited with Newman friends recently and reports a successful hunting trip.
MRS. J. A. REEDER visited with friends in San Rafael, her home, recently.
HARRIS OSGOOD has returned from a brief visit in San Rafael.
MISS HAZEL FLUMKILL was a recent week-end visitor with Miss Ethel McCormick in San Mateo.
DR. AND MRS. E. B. ROYCE were recent San Mateo visitors.
WILLIAM WALSH has returned from a brief visit in Marysville.
MRS. C. H. KOLIDAY was a recent visitor in Placerville.
Money used in charity seems much more expensive than any other way.

How Are You

going to know the need of Dental attention?

It isn't practical to visit every office. We can explain. Come and see us.

It Is Important

that you should seriously consider the care of your teeth. You may be reluctant to do so, because you fear the pain or the prices are too high. We do not hurt.

OUR PRICES ARE RIGHT

Specialist in Every Branch of Dentistry

Oakland Dental Parlors

1003 1/2 Broadway, Cor. Tenth St.

Don't forget the place—there is no other like it

TAFT & PENNOYER
SUIT DEPT.

On display in Suit Department will be found acceptable Xmas presents.

Eider and Blanket Robes ..... $3.00 up
Japanese Quilted Robes ..... $12.50 up
Japanese Kimonos, long ..... $15.00 up
Japanese Mandrin Coats ..... $20.00 up
French Flannel, Challie and Silk Robes ..... $6.50 up
Sacques, Imptd. Negligee and Maternity Gowns ..... $13.50 up
We show everything that comes under this head from the plainest Bath Robe to the most elaborate Tea Gown.

SHAWLS
Our complete stock of Wool Shawls (all sizes and shapes), Scarfs and fascinators for holiday trade far surpasses any previous season. Black, white, grey and all colors, ranging from ..... 50c to $4.50

FUR DEPARTMENT
In Suit Department, Second Floor. All new Furs now on sale.

NECK PIECES.
Ermine ..... $ 17.50 to $ 65.00
Mink ..... $ 30.00 to $140.00
Black Lynx ..... $ 40.00 to $ 90.00
Black Fox ..... $ 17.50 to $ 95.00
Red Fox ..... $ 10.50 to $ 27.50
White Fox ..... $ 10.00

MUFFS.
Ermine ..... $ 75.00 to $100.00
Mink ..... $ 40.00 to $125.00
Black Lynx ..... $ 50.00 to $100.00
Black Fox ..... $ 22.50 to $ 40.00
Red Fox ..... $ 10.50 to $ 27.50
White Fox ..... $ 11.00

Also good line of popular-priced Neck Pieces.
SETS for Misses ..... $12.50 to $22.50
SETS for Children ..... $ 2.00 to $14.50

TAFT & PENNOYER respectfully invite you to attend an interesting special exhibition of the new models in "Nemo" and "Smart Set" Corsets, beginning on Monday, November 27th.

MRS. DEAN, well known as an expert corsetiere, will be present to explain the special features of these popular corsets, and to aid you in solving this most important of present fashion problems—the Correct Corset.

CHEERING THOUSANDS SEE ARMY DEFEATED BY NAVY

Society Turns Out in Force to See Championship Football Contest at University of Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—Before a wildly enthusiastic gathering of football rooters, limited only by the capacity of the great athletic field of the University of Pennsylvania, the gridiron warriors of the United States military academy and naval academy fought this afternoon for the championship of a nation.

Dalton's field goal early in the play won the game for the middies by 3 to 0. It was the "rubber" game of the long-standing series between the rival service colleges. Before today the teams had met fifteen times and had broken even for that time. Each academy had seven victories to its credit. There was a tie game in 1906. The navy won last year and the army in 1909, no game being played in 1908.

CADETS PARADE.
Promptly at 1:30 o'clock the host of gayly bedecked cadets who had come to cheer for an army victory entered at the west entrance. Behind the post band from West Point they formed in long columns and paraded around the field to the southern stand.

In direct contrast to the striking gray of the cadets was the impressive black of the midshipmen. The sombre effect was somewhat broken by the orange ribbons and megaphones of sailor colors. The marine band in flaming red capes stood out prominently against the khaki buff of the contemporary musketeers.

Vice-President Sherman occupied the President's box. There was also present Secretary of the Navy Meyer and Secretary of War Stimson. Neither Mrs. Taft nor Miss Helen Taft was present. In another box was Miss Marion Cleveland, daughter of former President Cleveland. The postmaster general and other cabinet officers, with several of the justices of the Supreme Court, were of the presidential delegation. Boxes and stands held Senators, congressmen and Governors of states by the score.

SOCIETY OUT IN FORCE.
The service, of course, had the largest representation. There were generals, admirals and lesser officers by the hundreds. With all these dignitaries were their workmanlike. Society from Washington and New York was out in force, adding their beauty of face and their social advantage to the many visitors from cities of the four corners of the country. The crowd numbered approximately 30,000.

The army clearly outplayed the heavier middy aggregation in the first quarter, though a fumble of a pass by Hyatt robbed the cadets of their best chance to score. The soldiers sprung a great surprise on the young admirals in a fake formation, which was worked time and again for long gains. This play, sprung in any number of varieties, some times with quick line shifts that completely baffled the middies.

DALTON KICKS GOAL.
Gillespie took Woods' place in the second period. In the scrimmage that followed

SCOTTISH RITE HALL
San Francisco
Van Ness and Sutter,
Thanksgiving Afternoon and Night,
November 30th,
THE ROYAL WELSH LADIES' CHOR.
A Magnificent Organization.
BEST WOMEN SINGERS OF WALES.
MADAME HUGHES THOMAS,
Conductor.
Remarkable voices of fine quality and natural beauty.
Beautiful, long, pure, Welsh Costumes.
Seats from 10c to 50c.
Kohler & Chase's Music Store, 26 O'Farrell street.

Personal Mention

J. G. JACKSON has returned from a business trip to Nevada City and Downieville, where he has mining interests.
J. S. FASSETT visited his brother, W. P. Fassett, in Los Angeles, recently.
MISS BERTHA THIESSE visited with Cordelia Hoge.
MR. AND MRS. F. M. JAMES have returned from a trip to Arcata.
MR. ALICE CARSON has been visiting her brother, U. E. Sharp, in Santa Clara.
MR. AND MRS. S. WILLIAMS are spending several days in Chico and vicinity.
GEORGE B. M. GRAY was a recent business visitor in Los Angeles. Before his return he enjoyed a duck hunt in that vicinity.
H. B. W. THORNTON was a visitor in Los Angeles during the past week, where he formerly resided.
MRS. KATE DONOVAN and daughter, Miss Ethel, are visiting in King City at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Ryan.
MR. AND MRS. A. ADAMS have returned from a few days' visit in Fresno.
MRS. AMEL MARCUCCI has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kelley, in Jackson.

WELSH LADIES' CHOIR TO SING AT THE MACDONOUGH

Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir Quartet.

At the Macdonough theater next Wednesday night a concert will be given by the Hughes-Thomas Welsh Ladies' Choir. The organization is composed of some of the best of the women singers in Wales. They have attracted unusual attention in musical circles in all the cities they have visited on their present tour.

The leader, Madame Hughes-Thomas, has won high honors at the Royal Academy of Music in London. One of the unique attainments possessed by the ladies of the choir is their ability to sing in six different languages.

OPPORTUNITY SIDESTEPS BOTH YALE AND HARVARD

Blue and Crimson Elevens Each Have Chance to Break Tie Game, but Neither Can Score

(By DAMON RYUNION.)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 25.—Once this afternoon opportunity rapped at the door of Yale, but stepped aside to avoid a poor snap from center on a try for what seemed a certain field goal; once it beat a loud tattoo at the Harvard portals and then dodged back after forward pass. Whereupon opportunity came no more to the gate and the annual battle between Harvard and Yale ended in a tie.

Nothing could be fairer than 0 to 0 and when it was all over and 40,000 people were trying to walk off the field on their 30,000 frosted feet it was unanimously agreed that it might have been much worse.

A DESPERATE BATTLE.

The score about represents the strength of the two elevens. There have been many, many better games played between the college world, but there never has been one fought so desperately. Brilliant—not bitter; yes, it was a game that possessed every element of excitement for the spectators. Every moment of playing was filled with possibilities, and the fact that they always fell short of actual fulfillment took nothing from the thrills they stirred up.

It was feared that the field would be wet and soggy after Friday's rain, but when the "straw" covering was removed this afternoon it was found that it was merely dampened and a gorgeous sun soon dried it thoroughly. Yale supporters cheered up at this news, as a muddy field would have worked against the blue if the team lived up to its season's record. As it turned out, Yale played a weaker game against the crimson on a fairly dry footing than it did against Princeton on a sloshy field.

WHERE YALE FELL DOWN.

Early in the first period the blue had a royal chance to score when a high punt from Camp's toe was turned by a Harvard player and bounced up and down on the field. While crimson jerseys were reaching for the ball, Avery of Yale slipped through a hole in the Harvard line and fell on the ball. This was on Harvard's 19-yard line. Dunn went booming through the crimson barrier for four yards. Another smash at the line, by the Yale fullback added three more. Right in front of the Harvard goal Captain Campbell, who had been for a crack at the posts. The pass from center was very poor and the next moment a few hundred pounds of Cambridge landed on top of Howe. He was downed on Harvard's 17-yard line and the ball belonged to the crimson. Later in the first period after Harvard had been penalized five yards for delaying the game, Feltton's foot raised a punt high over Howe's head and Huntington went tearing down the field for a nice recovery on Yale's 6-yard line. Feltton was pushed from the lineup at this juncture in place of Gardner. Wendell tried a smash at the blue line and crashed the Harvard cause along two yards farther, planting the ball right against the Yale goal. Feltton then dropped back as if he intended to try for a kick, but suddenly slanted the ball out to the bunched players for a short forward pass. The effort went awry. Spaulding of Yale reached a long arm into the air and grabbed the hove, which then belonged to the blue within inches of their goal line. Camp booted the ball forty yards away. Camp's punting today was away below his usual form; but he did have a good chance at a field goal or Harvard had a good chance at a field goal from the 34-yard line. Frothingham replaced in that same period for Harvard tried a field goal, but it missed.

PHILBIN WAS THE STAR.
The work of Philbin, the big Yale back, was a notable feature. Time and again he carried the ball for good gains, which the Harvard man outbowed his blue rival. It cannot be said that either team had much advantage. At different stages one would excel in one department and the other in another. But all in all the 0 to 0 score is a good line on their respective strength. The game is another proof of the fact that no matter how they have each shown against their rivals during the season, when Yale and Harvard meet, it is one big battle of the year.

From start to finish the game was evenly balanced and if it had been a pre-arranged tie it could not have been worked off with so little sustained advantage to either side. The championship title may not have been at stake, as the football experts say, but that was lost

OAKLAND'S MOST PROGRESSIVE STORE

ABRAHAMSONS

S. E. Cor. 13th and Washington Sts.

A Magnificent Display of Women's Stylish Fall Garments

Women's Novelty Trimmed Suits

The finest collection ever brought to the Pacific Coast. Distinctive and different models than you will find elsewhere.

Priced from $35.00 up to $75.00

Afternoon and Evening Gowns

Imported and Domestic Gowns for afternoon and evening wear, in styles that are more beautiful than ever. Dainty creations of Crepe de Chine, Chiffon, Messaline, etc., neatly trimmed with silk fringes, beads, etc.

Priced from $15.00 up to $125.00

Velour and Plush Coats

Dozens of styles in the most original effects. Coats in plain or styles, handsomely trimmed with fancy ornaments and lined with rich-looking satin in the most contrasting evening shades.

Priced from $25.00 up to $75.00

10% Discount on Our Entire Line of Real Mink Furs; Also Pony and Electric Seal Coats

ART LINENS

A few inexpensive specials for the adornment of your home.

Austrian Drawn Work Linen, 39c

Value to 65c

An extra special bargain. Made of good quality Union linen, with four to five rows of open work. Splendid wearing and effective looking linens, in shams 30x30 and scarfs 18x54, to match.

Cluny Scarf Squares and Centers, 89c

Worth $1.50.

One hundred only of these so effective art linens that are such a clever imitation of the real article. Made of extra-heavy Union linen, with 1-inch deep German Cluny insertion and finished with 14-inch wide lace. Scarfs 18x54; shams 30x30; center pieces 36x36, to match.

Battenberg Lunch Cloths, $2.95

Worth $5.00.

Fine hand-made Renaissance centerpieces with pure linen drawn work centers, in many exquisite designs; 45 inches wide, in round or square effect. Specially priced, $2.95.

Battenberg Scarfs and Squares, 95c

Worth $1.50.

An art piece that will add tone to any home. Made of heavy Battenberg lace with pure linen centers, worked in drawn work, in many novelty designs. Scarfs 18x54, squares to match 30x30. Specially priced at 95c.

SILK CHIFFON TAFFETA, YARD 39c

Worth 65c.

A most wonderful value. Heavy shimmering all silk Taffeta, a rich, lustrous make for street or evening wear, in both plain or changeable effects, including black and white. Worth 65c yard. On sale Monday at, yard, 39c.

Rosenthal's Shoes

Unobtainable Elsewhere

Velvets and Satins

Here we are picturing one of our newest winter styles for ladies. It is of black velvet or satin with very short vamps, broad stub toes, Cuban heels and extra high tops. The velvets have 14 buttons; the satins 16 buttons.

Price
$5.00

New Styles
For Winter

That's why we can conscientiously guarantee entire satisfaction or your money back. Let your next pair come from Rosenthal's.

Evening Slippers

Our assortment of evening slippers is the most complete in this city. In beauty of design, variety of materials and in quality they are unmatched.

The drawing above shows a beautiful design in ladies' gummetal calf, vici kid or patent leather button shoes with high cloth tops. The vamps are short; stubby toes, Cuban heels and extension soles. We have similar styles with dull kid tops.

Price
$5.00

Write for our "Fall and Winter 1911-12 Shoe Style Book."

ROSENTHAL'S

SAN FRANCISCO
151-163 Post Street

SOLE AGENTS FOR HANAN'S SHOES
"The Best on Earth"

OAKLAND
469-471 Twelfth Street

Mail Orders Promptly and Carefully Filled. Open Saturday Evenings.

Lakeshore Sunday Concert

leaves Bon Ton Boathouse, 12th-st. Bridge, every Sunday for concert at Lakeshore Park. Trips 1 to 5 p. m. Fare 10c each way. F. M. KENDALL, Prop.

FLASH RECALL ON SAN ANSELMO TRUSTEE

Petitioners, Headed by C. R. Wilson, Want to Oust C. R. Gagan.

"SPITE WORK DUE TO SPITE FENCE"

Official Unfit, Is Charge Made in a Very Brief Petition.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—When a man is able to hold down a job as official reporter in the United States courts in San Francisco and at the same time be a member of the board of trustees of an aristocratic suburb like San Anselmo, he has some reason for a smug feeling of distinction. That was the comfortable situation occupied today by Charles R. Gagan.

Tomorrow the thing will be different. The quiet dignity and simple pride of Gagan's lot have vanished and in their place have come contention, worry and unrest.

The recall law is responsible for it all. Over in San Anselmo there is a man who thinks that Gagan is generally incompetent and unfit to be a town trustee. That man is Charles R. Wilson, a San Francisco architect, and he has had the circulation of a petition asking for an election to recall Gagan and to elect a successor. Wilson won't say how many signatures he has obtained to his petition, nor will he mention the names of any of the signers. But he claims that he has a good prospect of securing the necessary number, between 60 and 80.

PETITION IS BRIEF. If Wilson shall succeed in holding the recall election he will be able to claim the credit of the first election of that sort in California. Wilson's petition is a brief document which does not get beyond the stage of generalities in its charges against trustee Gagan. It reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned qualified electors of the town of San Anselmo, Marin County, California, hereby petition for the recall of Charles R. Gagan, trustee of said town, and that a successor be elected. The grounds for removal from office are his general incompetency and unfitness for holding office."

LAW IS SILENT. When asked to specify the alleged shortcomings of Gagan, Wilson said: "The law don't require any specifications. You don't like the color of a man's hair or the color of his face, you can ask to have him recalled."

Wilson added that he deemed Gagan altogether arbitrary as a trustee. "He pretends to act for the whole board in official matters," he said.

Gagan, however, has a different story to tell. According to the trustee, a spite fence erected by Wilson, and the action of the board of trustees thereon, has prompted Wilson to the recall petition.

THE STORIES DIFFER. "Recently," said Gagan, "the board of trustees had occasion to pass upon the matter of a fence dispute between Wilson and one of his neighbors. The neighbor had complained that the fence had been erected out of spite by Wilson, and that it encroached upon the public street. Beyond this I do not know of anything that would cause Wilson to seek my recall."

DAY OF REST DULY CELEBRATED

Employees of French Bakeries Company Rejoice at the Banquet Board.

Employees of the French Bakeries Company to the number of thirty-five last night celebrated a new order of affairs in the management of the big concern, whereby they will receive one day's rest in seven, the system being an innovation that has met with hearty approval on the part of the management, the employees and the public in general.

The affair was in the nature of a banquet held in the Barnum restaurant, Seventh and Broadway. Arrangements for the occasion were impromptu, but complete in every detail, from the elaborate menu to the congratulatory remarks made by those who sat about the table. The banquet was an inspiration on the part of the employees and the management of the company attended as guests of honor.

From now on the men who devote their best interests to the welfare of the company will receive certain share in its prosperity. Already they receive higher than the regular scale of wages and work under conditions that cannot be criticized from their standpoint. That all is harmonious between employer and employee was manifested last evening. Many of the older men who have been employed in the bakery for years, addressed the gathering and a general sociable time was enjoyed by all.

The French Bakeries Company is one of the best known concerns of its kind about the bay. J. Cassou, the manager, is a Frenchman by birth, as are most of the employees. Cassou has lived in Oakland for the last fifteen years and is well known in business circles. Under a direction the company has gained an enviable reputation, not only among its patrons, but among its employees as well, and during a recent walkout of bakers there were but five men who threw up their positions.

CEMETERY CROWDED.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 25.—The burying ground out at the county hospital is getting crowded, and as something will soon have to be done, it is decided that steps be taken to cremate the bodies of those who die here in the future.

This is what Dr. John L. White, superintendent of the county hospital, told the supervisors. The matter will be taken up with the district attorney.

BEAUTIFUL DOLLS TO BE DISPLAYED AT BENEFIT SHOW

MRS. GEORGE H. COOLIDGE
—Bushnell Photo.

This year's doll show for the benefit of the West Oakland Home will include one of the most elaborate displays of play-battles ever exhibited. Prominent local women are assisting Mrs. J. A. Miller, president of the home, in making the affair an assured success, and it is expected a large sum will be cleared for the benefit of the city's dependent little ones. The dates for this year's show are December 7th, 8th and 9th, the exhibition to be held both afternoons and evenings, in Ebell Hall, Harrison street, near Fifteenth. Mrs. James Gleason has charge of the program to be rendered each afternoon and evening and several entertaining numbers are being arranged.

Among the prominent vocal soloists of this city to sing will be Mrs. G. H. Coolidge. The prize doll table is in charge of Mrs. Frederick E. Reed, and many beautifully dressed dolls will be exhibited at this booth.

The tables and chairmen are: Fancy work, Mrs. Charles Alexander; aprons, Mrs. E. J. Boyes; bags, Mrs. J. D. Hoyt; lemonade, Mrs. P. M. Umohred; refreshments, Mrs. J. Laughland; mysteries, Mrs. George Ryno; decorations, Mrs. J. R. Corvelli; handkerchiefs, Mrs. N. A. De Leon; prize dolls, Mrs. Frederick E. Reed. The first doll table is in charge of Mrs. G. W. Ferguson.

The Little Workers are also to have tables where delicacies and fancy work will be sold. Miss Lillian Gould is chairman.

PLEASANTON LOSES MONEY ON SYSTEM

Water Works at the Present Time Does Not Pay the City.

PLEASANTON, Nov. 25.—That between $600 and $700 has been the deficit yearly of the Pleasanton municipal water system for the past decade was learned at the last meeting of the committee appointed by Mayor Schween to devise ways and means of improving the present situation.

It was the sense of the committee that an ordinance completely changing the system of water charges be adopted. The committee also recommended that the system be changed to one of town trustees without further delay. It is probable that all water consumers will be placed on meters.

WHIST TOURNAMENT TO GET FUNDS

Central Improvement Club to Give Card Party to Fill Treasury.

UPPER FRUITVALE, Nov. 25.—At a meeting of the Central Improvement Club in the Allendale assembly hall tonight it was decided to hold a whist tournament next Tuesday night for the benefit of the organization. The following arrangements committee was appointed: R. R. Clarke, E. A. Nugent, E. D. Southwick, W. E. Sansome and W. H. Locke. The feature of the evening's activities was the presentation of a fountain pen to Hugh Baker, for several years past editor of The Neighbor, the official organ of the improvement body. The paper has been taken over by C. S. King, a prominent member of the Latham Terrace Improvement Club.

The gathering tonight was also the celebration of the twelfth anniversary of the foundation of the club. Several addresses, dealing with the work accomplished by the organization, were made by members and officers.

GIRL HURT BY LOG.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Elsie Fry of 3329 Twelfth street, while bathing at the Ocean beach, was struck by a log this afternoon and received a contusion of the left leg. She was taken in an ambulance to the Park Hospital.

TO SING "ELIJAH."

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The choir of Trinity church will resume the monthly musical services tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Part I of Mendelssohn's "Elijah" will be sung.

TERRIFIC SLASHING OF Piano Prices

Eilers Closing Out Sale Upsets Piano Business in Oakland

With December 15th staring us in the face as the latest date we can stay here, and with four floors of our store filled with highest grade pianos and players, the situation confronting us in indeed a serious one. We have simply got to sell --- prices don't count --- terms are whatever you'll make them. You simply cannot realize how we have hammered piano prices until you come in and see for yourself. To clear out this store in the time given us we simply have to sell every piano that will be sold in Oakland in this period. We are even getting business from San Francisco and all the bay cities. Nothing like this sale has ever been heard of.

If you can't afford to pay all cash bring $50, $40, $30, or $25, in fact as little as $10 or $5 will secure your piano. Pay the balance in installments, weekly or monthly, that you will never miss and you get your piano now. Don't miss this sale.

$650 Player Piano
Now $375

$500 Art Style
Now $127

$375 Ebonized Upright
Now $88

$400 Rosewood Upright
Now $105

$350 Upright
Now $65

Every Piano sold by us during this Sale is warranted by an iron-clad guarantee

The same ironclad guarantee which protects the purchaser of a Piano from any of Eilers stores at any time applies to every Piano sold during this closing out.

The buyer is protected against every defect of material or workmanship.

In addition to this our exchange agreement, good for three years, guarantees the worth of the Piano purchased in writing.

In every possible way you are safeguarded in making your purchase from the Eilers Music House.

$550 Steinway Now $117
$425 Emerson Now $109
$350 Fischer Now $167
$400 Hobart M. Cable
..... Now $ 83

$700 Player Now $425
$800 Player now $450
$675 Player, now $400
$500 Knabe Angelus,
..... now $275

Organs and Square Pianos at Cost of Tuning and Overhauling OPEN EVENINGS

557 Twelfth Street Oakland
Opp. Orpheum

Out-of-town Folks who are planning to get a piano--act quickly.

If you can't come in tomorrow, telephone or wire at our expense to reserve one of these Pianos for you. Why should you delay if you want a Piano--later you will have to line some salesman's or dealer's pocket with a nice, snug profit which might as well be yours if you act at once. If you will tell us what sort of a Piano you want we'll ship it, and if not the greatest Piano bargain you ever have known or heard of, we'll refund your money.

DREAMERS GO TO JAIL BY HUNDREDS

Board of Pharmacy Conducts Raids On Opium Joints Across the Bay.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—In a desperate effort to stop the opium traffic in San Francisco the officers of the California State Board of Pharmacy, aided by 600 policemen, tonight raided 62 joints in Chinatown, in the city and in the county of Alameda. This totals $5800 in round figures, leaving a deficit of over $600. No account was taken of the fact that the raid was a sinking fund, an essential factor in all water plants.

From figures furnished by Engineer Theissen, it was found that the actual expense of the system is around $600 per year, while collections for the past twelve months, ending October 31, last were but $2957.35, with $923.50 added for water purchased by the city of Alameda. This totals $5800 in round figures, leaving a deficit of over $600. No account was taken of the fact that the raid was a sinking fund, an essential factor in all water plants.

The feature of the evening's activities was the presentation of a fountain pen to Hugh Baker, for several years past editor of The Neighbor, the official organ of the improvement body. The paper has been taken over by C. S. King, a prominent member of the Latham Terrace Improvement Club.

The gathering tonight was also the celebration of the twelfth anniversary of the foundation of the club. Several addresses, dealing with the work accomplished by the organization, were made by members and officers.

GIRL HURT BY LOG. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Elsie Fry of 3329 Twelfth street, while bathing at the Ocean beach, was struck by a log this afternoon and received a contusion of the left leg. She was taken in an ambulance to the Park Hospital.

TO SING "ELIJAH." SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The choir of Trinity church will resume the monthly musical services tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Part I of Mendelssohn's "Elijah" will be sung.

BEARS MAKE RUSH, BUT ARE STOPPED

Back Up Opinions On Wheat By Making Sales, But Meet Stubbornness.

(By JOSEPH F. PRITCHARD.) CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—While the rank and file of the professionals on the Board of Trade were bullish on wheat and they were willing to back up their opinions by making sales, abnormal stubbornness was shown. The rushes made by the bears reminded many of their boyhood days when they were attending college and in a football game were repulsed--sat upon. There was much disappointment in the camp of the bulls because the market refused to set sail at a rapid gait and at the same time to advance sharply in sympathy with the strength shown in the markets of continental Europe. Antwerp was the leader, showing an uptick of 1/16, followed by Berlin of 1/16. Paris was 1/16 higher. Liverpool, the real "with wheel" of the markets of the old world, was unchanged to 1/16 higher. Shorts were covering at Berlin, Antwerp and Budapest on unfavorable reports from Argentina, coupled with the forecast for small world's shipments to the continent Monday and on an abnormally light movement of wheat to those markets.

STUMBLING BLOCKS.

A stumbling block in the paths of the wheat bulls was the receipt of 5,000,000 bushels of wheat at primary markets during last week, which exceeded the corresponding period a year ago by 800,000 bushels. The shipments were 3,613,000 bushels against 2,813,000 bushels last year.

There is no hope for the wheat bulls in this market at the moment and the only factor possible to help them out of their present predicament is the moving out of this market of large lots of wheat now held here. Word comes from down state as well as from Iowa and Nebraska that the railroads are unable to furnish enough

SLIGHT CHANGE IS SHOWN IN STOCKS

Third Avenue Continues Making Low Record; Cotton Is Now Lower.

(By THOMAS C. SHOTWELL.) WALL STREET, NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Stocks were quiet today, closing without material change. Third Avenue continued making new low records, breaking through $4 a share. The new stock and bonds sold down to a level representing a value of $2 a share for the old stock. The bank statement showed a loss in surplus reserves. Cotton was lower. Railroad reports showed material increases of gross.

Stocks have been active and some new high records for the movement have been recorded the past week because of improvement reported in several departments of business. Copper metal has advanced to 13c a pound after a long period of profound depression. Railroad earnings continue around high record levels for the gross and the steel companies report constantly larger orders. Better business in coke is reported.

Cars to move out the corn now offering for shipment. There were only 837 cars inspected at Chicago today and 270 are looked for Monday. Values sagged, although there was no great amount of pressure shown and resting spots were only 1/4 @ 1/2 c lower.

The principal business in oats was changed from December to May. These orders were filled by commission houses while shippers were taking the opposite end of the proposition. There was considerable selling of May by local professionals who were doubtless endeavoring to establish lower levels in order to cover short contracts.

Some of the larger shorts, in land accepted an opportunity to even up their standing in that market today, as they absorbed the offerings, as they were thrown overboard. January land was sold into strong hands and there was an improved demand for May pork as well as ribs.

ST. JOHN'S GUILD TO HOLD BAZAAR

Home-Made Finery and Goodies for Thanksgiving to Be Sold.

The bazaar to be given under the auspices of the Woman's guild of St. John's church at 614 Fourteenth street, November 28 and 29, promises to be very successful.

The ladies are untiring in their efforts to make an artistic setting for their display of Christmas gifts and the fancy work booth presided over by Mrs. M. K. Ackery and dolls and infants' wear by Mrs. George Strowbridge offer pleasing novelties.

Mrs. Stanley Bell, assisted by the girls of St. Mary's guild, will have a very attractive booth of dainty needlework and home-made candy.

Mrs. M. M. Gonzales and Miss J. Handyside have given their special attention to gifts for men. Mrs. F. F. Jackson and Mrs. Bradt will assist Mrs. F. B. Oliver in the jewelry booth.

Mrs. Moaritz will sell comforters; Mrs. Cattell and Mrs. Welty, aprons; Mrs. A. A. Crowley, candy; Mrs. August Hamberg, stationery; Miss Gill, calendars. The tea room will be most attractive when Miss Agnes Handyside will serve afternoon tea, assisted by a boy of girls.

LAFAYETTE SCHOOL'S GRADUATES TO MEET

An entertainment and reunion of past graduates of the Lafayette school will be held in the school building tomorrow night. An excellent literary and musical program has been prepared. Principal Wheeler of the Piedmont school will deliver an illustrated lecture on Japan.

THE BANNER MILLINERY

SAN FRANCISCO. Wholesale House Selling at Retail SPECIAL THIS WEEK

Clearance Sale TRIMMED HATS

Regular $10 values $4.95 Regular $8 values $3.95
Regular $6 values $2.95 Regular $5 values $2.25

Sale of Willow Plumes $5 to $15 Worth Double

Large Black Velvet Shapes $2.25 UNTRIMMED SHAPES 75c and 95c.

Paradise Birds, French Ostrich Plumes, Ostrich Feather Bands, in all latest colors 25% OFF

4-STORES-4 THE BANNER THE BANNER 925 Market St. 2579 Mission St. THE FASHION THE WORLD 1519 Fillmore 913 Market St.

WESTERN HORSE MARKET Fourteenth and Valencia Streets.

AUCTION TUESDAY Today, Nov. 27, 1911 At 1 O'clock P. M.

Consisting of one carload of heavy draft horses from Central Oregon, weight from 1250 to 1800 pounds; and two carloads of gentle broke horses from Northern California, weight from 1100 to 1500 pounds; among them are several dapple grays, in addition to several driving and saddle horses. These horses are all young, gentle broke, blocky built and ready to hitch right up and go to work, and the best lot offered at auction this year. Positively no outside horses taken at this sale. E. STEWART & CO., Live Stock Dealers.

WM. HIGGINBOTTOM, Auctioneer.

Office Phone Oakland 4544. Residence Phone Oakland 1477. Dr. C. Howard Merritt DENTIST Union Savings Bank Building, Broadway and 18th, Oakland, Cal. Open Tuesday and Friday evenings for examinations.

LOS ANGELES TO IMPROVE HARBOR

City Council Approves Plan of Filling Huntington Concession; Shipping News.

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Nov. 25.—Arrived: Steamers Yale, 10 a. m., San Francisco; State of California, 8 a. m., San Francisco, via ports; Washtenaw, 4 p. m., Port San Luis; Carlos, Portland, via San Francisco; Norwood, 2 p. m., Trays Harbor, via San Francisco.

Sailed: Steamers Yale, 3:30 p. m., San Diego; Rose City, 12 m., Portland, via San Francisco and Astoria; State of California, 4 p. m., San Diego; Port Bragg, 6 p. m., Port Bragg, via San Francisco; Carmel, 3 p. m., Willapa; General Hubbard, 4 p. m., Bureka; Charles Nelson, 2 p. m., San Francisco (not as previously reported).

Upon recommendation of the board of public works, the council has approved a plan of filling the Huntington concession with material dredged from a portion of the channel between the Miner and Huntington concessions, which extends along the city's frontage.

Engineer Vincent estimates that it will take about 1,000,000 cubic yards of earth to fill the Huntington concession.

The steamer Yale today brought the largest cargo of freight she has ever discharged at this port—415 tons—the hold being packed to capacity. The Yale had 222 passengers.

The State of California, on the Queen's run, arrived today at 9 a. m., having been delayed by the excessive delay of freight left over from the President, of which she brought 400 tons to San Pedro alone. Her passenger list numbered 200 for this port.

The George W. Fenwick is being fitted with a new canvas on the upper deck while in port, the work being done by the San Pedro Marine Construction Company. The same firm will build a new bridge on her when she arrives from her next trip to Astoria for lumber. The present pipe and canvas railing will be replaced by wood construction and a house placed over the center of the bridge for protection in bad weather.

ALASKA WOMAN GUEST OF HONOR

Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Smith Give "Sour Dough" Reception to Visitor.

A "sour dough" reception was tendered last evening by Mrs. John Zaccarelli of Dawson, Alaska, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Smith on Sixth avenue. The decorations were appropriate to the Klondike, and even the refreshments were part typical of the frozen north, though the welcome extended the visitors by the genial host and hostess was true Californian. Among the guests were Mrs. Visquain, Dawson, Alaska; Mrs. E. R. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Gorrish, Mrs. Thomas Zaccarelli, Miss Addie Holloway, Misses Lena and Tressa Zaccarelli, Miss Mabel Hatchwell, Beland Vian, Ed Coffee of Dawson, Arthur Blank, C. F. McCutcheon of Dawson and Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Smith.

HORSE RACING WILL BE STADIUM FEATURE

KENTFIELD, Nov. 25.—Horse racing will be an entertaining feature Thanksgiving Day, when a number of fast trotters will enter the races to be held on the Marin Stadium speedway on that day, and the following entries have been made:

Free-for-all—H. A. Boyle, Ida M. Joe Bowling, Billy B. Charles Rice, Babe Madden, Frank Perale, Little Medium, Ralston White, Steele Steele, 2:25 class—J. Clark, Stone Elbow, Ralston White, Belle Joe Rollings, Nellie R. Mr. California, Black Wilkes, Mr. Hawkins, Augusta W. Mr. Quinn, Bay Pacer, Mr. Tsher, San Anselmo Flyer.

Go-as-you-please class—C. W. Rice, Skidoo, Manny Clybergh, Chester, George Capelli, Mission Belle, C. Jones, Rossdale, J. Muhl, Star Light.

TRADING VERY DULL IN THE MARKETS OF LONDON

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Trading was dull in every section of today's stock, but there was hopeful tone and prices in some directions closed with small advances.

Cotton, 1-16.

Discounts were unchanged here and on the continent. Paris exchange on London declined 2 1/2 pence to 25 francs 20 centimes. Berlin rate, 1/2 pence lower at 2 marks 46 1/2 pfennigs. Rand mines, 6 1/2; De Beers, 10 1/2.

MISS LIDIA KEINER TO WED T. GOODWIN

Mrs. L. Strong announces the engagement of her granddaughter, Miss Lidia Keiner, of this city, to Thomas Goodwin, a young business man of Oakland. The wedding will take place December 20th next.

THE BOUDOIR OF A FAT WOMAN

What do we see? Terrifically long and austere looking corsets; tiny (as possible) shoes, uppers bulging over the vamp; various restrainers, regulators, detainers (names unknown), perspiration disinfectants, blackness eradicators, plump specifiers, blood medicine. Strewed around a few candy boxes; maybe an exercise on the wall. These "properties" signify that at various times this pleasant room is the scene of technical torture, of heartburners, of fat-tings from grace. Here the poor lady gasps into her restrainers, her harness. Here she hides her fat-caused pimples, perspiration, blackheads; here, when her spirit is weak, she forsakes the restrainer for the candy candy box. What a life!

Available? A Marmola Prescription Tablet, taken after each meal and at bedtime, will reduce that fat (a pound a day) down to the firm flesh beneath; banish the fat-caused blemishes; give a lifetime of ease, health, etc., cured, and sleep as long as you desire; a complete vegetable; tender seventy-five cents to your druggist for a large case, or write the Marmola Co., 238 Farmer building, Detroit, Mich. Do not be timid—Marmola Tablets are safe—being made strictly in accordance with the famous, fashionable formula: 1/2 oz. Marmola, 1/2 oz. Ft. Esc. Cascara Aromatic, 3/4 oz. Peppermint Water; consequently, go ahead—without fear. A month will emancipate you.

To Facilitate Christmas Shopping, Goods Purchased on Credit Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday Will be Charged on December Account. Only 23 More Shopping Days Until Xmas. Do Yours Early

Toys Given the Children With Purchases in Their Section

At every turn Christmas goods begin to peep forth and with every $5.00 purchase made in our Children's Shop we will give master or little miss a cunning set of 6 cut-out picture toys, representing the "Wild West" or the "Soldiers of the Nations." There's a world of amusement in these for the little folks.

Merchandise and Glove Orders Now Ready

H.C. Capwell Co.
THE LACE HOUSE
TWELFTH AND WASHINGTON STREETS, OAKLAND

Capwell's Is Splendidly Ready to Supply Your Thanksgiving and Christmas Wants

There is a satisfaction in shopping at this store because it aims to be a reliable store—a store of good values—of courtesy and progressiveness, and while at times we may fall short of some of these ideals it is our constant struggle to achieve them. We are always eager to learn, quick to apply and constant in our desire to improve.

Those preparing for Thanksgiving or Christmas will find that we have anticipated their wants and amply provided for them. Visit this store this week

GREAT PREPARATIONS FOR THANKSGIVING have been made in our linen section, and any woman who has gone through her linen closet and discovered her shortages will find tomorrow an excellent day to purchase.

For years the Capwell Linen Department has been looked upon as the logical source of supply for dependable Damasks, pure Irish linens, pattern tablecloths, napkins, etc., and if you are going to need fancy linens of any kind they are here—dolles, center pieces, luncheon sets and everything that goes to make perfect the appointments of the Thanksgiving table and make the best impression on the assembled at prices low for the quality.

Coat Sweaters

The outdoor girl who tramps the hills, plays tennis or golf, the woman who rides in her carriage or automobile and the business woman find equal comfort in a warm and serviceable Coat Sweater. A complete assortment of these practical garments, in plain and fancy weaves, new coat sleeves, buttoned in front or side, V neck, rough neck, high military collar or sailor collar. Colors: cardinal, navy blue, and a few odd colors. $3.75 to $10.95

A Special Thanksgiving Sale of Curtains

Many a woman will be glad to freshen up her home for Thanksgiving with new Curtains at these savings.

Monday morning we place on special sale an assortment of curtains in pattern suitable for the dining room or living room. Curtains that bear the unmistakable stamp of newness—every pair new and fresh and all bearing a higher price tag. White, two-tone and Arabian colors. Three yards long and 50 to 64 inches wide. For this sale only—pair $2.95

A Good Time to Buy Crocheted or Knitted Slippers

Nice-looking, comfy Bedroom Slippers to keep the feet good and warm. Easy to slip on and the preventive of many a bad cold. There is an excellent suggestion in these for a Christmas gift.

To have them in all sizes for men, women, children and infants.

Infants' Knitted Slippers, sizes 1 to 5—pair..... 50c

Misses' Knitted Slippers, roll top, lamb's wool soles—pair..... 60c

Women's Knitted Slippers, roll top, lamb's wool sole, sizes 3 to 8—pair..... 75c

Women's Crocheted Slippers, ruffled top, all leather sole, sizes 3 to 8—pair..... $1.00

Women's Knitted Slippers, roll top, hand-made, exceptional value, sizes 3 to 8—pair..... $1.25

Men's Crocheted Slippers, lamb's wool soles, special value, sizes 8, 9, 10 and 11—pair..... 95c

A Thanksgiving Sale of Elegant Suits

Values ranging up to $40 at $25

Sizes are missing in some of these suits, and as it is too late for the maker to fill them in for us, we have decided to make the prices so low as to cause their immediate dismissal.

Their values run as high as $40, and if you started out to pay full price you would travel far before you found the equal of the stunning models we offer at this great reduction. All are this season's most favored fashions. Sizes 14, 16, 18 and 34 to 49.

Serges, Corduroys, Diagonals, Cheviots and Basket Weaves

Plain tailored and fancy styles among them—every model a marvel of taste and ingenuity. Made of splendid quality materials, in black and white stripes, gray, brown, navy, black and wistaria.

Furs for Christmas

Fashion's favorite Furs are here for both the young girls and their mothers.

French, Coney, Australian, Opossum, Jap. Mink, Black Fox, American Mink, Cross Fox, White Thibet and Ermine, in both separate neck pieces and sets. Priced from $3.25, $5.75 up to $150.00

Short Items About New Wool Challies and Other Flannels

Avoid those winter colds by wearing flannel garments that will give you comfort and warmth as well as style during the low temperature days.

We have just received a new line of pure wool challies in a beautiful range of patterns that include floral, Persian and Arabian designs and bordered effects, dots, stripes and checks. Admirably suited for waists, dresses, kimono, etc. Priced—yard..... 50c to 75c

VIELLANS, IMPORTED in a complete assortment of patterns in this unshrinkable flannel. This season's collection is more beautiful and varied than its predecessors and includes mannish shirting effects, fancy stripes, checks, plain colors. Priced—yard..... 75c

SCOTCH FLANNELS, in stylish stripes, plaids, embroidered effects, etc. This flannel will not shrink and the colors are fast. Priced—yard..... 25c to 40c

FLANNEL WAISTINGS, in all-wool, silk and wool and cotton and wool mixtures, in handsome designs, principally in stripes and plaids. Beautiful waists for Christmas gifts. Priced—yard..... 50c to $1.00

Eiderdown Robes

These warm and comfortable Robes are made of plain colored wool ripple eiderdown with or without collars.

Some are finished on the sleeves, down the front and around the neck with satin binding; others are plainer finish. Around the waist is a heavy cord girdle. In gray, red, light blue, light pink and lavender. Prices $3.95, $4.50, $5.00

ROUGH GOING OVER BAR AT HUMBOLDT

Fishing Schooners and Smaller Vessels Encounter Trouble.

The steam schooner North Fork, Captain Nelson, arrived yesterday morning from Eureka and laid at the Sunset Lumber Company's wharf, where she is discharging 320,000 feet of lumber. According to Captain Nelson, the Humboldt bar, although not nearly as rough as last year, is causing considerable trouble among the smaller vessels passing into the port of Eureka, a large number of the fishing vessels being forced to remain inside the harbor. The North Fork was tossed about considerably in crossing the bar but with the exception of splashing a little spray over the vessel's cargo no damage resulted. After passing the bar the rest of the trip from the north to this port was uneventful.

The steam schooner Fairhaven, Captain Paulsen, arrived late Friday night from the Columbia river and laid at Long wharf, where she is discharging 250,000 feet of lumber. Captain Paulsen reports a fine passage.

After discharging a cargo of grain up the river the big Alaska Pacific Steamship Company's big liner Watson and alongside Long wharf late Friday night and during the night picked up eight cars of cement and nine of merchandise for Seattle and Tacoma.

The steam schooner Newburg, Captain Norberg, arrived late Friday night from the Columbia river and laid at Long wharf, where she is discharging 250,000 feet of lumber. Captain Norberg reports a fine passage.

After discharging about forty tons of freight at the Oakland Dock and Warehouse Company's wharf the little river steamer St. Helena left for San Francisco.

WILL LECTURE ON SOCIALISM

Berkeley Educator to Appear at Theosophical Hall Again This Evening.

A series of lectures is being given by F. W. Pettit of Berkeley at the Theosophical Hall, corner of Thirteenth and Jefferson streets, on Sunday evenings. Two of the series have been delivered, the one scheduled for tonight being "An Ideal Socialism." A week from tonight the subject will be "The Land of Mystery." This lecture was recently given with marked success in San Francisco and Berkeley.

Pettit is an educator of experience, having delivered courses of lectures in various large cities in the United States and Canada. In Vancouver, B. C., he spoke before the Historical and Scientific Association. "The Story of the Mistake," a lecture delivered before with great success, will be given some time between now and Christmas. Other lectures will be delivered under the auspices of the Theosophical Society next year.

LE ROY HOUGH DIES AT SAN MATEO HOME

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Le Roy Hough, vice-president and general manager of the Western Meat Company, died suddenly today of heart failure in his Hayward Park home in San Mateo.

Hough was 51 years old and for more than a score of years has been the most prominent figure in the meat industry west of the Rockies.

Only yesterday Hough was at his desk at the Western Meat Company's office on Sixth street. He left for his home at 2 o'clock in apparently good health and spirits, though he has been complaining of a slight attack of heart trouble for the past month.

A widow and one son, William E. Hough, survive.

OWLS TO GIVE SOCIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—San Francisco Owl No. 1, Independent Order of Owls, will hold its annual Thanksgiving social Tuesday evening, November 28, at the American Foresters' hall, 172 Golden Gate avenue. Refreshments will be served.

POULTRY ONLY TO BE SHOWN AT PETALUMA

PETALUMA, Nov. 25.—The poultry show which opens at Petaluma December 7, promises to be one of the most interesting exhibitions that has ever been held in this section of the state. This year the exhibit will be confined to poultry alone, the pigeons and their allies, which heretofore have been shown in what was termed a "full show," will be excluded.

Although entries will be received until November 27, the committee in charge of the show has announced that already there is a heavy list of exhibitors. As in previous years the number of entries will be limited to 1200. According to the officers of the Poultry Association it was found necessary to limit the entries to poultry only on account of lack of space.

DRILL TEAM OFFICERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Mission Parlor drill team has elected the following officers: President, A. P. Bily; vice-president, W. E. Gantner; secretary-treasurer, E. Delaney; sergeant-at-arms, M. Minore; captain, E. L. Groome; lieutenant, E. B. Cohn. The team will give a drill and dance Saturday evening, January 27.

S. N. Wood & Co.
Oakland Cor. Washington and 11th Sts. | Cor. Market and 4th Sts. San Francisco

Suits and Coats

At Big Savings Tomorrow

Women's Suits in beautiful tailored models made from fancy cheviots, tweeds and English mixtures in light, medium and dark effects in which the browns and grays are liberally sprinkled. Also fine French broadcloth in blues, blacks and popular street shades as well as novelty weaves in solid colorings.

These are beautifully tailored mostly in our own factory and are extremely well lined and are in the best of this season's models.

There are also a number of Fancy Trimmed Suits, many of them samples and worth up as high as $30. These are on sale tomorrow at the very low price of $15.00, making this suit offering of tremendous importance.

Women's Coats at $15.00

Smart Coats of nice mixtures, in stripes, checks and fancy effects; some double faced and reversible materials; some plushes and some caraculs. These also are made in our own factory, which accounts in a large degree for the littleness of the price. These also are on sale tomorrow at $15.00.

Genuine "Kareem" Hats, regularly selling at $3.50. Strictly tailored from fine velvet. On sale Monday at $3.95.

$15

Fancy Waists

$1.95 to $3.95

Chiffon, crepe and messaline. Waists in tailored and fancy styles, made in the new set-in kimono sleeve, in black, navy, brown, green and white. Specially priced tomorrow from $1.95 to $3.95.

Silk Petticoats

$1.95

Heavy taffeta and messaline, in plain and changeable colors; also fancy Dresden effects. Excellent styles, regularly up to $3.50. On sale tomorrow at $1.95.

Women's Navy Serge Suits

$15.00 $19.50 $22.50

Beautiful new tailored garments modeled on new and graceful lines which bring out and emphasize every beautiful curve of the figure. Lined with guaranteed Skinner satin and made with haircloth fronts carefully worked to just the proper degree of stiffness. These are all of our own superior make and are unequalled in style or value. All styles for misses and women at $15.00, $19.50, $22.50 and $25.00.

Clever Trimmed Hats $4.95

A special lot of trimmed Hats in excellent style and in a wide range of good colors is on sale tomorrow at $4.95.

Some of these are model hats from the foremost Eastern makers and from our own workrooms.

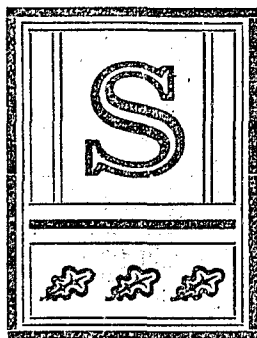

They have been previously priced all the way up to $12.50. This lot is on sale tomorrow at $4.95.

Fancy Feathers 25c

An excellent assortment of wings, breasts and fancy feathers in styles suitable for trimming the present shapes. All sorts of good colors, many of them worth up to $2.00 each. All on sale tomorrow at 25c.

Jokers and Poets BUSY WITH THE MOORE RACY SCANDALS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—In all this pitiful Moore divorce case at Redwood there are some who see the avenging hand of Time.

Moore had a good, plain wife whom he had married in his days of poverty. Mrs. Moore had in E. Avery McCarthy a healthy, normal husband. But he lacked riches.

When Moore grew rich his poor and faithful wife wasn't good enough for him. He yearned for social position and coveted the beautiful butterfly wife of McCarthy. Mrs. McCarthy wanted more clothes and carriages and luxuries than her husband could give her, and turned her eyes on the rich man Moore.

Moore divorced his wife and Mrs. McCarthy divorced her husband. Then Moore married Mrs. McCarthy. Then came the cursings, the quarrels and the fights. Now come the gross revelations that will keep both the Moores away from social recognition for the rest of their lives.

And on top of it all, McCarthy has grown far richer than Moore.

Even the Jokers and Poets

So, if Mrs. McCarthy had stuck to her husband and Moore had stuck to his good wife, both would have been far happier, and at least they would have escaped the fatal jokers and poets who are busy with the case.

There isn't a club or a hotel lobby that hasn't some coarse jest over the Redwood case, and every man who can turn a rhyme is as busy as we recently were with the daffydils. Here's a verse by our oldest, if not best-known, poet that carries the tang of Kipling's rejuvenation in his "Female of the Species":

"When a Redwood City husband kicks his soul-mate on the shin,
And with ready bottle upraised, says he'll knock her outsidin in,
Then 'tis time for all outsiders to turn their palest pale—
For the fingers of the female are too scratchy for the male."

And so the jests fly quite as fast if not as far as the happiness of the Moores has flown.

Senator Nelson Turns Reformer

Sound the big horn, sing the loud Hosanna! Another great reform has been effected; another political sinner regenerated:

Former Senator Nelson has joined the Band of Hope conducted by Chester Rowell, Meyer Lissner, Al McCabe and "Squills" Pillsbury; also he has annexed a new job on the San Francisco water-front. Nelson sees no reason why a reformer should not live on the fat of the land, and hence his name went on the payroll the moment it went down the roll of reform.

A few days ago the Harbor Commissioners created a special job for Nelson: It pays $150 a month.

As every polle in San Francisco knows Nelson is, or was, a machine man of the old school. He has always followed some boss and programmed from start to finish. Every time he heard a locomotive bell ring he started like an old fire-horse. He reported to Ruef sometimes and sometimes to Johnny Lynch.

But he always managed to keep attached to the payroll. When the regenerators came into control of the pie-counter, Nelson's name was one of the first crossed off the list. He was charged with turning legislative switches for the Espee and with taking orders from Ruef.

So he was thrown out of his job on the water-front and his place given to a chap who would dynamite a church in the interests of good government.

But you can't lose "Senator" Nelson. He has followed the payroll into the camp of reform and has resumed his old connection with it.

A little later on we may expect to find Nelson hurrahing for La Follette and declaring the Supreme Court ought to be lynched.

The Detective and the Pickpocket

Billy Pinkerton, the famous detective, is in town, and an old story concerning him comes to my mind:

On one of his former visits he saw a Chicago friend standing in front of the Palace Hotel, his chest out and a beautifully bediamonded fob depending from his pocket.

"I wouldn't stand here showing that," admonished Pinkerton. "Some one will come along and touch you."

"Aw, there isn't anybody this far west that can touch me," said the Chicagoan contemptuously.

Pinkerton thought he'd have some fun at the chesty chap's expense, so he hunted up a plain clothes man of the local department:

THE KNAVE

"Get me a 'dip' to 'frisk' a chap from Chicago," he said to the local man.

"All right; here's one over by the bank," was the reply.

When the two detectives got down to the Crocker Bank the Chicago man was still ogling and sunning himself in front of the hotel.

"I wish you'd go over and pluck the watch of that man over there—we'll protect you," said Pinkerton to the pick-pocket.

"I can't do it," was the unexpected reply.

"It's just a joke—you'll be protected."

"I can't do it."

"Oh, go ahead—it's all right!" said the local sleuth.

"I can't do it," persisted the thief.

"Why not?"

"You'll not pinch me?"

"Sure, no."

"Well, is this what you were looking for?"—and he fished out the Chicago man's watch with the glittering fob.

"He got it while I'd turned my back," said Pinkerton.

A Good Throat Doctor

The San Francisco Medical Society had its annual banquet at a downtown cafe on Wednesday night, with Dr. William Ophuls in the toastmaster's chair. In came Dr. H. Kugeler with a distinguished-looking stranger. There was a good deal of questioning as to the man with the foreign air.

"This is Dr. Pavloff, the famous Russian specialist," said Dr. Kugeler, impressively.

The local physicians and surgeons pressed forward to meet the distinguished stranger, and Dr. J. Wilson Shiels won the honor of sitting next him at the table. When the speechmaking was at its height, Dr. Shiels rose and said:

"I should like to hear a speech by Dr. Pavloff."

"Pavloff! Pavloff!" shouted the diners and Dr. Ophuls asked the stranger if he would grant the favor of a speech.

"Speech? S-p-e-e-c-h? What he ces?" asked the foreigner. "I will sing him."

Thereupon he burst into a wondrous song. He was one of the most famous soloists of the French opera company, and he knew no more medicine than Dr. Shiels knows of song.

He Did Three Men's Work

Once when William F. Herrin asked where Jere T. Burke was, and was told he was off on some mission, the head of the Southern Pacific law department replied:

"That man is doing three men's work."

That's the reason the railroad officials are finding it hard to fill Burke's place. There are several applicants for the position, including J. Harry Scott, formerly Tax Collector here; George E. Mitchell, Democratic Assessor of Placer county, and T. M. Eby, formerly secretary of the State Board of Equalization.

But no one of these would be able, for instance, to take charge of the electric roads at San Jose and up the peninsula, where I presume Burke's friend, Superintendent Chapin, will be given full charge; and this was but one of Burke's manifold duties in addition to being tax agent and legislative representative.

The Bribery of Clothes

Down in Los Angeles there has been a threat from the Harriman-Socialist side of the fierce municipal contest that there will be prosecutions for bribery because many of the employers have been giving their servants hats and gowns—generally cast-offs—to vote against Harriman. When Walter Parker heard of this he said:

"Evidently we're getting like Virginia."

"How's that?" asked a friend, scenting a story.

"Well, when I was back in Alexandria on a visit I found that very little money was in circulation among the colored folks. There was a habit of giving a hat or a coat or a pair of shoes for a service."

"I got an old darkey to make me a jug of cider, and when his work was done I gave him half a dollar. He received the coin with a profound bow and said:

"I spec I'd like to dib out in dat Cahilfohnia wid you, Massa Parker."

"Why, what's the matter with old Virginia?" I asked.

"Wall, sah; Vahginiah am a good State. But Massa Parker, dere am too many of clo's changin' han's roun' heah, sah."

That War in Los Angeles

That political war in Los Angeles, by the way, is one of the most amusing as well as one of the most serious contests in the history of the State. The fact that Job Harriman, the candidate of the Socialists, led Mayor Alexander, the Goo-Goo Republican, at the municipal primary, scared the city stiff. The banks refused to loan money and there was a general demand that the conduct of the Alexander campaign be taken out of the hands of E. T. Earl and the Progressives.

Well, up came the old-line Republicans and jumped in. They raised money right and left, whereas the Goo-Gos couldn't get any unless Earl put it up. But right away the Goo-Gos began to protest that no tainted money—no money from the Southern Pacific, the breweries or the saloon men—should go into the election of Alexander.

Now those Goo-Gos are insisting that if they don't handle the campaign and the money they won't play. The other chaps are insisting that if they raise the money they must handle the campaign and be the close-ups with the Mayor. And now it looks very much as if the poor old harried Mayor would lose his re-election if he should dare to come out for either side.

Bernard Baker's Busted Boost

You may remember that Bernard N. Baker of Baltimore was out here a few weeks ago being wined and dined and entertained by Chambers of Commerce and Merchants' Associations and the like because he was going to establish a grand line of passenger, freight and mail steamers through the canal. And you may or may not remember that at the time I put in a mild little pooh-pooh that nobody liked.

Baker was going to float a grand popular subscription for his new company, and I called attention to the fact that some of the boats of his old company had been sold for less than cost to the American Hawaiian. But everybody else was touting Baker.

Well, Baker's scheme blew up. There was no grand popular subscription. Then Baker complained that the railroad interests had prevented him from getting his money from the big bankers. And the big bankers have denied this, and some have denied that Baker ever came near them. And a Senate committee in Washington is going to look into the matter.

It really seems that Baker didn't have anything much to peddle around, and all our wining and dining went for naught. Too bad—but it shows that even when our capitalists wine and dine a man they look hard before they leap into his scheme.

Now You Can't Stop 'Em

The women, having gained the ballot, are going right ahead to do all sorts of things that once were considered unwomanly. Of course they'll get the right to sit as jurors if they want it; and it can be imagined how easy it will be to get a jury of men once a "peach" or a "pippin" has consented to serve. But that wasn't what I started out to write.

The latest thing the women have taken up is a women's hotel. This is not to be a small back-street affair; but a big, downtown hostelry. It is to be owned by women, run by women and occupied by women—and no man need apply.

The thing is well under way, and one of the original plans is to have a gallery where art exhibits can be held. Will Sparks has been appealed to for ideas on this subject—the need for a proper place for art exhibitions being emphasized every day. For instance, the Bests, Arthur and Alice, are now exhibiting in the St. Francis "bliss-room"; Sparks is at Vickery's; Greenbaum is at Helgesen's and Maren-Froelich is at the Sequoia Club—not one of them in a fit setting.

So the women have at least one good idea in their scheme for a woman's hotel.

Jere Burke Died a Poor Man

The popular mind, hurried to snap judgments by the suggestions of an excited yellow press, always connected the late Jere Burke with a large "railroad sack" that he was supposed to spend his days and nights distributing among the legislators at Sacramento. No man ever handled a sack and let all of it get away from him. That, in the nature of things, is a part of the transaction. But as the times go Jere Burke died a poor man. Whatever he did in politics and among politicians was accomplished by sheer personal force of character and he was successful only because he believed he was right. No man can convince another unless he has the courage of conviction, and whenever Jere Burke went into the lobby he believed that he was on the right side of the argument.

Burke's most intimate friends supposed that he had more money than the event has proved. As a matter of fact the chief item in his estate is a life insurance policy for $14,000. The house he lived in was mortgaged. He owned a house in Jackson street, this city, and it is mortgaged. He had a share in a forty-acre Los Angeles land speculation which may yield a little money, and that is about all. Jere Burke was not a rich man, and therefore it is safe for the popular mind to concede that he was an honest man, as his personal friends always knew he was.

Burke will have no successor with the Southern Pacific Company, chiefly because there is no one man that can do the work he did. His various duties will have to be divided up between five or six men, and then it is doubtful if they can do as much as he did alone. He was a valuable man because of his versatility. He could not only straighten out a tax tangle, but he knew all about machinery, curves, grades, the pulling power in a ton of coal on a barrel of oil, and could tell how long a freight car would last by looking at it. He knew every foot of railroad track in California, he was an expert accountant and he was almost as proficient in rates and traffic as J. C. Stubbs himself. In short, he was the corporation's best emergency man and his wonderful versatility makes a successor impossible. His heart was in the railroad business and he did so much for his employers that he had no time to make any money for himself.

Why No One Can BE FOUND TO FILL JERE BURKE'S PLACE

President Taft Got Excited

A little story that comes from Washington throws an illuminating sidelight on President Taft. We are not accustomed to think of him as an excitable man, although we know that he sticks to his opinions like a puppy to a root. But he can become excited, too, especially over such subjects as the Pinchot-Ballinger controversy which sticks by him yet.

When Benjamin Ide Wheeler of Berkeley was in Washington not long ago, he met President Taft on one of his morning walks in the street. Taft recognized Wheeler at some distance, hailed him and the two walked along together. Something in the talk suggested the old sore spot and President Taft started in upon a tirade that might have been heard a block away. Raising his voice and almost frothing he concluded: "Sir" (Taft sometimes has the habit of the Johnsonian "sir"), "that man Pinchot will not do. He is an anarchist! Sir, I tell you he is an anarchist."

Reporter May Be Rolph's Secretary

The skirmishing for appointive places under Mayor Rolph in January has begun. Many of the candidates are not out in the open yet, but Mr. Rolph's secretary could give you a list of names that would wear out a typewriter. It is known that among the leaders for the place of secretary to the Mayor is Charley Brennan, an Oakland boy, who for ten years or thereabouts has been a successful police reporter on the San Francisco papers. Brennan is pretty well-informed about affairs generally and he is particularly well-posted on the "ins" and "outs" of the police department. If he wins the job Mayor Rolph will have a fund of information about the workings of the police that he could not easily get from any other source. Certainly it is not in the records, nor in print, but it would be interesting to an executive who wanted to improve things and much of it would be useful.

Millions in Sight

Gold in a big stream continues to pour into the treasure box of Jafet Linderberg and his three or four associate owners in Nome mining claims. William Metson, the attorney of this city and a brother-in-law of Linderberg, is one of the partners. The other owners, like Linderberg, are natives of Sweden, who had a humble but romantic career in Alaska before the gold rush into that country in the nineties and before the Klondyke and Dawson and Nome became familiar words.

A person in a position to know says that these men cleaned up during the past summer $1,000,000, and that they will be able to do equally as well every summer for the next forty years. Their placer claim, which is being worked by the hydraulic process, is considered one of the largest in the world. It is back on what is known as the ocean's third prehistoric beach line. They bought last July farther inland another placer claim, which is to be worked by dredgers, and which is expected to swell their already plethoric purses. Linderberg today is a fine type of a man. Some time some one will make him a character of compelling interest in a romantic story or in a sketch. His own wish is to avoid any limelight of that kind.

Senator's Tart Reply

Former United States Senator John L. Wilson of Seattle was in the city this week. Seeing him at the St. Francis recalled the clever reply he is credited with having made to Secretary of the Interior Walter L. Fisher about a month ago when the latter was in the Washington metropolis en route East from a visit to the Alaskan coal fields. The Secretary was all enthusiastic about his then new scheme of developing that Territory's immense coal deposits by the leasing system, which, in his opinion, will not interfere in any way with their proper conservation.

"Look at Indiana's fate," Fisher is represented as continuing. "Her fine hard-wood resources are about all gone. If she had been guided by the conservation spirit she would still have that fine heritage."

"But if she had not used her hard-wood forests there would not be today any populous and rich Indiana," remarked Wilson.

Admired for Her Nerve

Mr. and Mrs. Key Pittman of Goldfield were greeting friends at the Palace a week ago at the same time United States Senator George T. Nixon was a guest there. Pittman, a lawyer, made a strong fight to wrest the Senatorial toga away from Nixon about a year ago, but the latter proved too strong for him. Pittman has a most interesting wife. The Dawson and Nome countries still remember her as one of the best "mushers" the Far North has ever seen, and one of the best drivers of a dog team. Always alert for news of a new discovery, she was about the first of either sex to drive off with her team to the place. Often she would be coming back from a locality with news of it as a false alarm while many others were still en route in the rush. Men admired her for her nerve, her energy and her intelligence. Mrs. Pittman is a sister of Humboldt Gates of Eureka, who made his stake as a miner and who at last accounts was preparing himself for a legal and political career.

THE KNAVE

Quieting the Savage

Appropos of the recent statement of Stewart Edward White, the author, whose home is at Santa Barbara, that while in the wilds of Africa some months ago a big chief offered him twenty-two cows for his wife where ordinarily the savages think two cows enough for such a trade, a friend has been telling me of some other experiences the White party had in that country. One of the members of White's party was Roy Barnard, the wealthy furniture manufacturer of Grand Rapids, Mich. He was my friend's informant. Mrs. White seemed to know no fear, no matter how near she was to a lion or other wild animal. One morning she unwittingly came within six or seven feet of a huge lioness. Barnard saw the beast before she did. Just as it was about to spring at her from its low, crouching position, he fortunately shot it through the heart. Mrs. White gave no exhibition of "nerves" when she realized how close she had escaped from the animal's clutches. Far in the interior in a country of 100,000 savages, they came upon a British outpost manned by only two minor officers of an English regiment. One of these men's greatest pastimes was playing golf, and they had an 18-hole course, one of the finest to be seen anywhere, and which had been built for them by the British authorities. Asked why they felt so safe from harm from the savages, the officers replied that the natives had a great fear of the white man's firearms. They had also seen several hundred soldiers pass through their country without injuring them. They had seen the soldiers build the outpost and were given to understand if they harmed it or its occupants, the soldiers would return and "speak" death to them with their iron weapons just as they had seen them speak death with them to animals standing many yards away.

Goes to a Small Station

Key West is considered the worst naval station in this country to which to assign a rear admiral of the navy. It is small, unimportant and with few accommodations. For these reasons, Rear Admiral Lucien Young's friends out here are surprised to learn that the Secretary of the Navy has ordered him there from the Pensacola yard. It was about a year ago that Young was ordered from Mare Island to Pensacola. He was nicely situated there and his legion of friends on this coast understood he was getting along swimmingly. It was a jar to them to hear of the new order sending him away down to Key West. None of them pretends to know why Young does not appear to be in the good graces of the naval authorities at the national capital. They never tire of thinking of him as a delightful companion, a witty Bohemian, a clever after-dinner speaker and a remarkably well posted man on the life of Abraham Lincoln, particularly his early life in Kentucky, Young's own State, which has honored him with a sword and made him for life an honorary member of the legislature.

Don't Bet On Kearny Street

Don't bet your money that Kearny street does not officially and actually extend south across Market street. If you do, you'll sure lose your lucre. "Jack" Inglis, one of the local freight officials of the Union Pacific road, bet $7.50 that such is the fact and he won. No less an authority than the Magee brothers, realty experts, have the block books and copies of the original surveys to show it. When Market, Third and Kearny streets were laid out Kearny was extended across Market to the south and thence forty feet more before it was joined with Third street. This is why most of the western front of the Examiner faces on Kearny street and why in the Market street sidewalk north of that building and close to its western curbstone there has been cut the word "Kearny."

Inglis saw this word, and taking it for granted that the man who deliberately did that piece of chiseling knew what he was doing, he went about seeking whom he could devour as a bettor. He was not long in finding a victim. There is another side to this pardonable gambling picture. It has cost Inglis more than he won to do the proper thing in the way of treating the many who have congratulated him on being an authority on that odd piece of engineering, the laying out of Market street and its laterals.

The Wise Financiers

Darrell A. Hare, the defaulting note teller of the Wells-Fargo Nevada National Bank, having pleaded guilty and been sentenced in the Superior Court to the punishment of being put on probation for two years, may by that means escape prosecution at the hands of the Federal authorities. As required by the national bank laws, Hare's defalcation has been reported to the national bank examiner of this district and in turn reported by him to the office of the United States District Attorney. Lawyers say that where the State punishes in such cases, the Federal authorities are not disposed to take any further action. This young man's theft caused a certain banker yesterday, who has made a study of statistics on thefts by bank employees and officials, to make the amazing statement that banks are robbed annually in this way to the extent of between three and four millions, in spite of good systems of bookkeeping and checking of accounts. No system under the sun, he says, can prevent a man from being dishonest if he is inclined that way. It can, however, curb thefts and cause their early discovery. The wise banker, he says, every now and then has a secret report made to him about the habits of his employees. If shown to be drinking, or gambling, or in other ways inclined to dally on the primrose path, he quietly dismisses them before their habits tempt them to steal. At the same time, the wise financier is not a pessimist about human nature. He knows the majority of men in banks, as in other callings, are honest, and takes no stock in the oft-repeated assertion that women are more honest than men.

Phelps' Challenge to Moore

Here is a new angle to the sensational J. J. Moore divorce case: About three weeks ago Rear Admiral Thomas Phelps, U. S. N., retired, sent a letter to Moore, in which he set forth in the plainest of the King's language that he would hold him personally responsible if, in the disposition he was then making in his lawyers' offices, he sought to link his name with that of Mrs. Moore. The note was sent by special messenger and, of course, Moore received it. Phelps, no doubt, had been advised of Moore's intention to try and drag him into the case as one of the means of trying to win the suit for himself, and had taken this way of endeavoring to prevent the husband from following out his plan of action. The warlike note utterly failed of its purpose, and now people who know about the episode are wondering if the valiant, handsome navy man will carry out his threat the first time he meets Moore. In his younger days, Phelps was considerable of an athlete and his long career as a warrior for Uncle Sam has made him familiar with firearms. Moore is a certain kind of scrapper, judging by the evidence his wife has been giving against him. Just how he would be able to meet Uncle Sam's former fighting man, if attacked, is simply a hop, skip and jump guess. Phelps is very much in evidence about town these days, but is keeping mum about his letter and his intentions as to Moore.

Women Fear the Moore Case

There has been a hegira of the women members of certain well-known families in the San Mateo fashionable suburb for fear they might be subpoenaed as witnesses. They know certain things about Moore and his wife on account of having been friends of the family. They dread the notoriety attendant upon being witnesses in the sensational case, and, in fact, owing to the developments of the spicy contest, do not care to be known now as having been very friendly with the Moore household. This is why Mrs. _____ has found it very convenient to visit relatives in Seattle and Mrs. and Miss So-and-So think Southern California such a charming place at this season of the year. Four other ladies are away at different places and are hoping Superior Judge Buck will soon take the case under advisement so that they can return without fear of being placed on the witness stand. Two of these women strongly advised Mrs. Moore never to sue for a divorce. Now that she has done so, they think, owing to the disclosures, she, as well as her husband, will be entirely discredited by the time the litigation is ended.

Harvey's Failure a Bad One

The attempt of Attorney E. H. Williams, on behalf of the creditors of J. Downey Harvey, the society man and originator of the Ocean Shore Railroad project, to find if the latter has any large assets hid away has simply resulted in showing that Harvey's failure is a big one. Furthermore, his financial collapse shows no crooked work, something that has generally been believed all along. As an individual failure, it is probably the worst in the history of the State, with net liabilities of about two millions and hardly $2000 of assets. After this unfortunate experience, this eldest son of Mrs. Eleanor Martin will probably shape his actions like the man from Missouri and say "show me" before he undertakes a deal. Before he ever started his railroad scheme, he was told that the Harriman people had twice made surveys and estimates of cost through the same coast region and had abandoned any intention of building there because prospects for traffic did not justify in any way the estimates of cost called for by the surveys. His relative, Baron J. Von Schroeder, the other day, when Harvey's affairs were under discussion, is represented as saying to a friend that J. Downey would now have to enter the Missouri class like he had done some years ago.

"Why, when I first came to California," continued the titled Teuton, "I thought I knew a whole lot. In those days I would buy a horse from White Hat McCarthy without looking at the animal's teeth. They got me good and plenty both here and in Alaska. Now they all must show me, and show me a plenty."

Greenway's Clever Work

In his role as a wine agent, Ed. Greenway is displaying some of that acumen that has won him prestige as the czar of societydom for so these many winter seasons. Greenway has seen competitors in the trade even younger than himself drop by the wayside through rheumatism and other ills because of patronizing their own bubbling beverage too frequently. Drink some he does and probably must do so. But he has a scheme to sidestep it a good deal at the leading hotels and restaurants. Every now and then he is making it his business to slip a five dollar gold piece to each of the barboys at the St. Francis, Fairmont and Palace, a suave greeting going with the little yellow presents to the effect that "you have been kind and sweet in not overlooking my brands with customers and here is a little token of my appreciation. Keep up the good work." And down the line, with this and that clever chap of a waiter in the big restaurants, go these yellow and tempting douceurs. This kind of sowing yields a steady harvest of demand for what the society dictator stands for in the business world, at least so remark the knowing ones about town.

The Pig Got Well

Charles M. Schwab, the shipbuilder, according to advice his friends here have received, got out of Peking by way of Tin Tsun just in time to avoid the activities of the Chinese revolutionists and is well on his way home by Suez. Schwab went to China some time ago to take up again with Prince Tsai Suun, president of the Chinese Navy Department, the question of having him build in this country for China a lot of warships for a modern navy. It is presumed by his local friends that the revolution has for the present at least upset all his plans for getting so valuable a contract. It was Prince Tsai Suun that Schwab met here last year and took cast in a special train at a cost of $10,000, with the same object in view. He showed the Chinese official and the members of his party, among other things, at that time the two big warships he is still at work upon for the Argentine Republic. He must have met with some encouraging success in his negotiations then and no doubt made his recent trip to that country to follow them up. If he eventually gets a contract, his friends are hoping a lot of the work will be done at his plant here, the Union Iron Works, thus causing a revival of good old times at that place. It is known that since the election of Rolph, Schwab feels more disposed than ever before during the past eight or nine years to throw more contracts for shipbuilding to the local works, supplying to the latter, in case of the construction of warships, the armor and guns from his Bethlehem, Pa., establishment.

By the way, Prince Suun on that visit to this country is said to have been taught the great American game of poker and to have become greatly fascinated with it. On the return to this port in the special train en route home, he spent much time dallying with two pairs, three of a kind, etc. The only story told him which convulsed him with laughter is said to have been a tale about a pig. A scholar had told her teacher one afternoon that her father intended to send him a pig as a present. A week passed by and no succulent pork in the making put in an appearance.

at the country pedagogue's humble abode. One day he made bold to say to Mary that the pig had not arrived yet.

"Oh, the pig got well," she blurted out.

The Miracle of the Tea

The miracle of the tea performed while you wait! Apparently a miracle that would compare in a lesser way with the feeding of the 5000 with three loaves and five little fishes has taken place right in our midst. But so little furor and fanfaron of trumpets has it created that it has fallen to the lot of this humble chronicler to follow in its wake, piping a pean of grateful praise and making a laudable endeavor to arouse an indifferent community to a realization of the benefits in store for it.

A lecture on Oriental rugs and rug-making was given the other day before the members of the California Club. T. H. Kullujian of Trebizond, Turkey, was the speaker, holding his audience with compelling interest, it is said, for almost an hour. Now for the real thing. One of the daily papers in its account of the meeting stated in part, "before the lecturer began his talk he took a teaspoonful of tea leaves, washed them in two waters, then placed them in a tea pot, with a small quantity of boiling water poured over them, kept them over a steaming kettle, and at the end of his lecture he had real tea, enough for 300 women, to offer his audience." Holy smoke! In these days of scarce money and high prices one would be rejoiced to learn what particular brand of tea Mr. Kullujian used with such pleasing results and where it can be obtained. Was it some rare and wonderful Oriental blend that, like the widow's cruse of oil, renewed itself continually, its strength remaining unimpaired until the last of the fair three hundred had been served? Or was it, as the skeptical declare, only an ordinary brand, which became attenuated so early in its career that the ladies failed to observe the precise moment when tea ended and hot Spring Valley in its crystallized purity began?

In the absence of definite information, one is forced to wonder how the Turkish rug and tea artist distributed this precious fluid; whether in homeopathic doses administered with a medicine dropper from the teapot and a liberal hand from the hot water pitcher, or if he trusted to the ladies' honor not to overdo the tea business? However, it seems a certainty that from an economic and peace-pervading standpoint the tea was a complete success and served as a shining exemplar of the truth of the old saying in regard to it:

"The cup that cheers but not inebriates."

"Certainly not, neighbor, certainly not," to quote Elbert Hubbard.

If Mr. Kullujian could only be induced to divert his extraordinary gifts into other channels of domestic science how many housewives would rise up and call him blessed. They had better not lose sight of him. Never before in this community has anything been drawn out to such a length as that one teaspoonful of tea leaves, unless there is excepted that recent performance of the Indian Ishi, who, in the telling of his story of "U tu Ne, the Wood Duck," into the phonograph, required fifty-two records.

Anna Held Liked It

Gaby Deslys' experience with Yale University students in a New Haven theater a few nights ago, when they rushed on to the stage to give her an unconventional but right hearty greeting and get a close look at the little French beauty that once upon a time was the fair magnet that drew Manuel of Portugal, recalled to a Yale alumnus of this city how in his college days about sixteen years ago the students greeted Anna Held on her first appearance in the town. Instead of getting frightened and indignant as Gaby is represented to have done, Anna, the chic, thrifty and adaptable little actress from La Belle France, enjoyed the rush the boys gave her on the stage. My informant was in the rush. During the performance the winsome French girl in her inimitable way sang the song:

"Oh Won't You Come and Play With Me?"

They did.

Having seen Yale beat Harvard at football that day, the students were ready for any kind of prank. They accepted the words of the song as a literal invitation. With one accord, they rushed on the stage and had a high-old time, Anna joining in the spirit of the occasion. After they had helped her sing the song, they resumed their seats and merrily the show ran on to its conclusion. It is not cause for surprise that this former Yale man, now married and loaded with responsible duties in business life, slyly winked the other eye when he heard members of his family criticize the Yale boys who rushed Gaby.

THE KNAVE.

JUVENILE COURT DEALS WITH MANY DELINQUENTS Little of Comedy Enters to Lighten the Pathos and Tragedy of Proceedings Before Judge Wells

The strength of Probation Officer Otto Snediger was tested Friday afternoon in the juvenile court when he sought to rescue two children from the custody of their alleged intemperate parents, who persistently refused to allow the court to place their progeny in institutions. The youngsters created a sensation in the courtroom in their attempt to return to their mother and father, who wept bitterly with protest. The parental love was marked and commented upon by Judge Wells, who said that he disliked to separate the little ones, but the home conditions and the habits of their elders compelled the court to find suitable quarters for the unfortunate offspring. Amid the protests and threats of the parents the children were led out of the court and taken by Snediger to the Detention Home on Ninth street.

In speaking of the case the officer stated that it was one of the most pathetic yet heard in the juvenile court of this city. Snediger said, "While I think that children are always better cared for in their own homes, I think in this case the environment would deprive the type of children. The parents are of dynamite. In the basement of the Boyer home in East Oakland, a 'rotting den' was maintained by the lad," said the detective, and he did not press that particular charge against the youth because he was accompanied by his guardian. Principal J. F. Chandler of the Franklin school stated that the boys had splendid records and their deportment was excellent. This was their first offense. Judge Wells did not make a charge upon the court books and continued the cases for several weeks in order to give the boys an opportunity to deliberate upon the advice which he gave them. With closed chambers, he warned them to remain home at night and obey their parents.

A SECOND OFFENDER. Oliver Huns, aged 15 years, who has already served in the boys' and girls' aid society of San Francisco for stealing a number of articles, confessed to the theft of a bicycle, which he painted and retired, thinking that the owner would not recognize the wheel. But the one who filed the charge against the youth appeared in court, and it was his property and it was returned to him by order of the court. In pronouncing sentence upon Oliver, Judge Wells stated that he needed severe discipline and committed him to the Preston school of industry at Lone until he reaches the age of 21 years. Louis Barnes, a 17-year-old devotee of the local poolrooms, was held into court by one of the police officers who testified that the boy could work, but didn't feel disposed to do so. Night and day he appeared among the older men in these resorts. Judge Wells ordered him to find employment and report once a week to Probation Officer Snediger. GIVEN ANOTHER CHANCE. Upton Gracie, who has been upon probation for a number of months, violated the rules of parole by becoming intoxicated, but Judge Wells extended leniency in his case, as he contributed to the support of his mother and the family. He was given another opportunity upon probation.

Noting that he would make "merry hell" for his wife while she was here, Frank Hengstler, a horsehoof of this city, who was ordered by the court to support his children, gave his reasons for having neglected to do so. He said that he had called a number of times at his former wife's home, but had never been successful in finding her at home. Judge Wells warned him that in the event that he failed to make the stipulated payment, he would be dealt with severely. He has had the custody of his 10-year-old girl, whom the court remanded to the care of the mother.

SAN ANTONIO TO CARE FOR RETIRED TEACHERS

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 25.—For the accumulation and management of a fund for the benefit and relief of retired and incapacitated white teachers of the public free schools of the city, the San Antonio Public Teachers' Retirement Association has been organized and incorporated under the charitable and benevolent associations clause of the Texas statutes. There is no capital stock. It is provided that the funds shall be obtained by voluntary contributions of members and others in accordance with by-laws hereafter to be adopted. Management of the association will be with a board of nine directors elected annually by the white teachers, contributing members.

FOWLS VALUED AT $1000 ARE SHOWN

The Trophies and Medals Are Awarded by Alameda Co. Exhibition.

The Oakland poultry show breaks all records as to the quality of fowls exhibited, four alone being valued at $1000 each. "Pet McClave," exhibited by W. S. Sullivan, is a beautiful Buff Orpington hen which won first in its class. Another valuable bird known as "Noonday," a Buff Orpington cockerel, is exhibited by the Twin Oaks farm of Livermore, W. H. Bissell owner; "Bettie," the White Orpington pullet, exhibited by the Oakland Orpington yards, W. T. Frost owner, is attracting considerable attention. The California Orpington yards has another and fourth of the record-breaking birds in a White Orpington cockerel which won highest honors. The grand trophy for best display in points was won by W. W. Hirsch. The grand trophy for largest exhibit was won by D. A. Cohen. The grand trophy for second largest exhibit was won by W. W. Hirsch. The grand challenge cup for best ten solid colored fowls was won by J. P. McDonough.

BEST WYANDOTTES.

Trophy for best display of Wyandottes was won by James Stanfield. The silver cup for best display of Rhode Island Reds was won by W. E. Gibson. Oakland Chamber of Commerce cup was won by W. H. Ingram and becomes his personal property. The Alameda Chamber of Commerce cup was won by C. J. Siegrist and becomes his property, it being the third time won by the same party. The Hayward Poultry Journal for best water fowl was won by Vincent G. Huntley.

GRAND SILVER MEDAL.

The American Poultry association grand prize silver medal was awarded to California Orpington yards on the first prize White Orpington cockerel. The California Orpington yard trophy for best Orpington cockerel exhibited by a novice was won by Baker & Doolin with a grand Black Orpington cockerel. The exhibition will remain open today, giving many an opportunity of studying the great display. The exhibition has proved interesting and instructive, as many persons are now making a livelihood from the feathered beauties. The exhibition, on account of its size, requires two large halls and is being held at 1230 Webster street, near Fourteenth.

GAMBLER FINED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Ah Sing, found guilty of keeping a gambling house at 10 Ross alley, was fined $100 in the police court today.

Whiskey and Pine for Colds

Fine Formula for Old Time Remedy Cured Thousands Here Last Winter.

The increased use of whiskey for colds is causing considerable discussion among the medical fraternity. It is an almost infallible cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. "From your druggist get two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Concentrated Pine Compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half-pint of good whiskey. Shake well and take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time." Smaller doses to children, according to age. Treatment often knocks the worst cold or cold in a day. But be sure to get only the genuine (Globe) Concentrated Pine. Each half-ounce bottle comes in a sealed tin screw-top case. If your druggist does not have it in stock he will quickly get it. Don't experiment with cheap uncertain mixtures. It is very risky. Local druggists say this has had a marvelous demand for the past six years.

Sore Feet

Here is quickest and surest cure known for corns, blisters, frostbites, sweaty and aching feet. "Two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in hot foot-bath gives instant relief, and if repeated daily for a short time, permanent cure results." Get a 25c box of this remarkable Calocide from any druggist or direct from Medical Formula laboratories of Chicago.

COME

to COSGRAVE'S OAKLAND STORE for your Xmas wants now, while the assortment is most complete. You are invited to make use of a

CHARGE ACCOUNT

Here is a very special value in

HEAVY SCOTCH TWEED COATS

$13.50

In the popular Browns—and high rolling collar

OTHERS TOO

High-grade reversible models, two-toned tans, browns, gray, coronation purple, etc., and many handsome mixtures

$16.50 and $20
WORTH $22.50 to $30.

SUITS

BLUE SERGE and MIXTURES

$19.75

for good value Blue Serge, made in New York custom style. Popular mixtures at $14.75, $19.75, $24.75

ELEGANT LINE FURS

In the wanted skins. Make use of charge account now and select Xmas Furs.

Buy Now FOR XMAS MAKE USE OF Charge Account

COSGRAVE'S

OAKLAND STORE 12th and Franklin Sts.

This King-Pin Blue Serge

$19.75

Fit Sure or Your Money Back;

Man Tailor to fit You if you choose and Use of Charge Account

ELEVATION OF PRELATES AROUSES ROME'S INTEREST

Eighteen Red Hats to Be Bestowed by the Pope at Majestic Ceremony of Catholic Church

PRELATES TO BE ELEVATED.

Mgr. S. M. Cos y Macho, Archbishop of Valladolid.

Mgr. Diomedo Falconio, Apostolic Delegate at Washington.

Mgr. A. Vico, Papal Nuncio at Madrid.

Mgr. J. Granito di Belmonte e Pignatelli.

The Most Reverend John M. Farley, Archbishop of New York.

The Most Reverend Francis Bourne, Archbishop of Westminster.

The Most Reverend Francis S. Bauer, Archbishop of Olmütz.

Mgr. L. A. Amiette, Archbishop of Paris.

The Most Reverend William H. O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston.

Mgr. F. V. Dubillard, Archbishop of Chambéry.

The Most Reverend Franz X. Nagel, Archbishop of Vienna.

Mgr. De Gabriers, Bishop of Montpellier, France.

Mgr. Bisleti, papal major domo.

Mgr. Lugari, assessor of the holy office.

Mgr. Pompili, secretary of the congregation council.

Mgr. Billot of the Jesuit order.

Mgr. Van Rossum, Redemptionist.

Mgr. Enrique de Almaraz, Archbishop of Seville.

ROME, Nov. 25.—Italian interest in the elevation of prelates from the Vatican today, and is centered in the elevation of prelates of the Catholic church now in Rome and the ceremonies that will elevate them to the dignity of cardinal. The ceremony is held in the Vatican on the occasion and homage is paid the visiting prelates by all.

The city is overrun with visitors from all over the continent and hundreds of American Catholics are on hand to witness the bestowal of the red hat on the three American cardinals, Falconio, Farley and O'Connell.

In centuries past a consistory attracted so much outside interest that the present one, owing to the large number of cardinals to be created, and the ceremonies, which will continue until November 30, promise to be the most imposing in the history of the church.

ITALIAN REJOICE.

The rejoicing of Americans over the appointment of three new American cardinals is echoed here by the thousands of Italians who journeyed to their native country when the first hint of war with Turkey spread over the United States. In fact, devout Italians generally are showing more interest in the American prelates than in those of their own blood. This is due to the fact that the elevation of the American cardinals is a sure sign of the spread of Catholicism in the United States.

Two distinct ceremonies will be performed when the red hat of the church receive their insignia of office. The first will be at the consistory, to be held Monday, when the cardinals are to be formally created and receive the red hat from the hands of the Pope. At this ceremony the Pope will ask the opinion of the Sacred College concerning the newly-named, and will then solemnly proclaim them cardinals in the name of the Holy Catholic church. The actual words used in this rite are:

"By the authority of the blessed Apostles Peter and Paul, and of our own, we create you cardinals of the Holy Roman Catholic church."

RED HAT PLACED.

The Pope will then place the red hat upon the newly-appointed, and say:

"Receive for the glory of Almighty God and the adornment of the Holy Apostolic See, the red hat, the sign of the unequalled dignity of the cardinalate, by which is declared that even to death by the shedding of thy blood thou shouldst show thyself intrepid for the faith, for the peace and tranquility of Christian people, and for the increase and prosperity of the Holy Roman church. In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen."

After the imposition of the red hat the Pope will slip upon the finger of each cardinal one of the distinctive ornaments of his rank, a gold ring engraved with the name of the cardinal, and the metal surface of the inside with the arms of the Pope bestowing the rank. The Pope will use these words in bestowing the ring:

"For the honor of Almighty God and of the Holy Apostles, Saints Peter and Paul, and of the blessed N. N. (naming the title), we commit into thee the church of... with its clergy, people and succursal chapels."

TO ANCIENT CHURCH.

Archbishop O'Connell will be assigned to the titular church of St. Calixtus, attached to the Benedictine monastery of that name. This church was held by the late Cardinal Nocella, who was created a cardinal by Pope Leo in 1903 at the last consistory. Cardinal Nocella died in 1908.

St. Calixtus is a very ancient church and stands near the Church of Santa Maria in Trastevere. It was built on the site of the house of a Roman soldier, who sheltered St. Calixtus in a time of persecution. The saint was carried away in a stone around his neck. In the year 740 Gregory III reconstructed the church, and in 1566 Pope Pius V gave it to the Benedictines.

The title of Archbishop Farley will be John Cardinal Farley of Santa Maria Sopra Minerva. This is the same title held by Cardinal McCloskey, and is one of the oldest churches in Rome. Each of the new cardinals makes a contribution to the Sacred Congregation for the propagation of the faith.

CEREMONY AT CATHEDRAL.

The second ceremony at St. Peter's Cathedral will equal, if not surpass, the first in pomp and splendor. It consists of the imposition of the red biretta, and zucchetto. Before the bestowal, however, there will be an imposing mass in the presence of the Pope, which will terminate with a sermon by some prominent preacher of the Roman Catholic faith.

The ceremonies will surpass in pomp and gorgeousness the consecration of the fourteen French bishops by Pius IX four years ago, and will set a record for the promotion of churchmen of recent times. It is also remarkable for its Catholic selection and the promotion of dignitaries from widely separated countries, giving the members of the Sacred College even more of an international representation than usual. Particularly noticeable in this respect, is the Pope's recognition of America, now held by many to be the real stronghold of the Catholic faith.

The creation of so many cardinals at one time, though made necessary by deaths in the Sacred College, is extraordinary, and has only been duplicated or surpassed in the middle ages. The largest number of cardinals created in the history of the church was during the life of Leo X, who is credited with the creation of thirty dignitaries—some historians hold there were thirty-one. At a still earlier period Boniface VIII created twenty-nine, all except three being Italians. From these high marks to the present time history shows that from time to time as many as fifteen to twenty red hats have made their appearance, and it is not for generations has the present number been duplicated.

AUTHORITY THE SAME.

The elevation of the American prelates to the office of cardinal will not increase their jurisdiction or authority in the United States, but it will give them a place among the advisors of the Pope in his task of ruling the whole church. Cardinals not residents in Rome attend very few of the consistories, however. They make the journey to Rome when a new Pope is to be elected, but aside from that their office is hardly more than an honorary one.

There are three orders of cardinals—the cardinal bishops, the cardinal priests and the cardinal deacons. Of the Catholic bishops there are never more than six—at present there are but five. The number of cardinal priests is fifty and the cardinal deacons fourteen, making a total of seventy.

These seventy princes of the church compose the Sacred College, or College of Cardinals—a body ruling over 200,000,000 Catholics throughout Christendom, and one of the most conservative legislative bodies in the world. The Sacred College settles all questions, civil and ecclesiastical, that arise among Catholics in over fifty different countries. Extreme cautions also mark this body's deliberations. It is sometimes years, sometimes decades, and even centuries, before its mandate is delivered.

NOT ALWAYS IN SESSION.

The Sacred College is not always in session. The majority of its members reside elsewhere than in Rome. Those who make their home in Rome, however, and who invariably compose the six cardinal bishops, have charge of the various departments of the central Pontifical administration, which is known as the Curia.

Since it became known that eighteen new cardinals were to be invested with the red hat there has been considerable talk among American Catholics both here and in the United States over the possibility of an American cardinal being raised to the Chair of St. Peter at the next conclave. There is, however, not the remotest possibility of an American Pope occupying the throne according to the best informed authorities.

Such a move would be in violation of a species of century-old myth or unwritten law which says that the Pope cannot be an Italian, in the very center of the national capital, of a prelate of alien birth, belonging to some nation that might or might not at any moment be hostile to Italy and yet who as Pope would have to rule over an extremely numerous Catholic Italian clergy to influence an immense portion of the Italian electorate.

CLEARING HOUSE STATEMENT MADE

The Banks Hold $9,375,950 Reserve in Excess of the Requirement.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The statement of clearing-house banks for the week shows that banks held $9,375,950 in excess of the legal requirements. This is a decrease of $8,705,250 in the proportionate cash reserve, as compared with last week.

The statement follows:

DAILY AVERAGE.

Loans, $1,010,103,000; decrease, $5,663,000.

Loans, $32,720,000; decrease, $2,000,000.

Legal tenders, $81,970,000; decrease, $901,000.

Notes, deposits, $1,708,025,000; decrease, $18,720,000.

Circulation, $50,058,000; increase, $42,000.

Banks' cash reserve, $547,723,000.

Trust companies' cash reserve in vault, $62,974,000.

Aggregate cash reserve, $410,701,000.

Excess lawful reserve, $9,375,950; decrease, $8,705,250.

Trust companies' reserve with clearing-house members carrying 25 per cent cash reserve, $66,820,000.

ACTUAL CONDITIONS.

Loans, $1,008,277,000; decrease, $12,810,000.

Loans, $32,720,000; decrease, $2,000,000.

Legal tenders, $82,960,000; decrease, $500,000.

Notes, deposits, $1,700,742,000; decrease, $693,000.

Circulation, $50,804,000; increase, $214,000.

Banks' cash reserve in vault, $548,633,000.

Trust companies' cash reserve in vault, $61,623,000.

Aggregate cash reserve, $408,130,000.

Excess lawful reserve, $9,072,300; decrease, $1,450,550.

Trust companies' reserve with clearing-house members carrying 25 per cent cash reserve, $64,912,000.

Summary of state banks and trust companies in Greater New York not reporting to the New York Clearing House:

Loans, $501,379,100; increase, $5,117,400.

Loans, $32,385,700; increase, $26,400.

Legal tenders, $10,088,000; increase, $116,300.

Total deposits, $877,881,100; increase, $4,798,000.

HIGH POWER WIRELESS PLANT NEARLY READY

MARE ISLAND, Nov. 25.—The new high power wireless plant at Table Bluff is expected to be in operation within two weeks, according to the announcement of the United States Navy. The plant, which will be the largest of its kind in the world, is being constructed by the Navy Department and will be ready for service by the end of the month.

NEW PROCESS IS FOUND OF PREPARING RAISINS

FRESNO, Nov. 25.—The discovery of a new process of preparing seeded raisins before Christmas, eliminating labor and substituting machinery, is announced by the local raisin corporation. The new process prevents the berries "gumming" before being placed in cartons.

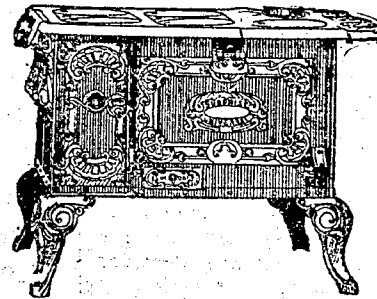

14TH BET CLAY & WASHINGTON

BUSEY-MIHAN

Phone Rental Dept. A-4571

$17.50

Set Up With Stove Pipe

$1.00

Down $1.00 a Week

SURPRISE UNIVERSAL

The Surprise Universal is only one of the long line of Universal Stoves to be seen in our Stove Department. It's an inexpensive, reliable, guaranteed stove that is a surprise to any woman who uses it. It don't seem possible to sell a stove that does the work so perfectly for so low a price. But it's guaranteed and will do the work right. Easy terms, too.

Have You Seen the SOUTH BEND MALLEABLE RANGE With the Fifteen Year Guarantee

Are you one of the fourteen who bought one Saturday? Have you seen the wall construction, the fire back, the hand-riveted braces and many other simple but superior points? $5.00 down, $1.00 per week puts one in the home.

Have We Reserved a Royal Rest Chair for You

There have been quite a number reserved of these Rest Chairs for Christmas by paying $1.00 down. You can do the same, and nothing could make a more grateful gift. Make our store your gift store. Goods delivered promptly.

Room-size Rugs in a good quality of tapestry Brussels, full 9x10.6 in size. A Rug that would be priced in most stores at $15, but our low price on easy terms, only $9.75.

14TH BET CLAY & WASHINGTON

BUSEY-MIHAN

Lowest Prices in California All the Credit You Want.

GOVERNOR NAMES STATE DELEGATES

Fifteen Californians Appointed to Attend National Irrigation Congress.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 25.—Fifteen Californians were named today by Governor Johnson as delegates from this state to the National Irrigation Congress, to convene in Chicago, December 5th, as follows: L. W. Fulkerth, Modesto; H. A. Charters, Tulare; Lewis Gundelfinger and J. E. Dickinson, Fresno; Oline Bull, Marysville; U. W. Brown, Colusa; E. L. Whitcomb, Yuba; William E. Bunker, Gustine; Colonel Edward Fletcher, San Diego; Professor Charles H. Paine, San Bernardino; H. L. Carnahan and S. C. Evans, both of Riverside, and F. H. Goule, San Francisco.

AWAKENS TO FIND COIN AND ROOM-MATE GONE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Joseph Perry, who lives at the Pioneer house, 143 Third street, awoke this morning to find his roommate missing and with him $70 in money. Perry retired early last night and at 2:30 a. m. was startled from sleep by the consciousness that something had happened. He discovered that his companion had packed his grip, gone through his pockets and left.

BARBARIANS AND NAVY TEAMS TO CONTEST

MARE ISLAND, Nov. 25.—In order to interest sport followers of Mare Island and to give the Navy football team a game between the two Barbarians of San Francisco and a team composed of a number of marines here, the game to be played on Thanksgiving day. The game will be played at Association Park, and has been put off by the weather through the swiftest kind of practice all week to be in shape for the game.

Drunkards Saved Secretly

Any Lady May Do It at Home—Costs Nothing to Try.

Every Woman in the World May Save Some Drunkard. At last, drunk no more, no more. A treatment that is tasteless and odorless, safe, absolutely so; heartily endorsed by temperance workers; can be given secretly by any lady in tea, coffee or food; effective in its silent work—the craving for liquor relieved in thousands of cases without the drinker's knowledge, and against his will. Will you try such a remedy if you can prove its effect, free to you? Then send the coupon below for a free trial package today.

Free Trial Package Coupon

Dr. J. W. Haines Company, 1601 Glenview Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio. Please send me, absolutely free, by return mail, in plain wrapper, so that no one can know what it contains, a trial package of Golden Bready to prove that what you claim for it is true in every respect.

Name.....

Street.....

City.....

State.....

FUR TIME

Style tendency shows that Furs are the "fashion" more than ever. There's so much deception in Furs that it requires a good judge of skins not to be "taken in." We consider our customers' confidence as a treasured asset. "Reliability" is of prime importance. We will "put you right!"

400 Styles in Sets or Single Pieces
$5.00 to $300.00

Fur-lined, Fur-trimmed, Russian Pony, French Coney, Seal, Mink, Seal-ette, Plush Coats
$25 to $175

Friedman's
516 TWELFTH ST.,
Bet. Washington and Clay.

YOU WILL ALWAYS REMEMBER YOUR TRIP EAST

IF YOU TRAVEL THE FEATHER RIVER ROUTE VIA THE WESTERN PACIFIC

COMFORT—SERVICE—SCENERY—SUPREME TRAINS—EASY GRADE

For Full Information Apply to Any Western Pacific Agent or

W. B. TOWNSEND, D. F. & P. A.
1168 BROADWAY, OAKLAND.

Phones—Oakland 132, A-2228.

Depot—Third and Washington Streets. Phones—Oakland 574, A-2227.

OAKLAND TRIBUNE, Oakland's greatest evening newspaper, assures its advertisers that the circulation of this paper reaches every day over 200,000 readers.

MANY ATTEND S. P. LECTURE COURSE

Company Is Doing Missionary Work for State at Chicago Land Show.

Word has been received by the Southern Pacific publicity department that its exhibit at the Chicago Land Show, which opened in Chicago on November 18th, had attracted nearly 44,000 people to listen to the lectures given on the country through which it operates, during the first six days of the show and that the attendance was increasing daily. During those six days the special lecturers in charge of the exhibit delivered 100 lectures, which have been listened to by more than 50 per cent of the people who have attended the Land Show, according to the estimates of the show management.

The Southern and Union Pacific systems together arranged for the show rooms and exhibit, and have made the lecture rooms headquarters for a number of important Land Show gatherings, notably for the California, Kansas and Washington Day celebrations.

ACCUSED PROMOTER TO GO EAST BY HIMSELF

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Frank Avery, the Kansas City promoter, indicted for fraudulent use of the mails, consented in the United States district court this morning to go East on his own account for trial. Avery was arrested here and released on $3000 bail. When he appeared before Commissioner Krull it was agreed that he must go back to Missouri, and with the consent of District Attorney McKim he was allowed to furnish a bond of $5000. The arrangement will be confirmed on Monday and the defendant, without guard, will proceed to face a court of law accusing him of penal offense.

"Our Personal Guarantee to All Skin Sufferers"

Owl Drug Co.

We have been in business in this town for some time, and we are looking to build up trade by always advising our patrons right. So when we tell you that we have found the eczema remedy and that we stand back of the manufacturer's iron clad guarantee, backed by ourselves, you can depend upon it that we give our advice not in order to sell a few bottles of medicine to skin sufferers, but because we know how it will help our business if we help our patrons.

We keep in stock and sell all the well-known skin remedies. But we will say this: If you are suffering from any kind of skin trouble—eczema, psoriasis, rash or better, we want you to try a full-size bottle of D. D. D. Prescription. And if it does not do the work, this bottle will cost you nothing. You alone to judge.

MONSTER OF SEA PURSUES VESSEL

Flees in Disgust When It Fails to Force Ship Into Fight.

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 25.—An unknown monster of the deep, forty feet in length, copper colored and with a head over fifteen feet in width, for four days and nights played tag with the fishing schooner Mendocino and when the schooner failed to respond vainly tried to push it out of the sea. The fish appeared the second day out, coming to the surface about a half mile astern of the Mendocino and all of the day it could be seen leisurely trailing the vessel, rolling over and disporting itself as it kept pace with the ship.

For three days the fish kept astern of the vessel, when it decided to perfect a closer acquaintance. Putting on speed it came abreast of the ship and started some antics which caused no little concern aboard the ship. Running alongside it would scrap itself against the side of the vessel, scot ahead and then roll and lay on its back until the vessel caught up. Then it would dive under the vessel or swim around it as if in play.

Evidently the fish became disgusted over the failure of the vessel to play and planned a fight. The watching sailors suddenly saw the fish, sweeping leisurely astern, suddenly disappear. A minute later the vessel shook from stem to stern as though hitting a rock. It keeled a little, but righted itself. The fish came to view at its side. Diving again, it jammed its blunt nose on the bottom of the vessel, the result being only a tremor.

Failing to make the vessel play or fight, the fish rose to the surface and with a mighty slap of its tail on the water, sank from view. A few moments later it was sighted a mile astern, swimming from the ship. That was the last seen of it.

Again and again we have seen how a few drops of this simple wash applied to the skin takes away the itch instantly. And cures all seem to be permanent.

D. D. D. Prescription, made by the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago, is composed of thymol, glycerine, oil of wintergreen and other healing, soothing, cooling ingredients. And if you are just crazy with itch you will feel soothed and cooled, the itch absolutely washed away the moment you applied this D. D. D.

We have made fast friends of more than one family by recommending this remedy to a skin sufferer here and there and we want you to try it now on our positive no-pay guarantee.

Owl Drug Co., 15th and Broadway, 10th and Washington, 15th and San Pablo avenue.

Soup-Bones and the Christmas Spirit.

About this time each year men begin to give freer play to their social instincts. A tide of exhilaration warms and colors their emotions and tempers with kindness and goodwill the lens through which others are viewed. There is an added heartiness in the handshake and a friendlier and sincerer interest in the mutual inquiries acquaintances make regarding the health of each other and their families and as to how business affairs are going. A frank smile goes with every nod. Men who ordinarily pass each other with a cold nod or a curt, monosyllabic greeting stop to chat and exchange felicitations or perchance to recall some pleasant incident in the past. Sentiment grows generous and charitable, and effusive. There is an expansion about the region of the heart which revives old memories and sponges out the animosities and frictions caused by the competitive stir and cross-purposes of daily life.

It is the Christmas spirit. It comes into the soul like a warm current into a chilled room. It warms the heart and freshens our interest in one another. We remember to be neighborly and forget to be snobbish. We suddenly awake to the sorrow we ought to feel that there are want, grief and unhappiness in the world. We feel an inclination to help somebody or do something that will ease somebody's pain and soothe somebody's sorrow; we feel good and long to do something that will make others think we are good. Our benevolent intentions usually fall short in performance, but still we feel them and rejoice.

But we are not all so governed by habit and bent of mind as the thrifty philanthropist who decided in an expansive moment to send a turkey to every poor family in town, but after thinking it over (and studying the price of turkeys and the number of poor families) compromised by sending a soup bone to the parsonage. Even the man who did that felt the Christmas spirit for a little while. It touched his heart but short-circuited before it reached his pocket. Nevertheless it brought a warm glow momentarily to a frosty heart. Even where there is only a soup-bone performance to offset a coop-of-turkeys intention, there will be less paving for Satan's kitchen. That man has a soup-bone chance of entering the kingdom of heaven.

But if the Christmas season brings out the generous qualities of men, it also has the effect of developing the crabbed meanness of some natures. It shows how small, narrow and shabby some men can be. For example, it dragged into the arena of popular contempt the San Francisco man who wrote a letter to the Board of Supervisors protesting against giving the inmates of the infirmary a turkey dinner. He was moved to protest, as he said, because there were so many people outside the infirmary who are too poor to enjoy a turkey dinner. He deemed it unjust to give the infirmary inmates a turkey dinner unless everybody on the outside could have one, too.

There's logic and benevolence for you. The benefactor with a soup-bone is a prince of good fellows compared to this chap. His heart at least could feel the throb of human sympathy, but the man who protested against giving the unfortunates in the infirmary a taste of turkey on Christmas (or was it Thanksgiving Day?) has his generosity so widely distributed that none shall feel its warmth. He wants the companionship of misery to be as large as possible. There is not even a soup-bone in his heart for the poor. He would deny some because there are others who must go without. Yet they say God made man in His own image. There is no account in the sacred books, however, that he bartered himself. But how came this thing with a dried-pea heart and the understanding of a gnat?

Only the exuberance of the holiday season brought him out. It gave him offense evidently. His light is not hidden under a bushel nor his benevolence confined in some pent-up Utica. He exposes to public view a harrowing case of heart-constriction. His conscience would scorn a soup-bone concession to the spirit of Christmas. He would not feed a fire-dog if it was hungry—there might be other dogs wanting something to eat.

Still the vast majority of men will rejoice that the Christmas season has come again, and that some, if not all, will enjoy making others happy, and enjoy in their turn the happiness of having contributed something—if only a soup-bone—toward the comfort and pleasure of those less fortunately situated than themselves. In that feeling is the keenest and purest satisfaction and the strongest bond of sympathy between men and their fellows. It springs from the consciousness and self-approval of a soul that has responded to the natural appeal of kinship and the voice of conscience. "What you have done unto the least of these ye have done also unto me."

While taking it easy in Europe General Diaz can contemplate with cynical philosophy the insurrections Madero has on his hands. Already half a dozen are in progress and the number is steadily increasing. The measures our government is taking to guard the frontier do not indicate confidence in Madero's ability to restore order at an early date.

The Recall and Women Jurors.

An angry woman in Marin county threatens to have Attorney General Webb recalled for expressing the opinion that women are not qualified to sit on juries as the law now stands. General Webb says the amendment giving women the ballot did not change the legal qualifications required in jurors.

Of course the threat to invoke the recall in this case is foolish and puerile, but it illustrates the prevailing confusion of ideas with respect to the duties and responsibilities of public officials. This incensed suffragette proposes to punish the Attorney-General by removal from office for doing precisely what his oath requires him to do. The Attorney-General does not make the law. It is his duty to ascertain what the law is and to instruct the other officers of the State government as to their powers, and duties and responsibilities under the law. For stating what is unquestionably the law he is charged with doing an injustice, to women.

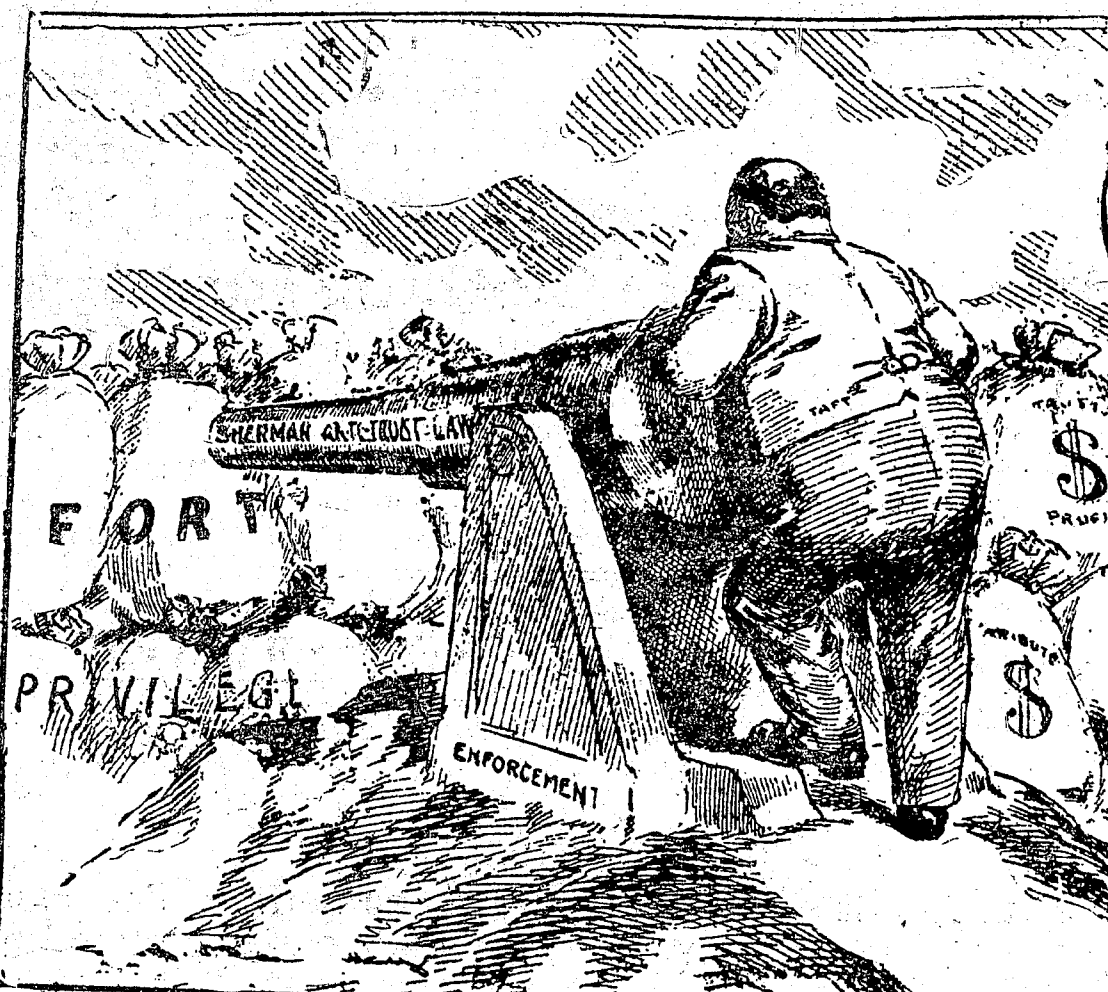

If women are qualified to sit on juries now they were qualified for jury duty before the suffrage amendment was adopted. The new clause added to the constitution contains no reference to the qualifications of jurors. It simply gives women the right to vote, but the right to vote does not carry with it an obligation to render jury service.

Now jury duty is not a right or a privilege, but a service which the State exacts. It is in the same category with military service. The law grants special exemptions from jury duty on the theory that it is a compulsory service, and that relief from it is in the nature of a favor.

The law plainly says juries shall be composed of men whose names appear on the assessment rolls as taxpayers. A non-taxpayer, although he be a man and a voter, is not qualified to sit on juries.

If women desire to do jury duty they must get the law amended by the Legislature. The Attorney-General cannot amend it, and it is foolish to talk of recalling him for giving an opinion to the effect that the law means what it says. He cannot qualify women for jury duty by giving an erroneous opinion. The law is not changed by falsifying it. However, the Marin suffragette is expressive of a very noisy class. She wants what she wants when she wants it, and she regards the recall as an implement, a club or a missile with which to maul officials into giving her what she wants. She is just as ready to recall an officer for doing his duty as to recall one who fails in it. Her idea is that the law is what any judge or official may choose to say it is.

TRAINING THE BIG GUN

NEW YORK WORLD.

MEN AND WOMEN

Here is a story that comes by word of mouth from a traveling man, whose veracity is only exceeded by his versatility:

"One day last summer," he said, "I was supporting a cigar Indian at a downtown corner in St. Louis. On that particular street the summer cars are sometimes of the coffee grinder, single truck model type of 1912. There were a number of shirt and shoe factories near the corner. It was about the closing hour and I noticed two girls step up to the corner and scan the car tracks.

"She ought to be along pretty soon, Gerty," said one.

"Uh huh," said Gerty. "Just then an open car came pumping along. One girl stepped out and read the number."

"No, that's not her," she said.

"The same performance was followed with three or four cars until one came into view that brought a smile from Gerty and her friend."

"No. 3127," said Gerty. "She's the one."

"The girls flagged the car."

"Fourth seat back, on the end," commanded Gerty.

"On they got," said the salesman, watching the effect this tale was having.

"On they got, and Gerty, reaching under the seat, dislodged something. It was a wad of chewing gum. And I was near enough to see it, too."—Indianapolis News.

"Last winter during a social function in Washington," says Mr. Kennard, counselor of the British Embassy, "I overheard a remark on the part of a young clubman there, the tact of which indicates that the youth in question should immediately adopt diplomacy as his life work."

"He had been asked by a widow to guess her age. He hesitated. 'You must have some idea about it,' she said, with what was intended as an arch glance."

"I have several ideas," the young man admitted with a smile. "The only trouble is, that I hesitate whether to make you ten years younger on account of your looks, or ten years older on account of your brains."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Lord Rosebery excused himself from making a long speech at a celebration of the quincentenary of St. Andrew's University, held recently in Dundee, by mentioning the fact that he had just listened to between 80 and 100 speeches, and repeating a story told to him by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman during a former visit to the city.

"Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said to me: 'Did you ever hear the story of the old minister and the young minister?'" stated Lord Rosebery.

"I said, 'No.' He said:

"There was a young minister who thought he was very eloquent, and who was very ambitious. The young minister asked the old minister to come and hear him preach, and he preached a magnificent sermon. When they returned to the vestry he waited expectantly for some compliment from the old minister, which did not come. The old minister sat, with beetling brows, looking at him—those beetling brows for which Dundee and its neighborhood are famous. At last the old minister did break the silence and said: 'Ah, mon, ye must be a proud mon the day to hae got rid of a' that weary, windy, wasteful trash aft yer stomach.'"—London Express.

THE REAL TEST.

Gus Sikes—I wish I knew how to tell whether Sadie likes me.

Lew Todd—That's easy. Tell her you're goin' to jump off the barn in a home-made flying machine and see if she looks worried.—Chicago News.

THE DEATH OF TONY

Tony was a St. Louis dog that bit a lady on the left knee. His motive in biting has not been made evident. It may have been a bit of playfulness, such as dogs—even brindle bulls—sometimes indulge in. Or it may have been an earnest nip, brought about through a process of canine reasoning that seemingly afforded full justification. For dogs, like humans, sometimes feel that they have had the worst of it and resent an injury to the extent of mild retaliation.

But Tony's motives had no place in subsequent tragic events. He was haled before the myrmidons of the law, tried, convicted and sentenced to death. When asked to give reason why the extreme penalty should not be exacted in his case, he wagged his tail. He probably did not catch the full import of the question. He was then called upon to shake hands with his executioner. This he understood. Many times had he shaken hands with men and women and little children. He remembered that full well. Also that apparently made them happy, for they always ended by patting him on the head and calling him "good doggy." So he shook hands with the marshal. This was a good omen. He shook hands and smiled dog fashion and wagged his tail once more, as dogs do when they feel that "things are going right." Then the marshal took him down the alley and shot him.

Quida, the novelist, in her private life, was a more or less frivolous person, as some take measure, and she kept a houseful of dogs up to her last days.

which were spent in poverty and want. She also wrote a simple story called "The Dog of Flanders," which many people call touching and a classic. The good Scotch surgeon told also of Rab and his friends, and Senator Vest once pleaded successfully in a suit involving the death of a dog, in which the words used were very simple and the sentences very short, but somehow they brought tears to the eyes. And there are people almost everywhere who love dogs, and who will be very likely to feel that poor Tony met a dog's death in the worst sense that the term stands for. They will be inclined to wonder whether, after all, considering his genealogy and raising and comparative ignorance of moral questions, he really got a square deal.

From all that can be ascertained, the lady that was bitten is getting on quite nicely. But Tony—his gone where the bad dogs go.—Boston Globe.

OUT OF POCKET.

He was a rather overressed youth and attracted much attention when he entered the car. He occupied the only vacant seat beside a rather elderly gentleman. When the conductor came for his fare he fumbled for his money and then suddenly became very pale.

"Oh, I've been robbed," he gasped. There is nothing but a bit of old cigar in my pocket."

"My boy," said the deep bass voice of the man by his side, "would you mind taking your hand out of my pocket?"—Ideas.

20 YEARS AGO IN OAKLAND

Mayor Chapman's views regarding the working of prisoners on the public streets show him to be level-headed as well as humane.

The pupils are very busy rehearsing for the tableaux from "The Lady of the Lake," to be given for the benefit of the High School library and reading-room on the evenings of December 16 and 17. Miss Lombard has charge of the details and the rehearsals show that much progress has been made.

The board of school directors will meet in regular session this evening. They will probably be in a position to report on their plan for expending the bond money.

The North Berkeley Tennis Club met last Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kelsey on Channing way in honor of the second anniversary of the young couple's wedding.

Joseph Knowland, the San Francisco lumber merchant, residing in Alameda, has presented the new Wilson school with a flagpole and flag, and also a beautiful weather vane.

The directors of the El Encino Blue Gravel Mining Company met yesterday afternoon and elected the following officers: President, Mayor M. C. Chapman; vice-president, William MacDonald; secretary, E. S. Culver; superintendent, Ed Rigney; treasurer, Union National Bank.

The subscriptions toward the improvements in the new postoffice are still about $200 short of the required amount, but it is hoped that the balance will soon be forthcoming.

Last Saturday evening's debate by the East Oakland Debating Society, which was one of two and a half hours' duration, was on "Single Tax" and was opened by A. J. Grogg, who opened the resolution that all public revenues can and should be raised by a single tax on land values.

For 30 Days Mackay's 10% Discount From All Regular Prices

SPECIAL $4.60

This large, roomy Arm Rocker is in solid fumed oak with saddle seat. A strictly mission design.

Arm Chair to match, $4.25

Our New Department

Mackay's is now the home of the "St. Clair" and "Early Meal" Ranges. We have just opened the Stove Department and will make it second to none in the bay region. Steel Ranges, with Warming Closets, $30 up. Cast Ranges, $25 up. 10% discount for 30 days on Stoves.

Furniture -- Carpets -- Stoves

We are going to open 2,000 new credit accounts on our books during the NEXT 30 DAYS---between now and Christmas As an inducement to you we will give a DISCOUNT OF 10% on our regular prices, which are already less than others ask for cash. Remember --- this discount is in addition to our SMALL PAYMENT TERMS

Furthermore, we have selected more than 500 pieces of Furniture and marked them at SPECIAL PRICES --- almost one-half the regular prices.

This is an opportune sale. Get that Xmas gift and SAVE MONEY.

The Dining Room

These illustrate the scores of Thanksgiving bargains:

Extension Tables

Golden Oak, 8 ft. 46-in. top; reg. $35.50—Special $19.50
Quartered Oak, 8 ft. 45-in. top; reg. $28.00—Special $18.50
Quartered Oak, 6 ft. 42-in. top; reg. $26.00—Special $17.50
Quartered Oak, 6 ft. 45-in. top; reg. $33.50—Special $21.00
Fumed Oak, 6 ft. 42-in. top; reg. $24.00—Special $17.50
Fumed Oak, 6 ft. 42-in. top; reg. $25.00—Special $18.00
Fumed Oak, 6 ft. 45x54-in. top; reg. $41.00—Special $31.00
Fumed Oak, 10 ft. 52-in. top; reg. $48.00—Special $36.50

Dining Chairs

Fumed Oak Chair, leather seat; reg. $4.25—Special $3.15
Fumed Oak Chair, cane seat; reg. $5.50—Special $3.75
Arm Chair to match; reg. $8.50—Special $6.00
Golden Oak Chair, cane seat; reg. $5.50—Special $3.75
Arm Chair to match; reg. $10.00—Special $8.00
Golden Oak Chair, saddle seat; reg. $4.75—Special $3.25
Many styles. Specials also in Buffets.

Christmas Gifts

We have scores of pieces--both useful and tasteful---the prices are very low, yet the values are big. Furniture gifts are ideal; they last many years after the day of giving. Select now before the busy shopping days. We will set it aside to deliver at your order.

SPECIAL $3.75

This exquisite Parlor Table is in quarter-sawn golden oak, highly polished, round top with holly leaf below. Double top and stocky legs.

SPECIAL $17.50

This is without doubt one of the neatest designs among the 90 patterns in our display of Dining Tables. This table is of quarter-sawn oak, beautifully flaked. Best of workmanship. The table stands firmly because it has the weight and spread of feet. Either in golden oak or fumed oak.

Elastic Felt Mattress, Special $9

We are offering a splendid, luxurious, downy Mattress, made to last for a lifetime. Covered in best Amoskeag tick and full size. Will never need to be made over and will always hold its shape. Most dealers ask more, but we ask only $9 for this Mattress.

GENEROUS
CREDIT
TERMS

Mackay's

WEEKLY AND MONTHLY PAYMENTS

415-424 FOURTEENTH ST. OAKLAND, CALIF. CORNER OF THE AVE.

COMMERCIAL BODY IN SAN FRANCISCO IN 1915

Col. H. D. Loveland Returns
From East and Tells of Year's Session.

6000 ATTENDED EACH
SESSION OF CONGRESS

Majority of Delegates Were Boosting for the Panama-
Pacific Exposition.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Colonel H. D. Loveland, member of the State Railroad Commission, returned from the east today, where he represented the State of California, the California Development Board, the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, and the San Francisco Convention League at the twenty-second annual session of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress, which was held at Kansas City, Mo., November 14th to 17th.

He reported to all these bodies that the attendance at the congress was very good, some days as many as 6000 persons being in the hall. The interest was earnest and sustained. California, he said, did not have as large a delegation as has attended former gatherings, but this state never was represented by a more active set of workers.

WORE POPPY BADGES.
The evening of the first day the Californians arrived, the majority of the delegates were wearing the ribbons and poppy badges supplied by the publicity committee of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. F. E. Howard of San Francisco and G. E. Howard of Oakland deserved special praise, he said, for their work.

Colonel Loveland invited the congress to meet in San Francisco during 1915.

"After careful consideration," he reported, "our delegates were unanimously of the opinion that as Seattle was making a strong effort to be endorsed for 1915, while we knew we could have secured the adoption of a resolution favoring San Francisco, it would have been unwise to do so at this session could not bind future congresses and feeling might have been engendered. So both California and Washington presented invitations for 1915, but believe me, there is no doubt where it will be held."

The next session will be held in Salt Lake City.

TO SEND SCHOOL BOYS ON TOUR

Educational League of Oakland to Raise $3000 for Proposed Work.

The Boys' Educational League of Oakland will launch a one-week campaign tomorrow for the purpose of raising $500 for preliminary work.

The league will start active work immediately arranging the tour of the United States for Oakland High School boys, and while it plans to raise $3000 by entertainments, private donations, etc., it has been found necessary to have an immediate working fund. A book descriptive of Oakland will also be published, which will yield part of the money. Several donations have been promised and an appeal will be made to the local merchants to aid in the work of raising the fund.

The league was formed for advancing several projects along educational lines, the principal one of which will be to send a number of Oakland High School boys on a tour of the United States. The boys will be selected by a scholarship competition, to be arranged by the board of education in the near future. The trip will be taken next summer during vacation.

The most talented of the boys passing the scholarship standard will give entertainments en route, and it is probable that a basketball team will also be taken. The directors of the Boys' Educational League are:

Charles L. Weaver, supervisor of Bushrod playground; John Forrest, commissioner of revenue and finance; H. G. Lowry, sporting editor OAKLAND TRIBUNE; George S. Meredith, cashier Farmers and Merchants Savings Bank of Oakland, and L. B. Gross. The officers are: Charles L. Weaver, president; L. B. Gross, secretary; George S. Meredith, treasurer.

Any citizen of Oakland may assist in the work of the league by the payment of $5, the dues for one year, in advance. Secretary Gross has temporary headquarters at his residence, 819 Sixty-first street, between Shattuck and Dover; phone Home H6950.

CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The topic for the morning service tomorrow at the Fifteenth Avenue Methodist church will be "Christian Fellowship," and the evening subject, "What Ailed That Young Man?"

LUTHERAN SERVICES.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Rev. W. E. Crouser, the pastor, will preach in the First English Lutheran church, Geary street, near Octavia, tomorrow at 10 o'clock on "God's Remedy for Spiritual and National Weaknesses."

Have You Tried This?

Simple Prescription Said to Work Wonders for Rheumatism.

This has been well known to the best doctors for years as the quickest and most reliable cure obtainable for rheumatism and backache. It has been published here for several winters and hundreds of the afflicted have been cured by it in a short time. "From your drugist get one ounce of Toris compound (in original sealed package) and one ounce of Syrup of Sassafras compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half-pint of good whiskey. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bedtime." Results come the first day. If your drugist does not have Toris Compound in stock he will get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. Don't be influenced to take some patent medicine instead of this; insist on having the genuine Toris Compound in the original one-ounce sealed yellow package.

NAVY OFFICER DEFENDS SUIT

Captain Puck Says Wife's Charges of Cruelty Are Without Foundation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Captain Richard F. S. Puck, chief pharmacist, N. S. N., now stationed at the Bremerton navy yard, today filed answer in the Superior Court to the secret file divorce action of his wife, made of record a week ago. He alleges that Mrs. Idaline Puck, who before her marriage at Hongkong less than two years ago was Miss Ida-line Bennell, a popular society girl of San Francisco, is mistaken when she says he abused her.

Captain Puck says that her recital of being hurled out of their stateroom aboard a transport while returning to the United States last May, and falling to the deck on her face, is not correct, and that he did not commit the act of violence of which she accuses him.

Other than denying the allegations of cruelty set forth by the wife, Captain Puck makes no petition for legal separation himself, and offers no objection to his wife being permitted to resume her maiden name if the decree is granted to her.

SERVICES AT ST. MARY'S.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Services tomorrow at the Church of St. Mary the Virgin (Episcopal), Union and Steiner streets, will be as follows: 8 a. m., mass; 9:45 a. m., Sunday school; 11 a. m., choral mass with sermon; 3 p. m., evensong with address by Father Perzin.

MOTORCYCLIST RUNS DOWN BOY

Breaks Child's Knee, Gives Him a Nickel and Rides
Away.

"Don't cry like that, sonny," said an unknown boy as he jumped from his motorcycle and pressed a nickel into the hand of little John Hansen after running down the child on the sidewalk in Twelfth street near Market at noon yesterday. John Hansen is the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hansen, 1100 Brush street. He was on his way home from the German school at Twelfth and Myrtle streets with his brother and several playmates, when, without warning, the motorcycle was upon the children. In the rush for safety the child was struck by the rapid sidewalk rider and was thrown prostrate. Hearing his pitiful sobs, the rider, a boy of about 14 years, dismounted, pressed a nickel into the little hand and after entreating the child to stop crying again went on his way, still on the sidewalk.

The little fellow tried to be a Spartan, but the tears kept coming all the afternoon and through the night. Dr. W. E. Chambers was called and he found that the boy had a bad compound fracture of the knee. An X-ray examination will be necessary.

UNION SERVICES.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The congregations of the churches of Dr. Aked and Rabbi Martin A. Meyer will hold a joint Thanksgiving service on Thursday next at 11 a. m. in Temple Emanuel-EI. Dr. Meyer will conduct the devotional exercises. The sermon, which will be preached by Dr. Aked, will be on "The Gospel of the Smiths."

Portland	Los Angeles
S. S. Rose City Sails 12 noon Tomorrow Nov. 27 First Class $10.50 2d Class $6.00	S. S. Beaver Sails 11 a. m. Tuesday, Nov. 28 First Class $8.35 2d Class $5.35
BIG 3 BEAR ROSE CITY Berths and Meals Included. SAN FRANCISCO & PORTLAND R. S. CO. A. OTTINGER, General Agent TICKET OFFICE 712 MARKET ST. Opp. Call Bldg. Phone Sutter 2344 6 East St., opp. Ferry Bldg. Phone Sutter 2402.
ADD THE INITIATIVE. CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—The initiative and referendum were added to the single tax propaganda at the conference of the Single Tax Club of America and the Joseph Fels fund commission.

Strangers

In Oakland can find a good place to stop at the GOLDEN WEST HOTEL
8th and Franklin
TRUNK BUILDING
Both Phones

These Two Labels Stand for the Utmost in Quality Clothing for Men

Not merely workmanship alone, but in point of fit, fabric, fashion and the general excellence and superiority of every item that enters into the construction of a suit. Look for the labels.

Frauhaus's English Clothing

You instinctively associate the "HUB" label with the utmost in men's apparel. Thirty years of honest merchandise and a steadfast adherence to a policy of superior valuation and a determination to offer only the best of "things different" for men has earned for The Hub a reputation of absolute dependability. To perpetuate our reputation, and to establish a standard in clothing, a step in advance, we secured the exclusive Oakland agency for Frauhaus's guaranteed clothing. Frauhaus's label on a suit establishes its quality—it is a standard by which other clothing is measured—it stands for superior materials—honest workmanship—clever designing and honest value. Frauhaus clothing is guaranteed by the manufacturer and by The Hub—could you ask for better protection?

The Hub is the Exclusive Oakland Distributor

Frauhaus clothing is modeled after the advance English fashions—the woollens are imported direct—they manufacture with exacting attention to minute detail, and the result is superior clothing with individuality without being freakish—swagger without being "sporty"—just such clothing that is demanded by men of personality and taste, and so hard to obtain without the aid of a high-priced tailor.

Suits and Overcoats

$20 to $35

Now on display are the latest Frauhaus productions. Many styles in a splendid assortment of materials and a complete range of sizes makes it possible for the man who "never could" be fitted to find just what he wants. Frauhaus clothing is an economy—it gives lasting satisfaction and more value for the money than any other on the market today—a sweeping statement to be sure but it is backed by the guarantee of the manufacturer as well as the guarantee of The Hub. Get this double guarantee on your Thanksgiving suit.

Broadway at Eleventh Street

BOILER FACTORY TO LOCATE HERE

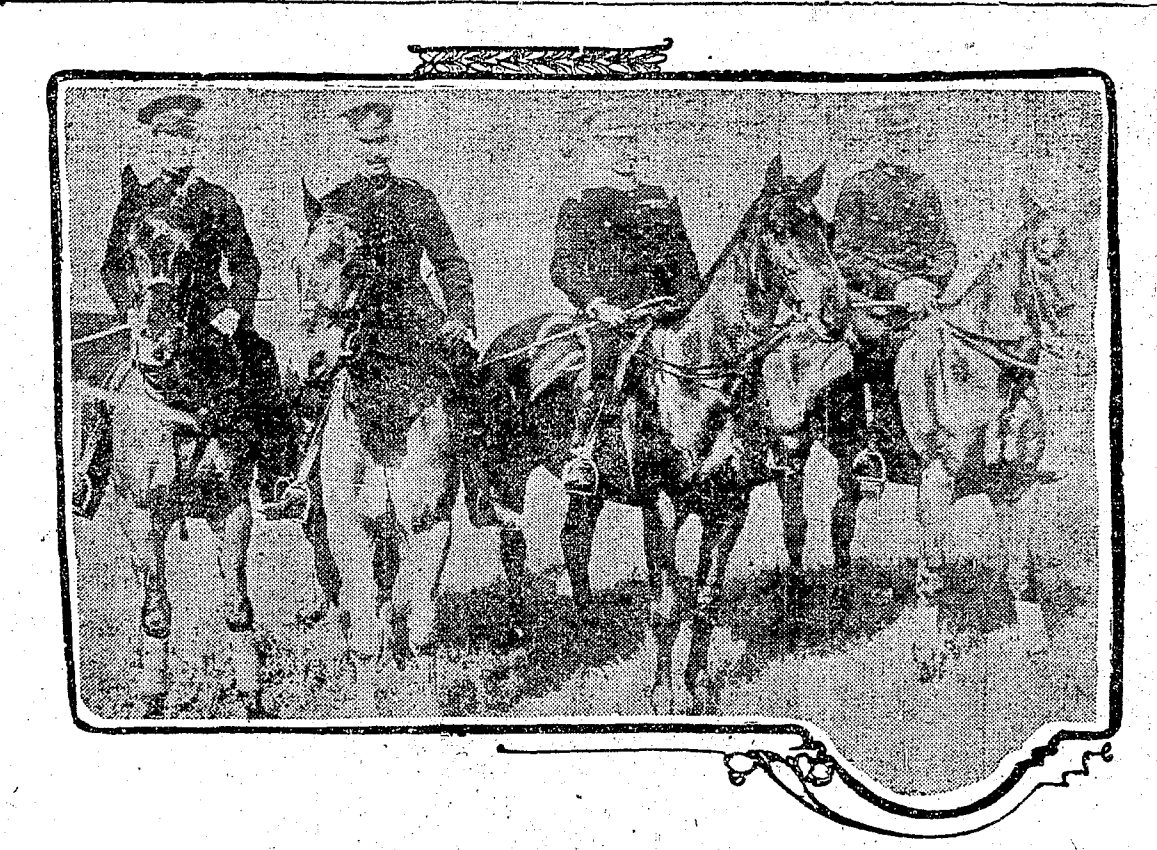

Eastern Capital to Have Large Plant Erected in Oakland.

The Meurer Bros., who are the owners of the patents of the Columbia Combination Gas Boiler and also the Combination Electric Boiler, are coming to Oakland to build a factory for the sole purpose of manufacturing these boilers.

The present location of the Meurer Bros. Company is at Twelfth avenue and East Eleventh street.

LAST NATIONAL HORSE SHOW HELD IN MADISON SQUARE

Four English officers who competed with United States officers at the national horse show held during the past week in New York. From left to right: Lieutenant Walter Brooke, Yorkshire Light Infantry, Cork, Ireland; Lieutenant C. T. Walyn, Royal Horse Artillery; Colonel Paul A. Kenna, V. C., D. S. O., Twenty-first Lancers; Lieutenant Geoffrey Brooks, Sixteenth Lancers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—At the recent national horse show, held in Madison Square Garden, four English officers competed against officers of the United States and of other countries in equestrian accomplishments.

USE OF DOMESTIC RAISIN SHOWS GREAT INCREASE

Exports Growing, Imports Falling Off; More Than $1,000,000 Worth Sent Out of Country in Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—More than $1,000,000 worth of raisins were exported from the United States in the last fiscal year, the quantity, 18,500,000 pounds, being far in excess of the total exported in any earlier year. The imports during the year amounted to only 2,500,000 pounds, against 10,000,000 pounds in 1900 and as high as 50,000,000 pounds in certain years prior to the development of production in the United States.

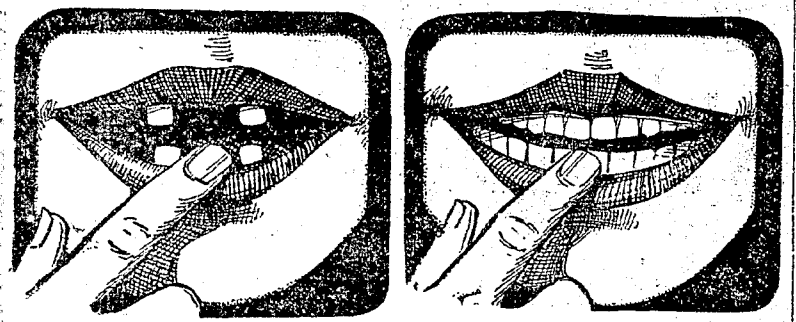

WOMEN TO SELL RED CROSS SEALS

Club Members and the Native Daughters Among Those Who Will "Peddle."

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Mrs. A. P. Black, as president of the San Francisco district of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, will appoint chairmen in the various towns and counties to supervise the selling of the Red Cross seals by clubwomen of the San Francisco, the northern Alameda, San Joaquin and Los Angeles districts.

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderful beneficial effect.

ALVEOLAR TEETH

The above is a practical illustration of how your missing or bad teeth can be replaced by our Alveolar System of bridge work. It is impossible for you to distinguish these from the ones nature gave you. They are stationary and cannot be removed. They restore the natural line of the face. Each tooth is as firm as your natural teeth were. If you have only a few teeth left in either jaw, don't lose them. Consult us. We will advise you. Our method thoroughly. Examination and advice free. All work painless.

- Good Sets of Teeth $5.00
- Gold Crowns (22-k) 4.00
- Bridge Work 5.00
- Alveolar Teeth 5.00
- Gold Fillings 1.00
- Other Fillings 50c up

NATIONAL DENTAL CO. DENTISTS 1107 BROADWAY, OAKLAND Between 12th and 13th Streets, Over Sunset Grocery.

HEIR TO 1000 MARKS LOSES CASE IN COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—In the estate of Rachael Behrendt this morning, Superior Judge Graham decided against Cecilia Behrendt, one of the heirs, in her contention that she was entitled to 11,000 marks, instead of 1000, as was left to the other relatives.

In her will Mrs. Behrendt had placed a bracket around each of the figures, but in the mention of Cecilia Behrendt the parenthesis had been only partially written. Miss Behrendt claimed that there was a bracket intended, but that the stroke meant 11,000 marks, instead of 1000. He was borne out in her contention by representatives from several banks in which the decedent had deposited.

KNIGHTS OF ROYAL ARCH TO GIVE BALL

Oakland lodge No. 3, Knights of the Royal Arch, is making preparations for its annual ball, which will take place Wednesday evening, December 13, at Maple hall, which will be handsomely decorated. The music will be furnished by a large orchestra. Seven hundred invitations have been sent out and many prominent members from other cities will be present.

APPOINTED RECTOR. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The Rev. John J. Dollard, assistant rector of Holy Redeemer church, San Francisco, has been appointed rector of St. Anne's church, Lodi, vice Rev. Eugene O'Sullivan, absent.

OUR PRICE FOR CLEANING AND PRESSING

Either Gents' or Ladies' Suits is $1.50

We know that you can not get better work even if you pay double the price. Bring your goods to our store, 1254 Broadway, or ring us up and we will call

American Dyeing and Cleaning Works 812-818 CHESTNUT STREET. TELEPHONE OAK. 226 and OAK. 228.

Advertisement for Manheim & Mazon, 12th at Clay. Features: We Want Your Name on Our Books, Cloak and Suit Specialists, THANKSGIVING SPECIALS, Here Are the Most Attractive Tailored Suit Values Offered This Season. Seasonable Suits at most tempting prices are on sale this week. The models are the most favored of this season's productions and are in a variety of materials. Below are a few of the money-saving opportunities we are offering:

- A strong assortment of Ink Blue Serge suits lined with Skinner Satin. All are modeled along the newest and most approved lines, and tailored in a superior manner. $14.95
- This lot embraces smart man-tailored suits of fancy mixtures and serges. All are tailored in a thorough manner—the styles are the newest and will appeal to the most discriminating. $19.45
- This is the greatest value presented this season. Included are swaggar mannish mixtures in a variety of colors and patterns. Splendid variety of models to choose from. See them at once. $27.50

Sharp Reductions on Furs. The season is late and to hasten the sale of our fur stock radical reductions have been made. Every Fur Coat, every Muff, Shawl or Scarf has been reduced regardless of its former value. This is an opportunity of great importance when it is remembered that our stock of furs is not only the largest in Oakland but the best selected.

Any $40 Fur $29.45 Any $25 Fur $18.45

Charge Accounts. We call your attention again to the convenience of our charge account system—you may select your entire wardrobe now and pay for it at your convenience—there is no extra charge for the accommodation.

Guaranteed Alterations. Our alteration department is now under the supervision of a competent man tailor—no garment is allowed to leave until the alteration is absolutely to your entire satisfaction—fair, is it not?

No Extra Charge for Credit—Nothing Off for Cash

Manheim & Mazon CALIFORNIA OUTFITTING CO. OAKLAND

TO COLLECT FUND FOR UNIVERSITY. Catholic Institution of Learning in Washington Will Receive Donations. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The following letter in reference to the Catholic University has been addressed by the most revered archbishop to the reverend rectors of the diocese:

Reverend Dear Fathers: Please announce to your congregation that the collection ordered by our holy father the pope, to be taken up annually for ten years for the Catholic University at Washington, will be taken up at all the masses and at vespers in the diocese of San Francisco on the second Sunday in Advent.

In making this announcement I wish you would emphasize the great importance of the university as the crown of the entire Catholic educational system of the United States of America.

At no time in the history of our country has the need of Catholic teaching been more urgent than in our own day. Not to speak of religious, false theories of social, political and economic life are being spread and popularized among the masses. One of the functions of the Catholic University is to protect our people against these dangers by exposing the errors upon which they rest, and by teaching the sound principles that must govern right conduct on social and civil life.

A great and well equipped university therefore means much for the general welfare of our people and of the Church.

WOMEN PRACTICE FOR BOAT RACES. College Girls Hold Tryouts for Interclass Contests On Lake Merritt. A somewhat disappointing number of young women of the Associated Women Students of the University of California, gathered at Lake Merritt yesterday afternoon for the purpose of trying out for places in the interclass women's boat races to be held February 22, 1912. Of the 175 young women belonging to the organization but enough for two crews showed up. These, however, went through a series of short spins about the lake, and from the condition of the oarswomen at the finish it is probable that others who wish to make the teams will have to rustle.

There will be four more tryouts held this year, December 5 being the last of the trials. The crews of the different classes will be announced at the beginning of the 1912 term in January. Miss Kathryn McCabe, captain of the rowing club, was present at the tryout, and though a little disappointed at the small showing, declared that this was due to the fact that many of the girls of the club had other engagements for the afternoon.

AFTERNOON SERMON. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Rev. J. Wilmer Gresham will deliver a sermon on "The Communion of Saints" tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock at Grace Pro-Cathedral, Sacramento and Taylor streets. This is one of a series of sermons being given on "The Apostles' Creed."

BONILLA MAY BE AT HEAD OF REVOLUTIONISTS. PUERTO CORTEZ, Honduras, Nov. 25.—Considerable excitement has been created by a report that a revolutionary expedition had left the coast of Yucatan for Honduras under the leadership of former President Bonilla. The gunboat General Barrera is patrolling the Honduran coast and a heavy coast guard has been assembled here to repel the expected attack.

Our Price for Cleaning and Pressing Either Gents' or Ladies' Suits is $1.50. We know that you can not get better work even if you pay double the price. Bring your goods to our store, 1254 Broadway, or ring us up and we will call. American Dyeing and Cleaning Works 812-818 CHESTNUT STREET. TELEPHONE OAK. 226 and OAK. 228.

Come on this excursion and discover the pleasure of the trip into the famous blossom country of California—the quickness of the ride, less than one hour from San Francisco.

Come on the excursion today and look over the country as you ride along. See how fast the beautiful residences are building out to Cherryland. Mark the investment possibilities.

Come on the excursion today and as you enter Cherryland note that the Southern Pacific and Oakland Traction cars are also passing through the tract. Mark the investment possibilities. (The Southern Pacific electric and Key Route are also coming alongside of Cherryland.)

Come on the excursion today and when you get off at Cherryland note the character of houses that are building, learn the character of neighbors who are located on the tract.

Come to Cherryland today and examine the soil which has yielded more in fruit and vegetables than any other land in the State. (J. J. Smith, director of the State Bank of San Leandro, made $40,000 last season on 160 acres leased by him—wholesale, not intensive farming.)

Come to Cherryland today and learn for yourself that the best class of schools, churches and urban conveniences are within walking distance. The center of Hayward is but five minutes away.

Come to Cherryland and see for yourself that the character of the street improvements are the best obtainable, and that art features like fountains, urns and sundials add pleasant decorative accents to the natural sylvan setting of the groves and glades.

Then consider that you can get a big lot, 130x305—a lot where your children have space to enjoy a wholesome boy and girl life, where you can keep a cow and chickens and live on the products of your own soil—where you can have refined neighbors and the best home influences.

A big lot, 130x305, for as little as $2500.

Ten per cent down, balance in 6 years.

Consider this and come on the free round trip excursion to Cherryland today.

TAKE WESTERN PACIFIC, SOUTHERN PACIFIC OR OAKLAND TRACTION TO HAYWARD AND COME TO CHERRYLAND TODAY.

OFFICES—UNION SAVINGS BANK BUILDING, OAKLAND; 527 CASTRO STREET, HAYWARD; AND ON TRACT.

A. E. MONTGOMERY, Owner :: :: Phone Oakland 3165

My representatives, with tickets, will be at each depot prior to the departure of each train.

RICHARDSON ROCK LIGHT TO BE ON GUARD

CANADIAN NEW UNIONIST LEADER
IN PARLIAMENT

A. BONAR LAW.

Dangerous Waters of Point Conception Will Be Patrolled.

ACETYLENE AND BUOY
TO WARN SHIPPING

Secretary Nagel Adds Safeguard for Pacific Coast Trade.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 25.—A flashing, white, acetylene light and a powerful whistling buoy at Richardson Rock, in the Pacific ocean, about 20 nautical miles off the mainland of California at Point Conception, the scene of several shipwrecks, have been ordered by Secretary Nagel of the Department of Commerce and Labor, in accordance with the recommendation of Commissioner Putnam of the Bureau of Lighthouses. This action was urged also by marine interests as a necessary safeguard for the heavy coasting and trans-Pacific trade.

Richardson Rock is the larger of a group of three small barren rocks which rise boldly from water about 200 feet deep. They are the western sentinels of the Santa Barbara Islands, from the nearest of which the rocks are distant about 5 miles. The Santa Barbara Islands constitute a chain extending eastward from Richardson Rock about 60 miles, running nearly parallel with the California coast, and forming the southern boundary of Santa Barbara channel.

SEA SWEEPS OVER IT.
Though Richardson Rock is about 60 feet high, the sea sometimes sweeps over it and the structure which will support the light will be frequently washed with spray.

The rock has been the scene of several wrecks, the most recent of which was in September last, when the lumber-laden schooner Comet, bound from Gray's Harbor to San Pedro, struck the rock in a dense fog, but succeeded in reaching San Miguel Island, where she was beached and proved a total loss. A man lost his life in an attempt later to swim to the wreck from the camp which the crew established on the island.

Because of the location, the difficulty of access, and the dangers which must be met in the construction of a station to house a modern lighthouse equipment and provide comfortable quarters for the necessary complement of keepers, the cost of the establishment of a complete permanent station would be heavy, and this must await the action of Congress.

TOWERS FAR ABOVE SEA.

The light which in the meantime the bureau proposes to establish as soon as the necessary apparatus can be provided by the makers will, therefore, be of a temporary character, but of good efficiency. It will be shown at a height of about 120 feet above the sea, from the top of a steel skeleton tower erected on top of the rock.

The light will be a flashing white light of about 650 candlepower, and in clear weather it may be seen about 12 miles. It will show a flash every three seconds, which will be visible three-tenths of a second. It will, therefore, be so distinctive that there will be little danger of confusing it with any light that may appear in its vicinity or with any of the "short" lights in case a mariner may be out of his reckoning.

The illuminant will be acetylene gas, which will be delivered to the station at stated intervals compressed in steel flasks similar to those used on automobiles, except that they will be considerably larger and heavier. The supply of gas will be sufficient for about 200 days, and, barring accidents, the light will require no attention during that period and will not have to be replenished.

LIGHT OPERATED AUTOMATICALLY.

The flash is operated automatically by the pressure of the same gas which is burned in the light. The gas supply will be delivered by the lighthouse tender, the crew of which will give the light such other attention as may be needed. For a sound signal, a whistling buoy, mounted by the action of the sea, will be moored off the rock. Owing to the great depth in which the moorings for the buoy must be placed, there will be provided a special device in the shape of a large buoy to carry the greater part of the weight of the mooring chain, so that the whistling buoy will not be overweighed and will be enabled to respond promptly and freely to the motion of the sea and produce a maximum of sound. The special carrying buoy will, however, be submerged to a depth that will prevent its coming in contact with the whistling buoy.

DRINK

ACME BEER

Save Money Avoid Pain
Teeth Extracted
Without Pain
Easiest and Best Painless Extraction in Oakland

SPECIAL UNTIL DECEMBER 1.
SET OF TEETH.....$3.00
22K GOLD CROWNS.....$2.00
GOLD FILLINGS.....$1.00
SILVER FILLINGS......50
BRIDGE WORK.....$2.00
Teeth Extracted Free when teeth are ordered.

20-Year Guarantee with all work.
BOSTON DENTAL CO.
1155 1/2 WASHINGTON ST.
HOURS—Week days, 9 to 5, Sundays,
10 to 2.

ESCAPES CHARGE OF 'BOOT-LEGGING'

Neil Pickrell, "Symphony in Brown," Has Narrow Escape in North.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 25. — Neil Pickrell, alias Harry Allen, was referred to as "a symphony in brown" by a government official as she tripped down the stairs at the Spokane county jail following her discharge by the federal grand jury, the members of which declined to return a "true bill" for alleged "boot-legging" among the Indians south of here. Alexander Paul, an Indian, who, the federal authorities say, purchased liquor from the woman, was too intoxicated to testify when called before the jurors and the dismissal resulted. Paul was held as a witness against the woman in a state case to be instituted.

Miss Pickrell was arrested more than two months ago and held a prisoner. She wore men's garments and her sex was not suspected until the jail attendants began making for firearms and other dangerous weapons.

"I guess you'd better call the matron," she said, quietly, "as I am a woman, though I have worn men's clothes since leaving my home in the east, more than nine years ago."

Miss Pickrell, who is 28 years of age, has a physique that would do credit to a longshoreman. She worked as a man in the grain fields and forests throughout the Northwest for several years.

CAPT. JOHN F. GREEN
HAD NOTABLE CAREER

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 25. — Captain John F. Green, who has just been assigned to the important work of organizing an effective force of custom and revenue police in Persia under the Morgan W. Shuster regime, is a native of San Antonio. The plan was tendered to Captain Green by Mr. Shuster, now treasurer general of Persia, and formerly a member of the Philippine commission, who formed Capt. Green's acquaintance while the latter was assistant chief of police of Manila.

THOMPSON'S ATTORNEY
COLLAPSES IN COURT

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 25.—Jud Rush, attorney for Fred H. Thompson, a lawyer, charged with having received money which Orlando W. Altorre, a former employee of the Los Angeles police, was said to have stolen from the mails, collapsed in court yesterday while defending Thompson.

Altorre was placed on the witness stand where he stated that Thompson had received the stolen money from him. Rush objected vigorously to Altorre's statements, and collapsed. He finally staggered to his feet and asked the court to excuse him. Judge Welborn continued the trial until next Tuesday.

OAKLANDER SPEAKS
BEFORE NURSERYMEN

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Resolutions demanding that Congress take action toward the establishment of a federal quarantine on all importations of nursery stock and vigorous enforcement of laws that may result be made throughout the United States were passed at the convention of the California Association of Nurserymen. It was decided that the acting officers retain their offices and that the next meeting should be held in San Francisco in November, 1912.

John Vallance of Oakland read a paper, "Novelties of Twenty-five Years in California," said to have been the most interesting paper of the meeting.

Early Xmas Shoppers
have the largest and best assortment to choose from and can make their selections leisurely and intelligently.

Kahn Bros
THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE
12TH AT WASHINGTON STREETS, OAKLAND.

Perfumes and Toilet Articles
This new department scored an instantaneous success. Our popular prices for standard goods is the reason

The Greatest Suit Sale

Of the Season—Stunning Man-Tailored Suits At Truly Gigantic Reductions

$18.00

For Man Tailored
Suits Worth to $30.00

$23.00

For Man Tailored
Suits Worth to $35.00

All This Season's

In these two mammoth collections of Suits will be found every successful model of the season—every fashionable fabric—every stylish color.

Some of the Suits are strictly tailor made. Others are simply, but attractively trimmed. Still others are quite elaborately ornamented. All are brimful of elegance and crammed full of goodness.

As bargains these Suits tower head and shoulders above the biggest you have seen this season. We have never known suits of equal quality and desirability to be marked at such low prices.

They come in regular sizes, out-sizes, small sizes --- all sizes, in fact.

Take the elevator to our Famous Third Floor of Fashion.

Silk Kimonos

Imported direct from Japan. Plain colors and very handsome combinations. Fine for Xmas gifts, as well as personal use. Worth $3.75. Special

$2.95

Take Elevator to Third Floor

Pretty Waists

Silk and chiffon. Several different styles. Ends of some of our fastest selling lines. Were $8.50 each. Now bunched on a bargain table and marked

$4.75

Take Elevator to Third Floor

F U R S

Our Complete Stock Of Fur Coats—Neck Furs
And Muffs
Includes All the Wanted Furs and Styles
AT POPULAR PRICES
Take Elevator to Third Floor

House Dresses

Made from excellent materials. Stripes, plaids and other neat patterns. Dutch necks and high necks. The best house dresses we have recently offered at

$1.45

Take Elevator to Third Floor

A Sweater Special

Straight or fancy weave. Navy, red, white and gray. V-neck. Can be worn under a coat. Regular price $3.50 each. On sale at only

$2.45

Take Elevator to Third Floor

Yard-Wide Black Wool-Back Satins

—The most expensively constructed satins made. The most satisfactory for wear, too.
—The soft wool back prevents crushing and wrinkling, and the rich all-silk satin surface will always retain its handsome appearance. Very popular for suits and wraps.
—This special lot will be on sale in our Enlarged Silk Department Under the Skylight.

$1.48

A YARD

Black Peau de Soie

All pure silk, and one-yard wide. Very soft, very lustrous, and full of service. A very exceptional value at our special price. On sale in our new Black Silk Section Under the Skylight. Per yard

98c

Pure Silk Pongee

One of the greatest values ever offered by this or any other store. Full thirty-six inches, and every thread silk. Would be cheap at $1.00 a yard. On sale in our Silk Department at

79c

New Evening Silks

A wonderful lot of soft and supple silks in all the beautiful evening tints. Small jacquard figures in monotone. Effects on plain grounds. Extraordinary value. On sale in Silk Department at

50c

Thanksgiving Linens

Continuation Of Our Greatest and Most Successful Sale Of Damasks, Napkins,
Matched Sets and Cloths

There is a multitude of special values in this sale, but we have only space today to tell you of these—

Table Damask—66 inches wide—Sale price, per yard

75c

Table Damask—70 inches wide—Sale price, per yard

$1.00

Table Damask—72 inches wide—Sale price, per yard

$1.50

Hemstitched Napkins—14x14 inches—Sale price, per dozen

$2.75

Hemstitched Napkins—18x18 inches—Sale price, per dozen

$3.50

Hemstitched Damask Sets—60x80 cloth and twelve napkins to match. Sale price, per set

$5.00

Hemstitched Damask Sets—64x68 cloth and twelve napkins to match. Sale price, per set

$7.50

Very Fine Damask Sets—70x90 cloth and twelve napkins to match. Sale price, per set

$8.50

Good Damask Table Cloths—Size 68x68 inches—various pretty patterns. Sale price, each

$2.00

SPECIAL SALE SECTION AROUND THE ELEVATORS

Extra Heavy Iron Warp Sheets

—Size 81x30 inches. Made from a standard brand of muslin.
—Hand-torn from the piece, not cut, thus assuring straight edges when laundered.
—One of the best specials we have offered for six months.

64c

Extra Heavy Pillow Cases for

—Size 45x36 inches. Made from one of the most popular brands of muslin, and neatly sewed.
—A very low price for Pillow Cases as good as these.
—Twice pay to buy for further requirements, as well as present needs.

13c

Twelve Initial Handkerchiefs

—Good Shamrock Lawn in plain and crossbar effects. Pretty initials.
—Quite fine and sheer, and astonishingly cheap at 48c a dozen. That's only 4c for each handkerchief.

48c

Handsome New Side Ruffles for

—They're actually worth 25c and 35c each. Some are made of lace. Some are made of lawn. The patterns are all pretty, and there are lots of them.
—This special is for a few days only.

19c

Drawnwork Scarfs and Squares

—Worth up to 85c and $1.00 each. Not one is worth less than 65c.
—All pieces are of good size. Many different designs to choose from.
—It's a good chance to pick up useful holiday gifts.

50c

Pretty Velour Pillow Slips

—Also Tapestry Pillow Slips. Big and choice variety of colorings.
—All ready to slip the floss pillow into.
—Worth ever so much more than 42c each. Come and see them.

42c

Gilberta Petticoat Flounces

Have you a Flounce-less Petticoat in your Wardrobe?

ONE OF THOSE TANTALIZING THINGS with perfectly sound top that you can't make up your mind to throw away just because its flounce has grown shabby? Well, a clever somebody has discovered a remedy that will save milady many a dollar and save many a petticoat from an untimely end.

Here are scores of fresh Flounces, ruffled and shirred and tucked and frilled in as many different styles as one could wish. They have the drawing cord at the top and can be adjusted to suit any skirt top you may have. They are of mercerized materials or taffeta silks. Ask for a demonstration at our Lining Department.

Prices 50c to $3.50

OSTRICH FANCIES Aigrettes, Pom-Pons, Wings

On Sale at These Almost Ridiculously Small Prices

25c to 50c Values	50c to 75c Values	75c to $1.00 Values	$1.00 to $1.50 Values	$1.50 to $2.00 Values
10c	25c	50c	69c	98c

You'll find them in the Special Sales Section around the elevators.

Beauty Pins— Set of 5 For

—Each set in an attractive box.
—Some stores sell identically the same pins for 75c a set.

Umbrellas for Men and Women

—Good, strong, serviceable water-proof cloth.
—Steel rods. Plain or fancy handles. Bargains.

Kahn Bros
THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE
TWELFTH AND WASHINGTON STS. OAKLAND

STUDENTS THREATEN ARREST OF SCHOOL OFFICIALS

TOOK SOCIETY PINS FROM YOUTHS

The Charge Is Made Emblems
Would Not Be Returned
On Demand.

Controversy Result of Anti-Fraternity Law Investigations Made by Board.

Dr. A. S. Kelly, school director, and J. W. McClymonds, superintendent of schools, will be arrested if they do not watch out for the members of an alleged high school secret organization are on their trial, and last evening R. C. Ogden of 1682 Valdez street appealed to Desk Sergeant Tom Wood at the Central station for information as to procedure in obtaining a warrant.

"If there is any way I can put the law on those two men I want to do it at once," he declared. "They have taken pins valued at $8 from four high school boys whom I represent and have refused to return them upon demand."

Ogden named his younger brother, F. M. Ogden, Wallace Ransome, Albert Hill and one other youth as the four lads who had been deprived of small diamond-shaped lapel buttons, the faces of which were covered with gold and green enamel. Petit larceny was the charge that the plaintiff desired to make, and he intimated that today he would continue his investigation in view of taking up the matter with the authorities tomorrow.

HAVE TALE OF WOE.

Behind the complaint lies a tale of woe and alleged discrimination and mistreatment on the part of the high school committee of the board of education, which held a special meeting several days ago and called before it a number of high school boys who reported that they had been charged with having become associated with a Greek-letter fraternity. In all, seven suspects were before the committee, and as each youth entered the room to make his statement it is alleged that members of the committee asked them for the buttons which they wore. Upon leaving it is said that the buttons were refused them. Thus, the reason for the warrant.

These seven pupils are now in danger of expulsion under the anti-fraternity ruling of the board, while nearly fifty others may be called upon this week to give a complete report of their status in at least two different organizations in the high school which are said by the principal to be nothing more or less than former established fraternities.

CLAY LAW IS OBSERVED.

The action came as the result of Principal Keyes discovering a certain emblem being worn by a number of his pupils. According to the statement of several of the alleged offenders they explained to the principal that the buttons signified a non-secret society which was entirely in keeping with the law regulating fraternities in high schools. The boys declare that they are members of club, the constitution of which is open to any interested person.

In regard to the interview that several members had with the committee, one of the boys said:

"No matter what we said they told us to 'think again.' They refused to believe our statements and told us that our stories did not correspond. They had no score that I didn't know what I was saying. They asked us to let them see the button we were wearing, and then when we were going, they refused to give them back."

The fraternity question in the local schools is now of more than two years' standing. It originated with a law passed by the State Legislature forbidding secret organizations in high schools of the state. At that time the local authorities took drastic measures to stamp out the "evil," requiring that all students should sign a pledge, stating that they were not members of any Greek-letter society, and that in case any member that he would resign therefrom.

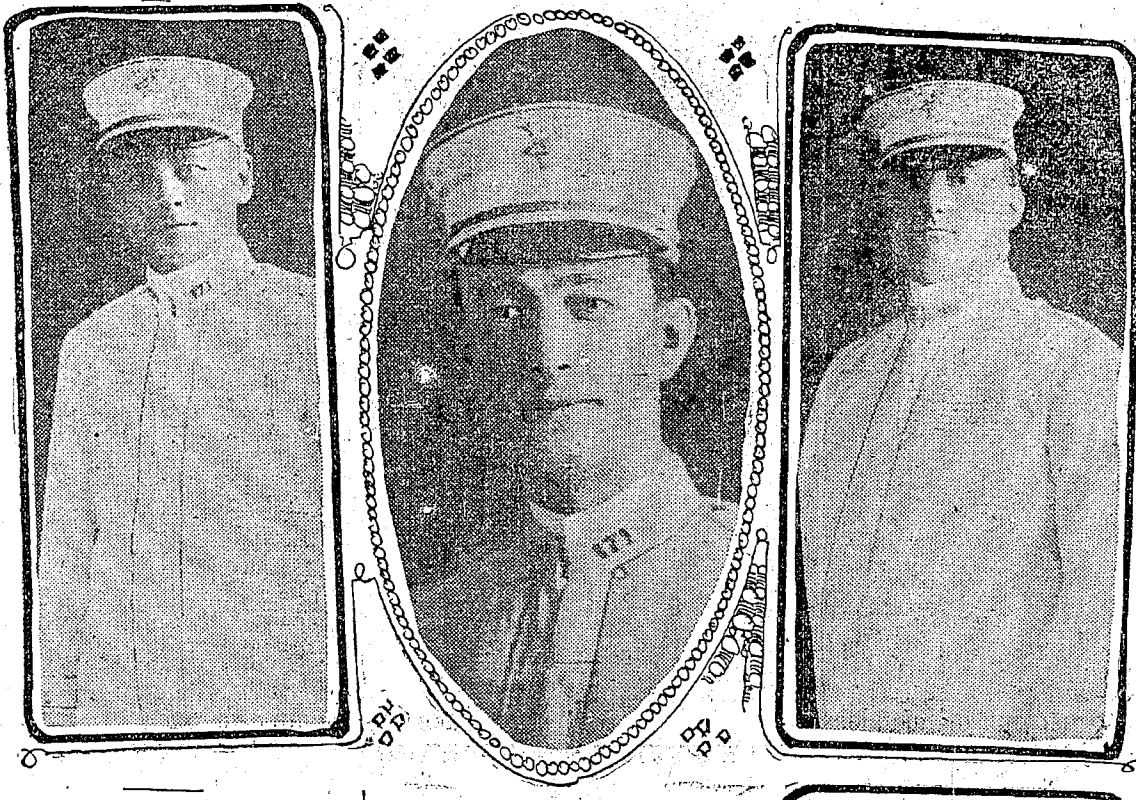

DAMPER ON SOCIETIES.

It was claimed that the action was unlawful, as the meetings of such an order could be held Saturday nights and out of the school board's jurisdiction. The district attorney upheld the contention, but pointed out that the board could forbid any member to participate in athletics. Then it was that a damper was put on the organizations so far as open activity at school was concerned. However, it has long been known by the authorities that the societies have flourished in secret and that new pupils were constantly joining them. It was found that the local authorities could not do any further than leading pupils to do in an underground manner what they had formerly been allowed to do openly.

Principal Keyes stated to the board that he intended to run down a number of cases within the next few days, and if he could confirm his suspicions, charges would be preferred against a number of Oakland high school pupils.

ELKS' DRILL TEAM MEMBERS WILL BE MOST GENIAL OF HOSTS MAPLE HALL SELECTED AS SETTING FOR BRILLIANT FUNCTION

Members of the drill team of Oakland Lodge of Elks. Top row, left to right—Sergeant J. R. Rittler; R. C. Endriss, Lieutenant O. F. Breiling. Below, left to right—Captain and Adjutant F. A. Hooper, Owen Dobson.

Flags and Ferns in Great Profusion to Make Scene Ideal

Final arrangements for the annual ball of the Oakland Elks' drill team have been completed and the affair, which will take place in Maple hall Tuesday evening, November 28, will be one of the important society events of the season. No expense has been spared in providing for the program. The hall will be elaborately decorated with flags and ferns, and it is expected that the grand march will be one of the grandest spectacles of its kind ever witnessed in Oakland, owing to preparations being made by women who will be guests on the occasion.

At that time also the drill team members will appear in their new uniforms, recently purchased at considerable expense. The committee of arrangements will be: F. A. Hooper, chairman and floor manager; Oscar F. Breiling, assistant; Owen Dobson; J. B. Rittler, chairman reception committee, and R. C. Endriss, chairman of floor committee.

The drill team is making preparations to attend the grand lodge convention to be held in Portland next July. It will enter the competitive drill under the command of Past Exalted Ruler Captain W. A. Noffsinger. The officers of Oakland lodge No. 171 will play baseball with the officers of Berkeley lodge Saturday afternoon, December 9. The proceeds of the game will be added to the Christmas charity fund. John Bonham will probably occupy the box for the local team.

'Loaded' Cinnamon Bear Carted Away to Jail

Looked Too Long On Cup That Cheers and Rolls Into Custody.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—A cinnamon bear was booked at the city prison along with its master, Sam Eichenbaum, after a passing policeman was ready to make his affidavit that the animal had taken too much of the cup that cheers. The bear was rolling from side to side in a most unbecoming fashion, to the amusement of a crowd, when he was taken into custody. The charge was blocking the sidewalk.

RICE OF GOOD QUALITY RAISED AT YUBA CITY

YUBA CITY, Nov. 25.—The harvesting of the rice crop on the Balfour-Guthrie ranch on Butte Creek, west of Bliggs, was started last Saturday. The grain is being harvested with a binder. There are 75 acres planted in rice on this place and it is estimated that it will go about 75 sacks to the acre. Each sack contains 110 pounds of rice, which is figured to bring from 2c to 3c per pound for the finished product.

Dr. Rupert Blue Scheduled To Take Dr. Wyman's Place

SAN JOSE, Nov. 25.—Dr. Rupert Blue of the Marine hospital service, according to his friends in the medical profession in this city, is scheduled to take the place made vacant by the death of Surgeon General Walter Wyman in Washington this week. The Secretary of the Treasury has been requested to so consider Dr. Blue as an appointee, and submit his name to Honorable Taft. Dr. Blue is now in Honolulu, but when on this coast a few years ago he gained a national reputation by driving the plague rats out of San Francisco. He was known as the "Pied Piper" of San Francisco.

THREE WHITES ARE SHOT BY INDIANS MILLIONAIRE NOT TO GIVE $75,000

James P. Edoff Denies Horace
W. Carpenter Is to Present Coin for Landing.

The report that Horace W. Carpenter, multi-millionaire and formerly sole owner of Oakland's water front, has made a donation to this city of $75,000 for a boat landing and bandstand for Lakeside park, was denied absolutely by James P. Edoff, the member of the park commission who has had special charge of financing the park concerts in Lakeside, and who has been working to obtain a gift to the city for this purpose.

"There is not a vestige of truth in the report," Commissioner Edoff declared last night. "This dream must have been born in some fertile brain, for it has no basis in fact."

Similar statements were made by Walter G. Manual, president of the park board, by Mayor Frank H. Mott and by Secretary Henry Vogt. Commissioner Edoff announced to the park commission about a month ago that he had been negotiating for a donation of about $75,000 for a bandstand and boat landing. He stated last night that at this time he had not succeeded in putting the matter through, and that when he spoke of it some time ago he was not dealing with Carpenter.

THREE WHITES ARE SHOT BY INDIANS MILLIONAIRE NOT TO GIVE $75,000

Renegade Redmen at Large in Shasta County With Murder in Hearts.

REDDING, Nov. 25.—That three white men were not shot dead near Fall River Mills in the extreme north-eastern part of Shasta County yesterday and the day before is because Indian Mike and his son are poor marksmen. They shot to kill. William Blake is desperately wounded. Constable Lansing is slightly wounded. Roderick McArthur is injured, though three shots were fired at him. A posse of 50 from that region is hunting for the Indians. The sheriff of Lassen County is out with a posse also.

Indian Mike is a renegade native who shot and killed an Indian doctor at Dixie, Lassen County, a year ago. Tried in Susanville he was acquitted, though afterward he is said to have freely admitted he did the killing.

Indian Mike and his son were drunk and disorderly and went into McArthur's store in the town of McArthur Thursday evening to make some purchases. Roderick McArthur ordered them out of the establishment. Indian Mike and his son went, but they fired three shots at McArthur, missing him each time.

OPEN ON DEPUTIES.

Constable Edgar Lansing of Fall River Mills was notified yesterday of the shooting. He deputized William Blake and the two went out to capture the renegades. The officers stationed themselves in a road over which they knew Indian Mike and his son would drive on their way to McArthur. Mike and his son, accompanied by the latter's wife and child, drove up in a wagon Constable Lansing ordered them to stop. The son fired at Lansing and missed him. Lansing returned the fire, hitting the son and knocking him out of the vehicle. It is not clear how many shots were fired.

Indian Mike used his gun and it was he who shot Deputy Constable Blake high up in the thigh. Constable Lansing was slightly wounded. How bad the Indian's son's wound is is not known.

MINERALOGIST AUBURY IS DROPPED

W. M. Storms of San Francisco Named to Position by Governor.

Ousted Official Says "Timber
Thieves and Mining Fakers" Got His Scalp.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 25.—Governor Johnson named W. M. Storms of San Francisco state mineralogist to succeed Lewis Aubury, who was appointed by former Governor Pardee and whose term expired January 8, 1911.

The appointment today came as a surprise. In making the appointment the governor said that such men as C. W. Merrill, Mark L. Requa, S. W. Bradley and others of national reputation had recommended Storms. Storms is now associate editor of the Mining Scientific Press. The appointment will take effect immediately.

SINGULAR, HE SAYS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—"It's rather a singular thing that I should be removed by Governor Johnson," said Aubury, "when I have fought the battle of conservation for California for years. I have before Governor Johnson took office, have stood on the same platform of conservation that Johnson stands on today."

"I can only charge my dismissal to the combined efforts of the timber thieves, the mining fakers and other big interests that have fought me consistently for years in my efforts to save to the people of California the resources of the state that rightfully belong to them."

"Again I have antagonized the big Eastern marble producers by standing up for California marble."

"For endeavoring to protect California's resources I have been assailed on all sides for years, and, as I say, it is a singular thing that the fight against me should culminate during an administration that should by all logic be the first to give me support in the fight for conservation."

AFFAIRS OPEN BOOK.

"So far as Mr. Storms is concerned, I can say that the Mining and Scientific Press has attempted to dictate the conduct of this office, and I refused to permit the office to be dictated to by them or anybody else."

"I supposed the people fighting me would get me ultimately, but I hardly expected that they would succeed under the present administration."

"The affairs of my office are an open book. The office is administered by a board of trustees, who are able and representative citizens. There can be no charge laid against me of any kind for the manner in which I have acted in carrying for California's interests and in my loyalty to my state."

"What influence it was specifically that brought about my dismissal I cannot at this moment say. It is evident, however, that the timber thieves and mining fakers have finally won."

Says He Was Ordered To 'Pad' His Reports

Former Chief Engineer of Duluth, Missabe & Northern Road Gives Testimony.

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 25.—C. H. Martz, testifying before the Stanley committee that he had been ordered as chief engineer to "pad" the cost of producing the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, alleged that George Wetwood Murray and Joseph B. Cotton, then attorneys for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, had issued the orders. Failing to "pad" the cost of production of the road, Martz testified, his position was taken away from him within one year.

Cotton's statement characterized Martz as a man of unimpeachable character and declared that Martz was removed for incompetency. In 1898, he said, the Minnesota railroad commission investigated the iron rates of the Missabe & Duluth Iron Range railway. Failing to "pad" the cost of production of the road, Martz testified, his position was taken away from him within one year.

OPEN ON DEPUTIES.

Constable Edgar Lansing of Fall River Mills was notified yesterday of the shooting. He deputized William Blake and the two went out to capture the renegades. The officers stationed themselves in a road over which they knew Indian Mike and his son would drive on their way to McArthur. Mike and his son, accompanied by the latter's wife and child, drove up in a wagon Constable Lansing ordered them to stop. The son fired at Lansing and missed him. Lansing returned the fire, hitting the son and knocking him out of the vehicle. It is not clear how many shots were fired.

Indian Mike used his gun and it was he who shot Deputy Constable Blake high up in the thigh. Constable Lansing was slightly wounded. How bad the Indian's son's wound is is not known.

U. C. STUDENTS GOVERNING SELVES

Welfare Committee, Outgrowth of System, Wields the Night Club.

Cheaters Will Be Published to Entire College and Rigid Discipline Maintained.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA,
Nov. 25.—Self-government among students of the State University—existence of which is practically unknown to the average citizen of California and frequently denied by Stanfordites—has shown itself to be very much alive through recent events on the campus.

It is believed student control has reached the highest state of organization and effectiveness this semester that it has ever known, warranting the statement of Dr. John Graham Brooks, the noted sociologist, who is this year a member of the faculty, that he had seen nothing of the kind of equal power in any university of the world. Bryce, who delivered the charter day address of 1910, expressed himself in a similar manner.

President Wheeler is regarded as the father of the student control plan, which he has consistently supported. When it was announced a few days ago that members of the student welfare committee, a recent outgrowth of the system, had recommended that the names of their fellow students cheating in examinations, some idea was given of the measures which the undergraduates were willing to adopt in governing themselves. The principle shown was in his contrast to the action of college men of the entire country a few years ago, when a suggestion from faculty heads that students inform upon their fellows would have caused a rebellion.

Opposition to the recommendation of the student welfare committee regarding "cribbers" has developed only on account of the belief that a harsh course would interfere with the ideal development of the honor spirit among the students. It is probable that the suggestion will be withdrawn by the committee. The growth of voluntary honesty is fostered by the student body, and it is not believed that threats of punishment will have the proper deterrent effects.

SOLVE STORE PROBLEM.

When attacks upon the Students' Co-operative Society, which conducts a book store upon the campus, were renewed last semester, the Associated Students, governing body of the undergraduates, undertook to solve the problem of remodeling the society into something which its members would like. The result is that every student holding an A. S. U. C. card is entitled to membership in the society, without extra charge, and is entitled to purchase upon books and stationery at a special price. The society terms that a select few formerly enjoyed.

The dynamo which energizes the entire system of self-government is the executive committee, which is composed of the Associated Students, and a senior student. Vice-president, R. C. McGee, member of the senior class. Secretary, Lyman Grimes, representative of the junior class. Faculty representative, Prof. Edmund O'Neill. Graduate representative, Samuel C. Irving, of the class of 1915. Graduate manager, Milton T. Farmer. Athletic representative, Amos E. Smith.

Supporting the executive committee in its work of self-government is the students' affairs committee, which has charge of all cases of cheating in examination, and of other undergraduate matters. The committee is composed of the recently appointed student welfare committee, which encourages the honor spirit in various departments of college life. One problem which the committee has taken up is the mutilation of library books, and the taking of books without the librarian's knowledge. The committee men seek to preserve order and uphold fair play.

SENIORS PART.

Senior control is a weighty factor in the self-governing plan. The fourth-year men, possessing experience and the respect of the lower classes, support the student committee in fostering the honor spirit.

In senior hall, a log of all the nestling in Strawberry canyon, college affairs of large moment are given more attention than is accorded the reputation of the student social life. In the fraternities, as well as in the college classrooms, the seniors act as advisors to the younger students.

Two of the governors of Senior hall are appointed by the president of the executive committee. At present they are H. G. Gabbert and Edwin M. Einstein.

The student committees are composed of the following: L. Butler '12 (chairman), E. S. Clendinning '12, E. A. Abel '12, T. J. Ledwith '12, S. L. Arnot '13, R. G. Sproul '13, R. C. Branton '14, E. J. Fenstermacher '15, May Chase (chairman) women's committee), Alice Morse '12, Ethel Lockhart '12, Evelyn Steel '12, Ada Swartzell '12, Gertrude Hawk '14 and Esta Broughton '15.

Students' affairs committee—N. B. Drury '12 (chairman), J. E. Black '12, M. A. Cartwright '12, J. G. Sweet '12, C. S. Wheeler '12.

KNOWLAND TO HELP REBUILD MISSION

Congressman Inspects Old Church With View to Aiding in Restoration.

1200 Persons Crowd Hall to Hear Lecture On the Panama Canal.

IRVINGTON, Nov. 25.—After spending the afternoon as a guest of Henry Lachman at his beautiful home, Palmdale, one of the show places of Alameda county, Congressman J. R. Knowland addressed an audience of nearly 1200 people in Maple hall here tonight on the Panama canal and its many construction features.

Congressman Knowland and his wife arrived at Mission San Jose on the afternoon train and were met by Mr. and Mrs. Lachman and taken immediately to Palmdale. They were afterward taken to visit the old mission. The Congressman is president of the Historic Landmarks League of the Native Sons, which is engaged in the restoration of the old missions throughout the state, and he was particularly anxious to see what was needed to put the one at Mission San Jose in the same condition. It was the time of the old Spanish missionaries.

TO RESTORE CHURCH.

Following the visit to the old church, the party drove along the old Mission road, which at one time was the principal highway through the lower end of Alameda county, and which it is proposed to make an extension of six foot hills boulevard into Santa Clara county. Knowland stated that the present activity of the league of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the United States and Canada, and the desire that visitors to California would be able to see what the missions really were in the early days of the state, was the reason over the opportunity of seeing what was needed to rehabilitate the old church at Mission San Jose, and stated that he would do all he could to rush the work of restoration.

After the lecture, he listened to his lecture in Maple hall at Irvington drove several miles to be present, and the hall was packed to the doors. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the United States and Canada, Thomas Witherley, president of the association, introduced the speaker, and stated that Congressman Knowland was to be congratulated on the importance of the canal, and in completing one of the greatest things in the world—the construction of the waterway across the Isthmus of Panama.

Knowland described the various features of the canal, told of the vast army of men required to do the work and what the opening of the canal would mean to the entire Pacific Coast. He spoke of the necessity of freer trade between the United States and the Pacific Coast, and in the producing sections of the country should reap the full benefit of active competition between rail and water haulage. The canal would mean a great reduction of freight rates, a lessening of the time to reach Eastern markets, the opening of new markets, and in every particular would mean a great benefit to the Pacific Coast producer. He stated that the canal would be of the greatest benefit to the farmers and fruit raisers of California, the canal would be of the greatest benefit.

Following the close of the lecture an informal dance was given. The committee on arrangements consisted of Thomas Witherley, C. F. Cummings, O. N. Hirsch and Frank T. Hawes.

MILWAUKEE NEWSPAPER WORKER DRINKS ACID

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 25.—Charles A. Mitchell, aged 46, a well-known newspaperman, committed suicide last night yesterday by drinking carbolic acid. Mitchell, "Mitch" as he was known, at times had been employed on various newspapers in the east.

Auction Sale!

Creditors' Auction Sale of Electric Supplies.

We have received instructions to sell the fine stock and fixtures of K. W. Marten, at 1345 Park street, Alameda, Cal. Monday, November 27, at 10:30 a. m. Comprising in part electric fixtures, supplies, globes, homes, brass tubing, about 2000 pounds rolled sheet brass and copper wire, brass electric cookers, etc., also one lake, buffer, polisher, emery wheel, motor, shattering and belting, tools, one safe, typewriter, desks, showcases, one delivery auto, etc., etc.

Must and will be sold. J. A. MUNRO & CO., auctioneers, 1007 Clay street, Oakland; Oakland 4671.

Real Estate and Furniture Auction Sale

We have received instructions to sell the house and lot and also the household furnishings of John Cooper, 5202 Plymouth street, near N. 12th and Alameda, Alameda, Cal. Saturday, December 2, 10:30 a. m. House contains 7 rooms and is modern throughout. The lot is 100x100 ft. and faces two streets. Special terms can be made with the bank. This property must be sold. No reserve. A fine chance to speculate, as Mr. Cooper has to sell. The furniture comprises: Massive antique and modern parlor, dining room, bedroom and kitchen furniture and copper, silver, carpets, curios, etc. All must be sold. See us for further particulars. J. A. MUNRO & CO., auctioneers, main office, 1007 Clay street, Oakland; telephone Oakland 4671.

TRY SUNDAY DINNER AT St. Mark
$1.00, With Wine

FARLAND RULES FAVORITE IN CONTEST WITH MURPHY

TRIBUNE'S DOUBLE PAGE OF

San Francisco Promoters Promise Fight Fans Series of Interesting Bouts in 1912

RACES TO COMMENCE AT JUAREZ TRACK ON THANKSGIVING

Manager Winn Issues Statement That Ring Will Be Open; Many Going.

By LEE DEMIER.

Now that "Curly" Brown has abandoned the idea of racing at Havana, Cuba, this winter and that the racing season at Charleston, S. C., will not open until January 10, it looks very rosy for Manager Mait Winn's game at Juarez this winter. Racing at the Mexican track will commence on Thanksgiving Day and reports have it that the stables are fast filling up with high-class horses from all over the country. No doubt the ring will have a California aspect, as the majority of the penitents will come from San Francisco and Oakland. Manager Winn has issued a statement that the betting would not be syndicated and the ring would be open to all reputable bookmakers.

L. A. Cassidy, the hustling official of the Charleston Fair and Racing Association, writes that the winter and spring meeting at Charleston, S. C., will open on Thursday, January 10, and continue for 75 days. Stake entries for the various rich classes will close on December 11. No purse less than $400. Following are the list of stakes:

The Summer Inaugural Handicap, one and one-sixteenth miles, $100; Robert Lee Handicap, six furlongs, $1500; the Charleston Hotel Handicap, one mile, $1000; the Argyle Hotel Handicap, one mile, $1200; The Washington Birthday Handicap, one mile and a sixteenth, $2500; the Citadel Handicap, one mile, $1000; St. Patrick's Day Handicap, one mile and an eighth, $2000; the Palmetto Derby, one mile and a quarter, $3000; the Columbia Selling Stakes, one mile and a furlong, $1000; St. John's Hotel Selling Stakes, seven furlongs, $1000; the Battery Park Selling Stakes, six furlongs, $1000; St. Valentine's Day Selling Stakes, one mile and seventy yards, $1000; the Spartanburg Selling Stakes, one mile and seventy yards, $1000; the South Carolina Selling Stakes, six furlongs, $1200; the Sale of Palms Selling Stakes, one mile, $1000.

For the year-olds:

The Juvenile Stakes, three and one-half furlongs, $500; the Georgetown Stakes, four furlongs, $1200; the Calhoun stakes, four and one-half furlongs, $1200; the Pine Forest Stakes, four and one-half furlongs, $1200; the Debutante Stakes, three and one-half furlongs, $1000.

In a letter to the writer it is stated that the race meet to be held in Havana in December has been abandoned. The Havana meet was a take place of the annual race meet held in Jacksonville, Fla., which has been prevented by legal restrictions.

Inability to obtain necessary concessions in Havana is given as the reason for the canceling of the proposed meet in Cuba.

A noted horseman, who returned here yesterday from a successful racing season in Kentucky says that Nancy Hanke, the most famous trotter that ever stretched a rein on the American track, was the same beautiful animal she always was. In spite of her 25 years, and is frisking around like a filly in a special paddock at Harbourside Palace, the breeding establishment owned by John E. Madden in the very heart of Kentucky's blue grass section. In the same paddock with Nancy Hanke is another granddame of the turf—Rose Leburn, 27 years old, whose great grandchildren are racing.

It was One-Round Hogan's deadly right, well placed, that won him the fight with "Knockout" Brown, writes a New York scribe. "He stood off and measured Brown's rushes with great precision. He mixed his mode of attack twice. At first he shot in uppercuts and when he found Brown had put up the barrier of defense to this he changed to a straight right hand that nearly tore the face off Brown. The Californian was a cool, calm fighter. He was a real dog-mat. At all times he was Brown's master at any stage of the fight."

At Worcester, Mass., the other night Dr. B. F. Roller of Seattle and Jack McGrath, the "Irish Giant," wrestled for one hour and four minutes without either securing a fall.

H. I. Wilson, the "poo-ba" of racing at Salt Lake and Butte, arrived in San Francisco recently from a trip to Rio Juana.

A bunch of turfists who have been resting up in Oakland since the closing of the racing season on the Northern circuit took the south-bound train for Juarez yesterday.

Johnny Callahan, the noted midge and artist, arrived in the city yesterday, accompanied by his wife. He was the riding sensation on the Northern circuit, and had been in the city for a few days. Callahan left this morning for Juarez, where his services will be in great demand.

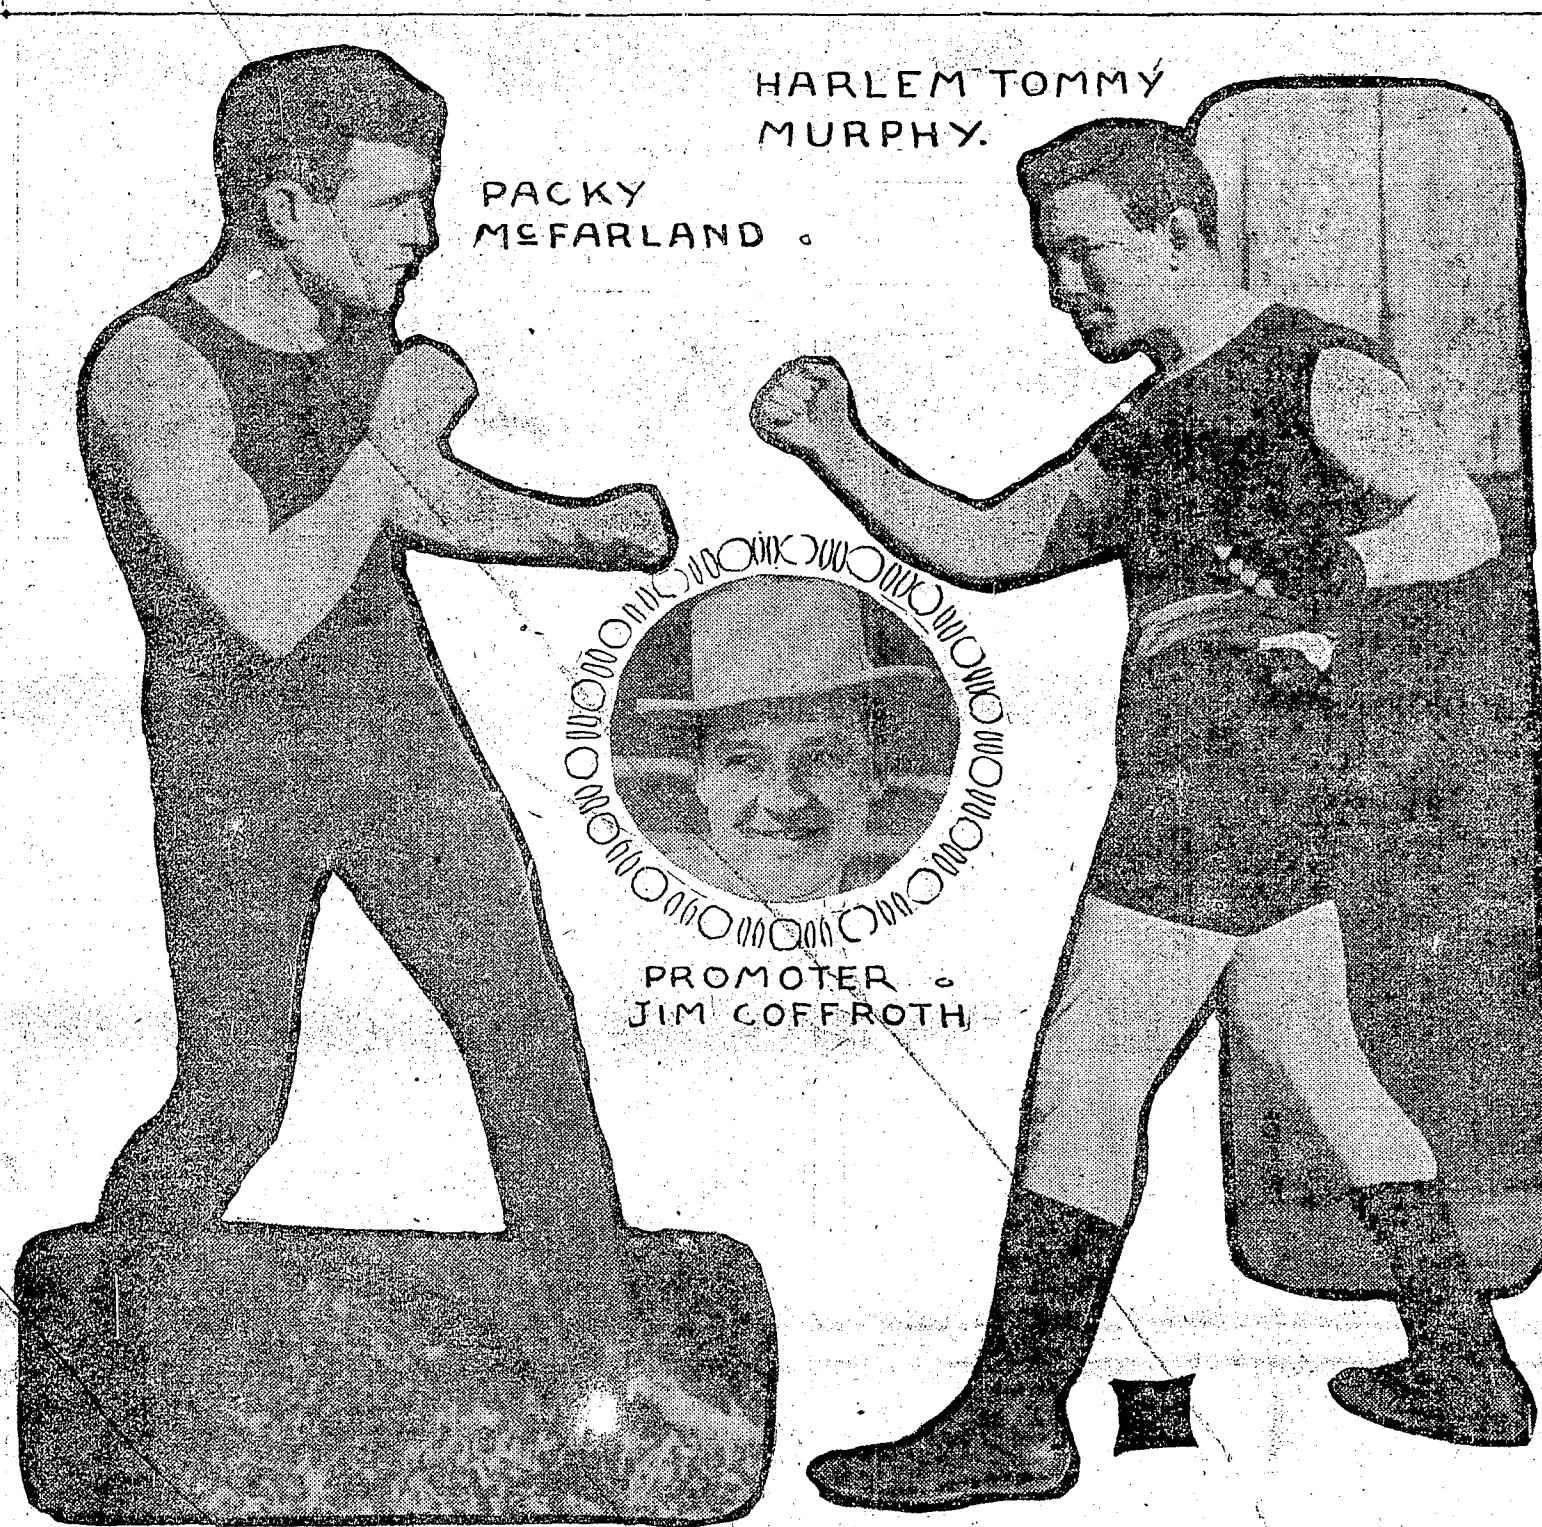

Jack Armstrong, who developed around the World, W. G. Yan's great speed yesterday for Juarez, Mex.

Honus Wagner has struck a natural gas well in the city of Pittsburgh. Friends of the Pittsburgh player claim that it will make him wealthy. Honus has said that it always paid him to "hit em out" as this is the fourth well he has drilled on his Carnegie property in an effort to find the volatile stuff.

The betting end of the game at Juarez this winter will not be "skindicated." So says Manager Mait Winn.

Packey McFarland, Tommy Murphy and Jim Coffroth

The two principals and the promoter of the Thanksgiving day pugilistic event before the Shasta Club at San Francisco

CRACK SCULLERS MAY SOON DECIDE THE CHAMPIONSHIP

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Ernest Barry, the professional sculling champion of England, and Robert Armit of New Zealand, the sculling champion of the world, may soon clash in English water in order to settle which is the best man. Armit is the world's champion, but nevertheless there are many people who believe that the Englishman is his master.

Several years ago it was believed that Barry would journey to Australia for the race, but he says that he cannot get away from England just now on account of business and family affairs.

Barry has offered $2500 to go to England and meet him. There are many sculling enthusiasts who do not believe that Barry will be able to get the necessary backing, but the latter says that he will not experience a great deal of difficulty in getting together the needed sum.

WINN SAYS RING AT JUAREZ WILL BE OPEN ONE

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 25.—General Manager Winn is out with the announcement that the ring at the coming Juarez meeting will be an open one, unless the number of bookmakers cutting in does not exceed 15. In what case some of the ringmen will be made referees. The ring will be prorated for the amount of the purses.

DRUGGISTS TO PLAY THIRD GAME OF BALL

There will be a game of ball this afternoon at the Grove street grounds between San Francisco and Oakland druggists, and the struggle for victory promises to be exciting. "Lidley, pitcher for the San Franciscans, was the successful striker for the Oaklanders from all parts of the country. He will be in the box for the Oaklanders, has a few fancy balls that it is believed by the local team will battle the visitors. This is the third game of the "Medicine League." The lineup will be as follows:

San Francisco—Donovan, catcher; Lidley, pitcher; Stanford, first base; Conley, second base; Conley, third base; Halley, center field; McKenny, left field; Oakland—McCracken, catcher; Futnam, pitcher; Kennedy, first base; Thompson, second base; Bussing, third base; Craker, shortstop; Andrews, right field; Wilson, center field; Kurtzman, left field.

K. O. BROWN WANTS DILLON ONCE MORE

George (Knockout) Brown of Chicago has begun preliminary negotiations with Jack Dillon for a long-route battle at New Orleans, if possible. Brown is satisfied, after his six-round draw with Dillon at Pittsburg, that the best way to settle the question of which is the better man is a long contest.

BATTLES OF LITTLE GIANTS WILL BE FOUGHT THURSDAY

Uncertainty of Contests Just Enough to Cause Keen Speculation Among Followers of Padded Mitts

By W. W. NAUGHTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—On Thursday next—Thanksgiving Day to be exact—there will be a world's championship glove contest in Los Angeles, the principals being Ad Wolgast and Freddie Welsh. In San Francisco on the same date Packey McFarland and Harlem Tommy Murphy will test each other's mettle. The result of the Wolgast-Welsh affair will be awaited with interest all over the world. While Wolgast, on account of a string of successful performances, against all manner of opponents, has been made a warm favorite, there is enough uncertainty about the outlook to arouse keen speculation.

Of the two men Wolgast is undoubtedly the stronger. He is a stiffer puncher than the English lad, and in the belief that he has nothing to fear from his opponent's assaults, Ad's backers look to him to pile in in his customary, forthright fashion and wear Welsh down inside the limit of 20 rounds.

It is quite possible, however, that Welsh may prove harder to subdue than Wolgast and his friends think. The Britisher is not easily rattled to begin with. He has had loads of ring experience and, in his known style, he understands the methods thoroughly and has frequently said that if he finds himself making no headway against the champion he will quickly change his methods and box along different lines.

McFarland-Murphy bout is scarcely as promising an affair, albeit surprises in pugilism are always in order. McFarland is looked upon as Wolgast's most serious rival so far as native-born American boxers are concerned, while very few would argue that Tommy Murphy is a fit opponent for the champion.

At Murphy's boxes in his usual style, however, he is apt to make Packey extend himself and this will give the local sports an opportunity of seeing up "the McFarland of today" and judging of his chances against Wildcat Wolgast.

Agitation against the boxing game has arisen in the city of Melbourne, when Rev. E. C. Spurr, minister of a Baptist church, approached Dr. Wright, prime of Australia, "with a view to instituting a movement for the suppression of prize fighting in Sydney."

In defining his position, the Rev. Mr. Spurr said: "My prime object is to bring pressure to bear on the government with a view of preventing the fight between Johnson and McVeigh, which is to take place at the stadium, Rugehutter's Bar, and in fact to place an embargo on all boxing contests for money."

While at first glance it looks as though the gentleman of the cloth is discriminating, it is evident just the same that he intends the movement to be a thorough one. Such boxing contests as are not for money are not much of a menace to public morals.

NEGRO INVASION IS RESENTED.

Members of the Evangelical and Baptist councils of New South Wales have ranged themselves behind the Rev. Mr. Spurr in his work of reform, and the war between the "pros" and "antis" is on.

It is freely intimated that if Sydney had not been converted into a stamping ground for the world's most notorious negro brawlers, and if a Johnson-McVeigh fight had not been talked of as a climax to the Ethiopian invasion, those who dislike boxing might have been content to suffer in silence.

The agitators think that the name "White Australia," which was conferred upon the country on account of its aversion to all men of color, irrespective of race, should be saved up, but the threat of a Johnson-McVeigh fight is the last straw. The vehemence of the opposition is such that an irreverent Australian scribe has dubbed the stadium some night and witness a modern boxing contest.

With a grand flourish of confidence in his position, McIntosh invited the agitators to attend his stadium some night and witness a modern boxing contest.

The invitation may not be accepted, but if the searchers after truth become the guests of the promoter it is to be hoped, for the sake of the cause, Mac represents, that it will not be a "Carl Morris-Jim Flynn" night.

BOXING GAME IN BAD WITH GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Governor Dix of this state is giving signs that he is opposed to boxing and it is rumored that he is working on the lines of having the present law repealed. It is said that he will ask the legislature to stop a fight at the Fraxwell athletic commission.

The governor has summoned Commissioners Dixon and O'Neill to Albany for a conference and to secure data upon which to base his demand. Present indications are that he will succeed in his attempt to put a quietus on the hit-and-get-away game.

templeman's views on the matter. Here is what L. G. P. says:

"It is a pity to be able to give an exposition of the law, but I always view glove contests this way: If there is a fixed number of rounds and the contest is to be decided on points, it is a prize fight. This, I believe, is the accepted law. I am not saying that contests such as we have in Sydney are or are not, prize fights. I am simply giving the generally accepted idea. The police always attend these contests, and they have instructions to stop a fight at the slightest exhibition of brutality, and, I may add, the chief secretary is in a position to stop a fight if it is also within the power of a contestant or his second to bring the event to a close at any moment."

ADMISSION CHARGE NOT ILLEGAL.

The inspector general was told that one of the chief reasons why the government had the power to prohibit the charge made for entrance to boxing exhibitions.

"That is not so," he said. "So long as a limited number of rounds is stipulated the authorities cannot interfere."

In addition, it is quite refreshing to hear of an official who has the courage of his convictions and who expounds his views candidly and without fear of consequences.

An inspector general of police is Milwaukee, says, and he was asked the question the Sydney reporter asked Day, the answer for fear of jeopardizing his political future.

Of course, Hugh D. McIntosh, the Australian promoter, was heard from. Said he: "I can only say that the clerical gentlemen are laboring under a misapprehension. There is no such thing as prize fighting in any part of the world today."

McIntosh explained that the contests he had arranged were simply in and with the glove displays at Oxford, Cambridge and at Eton and Harrow and other English public schools where boxing is included in the curriculum.

With a grand flourish of confidence in his position, McIntosh invited the agitators to attend his stadium some night and witness a modern boxing contest.

The invitation may not be accepted, but if the searchers after truth become the guests of the promoter it is to be hoped, for the sake of the cause, Mac represents, that it will not be a "Carl Morris-Jim Flynn" night.

M'FARLAND AND WOLGAST IN FAVOR WITH BETTING FANS

Both Are Picked to Win Their Bouts on Thanksgiving Day; Ring and Athletic Gossip

By BERT LOWRY

OUR days hence and the followers of the padded mitt men will be in their glory. On Thursday, designated Thanksgiving Day by our corpulent President, four masters of the gloves will battle for supremacy within the roped arena under the rules as laid down by the Marquis of Queensbury. Over the bay in San Francisco it will be Harlem Tommy Murphy, a tough little nut from the Empire State, against Packey McFarland, a shifty, husky boxer from the Stockyards of Chicago under the auspices of the Shasta Club run by James W. Coffroth.

Down in Los Angeles it will be Adolph Wolgast, champion of all the world in the featherweight division, against Freddie Welsh, boxer of much note from the British Isles.

For the match in the southland the better has picked the Jones protégé as a winner and offers two to one that he turns the trick and in some cases better than that. They are also betting that the Britisher will not last the limit with the Yankee.

Even at the tempting price of two to one the few betters willing to nibble at the Welsh end of the money. These wise men of the betting game—who sometimes go wrong—think that Freddie lacks the punch as well as the stamina to rough it with the Cadillac man. As to the proposition that Freddie will stay the limit of 20 rounds there is some little betting.

Fight fans who study well the men who box have it that Welsh is no laborer of his opponents, but they admit that he is a hard man to wear down. On the other hand they figure that Welsh will go to his defensive and if he does his chances of lasting the full 20 rounds are much improved.

For many reasons. First of all he is a fighter and it takes a mighty rugged man to make him back up. Again I am inclined to think that he will get all the best of the rough and ready style of boxing for Jack Welsh plainly showed when Adolph fought woe that he was a rougher fighter than he was a winner. He was willing to overlook them.

Still, 20 rounds is a long route to travel and both men are clever and know much of the game, so those that are sanguine of one or the other being a winner had better wait until the show is over.

WHY M'FARLAND AND WOLGAST FAVORITE.

The workouts of Packey McFarland at Millet's training camp have been of such a nature that the fans are flocking to him to see the best of the money. It is conceded that he has improved most wonderfully in style and has a greater amount of speed than heretofore. Coupled with this he has gained a world of knowledge.

All of this doubtless has had much to do with the fact that he is now a two to one shot over Murphy. Again the fans are looking for McFarland to win the bout before the 20 rounds roll through, which has a tendency to show that they figure that Packey has a punch in his right and left hand which he seemed to lack before he fought Jimmy Britton.

Therefore, if these two matches turn out as the fans figure, Wolgast winning in the south and McFarland over the bay, this will be the Coffroth day of say, Washington's birthday, or maybe before. But it is suffice to say if they do not he will not get any two to one over the Chicago boy.

BOTH MEN TRAIN FAITHFULLY.

Of Murphy and McFarland this can be said: Each is a hard worker. Packey can see a hard day of golden rain, a match with Wolgast and likewise Murphy. That's why both are training hard and are in the best of shape. When the gong sounds on Thanksgiving Day for them to toe the scratch.

Friday McFarland added zest to his card by taking on no less than four boxers at Millet's, each for two rounds of milling. The gym was packed to the doors and the men showed some real live boxing while the bouts lasted.

Willie Ritchie is one of the regulars at McFarland's camp and he is as good a trial horse as the Chicago boy. He is a want. Willie is game to the core and wants all the experience he can get, so he has been in the ring for a long time in process comes to hand.

The other lads in the camp are Eddie Campbell, Eddie Roche, and Ernest Cannon and Packey makes it merry for all of them.

MURPHY CALM AND CONFIDENT.

Put at Al White's place it is up and down all the time. The Murphy family and everybody works there, even Jim Buckley. Murphy is a boxer who believes in roughing it as well as putting on the gas and has a ship at the bottom of the ring it is slam and bang all the time.

Tom Edwards has a whistling wind boxer who is chuck full of pepper and just loves to wade into the fray. This suits Murphy to a T and when he has finished his mauling he is ready to bang Harry Lortz steps into the arena for a taste of the mauling.

Tom Edwards is a regular in the Murphy camp and Tommy is sanguine of making home a winner. He figures that he will be just as strong as McFarland, has had more than a year's experience in boxing and has a far better punch than the Chicago man.

Slizing Murphy up one can see that he is much stronger and more rugged than the Chicago boy.

FANS WILL PAY HIGH TO SEE WOLGAST IN RING COSTUME

The fans of Los Angeles will have to pay dearly if they intend to see the contest between Adolph Wolgast and Freddie Welsh. It is costing Promoter Tom McCarey a heap of money to stage the attraction and he figures that he will have to tax his patrons rather heavily if he expects to get a change for himself.

According to McCarey's present plans he will charge $5 for general admission and reserved seats will range from $10 up. McCarey will put the general admission tickets on the market with the reserved seats when the sale opens.

This is a lot of money to see this battle and it is very doubtful if the fans here would pay this price. Boxers of Welsh's caliber are not very great money getters around here, as the fastest money is made in the East. The price for the rushing, tearing fellows like Wolgast, who are likely to score a knock-out at any time.

The boxing game is in a very healthy condition in the south. The recent Rivers-Conely battle drew more than $7000. This bout would be considered an ordinary attraction here and it is doubtful if this same card would draw $3500 in this city.

A feature of the banquet in honor of the Giants was a moving picture exhibit showing the first game of the series. Philadelphia should now tender the Athletics a banquet and show them the last game of the series.

BERT LOWRY

than when he hooked up with Owen Moran. His chest is broader and his arms show much more muscle. His neck shows good training and the few scars he has prove that he can protect himself in the tight places.

Can one look back over the fight game and find a man who was in greater demand than Ad. Wolgast. Jimmy Coffroth makes a special trip to Los Angeles to get his signature to articles calling for two fights in San Francisco, one with Packey McFarland and the other with K. O. Brown.

New York wants him to hook up with Matt Wells and Tom O'Day wants him to fight for him. Suppose he took on all of these matches and was a winner in them all what a pile of kale he would get, for none of these promoters will get Wolgast unless they cut the bottom right out of the money bag or turn their bank book over to him.

Tom O'Day, who has been under the table for some little time, has the D. C. member permit through the grace of Milton T. Clark and wants to give a farewell show before he goes to New Orleans in action over the bay.

In a Wolgast-K. O. Brown match he sees many golden dollars and wants to sign them up. At that he might have had a One Round Hogan-K. O. Brown match, but the Hogan boy wanted the earth and the money, for Hogan is really worth half what he asks.

Anyway, whoever gets the match they are angling for the fans around bay will see some clever stars in action from now on.

AL. BAUM STARTS A RUMPU.

Allan T. Baum, the new president of the Coast League, yesterday started a small sized riot when he sent a wire to Ed. Walter of the Oakland Club saying that any Coast Leaguer that played with or against a player who was under a ban, would be fined and suspended.

Some time ago THE TRIBUNE stated that those players who played against Tom Hackett were under a ban. All the ban, but little credence was given to the warning. This ruling shows that THE TRIBUNE was right for Hackett is a blacklisted player, unjustly it must be admitted, and to play with or against him brings a player under the ban.

All in all, it is a slap at the aspirations of Cy. Morring, who is slated to start an outlaw baseball league. During the winter Cy. Morring is big work of his league and keeps them tight. This year it looks as if he intends to keep right on with his club and eventually form an outlaw league. Perhaps the warning of Baum will hold the players in check and put the bee on Morring's plans, but the writer doubts it.

Dr. Deimel
(LINEN-MESH)
Underwear
LYNNE STANLEY
1116 BROADWAY.
Oakland Agent.

Visit DR. HALL'S Free Museum of Anatomy
635 BROADWAY (upstairs) near
7th Street, OAKLAND, CAL.
Established here 25 years, curing
Private Diseases of Men Only

CURES
GUARANTEED Examination and consultation free.
Gonorrhea, Gleet,
Stricture, Syphilis,
Scrotal Swelling, Urinary discharges,
Varicocele, Locks,
Cremaster, Prostatitis,
Quickly Cured.
Recent cases cured in a few days. Send for free book.
Hours—9 a. m. to 1 p. m. Sundays,
11 a. m. to 12 m.

Visit DR. JORDAN'S GREAT MUSEUM OF ANATOMY
(CONTRACTED TRUTH EXPOSED)
Weakness or any contracted disease positively cured by the latest specialties on the Coast. Established fifty years.

DISEASES OF MEN
Treated personally or by letter. A positive cure in every case.
Write for book, PHILOSOPHY
OF DISEASE, and send no money.
(valuable book free for men.)
DR. JORDAN. 285 Market St., S.F., CAL.

MEN Why Pay More Than
$35.00
For the Administration of
"606"
DR. J. C. LEE
1083 Broadway,
Oakland, Cal.

The New German Remedy for BLOOD POISON (Syphilis)
$25.00 is my fee including all expenses.
I am the only physician advertising in this manner. I can make you well, or for the administration of "606." They are thoroughly equipped and strictly private.
ADVERTISER "606" TO WO-MEN AND CHILDREN.
Personal attention is given to every case and you are guaranteed a cure if I accept your case.

CURE Varicose, Cystitis, Blood Poison, Stricture, Skin Diseases, Sores, Hydrocele, Spermatorrhea, Leucorrhea, Dropsy, Piles and Diseases of Bladder, Kidney and Prostate Gland.
If you need my help CALL and I will be glad to see you. I can make you happy. If unable to call during the DAY, come in the EVENING for a friendly consultation. Phone Oakland 414.

RUMORS HAVE IT THAT HARRY WOLVERTON GOES TO NEW YORK

Captain Bell and Franchi of St. Mary's College breaking a dribbling rush by the Santa Clara team in yesterday's football game at St. Ignatius field.

AUTOMOBILE SECTION

EDITED BY
J. A. HOULIHAN

PRaises SHOWING HIS CAR MAKES

Roger Stearns, Stoddard-Dayton Pilot, Recounts Race Experiences.

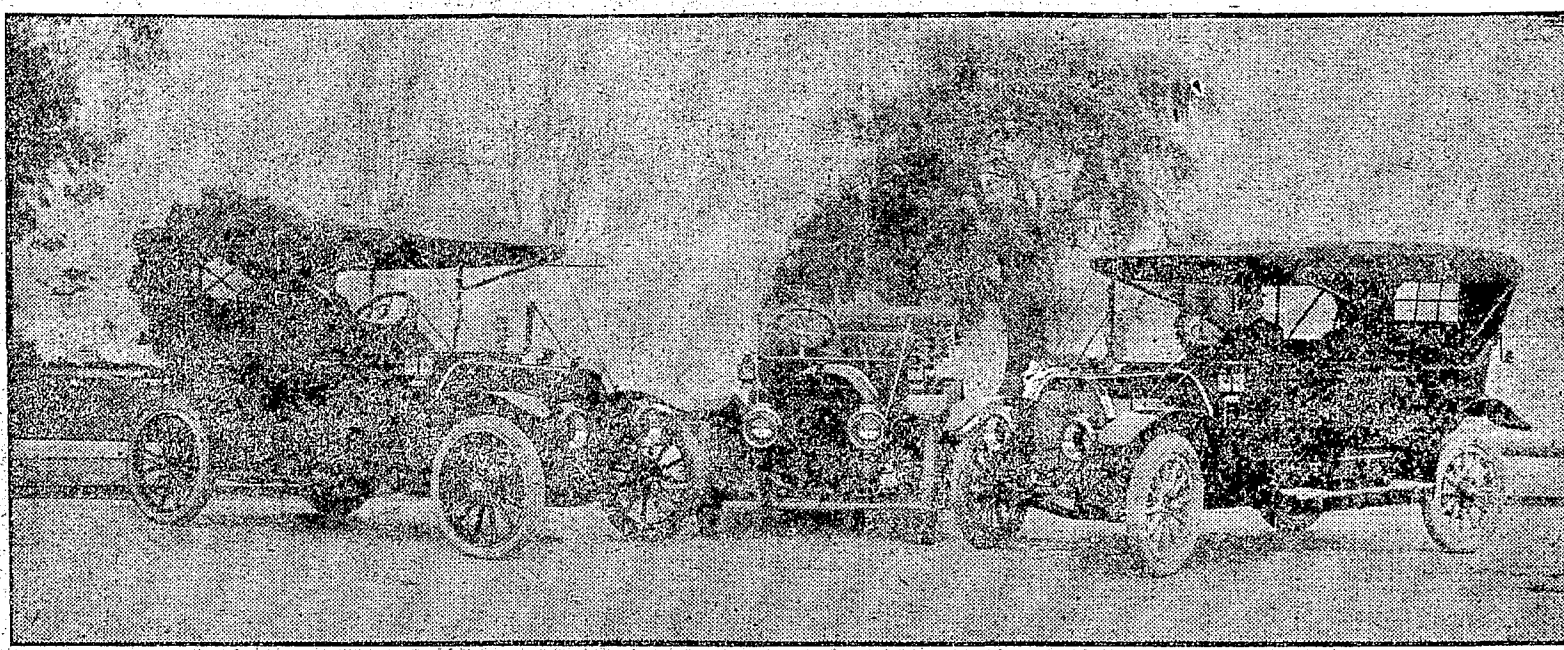

One of the entrants in the recent Phoenix road race, the Stoddard-Dayton, although not among the winners at the finish, is given a great deal of credit for the showing made. In a letter to W. H. Hushon, head of the Standard Motor Car Co., Roger Stearns, the driving driver, recounts some of his experiences along the route. The letter follows:

"This is the first opportunity I have had to write to you about the big race. You have undoubtedly read all the newspaper reports and know of the hard luck which we had all along the line. With an even break of luck, we should have been an easy winner of the race.

Before I had been out twelve minutes my engine froze up on me, due to too much gasoline. It took me twelve minutes to let it cool off so it could be started again. Then, I went into the ditch near Oceanside, and thought I was out of the race. Was delayed nearly twenty minutes there, and still was the first car into San Diego. I got twenty miles out from San Diego, and tried to take a turn at too high speed—went off the road and lost two rear tires, and that lost the lead of the race. I got it going again, and arrived at El Centro in Imperial Valley in second place. Reaching Yuma a very close second, a drive shaft pinion went out on me due to hitting a rock in the middle of the road, which took two hours and five minutes to replace, thereby, apparently losing all chance for place in the race, but from there on I really began to drive and had not been out three hours before I was again in second place, with a hour to the good. We got thirty-two miles from Phoenix to a place called Buckeye, with a boulevard to finish on, and with an hour to the good on second place, and the roller bearings went all to pieces on the rear axle, which put me out of the finishing in the money to Phoenix. However, I got second money all the way through except to Phoenix, and as I was beaten by Herrick of the National, who won the big race at Santa Monica, I do not feel so bad about it.

You can well imagine that luck is everything in a race of this sort. As I understand it, it is almost unheard of for a bearing to break, and to show you the luck of Henlin of the Franklin, he finished in second place, although I was an hour to the good of him at the two places from the finish, with perfect roads ahead of me. He gets into Phoenix, goes to the hotel and comes out in a few minutes to take his car to the garage and finds he cannot even push it. He had to take it to pieces, in the street to get it into the garage. The same bearings and rear axle had broken in his car as the one in mine, but yet he finished. The National finished in bad shape. The same arms that support the engine were all broken, I understand, and was generally in bad condition. If I had not had to change a rear shaft pinion at Yuma, the results would have been much different, as Herrick only had 44 minutes on me, which I could easily have made up on the Arizona side, and I was the closest one to him by an hour. So you see he had nobody to push him all the second day. He simply loafed into Yuma. Had I been able to have gotten away at the same time the other fellows, I would have pushed him and he would undoubtedly have gone out of the race."

The Warren cars for the coming season are among the prettiest of the year. There are three different models—a "30," "35" and a "40." From left to right in the above picture they are lined up in the order named. In the center is R. D. Maxwell of the Warren factory.

HAYNES AUTO SALES DELIVER MANY CARS.

The Haynes Auto Sales Co. report the following deliveries of Haynes and Kirt cars made in the past ten days: Paul De Los, A. T. Kutter, Charles Fenwick, J. P. Hancock, William Rump, Charles Sudden, D. H. Steiner, M. Blanchard, Joseph Rucker, Standard Oil Co., San Francisco Gas and Electric Co., Dr. Hunter, Seaside Auto Co., W. R. Green & Co., Valjeo Carriage Works, McLean Brothers, R. A. Powell, T. W. Brotherton, Milton Mazor, D. B. Vann, Novelty Garage, A. J. Clippert, C. E. Moss, Eugent Dannebaum and Dr. R. B. Lane.

WITH THE BIG LEAGUERS

American League Notes

Jimmy Callahan, who will lead the White Sox in 1912, has signed for one month in vaudeville in Chicago.

Connie Mack, it is reported, has determined to train at San Antonio next spring, reporting there March 1.

About the only manager who admits that he hasn't a wealth of new material for next year is Connie Mack.

Clark Griffith need not worry about first basemen next season, he has Flynn, Schaefer and Spencer to choose from.

The Boston Red Sox, following their training at Hot Springs will go to Cincinnati for three games beginning April 6. They start training at the Springs on March 10.

Bill Hogan, member of the St. Louis Browns' outfield, says he doesn't want to return to the big show and that he'd rather remain in Oakland, California, with the club there.

Ty Cobb was led the American league in hitting for five consecutive seasons. He started his great work in 1907 and since that time his averages have been .359, .324, .376, .384 and .417.

Dan Murphy succeeds to rather a famous place in his appointment as captain of the Athletics. Lajoie, Cross and Davis were his predecessors, both Lajoie and Davis going thence to Naptown.

While all this talk is going on as to "Where is Marty O'Leary," the statement is ventured that if anybody wants to find him they may write to Worcester, Mass. Marty is at his home, acting just as he always has.

Jack Coombs says the story that he was operated on for hernia, due to his being in the world's series game, is a lie out of whole cloth, that his injury necessitates no operation, and that he is, or will be as good as ever next season.

Southpaws were not winning any too many medals the past season in the American league. The right handers had the call. Among the leading 30 winners the names of only three leftiesingers appear. They are: Gregg, Plang and Krause.

National League Notes

Pitcher Bill Burns, it is reported, is not to stay at Minneapolis, but will be traded for more useful material.

President Murphy refuses to confirm the story that he has his plans all made for a new ball park for his Cubs.

Charles Ebbets declares the National league magnates are not going to adopt the early closing schedule until he has had the last word.

Jack Bliss, of the Cardinals, says the Cubs and Giants are going backward, and the Cardinals will cop the joy rag next season. What a Blisful winter dream.

The Philadelphia Nationals, buying Pitcher Ben Hunt of Sacramento, have made the list of players '78, in spite of National league and National commission rules to the contrary.

President Fogel of the Phillies did not appear to have great success in disposing of his 70-odd players at San Antonio. He may be compelled to hold a "marble down" sale to get rid of the surplus.

Larry Lejeune, former Brooklyn outfielder, has dropped back into the Central league, from which he went to the Dodgers. Chattanooga, which got him from Ebbets, has sold him to Grand Rapids.

Josh Devore of the Giants saved $1200 out of his season's salary, put his world's series winnings with it and bought himself a home in Terre Haute, Ind. Ottis Crandall also invested his money in Indiana real estate, but he bought farm land.

"I could always get a hit or two against Mathewson," remarked Frank ("Home Run") Schermer, "but I never could get over him. I will meet you at Broad blizzard." "Why, man, alive," continued Ebbets, "if I ever traded Ebbets, I would never dare to show myself around Brooklyn again."

Fred Merkle, the New York first baseman, has been in Hamilton, Montana, to look over the ranch where a "Clare" Griffith, has money invested in Montana land and is reaping good returns from his ranch, where he generally spends part of the winter.

Chicago hasn't any more chance of getting Nap Rucker, said President Ebbets of the Brooklyn club, than a man has to be overcome by the heat in a Dakota blizzard. "Why, man, alive," continued Ebbets, "if I ever traded Ebbets, I would never dare to show myself around Brooklyn again."

HAS BEEN ENTRANT IN PHOENIX RACES

Franklin the Only Car to Participate in Every Annual Contest.

The only car to participate in every Los Angeles-Phoenix "desert race" since the first of those western classics was held in 1908 and the only car to finish for two successive years among the winners, was an air-cooled Franklin.

This car, a six-cylinder, 38-horsepower stripped chassis of the new series, driven by Ralph C. Hamlin, finished second among sixteen starters in the "Desert Race" recently held, making the 542 miles in 22 hours 54 minutes and 53 seconds. Last year Hamlin and a Franklin were second, and each time that Hamlin was second, first place was taken by Harvey Herrick, but while Hamlin always drove a Franklin, Herrick had a different car each time.

Hamlin's car, the motor of which has six 4x4 inch cylinders, established a reputation for itself by running the first 139 miles of the race on 10 gallons of gasoline. At Mexicali, 130 miles from San Diego, the cars passed into Mexico and for 68 miles sped across territory which but a short time before was the scene of revolutionary conflicts and where much of the road is through a thick growth of buckthorn and mesquite bushes.

HAS LOW UP-KEEP MOTOR CAR COST

Haynes Owner Has Monthly Expense of Less Than Two Dollars.

W. B. Cochran of the Haynes Auto Sales Co., received a letter from J. L. Hanover of the Lemore, yesterday, which speaks for itself:

"I want to let you know how well pleased I am with my Kirt car. I have driven this car fourteen thousand five hundred and eighteen miles, and my cost of up-keep has averaged me one dollar and thirty-two cents a month, and a great many of our roads through this country are sandy, but I have the first time to be stuck. A great many times I have seen larger cars hung up and have always had the pleasure of passing them. Mr. Bonneson, who also has a Kirt car, is very well pleased with his car. In fact, there is a good bit of rivalry between us on up-keep, but I have had the satisfaction of beating him the last three months as he has been running about $1.75 a month on his up-keep."

WHITEWASH HIM AND HE IS WORTH $50,000

Commenting on the work of Cuba's great negro pitcher, Mondes, an Eastern scribe remarked that if he could be "whitewashed" he would be worth $50,000 to any club in the National or American league, a suggestion which led some wag to propose that his case should by all means be submitted to the National commission along with the World's Series ticket scandal.

Ford

The Motor Car with a record, in all parts of the world, for useful and satisfactory services. Ford Model T, the motor car which delivers expectations without any disappointments. Lower in price and higher in quality.

The lightest weight four-cylinder car in the world, size, power and capacity considered—sixty pounds for every horsepower. If heavy weight is valuable in a motor car, why do not the makers of the heavy cars advertise the fact? There is a reason.

With complete equipment:
Extension Top, Speedometer, Ford Magneto built into the motor;
Automatic Brass Windshield,
Two 6-inch Gas Lamps, Generator,
Three Oil Lamps, Horn and Tools.

We believe FORD Model T is fully 10 per cent better in quality than ever before. Not because there have been any changes in design, but simply because of added refinements and conveniences.

It is the same car that has given such splendid satisfaction to more than 80,000 owners. The same car that is so familiarly known from "Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strand." The car of immediate adaptability to the wants of all men. Just as reliable, serviceable and enjoyable on the farm as it is on the paved streets of the city. Surely you see them wherever you go, and they go wherever you see them.

Keep these facts in mind: Extreme simplicity in design. Vanadium steel (scientifically heat treated) construction. Magneto built into the motor. Ford planetary spur transmission. Ford spring suspension. Ford rear axle. Quick accessibility to mechanism. Twenty to 25 miles per gallon of gasoline; 8000 to 10,000 miles on one set of tires. Every statement made in Ford advertising is a fact, nothing of "glittering generalities" or exaggeration. You can depend upon our advertisements just as you can depend upon the FORD Model T car. Immediate delivery. Write for catalog and other booklets.

In addition to FORD Model T Touring Car we have for immediate delivery:

FORD Model T Torpedo, 2 Passengers, completely equipped, F. O. B. Detroit.	$590	FORD Model T (Landaulet) Town Car, 6 Passengers, completely equipped, F. O. B. Detroit.	$900
FORD Model T Commercial Roadster, 3 Passengers (removable Rumble Seat), completely equipped, F. O. B. Detroit.	$590	FORD Model T Delivery Car, capacity 750 pounds merchandise. Completely equipped, F. O. B. Detroit.	$700

No FORD CARS sold unequipped. Allow us to give you a demonstration.

San Francisco Branch, 100 Van Ness Avenue.
Ford Motor Company
General Offices and Main Factory, Detroit, Mich.
San Francisco Branch, 100 Van Ness Avenue.

THE FORD IS SOLD
In Alameda County by
C. R. ALLEN
38th and Telegraph Ave. Oakland

FOLLOW THE CROWDS

NOVEMBER 26TH, TO THE RACES
AT THE
Motor drome

See the Speed Kings of the World Defy Death On the Fastest Board Track in the World.

Races Start at 2:30 P. M.

GENERAL ADMISSION, 25c. GRANDSTAND, 25c EXTRA

ANNOUNCEMENT

THE AUBURN

Is Now Represented in Alameda County

We beg to present for your consideration the following models:

MODEL 6-50—Six-cylinder fifty horsepower Touring Car	$3000
MODEL 40-N—Five-Passenger, 35-40 horsepower Touring Car	$1750
MODEL 40-M—Two-Passenger forty horsepower Touring Car	$1750
MODEL 40-H—Five-Passenger forty horsepower Touring Car	$1650
MODEL 35-L—Five-Passenger thirty-five horsepower Touring Car	$1400
MODEL 30-L—Five-Passenger thirty horsepower Touring Car	$1100
MODEL 30-L—Two-Passenger 30 horsepower Car	$1100

Above Prices, F. O. B. Factory.

The Auburn "Rides like a Pullman and pulls like a locomotive"

AUBURN MOTOR CAR CO.

207 TWELFTH STREET, OAKLAND

SENSE OF HUMOR WARDS OFF AGE

Lecturer Says Woman's Keenest Capacity for Enjoyment Is at Age of 40.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Dr. George Peckole, Sears post-graduate lecturer, says every woman should be at her best between 40 and 50.

"A woman should have her keenest capacity for enjoyment at that time, and her mental powers should be at their clearest and strongest," he says. "And true as this is of every woman, it should be more particularly true of the business woman."

"A woman can make or keep herself young in three ways. First, she must cultivate a sense of humor; second, she must get a hobby, and, third, she must have interest outside of herself."

"It is just because the average business woman usually has all these she generally keeps herself younger than the woman whose interests are purely social. The woman who works has the better nervous organization and a higher health average nine times out of ten than the woman of leisure."

"Compare country women with city women. How soon the country woman grows old and faded, and how long, by comparison, the city woman stays young and fresh. They may be each equally active. They may each work equally hard in their different ways, but just compare the appearance of two women of 40. If one has lived all her life in the city and the other has passed her days in the country."

MEDAL TO GIRL FOR NOT SALUTING FLAG

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—"Over Seas Society" has presented Catherine Audsley of Perth Amboy, N. J., with a medal and enrolled her as a life member in gratitude of her action in refusing to salute the American flag and swear allegiance to the United States at the recent exercises in the Perth Amboy public schools.

Catherine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Audsley, British subjects. "Douglas" Audsley, Catherine's small brother, was made a lifelong member by the society also for his like stand. The London branch made the presentation, while the New York branch made the children members.

Mrs. Audsley said today that she is now willing to return her children to school, as the oath of allegiance has been changed, but she says the board of education refuses to raise the ban of expulsion placed on the children at the time of the flag salute incident.

But why did Dr. Cook choose a steamship called George Washington to come home on?—Pittsburgh Courier.

ACCUSES PASTOR IN HIS ANSWER

Husband Charges Minister With Sending "Dear, Sweet Girl" Note to Wife.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 23.—The name of the Rev. Egidius Kelmeyer, now of Chester, Pa., but formerly of Titusville, N. J., plays a prominent part in the answer filed in the court of chancery by William F. Van Arsdale, of this city, to the suit for maintenance and support instituted by Mrs. Mary E. Van Arsdale. The Rev. Mr. Kelmeyer, who is a Presbyterian minister, left these parts about a year ago.

In his answering affidavits Mr. Van Arsdale claims that he found a torn letter, when he started to place it together, and how long, by comparison, the city woman stays young and fresh. They may be each equally active. They may each work equally hard in their different ways, but just compare the appearance of two women of 40. If one has lived all her life in the city and the other has passed her days in the country."

DESERTED WIFE WOULD WED IF HUSBY IS DEAD

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—Mrs. John Mee of 1117 South New York avenue, Atlantic City, yesterday told her husband, whom she hasn't seen or heard from since he deserted her, a 15-year-old bride, 17 years ago.

"I don't think Mrs. Mee wants him to come back to her. Seventeen years' absence has cooled her affection and she isn't 'strong' for 'making up.' But she would like to know whether he is living, and the knowledge will guide her future course in life."

Mrs. Mee, who is now 22 years old, is tired of solitude. And after waiting all these years for some word from her recent spouse she has decided to say "yes" to a very ardent wooer, who has been growing more and more insistent of late.

The only circumstance that hinders her from taking the second matrimonial plunge is the possibility that her husband is alive. She doesn't want to take a chance of his turning up and making a fuss, though she feels that he can't reasonably expect her to remain a grass widow all her life.

Hence the appeal to the North American. Mrs. Mee says she was married in Camden in 1894, when she was 15 years old. Her husband was 19. They lived for three months in the neighborhood of Twelfth and Christian streets, and then Mee disappeared.

1998, 1999, 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2019, 2020, 2021, 2022, 2023, 2024, 2025, 2026, 2027, 2028, 2029, 2030, 2031, 2032, 2033, 2034, 2035, 2036, 2037, 2038, 2039, 2040, 2041, 2042, 2043, 2044, 2045, 2046, 2047, 2048, 2049, 2050, 2051, 2052, 2053, 2054, 2055, 2056, 2057, 2058, 2059, 2060, 2061, 2062, 2063, 2064, 2065, 2066, 2067, 2068, 2069, 2070, 2071, 2072, 2073, 2074, 2075, 2076, 2077, 2078, 2079, 2080, 2081, 2082, 2083, 2084, 2085, 2086, 2087, 2088, 2089, 2090, 2091, 2092, 2093, 2094, 2095, 2096, 2097, 2098, 2099, 2100, 2101, 2102, 2103, 2104, 2105, 2106, 2107, 2108, 2109, 2110, 2111, 2112, 2113, 2114, 2115, 2116, 2117, 2118, 2119, 2120, 2121, 2122, 2123, 2124, 2125, 2126, 2127, 2128, 2129, 2130, 2131, 2132, 2133, 2134, 2135, 2136, 2137, 2138, 2139, 2140, 2141, 2142, 2143, 2144, 2145, 2146, 2147, 2148, 2149, 2150, 2151, 2152, 2153, 2154, 2155, 2156, 2157, 2158, 2159, 2160, 2161, 2162, 2163, 2164, 2165, 2166, 2167, 2168, 2169, 2170, 2171, 2172, 2173, 2174, 2175, 2176, 2177, 2178, 2179, 2180, 2181, 2182, 2183, 2184, 2185, 2186, 2187, 2188, 2189, 2190, 2191, 2192, 2193, 2194, 2195, 2196, 2197, 2198, 2199, 2200, 2201, 2202, 2203, 2204, 2205, 2206, 2207, 2208, 2209, 2210, 2211, 2212, 2213, 2214, 2215, 2216, 2217, 2218, 2219, 2220, 2221, 2222, 2223, 2224, 2225, 2226, 2227, 2228, 2229, 2230, 2231, 2232, 2233, 2234, 2235, 2236, 2237, 2238, 2239, 2240, 2241, 2242, 2243, 2244, 2245, 2246, 2247, 2248, 2249, 2250, 2251, 2252, 2253, 2254, 2255, 2256, 2257, 2258, 2259, 2260, 2261, 2262, 2263, 2264, 2265, 2266, 2267, 2268, 2269, 2270, 2271, 2272, 2273, 2274, 2275, 2276, 2277, 2278, 2279, 2280, 2281, 2282, 2283, 2284, 2285, 2286, 2287, 2288, 2289, 2290, 2291, 2292, 2293, 2294, 2295, 2296, 2297, 2298, 2299, 2300, 2301, 2302, 2303, 2304, 2305, 2306, 2307, 2308, 2309, 2310, 2311, 2312, 2313, 2314, 2315, 2316, 2317, 2318, 2319, 2320, 2321, 2322, 2323, 2324, 2325, 2326, 2327, 2328, 2329, 2330, 2331, 2332, 2333, 2334, 2335, 2336, 2337, 2338, 2339, 2340, 2341, 2342, 2343, 2344, 2345, 2346, 2347, 2348, 2349, 2350, 2351, 2352, 2353, 2354, 2355, 2356, 2357, 2358, 2359, 2360, 2361, 2362, 2363, 2364, 2365, 2366, 2367, 2368, 2369, 2370, 2371, 2372, 2373, 2374, 2375, 2376, 2377, 2378, 2379, 2380, 2381, 2382, 2383, 2384, 2385, 2386, 2387, 2388, 2389, 2390, 2391, 2392, 2393, 2394, 2395, 2396, 2397, 2398, 2399, 2400, 2401, 2402, 2403, 2404, 2405, 2406, 2407, 2408, 2409, 2410, 2411, 2412, 2413, 2414, 2415, 2416, 2417, 2418, 2419, 2420, 2421, 2422, 2423, 2424, 2425, 2426, 2427, 2428, 2429, 2430, 2431, 2432, 2433, 2434, 2435, 2436, 2437, 2438, 2439, 2440, 2441, 2442, 2443, 2444, 2445, 2446, 2447, 2448, 2449, 2450, 2451, 2452, 2453, 2454, 2455, 2456, 2457, 2458, 2459, 2460, 2461, 2462, 2463, 2464, 2465, 2466, 2467, 2468, 2469, 2470, 2471, 2472, 2473, 2474, 2475, 2476, 2477, 2478, 2479, 2480, 2481, 2482, 2483, 2484, 2485, 2486, 2487, 2488, 2489, 2490, 2491, 2492, 2493, 2494, 2495, 2496, 2497, 2498, 2499, 2500, 2501, 2502, 2503, 2504, 2505, 2506, 2507, 2508, 2509, 2510, 2511, 2512, 2513, 2514, 2515, 2516, 2517, 2518, 2519, 2520, 2521, 2522, 2523, 2524, 2525, 2526, 2527, 2528, 2529, 2530, 2531, 2532, 2533, 2534, 2535, 2536, 2537, 2538, 2539, 2540, 2541, 2542, 2543, 2544, 2545, 2546, 2547, 2548, 2549, 2550, 2551, 2552, 2553, 2554, 2555, 2556, 2557, 2558, 2559, 2560, 2561, 2562, 2563, 2564, 2565, 2566, 2567, 2568, 2569, 2570, 2571, 2572, 2573, 2574, 2575, 2576, 2577, 2578, 2579, 2580, 2581, 2582, 2583, 2584, 2585, 2586, 2587, 2588, 2589, 2590, 2591, 2592, 2593, 2594, 2595, 2596, 2597, 2598, 2599, 2600, 2601, 2602, 2603, 2604, 2605, 2606, 2607, 2608, 2609, 2610, 2611, 2612, 2613, 2614, 2615, 2616, 2617, 2618, 2619, 2620, 2621, 2622, 2623, 2624, 2625, 2626, 2627, 2628, 2629, 2630, 2631, 2632, 2633, 2634, 2635, 2636, 2637, 2638, 2639, 2640, 2641, 2642, 2643, 2644, 2645, 2646, 2647, 2648, 2649, 2650, 2651, 2652, 2653, 2654, 2655, 2656, 2657, 2658, 2659, 2660, 2661, 2662, 2663, 2664, 2665, 2666, 2667, 2668, 2669, 2670, 2671, 2672, 2673, 2674, 2675, 2676, 2677, 2678, 2679, 26

THE

ISLAND THROWN OUT OF SEA AS IF BY MAGIC

Rumbles, Flashes of Fire and Hissing of Gases Create Terror in Hearts of Those Who Remember Martinique

TRINIDAD, BRITISH WEST INDIES, Nov. 25.—If you stand at Erin Point, on the southern shores of this island, and gaze out into the Atlantic Ocean toward the coast of Venezuela, you will see why British Dominions are larger by two and a half acres than they were before Saturday, November 4th.

On that date an island of the volcanic type, not uncommon in southern waters, burst itself above the surface with characteristic rumble, hissing of gases and flashes of fire, greatly to the alarm of the people on the Trinidad shore.

The new island has not yet been named and as its composition is largely oozy blue mud or clay, it is doubtful if it will withstand the attacks of the sea. Any day it is apt to disappear whence it came and Great Britain will have lost its newest possession. The enterprising governor of Trinidad visited the island with a party of officials shortly after it made its appearance, ready to plant the Union Jack on the warm oozy soil; but measurements showed that the island was only three miles long, and planting the flag was unnecessary.

Cable despatches have told briefly of the island's birth, but there is much that is interesting about the phenomenon that is known as the "New Island." Residents of points along the Trinidad coast who either witnessed the occurrence or cautiously visited the new land before it had time to cool.

BY GAS PRESSURE. Dr. Fredholm, a resident of Trinidad, says that the island was probably thrust up by the pressure of gas originating from the decomposition of carbonaceous matter found in connection with asphalt deposits for which Trinidad is famous. He predicts that a flow of asphalt may follow and an asphalt lake may make its appearance on the island.

If no flow of asphalt follows, however, he says, "the only cause of the upheaval will be a mud volcano so common along the southern shore. Such a volcano on a bank raised but slightly above the sea level would probably not remain above the surface very long, for the debris would soon be washed away and the vents, once below water, would become choked by sedimentary deposits. It would therefore not be surprising if the new island dropped into the sea again as quickly as it emerged."

Residents of the little settlements of Erin and Chatham, on the southern coast of Trinidad, were greatly terrified when the island appeared, and many of them fled from their homes, dragging their belongings into the bush. Others knelt in prayer in the streets or rushed to the churches.

Great fear was in the minds of all, as memories of Martinique were awakened.

A fisherman, at midday, on Saturday, November 4, first noticed signs of disturbance in the sea. The water was dirty and murky, but no land was then in sight. But about 8 o'clock that evening the people of Erin and other points near by were started to see a great column of fire shoot up from the bosom of the water. Dense smoke followed the flame, and there were further intermittent flashes of fire, accompanied by a rumbling as of thunder. When the smoke cleared away it was seen that a new island had been created. Flames continued to flicker over the surface of the geographical visitor throughout the night, but on the following morning they had subsided and the governor and party set out in a boat to claim the new land for King George. They reached the island with extreme care in the face of a choppy sea and head wind. A landing was effected with difficulty and it was quickly ascertained that the surface of the island was yet warm and very soft and boiling hot underneath. This made walking difficult and dangerous, and boards were used for a footing.

TWO CRATERS FOUND. They found two craters on the island, five or six feet in diameter, although the highest part of the entire stretch was not more than twelve or fifteen feet above the surface of the sea. Gas was escaping from the craters and the air was saturated with the smell of sulphur and oil. Rocks were imbedded in the honey-comb surface of the island, and as many of them contained marked traces of iron pyrites, the theory was advanced that these rocks, striking together, had caused the flashes of fire. The fossilized remains of several strange marine animals were found in the mud, but otherwise no signs of sea life were visible.

As the island is yet unrecorded on marine charts, it is a menace to navigation and the harbor master at Trinidad has sent out a notice warning all mariners that this part of the south coast should be approached and navigated with great care until such time as a detailed examination has been made of the island and soundings taken in the vicinity.

It is a tradition in Trinidad that a flourishing settlement of Indians once existed at La Brea, on the north coast of that point of the island which jutted out toward Venezuela, and that it was destroyed by the sudden appearance of the now famous Pitch Lake there. It is related that loud explosions were heard by Indians in other parts of the island, and that on investigating the cause they found the camp of their brothers at La Brea destroyed and in its place the strange sight of a lake of pitch.

FOWLER OPPOSES PLANNED MERGER

President Irrigation Congress Would Dodge Swamp Reclamation.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 25.—Benjamin A. Fowler of Phoenix, president of the Nineteenth National Irrigation Congress, is unalterably opposed to merging that organization with the swamp land reclamation movement, supported by railroads and other powerful interests in the South, and is lining up the forces in the Western country to present a strong front at the annual meeting in Chicago, December 6 to 9. Mr. Fowler says in an authorized statement:

"The National Irrigation Congress is a Western institution, peculiarly and particularly interested in the Pacific Slope and inter-mountain states, yet broad enough in its scope and purpose to cover the continent in the policy of bringing the landless man in touch with the manless land. To devote itself entirely to the reclamation of swamp lands, as has been suggested, would be suicidal, and to making that its chief work would not be in keeping with its name."

"Far better would it be, if the South is in earnest about making its swamp lands habitable, to organize a separate association for the reclamation of lands by drainage. The Western states would welcome such a movement and would gladly join hands with the South and give financial assistance as well as moral support and co-operation."

"I do not hold a brief for the West, so I do not speak officially for the numerous interests; but from what I know of the people and from conversations I have had with leaders in irrigation and actual irrigation farmers, I should say that the merger movement will arouse strong opposition at the Chicago meeting."

FRESNO RAISIN EXCHANGE SOON TO BE REALITY

FRESNO, Cal., Nov. 25.—At a meeting of forty growers of raisins and business men of this city steps were taken for the formation of a raisin exchange to handle this industry as grain and butter is dealt with in Eastern exchanges. M. K. Harris, W. R. Nutting, H. H. Welsh, D. L. Newman and A. G. Wilson were selected as directors and a committee was named to solicit funds for organization purposes. Data regarding production and marketing will be gathered at once.

"77"

Humphreys' Seventy-Seven Breaks up Grip and

COLDS

First Cold Snap.

The first cold snap is the most dangerous; it finds so many people unprepared—too thinly clad for bad weather—

The early use of "Seventy-seven" is almost as good a protector as a warm garment—

Keep "Seventy-seven" handy, take a dose at the first chill or shiver and you will not be likely to take cold—

All dealers sell "Seventy-seven." 25c or mailed.

Humphreys' Homeo. Medicine Co., Cor. W. 12th and Ann Streets, New York.

AD MEN TO GET ROYAL WELCOME

Dallas Already Preparing to Greet Delegates to Big Convention.

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 15.—Delegates to the eighth annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, which will be held at Dallas next May, will receive the warmest welcome ever accorded a national convention by a Texas city. Dallas will not be alone in the entertainment of these commercial leaders, for the entire state of Texas will join in the work and from the governor down to the most humble citizen of the greatest commonwealth in the Union, all will contribute to the pleasure of the ad men.

When the ad men reach Dallas they will find a city where optimism is more dense than a London fog and more invigorating than the air on the Alps. They will find a city with energy enough for one three times its population of 100,000, where the sound of the steel riveter sings the song of progress 365 days in the year. A city where skyscrapers are as common as theater buildings on Broadway. Skyscrapers are becoming popular as well as necessary, in the Southwest, and buildings of three and four stories in Dallas are being torn down to be replaced with modern steel, fireproof structures of sixteen and twenty stories.

EIGHT DAYS IN TEXAS.

The advertising men who attend this convention are planning to spend at least eight days in Texas and from the time they cross Red river on the north or enter the port at Galveston on the south, until they bid farewell to the Lone Star State there will be something doing every minute.

One of the most important features of the Ad Men's convention will be the opening, and if the plans now being contemplated are carried out, the convention will begin on Sunday. In case this is decided upon definitely more than a dozen pulpits in the city of Dallas will be occupied by prominent advertising men from different parts of the world. There will be no business session on this day and with the exception of lay sermons by advertising men, there will be no meetings. President George W. Coleman of the National Association writes: that this plan is meeting with approval wherever it has been suggested and it is more than likely that the idea will be carried out in full.

SUES CHINAMAN FOR BREACH OF PROMISE

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 25.—Miss Anna Hopper of Spokane, a white woman, has filed a breach of promise suit against Cong Lee, a Chinaman aged 70 years, residing at Pullman, Wash., and claims $50,000 damages. The papers were served on the defendant yesterday. The plaintiff alleges that the Chinaman promised to marry her November 8, then put it off until November 22, and then failed to keep his promise. The Celestial says the plaintiff and another woman came to his place November 8 and asked him if he wanted a good wife. He declared that he did not promise to marry the plaintiff because he wanted to find out first if she were a good woman. It is said the Chinaman, a market gardener, is wealthy.

CHURCHMEN DECLARE RICHESON'S INNOCENCE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 25.—"It is inconceivable to us who have known of his interest in the poor, seen him by the bedside of the sick and been with him in houses of sorrow, that he is guilty of the charge brought against him."

Thus reads a resolution adopted by the Emmanuel Baptist Church Society last night in accepting the resignation of its pastor, the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, under indictment charged with poisoning Avis R. Linnell. The society declared the acceptance "must not be interpreted as prejudicial to his position."

For rent

Bungalows, Flats and Cottages, desirable locations, reasonable rent; we will find one for you, and there is no charge for the service. Just telephone Rent Department, Oakland 482 or A2105. Better still, call at store.

You'll like trading at Jackson's

Note:

There is but one price at Jackson's, no matter whether you pay cash or buy on time. FURTHERMORE, Jackson's protect you if you are sick or out of work.

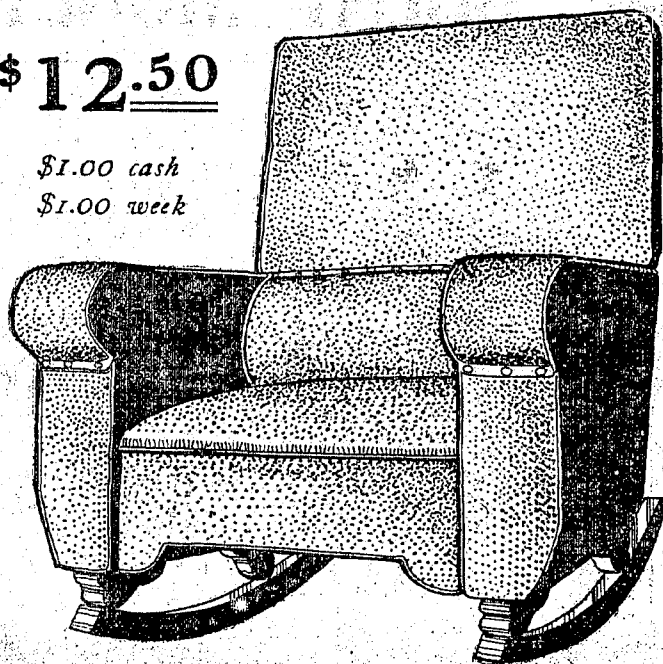

Another good holiday special---the big rocker
There is nothing you can buy in way of a Christmas gift for any one that makes as big a showing for the money as furniture---and it's useful

And Jackson's easy terms enables many to give something much better than possible if they were compelled to pay all cash

$12.50

$1.00 cash

$1.00 week

Just forty to be sold

This great, massive Rocker, two styles, square back, as illustrated, and oval back. These Rockers are truly a remarkable value and worth every cent of the price asked. The frame is heavy and well-made; fastened with wood screw, spring seat, half roll cushion in back, making it very comfortable and rich in appearance.

The entire Rocker is upholstered in best quality of imitation leather that will wear better than real leather of the No. 2 grade, and almost as well as the No. 1 grade, as it will not crack. See window display. Delivered when and where you say.

No telephone orders

$7.50

$1 cash

$1 week

Dainty little desk, 23 inches wide, solid oak quarter sawed lid and drawer; the finish is golden. Makes an appropriate gift.

Note

On our Mezzanine floor we are showing an elegant line of ladies' desks, and they are not expensive. They are in golden, oak-fumed and Early English; also mahogany, Circassian walnut and birds-eye maple. And then there is a fine showing of English writing tables, handcraft and mission designs. Several handsome sideboards, pieces, late patterns. Every one an ideal Christmas gift; terms to suit.

Room-size Axminster rugs $19.00

The most popular room size rug made 9x12 feet

$2.00 down puts one on your floor then $1.00 a week

Every one a rich pattern. Many Oriental reproductions in soft color harmony, woven of pure worsted yarns, without corner seams.

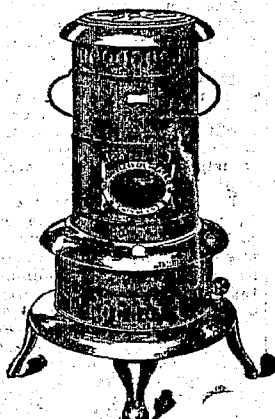

Special sale of dining room furniture arranged for Thanksgiving---see windows

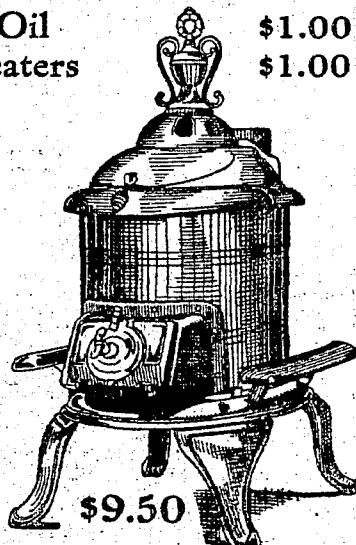

Solid oak table and 4 solid oak chairs to match. $21 $2.50 cash, $1.00 week

Exactly as illustrated. Table has 45-inch top and extends to 6 feet.

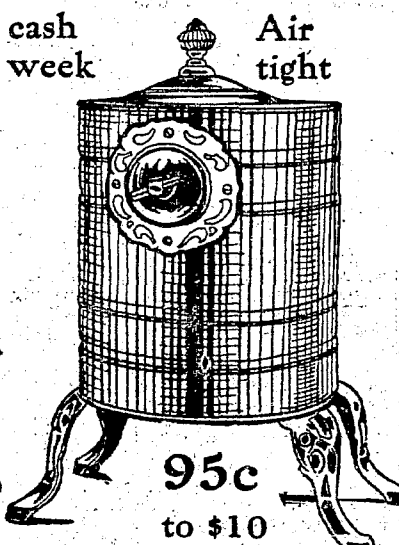

Get your heater set up before Thanksgiving

Oil heaters

$9.50

Air tight

95c to $10

The handiest thing you can have in the house here in California is one of these oil heaters; fine for the bedroom, bath room; perfectly safe; no odor. You can boil water on top of them or pop corn. The $3.50 and $5.00 sizes are the most popular.

A splendid heater for parlor or living room; for wood or coal; cast top and bottom; air tight draft; nickel urn and fenders.

You can set these up where there's been a grate—and you can burn old newspapers or most anything in them.

$25.00

$2.50 cash

$1.00 week

Note

This is one of our late China Cabinets in dark fumed, solid oak, quarter-sawn—exactly as illustrated; four compartments for dishes; glass doors and ends; grooved shelves; plate rail across top; stands 53 inches high, and is 39 inches wide.

$25

$2.50 cash

$1.00 week

Buffet, solid oak fumed, 34-inch top plate mirror in back, three drawers, two cabinets.

Dinner Sets Thanksgiving special

and easy terms

A pretty American China Set, clear white with ainty green stripe; 50 pieces, large enough for family of six. $12.00

Terms—$1.50 cash, $1.00 week

Handsome Austrian China set, new pattern, 50 pieces, double coin gold rim around edges, with delicate pink flower between $17.50

Terms—$2.00 cash, $1.00 week

Beautiful Set of English china, 100 pieces, clear white, nice weight, gold rim, dainty decoration of green. $20.00

Terms—$2.00 cash, $1.00 week

Handland China Set of 100 pieces; neat pattern, pleasing shape, very pale decoration; a popular design. $32.50

Terms—$4.00 cash, $1.00 week

Financed Credit

JACKSON'S

CLAY 8-13th & 14th OAKLAND

OAKLAND STANDS HIGH IN THE GREAT MONEY CENTERS OF THE EAST

IMPORTANT EFFECT OF BIG DEALS

Million Dollars of Outside Capital Comes Here to Help Development.

New York Financiers Show Their Faith in Oakland's Progress.

The chief importance to Oakland in the general large deals in central business district really closed during the past week lies, in the opinion of leading local bankers and business men, in the fact that Eastern financiers have discovered it is a safe city for the profitable investment of money. Those deals brought into Oakland a round million dollars of outside money. Of this amount $200,000 came from Salt Lake City, where it had been loaned on realty, and the remainder—$800,000—direct from New York to be employed here in the creation of modern business blocks. The Salt Lake money was primarily used to put through one of the deals, namely, the purchase of an inside portion of the Broadway frontage of the former Canning block, but it will ultimately be absorbed also in the erection of a modern twelve-story office building on Washington and Twelfth streets.

CENTER OF THE DEALS.

All of these big deals, in which the enormous sum of $1,750,000 was involved in the aggregate, revolved about the proposed improvement of the Kahn property, located in the heart of the core bounded by San Pablo avenue, Broadway and Sixteenth street. It is irregular in shape, comprises 38,000 square feet and has a frontage on each of the thoroughfares named. It stands near the center of a contracted circle which embraces the majority of the larger and more costly business blocks erected within the past three or four years in Oakland's chief business district. For the past three years or so the Kahn Bros. wrestled with the problem of its improvement in a way consistent with the importance of its location. It was finally decided to erect thereon an important and office building of the largest and costliest type in the city. Plans were finally drawn for a twelve-story building to cost over $1,000,000. The elevation is one of rare beauty and solidity. The tentative interior plans provide for a magnificent arcade of exquisite design, which, if ultimately carried out, will place the structure without its equal on the continent. If negotiations now pending succeed, this feature may be modified or entirely abandoned, without disturbing, however, the main uses to which the building is to be finally devoted, as a new emporium for the firm of Kahn Bros.

THE FINANCING PROBLEM.

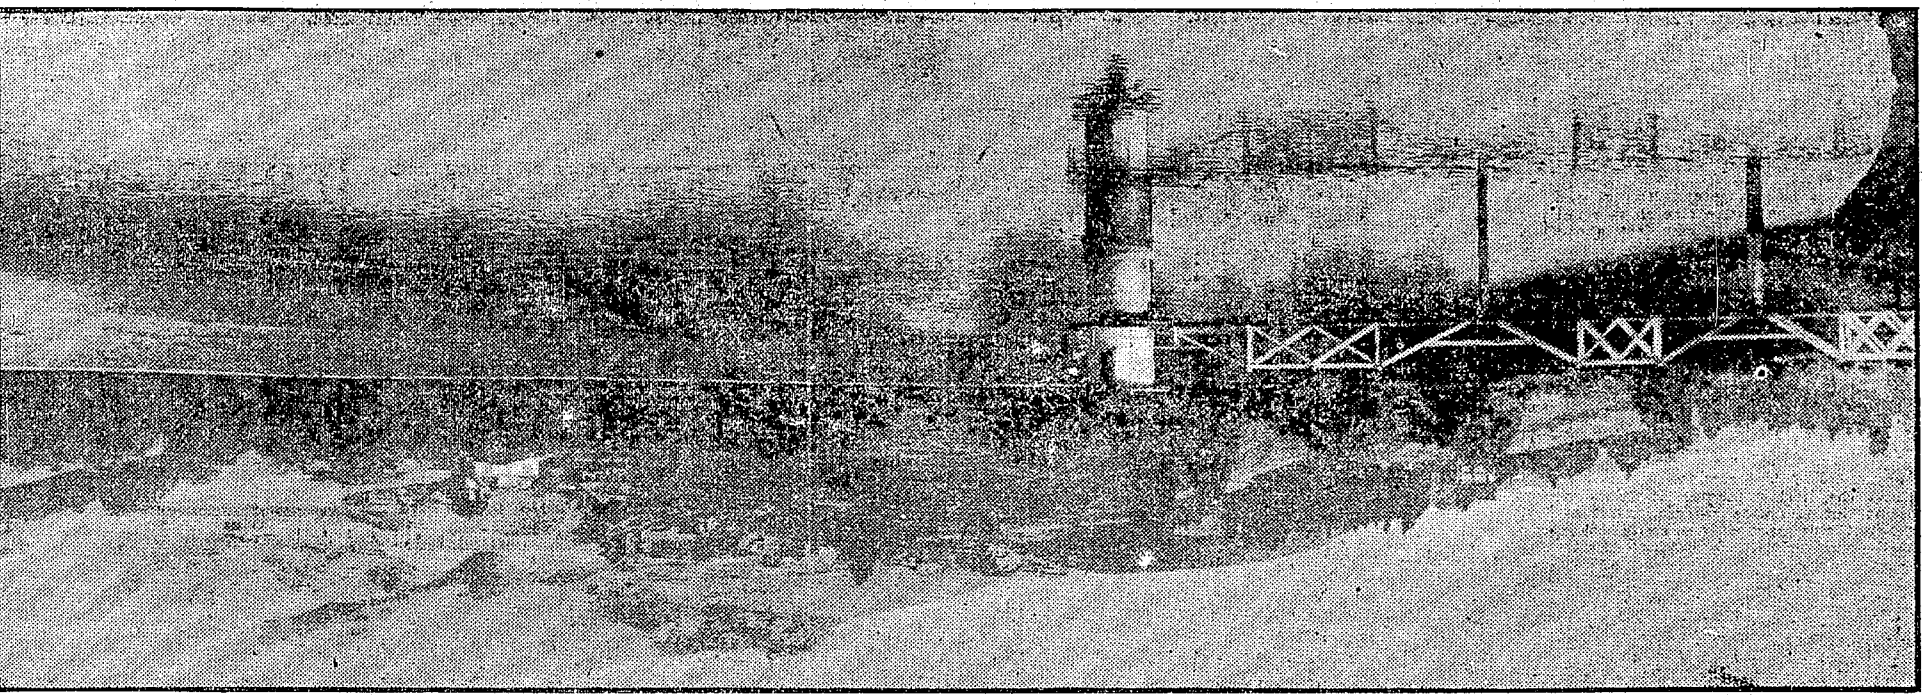

But the first feature in the problem of the improvement of the property was the financing of the proposed structure. It involved the borrowing of a large sum of money or the sale of other properties owned by the Kahns, or possibly both. Conditions were unfavorable for its financing on this side of the continent. It was finally decided to sell the Kahn block on the northeast corner of Twelfth and Washington street, the largest of the properties figuring in the recent deals, for a consideration of $375,000 and seeking a large loan in New York. The sale of the Washington and Twelfth street block was confided to the Laymanse Real Estate Company, and Frederick Kahn went East to negotiate the loan of $650,000, which he accomplished with the New York Life Insurance Company, for the erection of the new emporium building and an additional $130,000 for the erection of the Pantages vaudeville theater building by the Loeb Realty Company, in which the Kahn family is largely interested, on the site of the former Hotel Merritt, at the northwest corner of Twelfth and Franklin streets.

EDUCATION FOR FINANCIERS

In anticipation of what proved to be fact, namely, that New York financiers were unimpressed by the recent developments made in Oakland, the big city im-

(Continued on Page 42)

Cordonces Park --- Twenty-acre tract leased by Berkeley from Peoples Water Co., for twenty years for public park uses. Upper picture --- Berryman reservoir, located in park grounds. Lower picture---General view of new park site.

BUILDING ACTIVE AROUND RICHMOND

All Structures Are Commodious and Modern in Design.

RICHMOND, Nov. 25.—The building activity on Macdonald avenue in this city at the present time far exceeds the record for any previous time in the history of Richmond. At the present time there are buildings being erected on the main thoroughfare every two or three blocks.

The buildings that are being built are of the latest type and design, ranging from a one-story brick or concrete building to a three-story structure. The work is being done by local men entirely, not an outside contractor having charge of the erection of any building.

Near the corner of Fourth and Macdonald avenue C. Meade of Alameda is erecting a small one-story brick building that will cost about three thousand five hundred dollars when completed. On the corner of Fifth and Macdonald avenue the Imperial hotel is nearly completed. It is a three-story pressed brick building that contains about sixty-five rooms in all. The building will be turned over to the lease in about fifteen days, when it will be a hotel. It will be opened to accommodate the public.

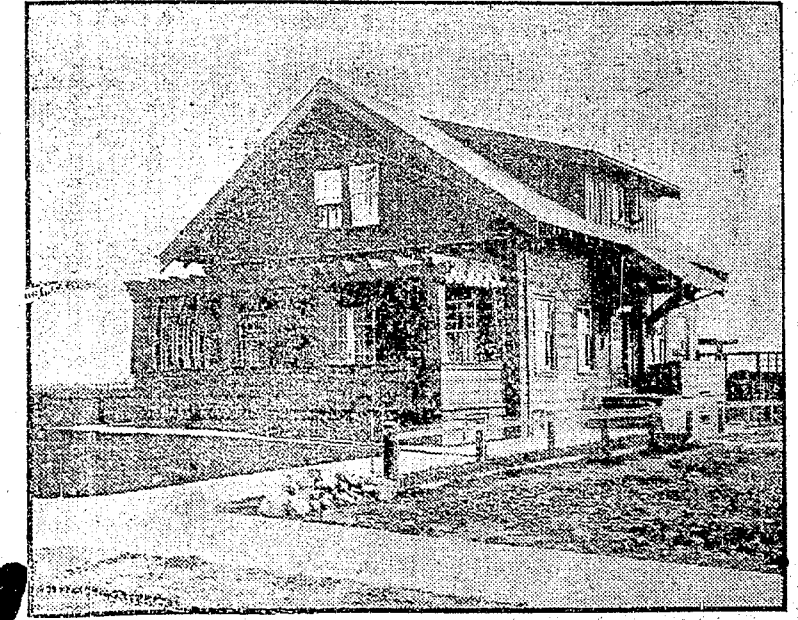

Just opposite the new hotel building, G. A. Conley is erecting a one-story brick structure which is to be a theater and is operated by Durner & Dahlgren of San Francisco. On the corner of Seventh and Macdonald avenue Pillow Brothers are building a two-story brick building costing about ten thousand dollars. The building when completed will be occupied by Louis Schraden, the furniture dealer here.

Near the corner of Twelfth and Macdonald avenue the Mc. Wable Garage Company are building a fine reinforced garage, which is the finest building of its kind in the county today. Next to the garage is the new Walther Block that has just been turned over to the owners by Contractor Alvin Carpenter. The structure is a two-story brick, with two storerooms below and eighteen rooms above.

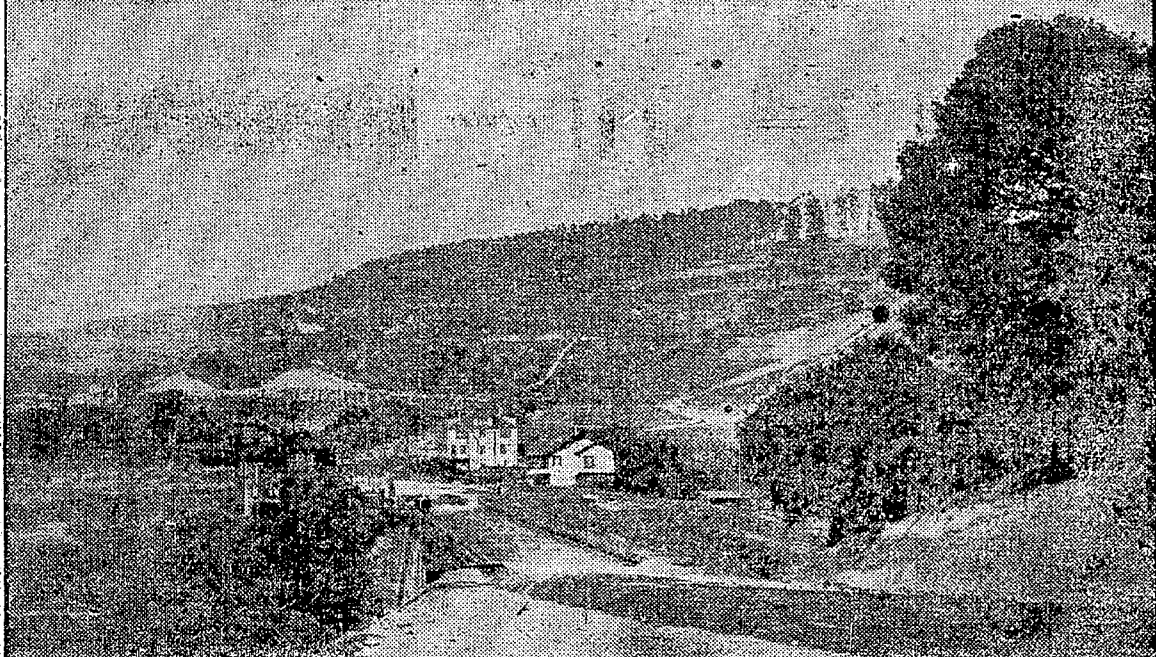

Ground is to be broken within a few days for the new Nolan block at the corner of Thirteenth and Macdonald avenue. According to the plans of the building it will be a one-story brick, containing four stores.

TO TELL OF REVOLUTION.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The regular monthly meeting of the Beroan Society will be held at Calvary Presbyterian church, Fillmore street, near Jackson, Monday, November 27, at 8:15 p. m. Monlin Chiang, a student of the University of California, will talk on "The Present Revolution in China."

Residence of Professor Heinrichs of Yo Liberty theater, on Thirteenth avenue, in Fourth Avenue Heights.

ALAMEDA COUNTY DEEDS RECORDED

Past Week Shows a Material Increase in Their Number Compared With 1910.

The report of County Recorder G. W. Bacon for the week ending Wednesday, November 22, shows the following facts relative to the various instruments recorded:

	No.	Amount.
Deeds	397
Mortgages	131	$785,425.01
Releases of mortgages	105	$47,954.35
Deeds of Trust	116	$5,454,782.35
Reconveyances	55	$9,322.43
Following is a comparison of the instruments filed this week with those of the corresponding period in 1910:
1911, Documents, 999; revenue, $1526.10
1910, Documents, 863; revenue, $1299.05.

MULTIPLYING FOOTHILL HOMES

To the resident of Oakland, and vicinity familiar with the growth and development of the outlying residence sections of the city, the progress made in the Fourth Avenue properties of the Wickham-Havens Company, is a cause for wonderment and strengthens the belief in the growth and prosperity of the city. The approach to this residential section is by way of the magnificent Fourth Avenue boulevard, which brings one to Thirteenth avenue, the beginning of Fourth Avenue Terrace, the oldest of the Avenue tracts, which is now well built up with attractive bungalows. Further on and beyond the Key Route right-of-way lies Fourth Avenue Park, which is more highly restricted and from which splendid views of the bay and Sather Park are obtainable. But perhaps the most sought-for residence property because of the variety of scenic views possible, is Fourth Avenue Heights, situated near the end of the car line. Here the restrictions are moderate, though some homes have been erected there which cost $8000. Several miles of macadamized streets wind gracefully over these tracts, and the improvements are all of a high type. But the thing that impresses most the visitor is the activity of building operations there as well as elsewhere in the city's hill districts.

Twenty gallons of these beer per capita were drunk in the United States last year. Some unknown capita must have drunk our supply.—Detroit News.

BERKELEY'S MUNICIPAL PARK

Twenty-acre Tract Is Leased in Northeastern Section of the City.

BERKELEY, Nov. 25.—One of the most important improvements projected for the general benefit of the northeastern hill section of the city is the development by the municipality of the first large people's pleasure spot, Cordonces Park, through which an Oakland Traction street car line is to be extended to the Cragmont district.

The city has leased from the Peoples Water Company for a term of twenty years the twenty-acre tract at the present terminus of the carline, in which the Berryman reservoir is located. This breathing place has recently been given a name by the municipal authorities. An old macadam curved street has been built through the park and a trestle constructed to connect it with the system of winding thoroughfares in the district.

The expense of the trestle work and the extension of the carline is to be borne by the property owners who are members of the Cragmont Improvement Club, and the Land Company. The roadway and trestle have been completed, but on account of the beginning of the rainy season, the building of the carline has been postponed until next spring. Announcement has been made by the land company that the line is to be extended more than a mile to the gigantic rocks which command a sweeping marine view. If the extension reaches only across the trestled ravine and terminates at the rapidly growing residence district in that section of the hills, during the coming spring or summer, the improvement will be regarded as an important one.

The park, which has been leased for a term of twenty years at a monthly rental of $20, is to be planted with trees and shrubs and otherwise beautified by the city. A charming view of the bay and surrounding cities may be obtained from this spot, as it occupies an elevation commanding an outlook as delightful as the attractions of the pleasure ground itself.

A newly built hillside residence district borders it on the south, along the Euclid avenue carline.

REALTY NOTES OF PUBLIC INTEREST

Center of Building Activity in Oakland; Street Paving and Sewer Work.

The delivery on the premises of the structural steel for the new Pantages vaudeville theater building, at the northwest corner of Twelfth and Franklin streets, began during the past week. The property is owned by the Loeb Realty Company, a corporation in which the Kahns are largely interested.

The territory bounded by San Pablo avenue, Jefferson, Fourteenth and Sixteenth streets is the busiest scene of building activity in Oakland at the present time. Nearly $2,000,000 worth of new building construction is in progress there at the present time. Within a few months the building activity in this central business section will be expanded to Telegraph avenue and Broadway on the east, to Twelfth street on the south and probably to Grove street on the west. Oakland is growing apace.

The construction of the new storm sewer in Webster street from Twelfth to Second streets is nearly finished. The next improvement to follow on that thoroughfare will be the laying down of a standard asphalt pavement to correspond with the pavement which the Southern Pacific Company has laid in the center of the roadway in reconstructing and electrifying the old narrow-gauge steam railway tracks.

The contractors for the new St. Paul Episcopal Church to be erected on the corner of Bay place and Motecito avenue are losing no time in proceeding with its construction. The building permit was taken out this week, the cost of the structure being named as $62,000.

Henry S. Tom, Salsen reports the sale during the past week through his real estate office of fifty acres of land lying south of the Best Manufacturing Company's plant, at Elmhurst station, on account of the estate of Carmen Schwartz, to the Selby Brothers of Oakland, for $24,500. The buyers are represented to have bought the property for speculation.

TO HOLD A SPECIAL THANKSGIVING SERVICE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Rev. William Rader will preach tomorrow in Calvary Presbyterian Church, Jackson and Fillmore streets, morning and evening, 11 a. m.—"The City Without Tears." A special Thanksgiving service will be held in the evening. At 7:45 the topic will be, "Our National Thanksgiving." Union Thanksgiving services will be held in Calvary church at 10:30 on Thursday. Rev. W. J. Fisher of the Seventh Avenue Church will preach. This offering will go to the San Anselmo Orphanage.

PREDICT BUILDING BOOM IN BERKELEY

Fifty Residences Are Planned for Single Tract There in Spring.

BERKELEY, Nov. 25.—An unprecedented building boom is expected in Berkeley next spring, and activity in the nature of a forerunner is already noticeable. A continuance of fine weather has resulted in more building this fall than has ever been known in previous seasons. Numerous business structures and numberless dwellings are in process of erection. Much of this progress is due to the beginning of traffic on the new Key Route electric lines recently and the operation of the Southern Pacific local road, which is to start next month.

Fifty new residences are planned for the early spring in the Thousand Oaks tract. There will also be many new homes built in the Thousand Oaks Station Tract, which has just been placed on the market by the Nevall-Murdoch Company.

Building permits have been issued as follows: Two-story, eight-room dwelling, Piedmont avenue near Russell street, for Mrs. Lily Wallace; $6000. Two-story, six-room dwelling, Mattia avenue near Oxford, for A. C. Bane; $2500. One-story two-room building, Virginia street near Milvia, for Fannie L. Dozier; $750. One and one-half story bungalow, Milvia street near Francisco street, for J. T. Owen; $1800. One-story one-room theater building, Adeline street near Fairview street, for Thomas M. Luke; $3800. Two-story, six-room residence, Cedar street near Spruce, for Edward Duffy; $4000. One and one-half story eight-room residence, Russell street, near Piedmont avenue, for Louis Engler; $3900.

One and one-half story bungalow, Milvia street near Francisco street, for J. T. Owen; $1800.

One-story one-room theater building, Adeline street near Fairview street, for Thomas M. Luke; $3800.

Two-story, six-room residence, Cedar street near Spruce, for Edward Duffy; $4000.

One and one-half story eight-room residence, Russell street, near Piedmont avenue, for Louis Engler; $3900.

One and one-half story bungalow, Milvia street near Francisco street, for J. T. Owen; $1800.

One-story one-room theater building, Adeline street near Fairview street, for Thomas M. Luke; $3800.

Two-story, six-room residence, Cedar street near Spruce, for Edward Duffy; $4000.

One and one-half story eight-room residence, Russell street, near Piedmont avenue, for Louis Engler; $3900.

One and one-half story bungalow, Milvia street near Francisco street, for J. T. Owen; $1800.

One-story one-room theater building, Adeline street near Fairview street, for Thomas M. Luke; $3800.

Two-story, six-room residence, Cedar street near Spruce, for Edward Duffy; $4000.

One and one-half story eight-room residence, Russell street, near Piedmont avenue, for Louis Engler; $3900.

One and one-half story bungalow, Milvia street near Francisco street, for J. T. Owen; $1800.

One-story one-room theater building, Adeline street near Fairview street, for Thomas M. Luke; $3800.

Two-story, six-room residence, Cedar street near Spruce, for Edward Duffy; $4000.

One and one-half story eight-room residence, Russell street, near Piedmont avenue, for Louis Engler; $3900.

One and one-half story bungalow, Milvia street near Francisco street, for J. T. Owen; $1800.

One-story one-room theater building, Adeline street near Fairview street, for Thomas M. Luke; $3800.

Two-story, six-room residence, Cedar street near Spruce, for Edward Duffy; $4000.

One and one-half story eight-room residence, Russell street, near Piedmont avenue, for Louis Engler; $3900.

OAKLAND REALTY LEASES

High Rents Paid for Choice Premises in Business Center.

Great Demand for Location On the City's Principal Thoroughfares.

The number of new buildings for business purposes and the re-modeling, painting and freshening up of business blocks has been one of the most noticeable features in Oakland's business center during the last sixty days. Beginning the first of the year inquiries from different parts of the country, inquiries for general information regarding the possibilities of certain classes of business. To these inquiries letters were cheerfully given by Oakland's Chamber of Commerce and the real estate men of Oakland, the result of which has been manifest during the past few months. The information asked for covered every class of property available to the business block and manufacturing district. The location of different firms has been going on steadily and seems to be evenly distributed throughout the lower, middle and upper sections of the city. The recent sale of the Kahn building at Twelfth and Washington streets and the Conn property on Twelfth street, as sold by the Laymanse Real Estate Company, and reported through the columns of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE will have an important bearing on the central leasing location. This firm reports a very active period during the last thirty days, having leased nearly half a million dollars in total rents during that period. This is a magnificent showing and gives tangible proof that the properties set forth some time ago by THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE are now reaching their fulfillment.

RECENT LEASES NEGOTIATED.

Among some of the recent leases made by the Laymanse Real Estate Company are the following:

Thomas Crellin estate to H. B. Friberg, store room at 1009 Washington for a gross rental of $21,000.

Thomas Crellin estate to H. B. Friberg, store room at 1011 Washington street for a gross rental of $21,000.

Irvyng and John Lewis to Mary E. Williams, Hotel at Ninth and Franklin streets for a gross rental of $18,360.

A. R. Derge to John Genick, rooming house at 478 Eighth street for a gross rental of $18,580.

M. K. Blake Estate Company to A. Sigwart, store room at 517 Twelfth street for gross rental of $12,000.

M. K. Blake Estate Company to D. C. Jacob, store room at 623 Twelfth street for a gross rental of $15,000.

M. K. Blake Estate Company to H. and S. C. Berovitch, store room at 513 Eleventh street for a gross rental of $7500.

M. K. Blake Estate Company to Matcovich, store room at 516 Eleventh street for a gross rental of $7800.

Wallace Everson to L. R. Lubibrath, store room at Twelfth and Webster streets for a gross rental of $8000.

Blake estate to Snow Dye Works, store room at 1228 Broadway for a gross rental of $10,000.

William Hartley to Heckenlively, store room at 205 Twelfth street for a gross rental of $1300.

H. Boll to F. Wickman, store room at 220 San Pablo avenue for a gross rental of $1200.

J. H. King estate to Standard Pencil Company, store room at 303 Twelfth street for a gross rental of $6400.

R. A. Perry to Stocker & Holland, lot at 408 Thirteenth street for a gross rental of $9000.

R. A. Perry to North American Dredging Company, lot at 408 Thirteenth street for a gross rental of $8000.

R. A. Perry to Oakland Clearing House, lot at 408 Thirteenth street for a gross rental of $8000.

Mrs. E. J. Hyde to Maxwell Agency, store at 151 Twelfth street for a gross rental of $1327.

Mrs. E. J. Hyde to J. P. Bledsoe, store

(Continued on Page 42)

Residence of R. E. Peyton on Santa Ray avenue, East Piedmont Heights.

NEW GARAGE ON UPPER BROADWAY

Wallace Everson Is Building
One Near Twenty-sixth Street.

Wallace Everson is having built for him on his Broadway property near Twenty-sixth street, a one-story brick structure, which has been leased to the Cadillac Automobile Company for a garage, offices, salesroom and repair main. The building, costing, according to the permit issued by the municipal bureau of permits, $11,000. The plans of the architect, Walter J. Mathews, show that the Broadway frontage will be subdivided into a capacious salesroom, a suite of offices and a runway into the large garage, occupying the central and greater area of the ground floor. In the rear of the building are located the machine shops. The walls of the building are constructed of brick. The floor of the runway and the garage and machine shops will be hold concrete.

The property has a frontage of 100 feet on Broadway and an irregular depth, the extreme length of which is 158 feet. The entire area covered by the building is approximately 14,000 square feet. The building will be finished and ready for occupancy in about two months.

---

OAKLAND STANDS HIGH IN EAST

hold concrete.

The property has a frontage of 100 feet on Broadway and an irregular depth, the extreme length of which is 158 feet. The entire area covered by the building is approximately 14,000 square feet. The building will be finished and ready for occupancy in about two months.

---

OAKLAND STANDS HIGH IN EAST

(Continued From Page 41)

provements made in central business district and its wonderful expansion of late years, Mr. Kahn carried with him comprehensive sketches giving birdseye views of the business quarters carefully and accurately drawn, and submitted them to the inspection of the New York financiers. To these financiers, these sketches were convincing, presenting Oakland to them in an entirely new light, as one of the best and safest places for the investment of their money in the country. As a result, the New York Life Insurance Company not only loaned $550,000 to erect the new Kahn building, but also $150,000 for the erection of the new Judges' Chamber building. Copies of these sketches were now kept by the insurance company and the New York other New York financiers for reference in anticipation of other applications for loans for the erection of other buildings in Oakland's business quarters; concerning which they were as well, if not better, informed than most of the financiers themselves. Oakland is today very positively in evidence in their minds as a growing and prosperous city, with a magnificent future.

FAR REACHING RESULTS

Leading local bankers frankly declare that the success of Mr. Kahn's mission in New York and the bringing by him to backland of $300,000 of New York money to be expended in permanent business structures here is the most important and far-reaching transaction that has thus far occurred in the city's career and that it means greater and more substantial and rapid development here than has ever been witnessed in the past.

AN INTRICATE PROBLEM SOLVED.

The sale of the Twelfth and Washington streets block was a bigger and more frustrated task had never before been attempted by any realty firm in Oakland. It was a major problem, requiring the hardest kind of work and the employment of the most consummate skill. Mr. Kohn gives William J. Layman, his sole credit for its accomplishment, and says that the greatest contribution he made was his determination to persist for the energy and skill he displayed in the work. It involved three other sales of valuable inside business properties and the release of an immediate cash of $200,000 to the city and the transfer of $200,000 from the city to Oakland to accomplish. The more important of these sales was that of an inside section of the Broadway owner of an inner section of the Thirtieth street frontage of the same block thus making one piece of the two properties on the angle of a square and converting them into one of the finest sites for a modern office building in the city. In other words, the deal was accomplished by a series of swappings of interest, in which every person concerned profited, and the money in the several trades final

BIG IMPROVEMENTS TO FOLLOW.
And in the sale of the Kahn block the foundation has been laid for the erection of a twelve-story office building on the Washington and Twelfth street corner at the expiration of the comparatively short lease which has been given to the Kahn Bros. to enable the firm to carry on its business without interruption until their new building is erected and ready for them to move into it. Work on the latter will be commenced next spring. As soon as the interior detailer plans of the building are drawn, on which the architect is now working the structural steel will be ordered. Excavation for the foundation will follow, so that where the steel is ready for delivery the work of building will proceed without delay. Although only three stories of the building will be erected next year the foundation, steel frame and walls will be built to carry the additional nine stories of the upper structure as designed which will be done later. The three stories to be first built will involve an expenditure of over $500,000.

These late realty sales of central business property have thus brought to the city $1,000,000 of new outside money, most of which will be spent for local labor and materials and in the increase of facilities for carrying on business in Oakland; and with it the foundation has been laid for an even greater sum at an earlier date in the erection of other costly business structures.

---

PIGS CAUSE TURMOIL IN A CHICAGO STREET

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Twenty-five young pigs liberated from crates by mischievous boys caused havoc in Claybourne avenue the other day. Patrol wagons filled with policemen charged the "enemy." Bullets flew thick and fast and when the excitement had subsided the following among other things happened:

One saloon wrecked, ten persons suffered sprained legs.

A newspaper automobile deliver wagon damaged.

Twelve pigs killed.
Several plate glass windows wrecked.
Many women and children in hysterics.
Numerous pedestrians suffered from bruises by the pigs upsetting them.
One wagon demolished when horse ran away.
Dodging the pursuit of the pigs several of them took a notion to leap aboard a street car. Panic immediately followed among the passengers.

The pigs that escaped slaughter ran pellmell in all directions.

---

A girl is never so crafty as in making it seem how she isn't.

This week's record of applications for building permits in Oakland represents an aggregate monthly investment of approximately $750,000 in this class of improvements, and yet the report of the permit department contains nothing exceptional. Indeed the year's growth has been as healthy as it has been steady and when its total statistics are summed up they will show, doubtlessly, approximately $7,000,000 or more laid out in new building construction here.			ing, south side Forty-second, 275 feet north of Grove street; $2000.
			S. P. R. Co. submarine switching station, 275 feet from Grove street; $1500.
			S. P. Co. cable tower, S. P. Fruitvale power station, $2800.
			H. D. Wilkinson, 144-story 8-room dwelling, east side Dolores avenue, 300 feet west of El Centro avenue; $2500.
			E. Layman, 1-story 1-room garage, south side East Fourteenth street, 200 feet east of Fifth street; $1100.
			E. Barnett, alterations, 353 Clay street; $12.
			Mantino, alterations, 560 Seventh street; $50.
			M. Olson, alterations, 6725 Dover street; $500.
			Harmon Bell, 1-story 1-room bathed, south side Glascow, 100 feet east of Peterson; $400.
			M. Peacock, 1-story 3-room dwelling, south side Franklin avenue, 4 feet south of East Fourteenth street; $200.
			T. S. Sim, 1-story 3-room cottage, Fruitvale, south side Franklin avenue, 300 feet north of El Centro avenue; $500.
			D. C. Duncan, 1-story 3-room cottage, south side Sales avenue, 390 feet west of Broadway; $150.
			Orpheus Theatre, Realty Co., alterations and repairs, Twelfth and Clay streets; $400.
			Emma Laughlin, 144-story 3-room dwelling, corner Ayala and Howell streets; $3785.

A. J. Zimmerman, garage, 2451 Palmetto street, $18.
Miss B. Collins, repair, 405 Sixth street; $90.
Alfred Wade, repairs, 1252 Broadway; $40.
J. Flavouras, repairs, 411 Eighth street (rear); $250.
J. Flavouras, repairs, 411 Eighth street (rear); $100.
W. Durrie, 1-story 4-room dwelling, west side of Seventy-fifth avenue, 150 feet east of Fourteenth street; $900.
Union Water Co., resinsiding, Ninety-ninth avenue, $1425-$2000.
Henry Schindler, 1-story 8-room dwelling, south side of Twenty-eighth street, W. 142nd; $1200.
Hank Truberg, 1 1/2-story 5-room dwelling, 120 feet south of Rose; $1900.
J. B. Marshall, repairs, 1100 1/2th ave; price; $120.
Higgins Bros., 14-story 6-room dwelling, 100 feet west of Forest, 160 feet west of Shafter; $1750.
E. P. Thayer, 100, alterations, 907 1/2th ave.
A. Pratt, 14-story 5-room dwelling, east side of Boyd avenue, 300 feet south of

WIFE DIES OF JOY OVER REUNION WITH HUSBAND

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 25.—Six months ago Andrew Zolna and his wife separated. Until yesterday they had not seen each other. Friends arranged for a reunion, and, according to agreement, the woman returned to her husband's home last night.

When Mrs. Zolna reached her home she was affectionately greeted by her husband. She appeared happy and very nervous. She declared she was overjoyed at the reunion.

Mrs. Zolna retired early. When called the next morning, she answered: "My husband tried to arouse me, but finding his hand on her forehead, discovered she was cold. He shook her and then learned she was dead." The doctor declared the happy family reunion had overstimulated her heart, causing death.

skin gloves to match their motorcoat and as there were none to be bought in the village, Miss Zolna's friends gave Siskiele of Wren Stockbridge to make her and her friends on a moon hunt over Harvey Mountain. They tread and killed two coons with beautiful pets.

Miss Zolna had caught the skin gloves will be sent to a Johnstown, N. Y. glove.

DOG SAVES LIVES OF 7 IN BURNING HOUSE

WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 25.—Mutt, a bulldog, bull terrier, belonging to Edward Siskierek of the state, and who saved the lives of seven occupants of an apartment house in this city today.

The seven people were all asleep shortly before dawn. Mutt was awakened by smoke, which filled the apartment. The retreating dog carried his wife and others out of the burning house.

The damage is estimated at $8000.

United States Government, alterations,
U. S. Postoffice, Seventeenth and Broad;
Phone 21502.

F. Saville Smith, 1-story 1-room garage, west side of Thirteenth avenue, 50 feet north of Greenwood; $150.

C. A. Wleben, 1-story 4-room dwelling; south side of Logan, 500 feet west of Elmington; 21000.

C. W. Ferris, 1-story 5-room dwelling.

side of College, 200 feet north of Lawton; $2450.

P. A. Hassard, 1-story 1-room store, east side of Piedmont, 56 feet north of

J. C. Gibson, tank frame (1500 gallon),

E. A. Schmidt, repairs, 1321 Seventh

E. W. Neldt, alterations, 4855 Racall;
$50.

L. Bussy, alterations, southeast corner

East Eleventh street and twenty-fifth avenue: $1000.
Gee Quong, alterations, 851 Ninth street:
ent is all finished, cement floor and plas-e in basement.

W. R. Watson alterations (store front). LESS THAN $8000 THAT EQUALS THIS. The place speaks for itself, its real value is everywhere in evidence. Size of lot 40x106 feet. Finished driveway and lawn. Everything needed in the place to make it absolutely complete ready to Call up the owner or your own real estate dealer for terms.

B. A. McWILLIAMS Owner and Builder 191 Moss Ave. Oakland

216. Morgenson Bros., 1-story 5-room dwell- is the reputation of the builder of this and other delightful homes in Oakland is the guarantee of the value of this fine home.

100

Chicago Would Reduce Infant Mortality Rate by Novel Health Crusade.

Youth Tells of Seven Years of Imprisonment Behind a High Brick Wall.

Dr. Evans also said he had estimated that about 8000 cows would be needed to supply milk for all Chicago's babies. "I don't think it would be too much of a nuisance to keep so many cows in the city," said he, "but we have more than 77,000 horses in Chicago, which are quartered in the First Ward."

By its decision the appellate division of the State Court here.

By its decision the appellate division reverses the ruling of the lower court, which dismissed the suit.

Now, Adams alleged that the note was given in consideration and that Mrs. Gilbert had failed to exercise any mysterious power to forestall and prevent threatened danger to the Adams family.

Leming of East St. Louis was released from jail here today to marry Miss Gertrude Vogt of Owensboro, Ky. Leming was sentenced to a year in the penitentiary for beating a county bill. Miss Vogt came here and kept interceding with the officials until she obtained his release.

Miss Vogt went to the clerk's office alone and obtained the marriage license.

Leave.	SIXTEENTH STREET DEPOT	Arrive.	Leave.	BROADWAY AND FIRST ST.	Arrive.
7:30a	GOLDFIELD Passenger—Romeville, Becklin, Trucks, Boca Verdell, Reno, Karsen, Hazen, Chardill, Hunk, Karstun, Hudgson, Birdgeport, Goldfield, Mina, Tonahop, Goldfield, standard sleeper leave 10:30 p.m. to St. Louis.		4:30m	Eldhurst, San Leandro, Hayward, Niles, Centerville, Newark, Arlio, Auburn, etc.	6:30p
8:30 a. m.	Crockett, Fort Costa, Benicia, Sacramento, San Pablo, Elgin, etc.		2:52a	Niles, Tracy, Lathrop, Stockton, Lodi, Colgate, Brighton, Sacramento, Colfax, arrive via Martinez, Fort Costa, 10th Street, connects with motor leaving Niles via Oakridge, Biggs.

[illegible][illegible]

	Hamilton	0:53p	Faso, San Antonio, New Orleans
	Peramene, Hays		Washington, 10 E. New
	Wys. Geidler, Chico, Tehama,		York-No. 10, Santa Rosa, Hot
8:35p	and Buff-Antioch, Colusa		Spring, San Luis Obispo, Quad-
	Richmond, Phenix, Crockett,		lupus, Butte, Santa Cruz
	Port Costa, Benicia, Suisun, El-		Verona, Oxnard, Los An-
	izira (Vacaville), Windsor,		geles, Del Monte, San Jose
	Dixon, Sacramento	10:32p	Pacific Grove-Golden State
	Windsor, Knights Land-		ing special service between ing Marysville		San Jose, San Francisco, San
8:55p	San Joaquin Valley Flyer-Port		Francisco and D do not carry
	Costa, Martinez, Suisun, San		local passenger service between Cornwall, Antioch, Byron,		San Francisco and Salinas (initia-

Motor-Willie, Dunnigan, Jackson, Williams, Williams, Johnson, DeVille, Germantown, Orland, Corning, Tehama.....	8:30p	Russell Mt., Eden, Newark, Santa Clara, West San Jose, Campbell, Los Gatos .....	8:35a
Vallejo, Junction.....	10:08p	San Leandro, Lorenzo, Hayward, Decoto, Union City, Fremont, San Jose.....	8:55a
Island-El Verano, Santa Rosa, Kappa, St. Helena.....	8:55p	San Leandro, Lorenzo, Hayward, Decoto, Union City, Fremont, San Jose.....	7:50a
6:30p Owl Limited- Los Angeles, Riegoing car train- does not call day coach.....		San Leandro, Lorenzo, Hayward, Decoto, Niles, San Jose, Fremont, Santa Clara, San Jose, Santa Clara, San Jose.....	6:00p
7:17p Eastern Express-Port Costa, Suisun, Elmhurst, Sacramento, Colusa, Truckee.....	7:37a

145P	Steger, Richmond, Pinon (Vallejo), Crockett, Port Costa, Martinez, Arvon, Concord, Walnut Creek, Alamo, Danville, San Ramon	213P	Daily: 6a. 7a. 8a. 9a. 10a. 11a. 12a. 1p. 2p. 3a. 4p. 5p. 6p. 7p. 8p. 9p.
			Wharf, Oakland.
			Sunday only
157P	Oregon Express — Port Costa, Suisun, Sacramento, Roseville, Marysville, Chico, Colusa, Red Bluff, Shasta Springs, Weed, Ashland, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Spokane	203A
201P	Mizumono, Port Costa, Tracy, Mantoloking	223a

Disseminator, Shasta Springs, Calif.
 Mrs. W. E. Wood (Macdonel, Klamath)
 Pa. & Medford, Albany, Ashland, Eugene, Tacoma, Seattle .....

COUNTRY REAL ESTATE (Continued)

EASTERN Contra Costa county lands, where evergreen growth, excellent irrigation; only 50 miles from S. F., on 2 main lines and Oakland and Antioch electric coming next July; write for information to J. H. Hume, these lands exclusively and the prices are right for a future to you. F. R. Green, Oakley, Cal.

FOR SALE—COUNTRY PROPERTY. 6 acres 3-year-old Cravenstein apples, 6-room house, chicken house, good well and pump; $2100, $500 cash and balance at 6 per cent.

1 1/2 acres, 3 miles from Sonoma, best land in Sonoma, slightly improved; small pond and pump, fenced; $1500.

MATHER & TURNER,
1414 Fruitvale ave.; Merritt 14.

FINE Improved property and business; living rooms and furniture; in Walnut Creek; Box 88, Walnut Creek, Cal.

GOOD ALFALFA and fruit land, 2 hrs. ride of S. F., all level; will furnish wells for pumping at $100 each; price $100 to $125 per acre; down; 1000 tickets and information, maps, etc. Abbott & Dixon, 957 Broadway, Oakland; 1020 Examiner Bldg., S. F.

Haywards Ranch (150 Acres) For Lease

Finest dairy or vegetable property in this section. Water to irrigate 100 acres or more; 30 acres alfalfa. F. C. Watson, 1172 Broadway.

Pay $1 an Acre Down Pay $4 an Acre Monthly Total Only Costs You $260

For 5-year-old bearing apple orchard that will produce 100 bushels per acre. The investment every year for life and then leave the same amount yearly to your dependents. After you have paid for this acre you will have 49 years to pay for it. This is a 2500-acre apple orchard. No owners need to live on it, no labor or work to do; it will grow and produce for you at what you please. Send for information. Call or write. Telephone Oakland 2255.

MATHEW APPLE PLANTATION,
30 Bacon Building.

STOP LOOK LISTEN.

These three words cost a railway company $15,000; they will be worth many thousands to you if you will stop and listen to us.

10 acres purchased from us today, and planned to walnuts, will be worth to you in a very few years.

In addition to this, our lands are also suitable for other nuts, all kinds of fruits and vegetables, as well as ideal chicken and dairy lands.

Let us send you one of our circulars, giving you full information. Address R. N. BURGESS COMPANY, Ninth Floor, National Bank Bldg., San Francisco.

Branch Offices:
415 Market St., San Francisco.
1253 Broadway, Oakland.
Walnut Creek, Cal.

TWO acres between Oakland and Hayward, near Boulevard; $745; terms: $200 cash, McHenry & Kaiser, Broadway, Central Bank Bldg., Oakland.

HOUSES FOR SALE

A NEW 6-room cottage, latest style, with large basement and fine location; near city for sale by owner. Box 6400, Tiburon.

AN up-to-date 6-room Queen Anne house, corner, 40x100; block to cars, near Key Route; a snap at $3750. See owner, 473 50th St.

A NEW 5-room cottage; a bargain; 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

BRAND new bungalow, 5 rooms and bath, den and sleeping porch, hardwood floors, beam ceilings, 40x120; 1/2 block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

BARGAIN—1500, cottage 4 rooms and bath, 10th St., 30 ft. front, 2 blocks from Key Route; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

Elegant Linda Vista Home

For sale by owner; 8 large, sunny rooms; hardwood floors; 40x120; 1/2 block to car; carpets, curtains, gas range and water heater included; also two rustic sleeping porches; fireplace in one of them; very attractive; near Key Route and driveway. Phone Piedmont 830.

FOR SALE—A new modern 7-room apartment house, with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, spacious rooms, covered sleeping porch, cement basement; with garage, near Key Route and driveway. 40x100; block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

FOR SALE—New modern 7-room apartment house, with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, spacious rooms, covered sleeping porch, cement basement; with garage, near Key Route and driveway. 40x100; block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

FOR SALE—New modern 7-room apartment house, with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, spacious rooms, covered sleeping porch, cement basement; with garage, near Key Route and driveway. 40x100; block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

FOR SALE—New modern 7-room apartment house, with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, spacious rooms, covered sleeping porch, cement basement; with garage, near Key Route and driveway. 40x100; block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

FOR SALE—New modern 7-room apartment house, with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, spacious rooms, covered sleeping porch, cement basement; with garage, near Key Route and driveway. 40x100; block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

FOR SALE—New modern 7-room apartment house, with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, spacious rooms, covered sleeping porch, cement basement; with garage, near Key Route and driveway. 40x100; block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

FOR SALE—New modern 7-room apartment house, with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, spacious rooms, covered sleeping porch, cement basement; with garage, near Key Route and driveway. 40x100; block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

FOR SALE—New modern 7-room apartment house, with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, spacious rooms, covered sleeping porch, cement basement; with garage, near Key Route and driveway. 40x100; block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

FOR SALE—New modern 7-room apartment house, with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, spacious rooms, covered sleeping porch, cement basement; with garage, near Key Route and driveway. 40x100; block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

FOR SALE—New modern 7-room apartment house, with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, spacious rooms, covered sleeping porch, cement basement; with garage, near Key Route and driveway. 40x100; block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

FOR SALE—New modern 7-room apartment house, with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, spacious rooms, covered sleeping porch, cement basement; with garage, near Key Route and driveway. 40x100; block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

FOR SALE—New modern 7-room apartment house, with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, spacious rooms, covered sleeping porch, cement basement; with garage, near Key Route and driveway. 40x100; block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

FOR SALE—New modern 7-room apartment house, with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, spacious rooms, covered sleeping porch, cement basement; with garage, near Key Route and driveway. 40x100; block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

FOR SALE—New modern 7-room apartment house, with hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, spacious rooms, covered sleeping porch, cement basement; with garage, near Key Route and driveway. 40x100; block to car; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

HOUSES FOR SALE (Continued)

Own a Home
BUNGALOW AND HOUSES SOLD ON TERMS LIKE RENT.
$2000—$2500 cash, $20 per month, including 1000 tickets and information, maps, etc. Abbott & Dixon, 957 Broadway, Oakland; 1020 Examiner Bldg., S. F.

$2275—$2500 cash, $20 per month; fine new 5-room cottage; 2 blocks from Piedmont station Key Route. (6038)

$3550—$3800 cash, $30 per month; artistic new 6-room cottage; just completed; near 40th Park; hardwood floors, beamed ceiling, ornamental fireplace, etc. (5198)

$4000—$4500 cash, $40 per month; new 5-room modern cottage; hardwood floors, beamed ceilings, built-in buffet, etc.; on large sunny corner; 2 blocks from Key Route. This is a fine home. Be sure to see it before looking. (5285)

$7000—$8000 cash, $60 per month; new 7-room 2-story shingled house, cement walks and garage; on sunny side of Grand ave. boulevard. This beautiful home has all the conveniences and luxuries of a modern residence; hardwood floors throughout; interior finish in oak; oak stairway, wainscoting, etc. Ornamental fireplace and full-length plate glass mirrors in bedrooms; large closets, sunny library, etc. (4780)

COME IN AND SEE PHOTOGRAPHS OF THESE HOUSES AND MANY OTHERS WE HAVE FOR SALE.

REALTY BONDS & FINANCE CO.,
1172 Broadway, Oakland.

Sacrifice

Beautiful cement home in the exclusive Lake Merritt section, 100 ft. boulevard, opposite park; 7 large rooms, sleeping porch, hardwood floors, furnace, room and all the very latest improvements. This home will bring you $2500 and represents the very highest type of modern home. Price $8750 and terms of $2000 cash and $75 monthly can be arranged.

REALTY BONDS & FINANCE CO.,
1172 Broadway, Oakland.

Sacrifice Sale

I must sell my 5-room cottage inside 40th st., near Telegraph ave., price $2750. Immediate action needed. Box B-777, Tribune.

WE HAVE several houses for sale; your own terms, or will take lot in exchange, balance monthly; prices $1800 to $4500. See cottage 655 E. 18th st., at $2200. Phone 2114.

$3000 ACTUAL VALUE FOR $8750.
6-room 2-story house, SWELL is the word to describe it, on 27th st., near Telegraph ave.; will accept part cash; large lot. If you are looking for a house close in see this.

J. M. CAMERON,
11 Telegraph ave.

ROOMING HOUSES FOR SALE
AAAAA—Lodging House Man.

MITCHENER
233 Bacon Block—Phone O. 5188, A-3737.

$100—14 rooms; rent $40; a pickup.
$150 handles 15 rooms; see this.

$250 handles 16 rooms; snappy transient.
$350 handles 12 rooms; good corner.
$600 buys rooming house; see this.

Some Bargains, Eh?

$750—12 rooms; transient; two entrances.
$850—21 rooms; transient; two entrances.
$850—16 rooms; a sacrifice; cost $1000.
$1000—25 rooms; dandy apartments; mod. finish.
$1000—20 rooms; airy corner; bargain.

Our Prices Talk

$1200—handles 14 rooms; mod. apartments.
$1600—20 rooms; bay window corner.
$1700—42 rooms; clears $200 per month.
$1000—18 rooms; hot and cold water; trans. 1100—10 rooms; rent $60; boarding.

The Reason Why

$2750—35 rooms; rent $125; sickness.
$3200—20 rooms; rent $100; sickness.
$3700—50 rooms; only with Mitchener.
$4400—62 rooms; half cash will handle.
$5000—84 rooms; rent $150; half cash.

A Reliable Firm

$2000—22 rooms; modern apartments.
$2500—28 rooms; modern apartments.
$3000—35 rooms; modern apartments.
$3500—48 rooms; modern apartments.
$5000—52 rooms; modern apartments.

BUSINESS CHANCES

$5000—Silicon Valley; $22; bag.
$550—Bakery, corner, delicatessen; snap.
$625—Grocery, notion store; $250 cash.
$650—Bakery, notion store; $250 cash.
$1100—Rest and chop house; $45.
$1800—Household; $500 will handle.
$1900—Cigar store; a live corner.
$2500—Pool and billiard; 12 tables.
$2500—Restaurant; a good business.
$7000—Grocery and mdse. will trade.

WE HAVE a large apartment house for rent, furnished; also 14 rooms.

W. L. Mitchener & Co.
Bacon Block, corner 12th and Washington.

Atherton, the Broker

$2200—3 rooms, single and housekeeping; sunny; close to street; 100 ft. front; close to transfer corner; long lease; nets $150 to $200 per month; rent reasonable; this is a good buy.

$950—One of the best equipped, sunny, small, up-to-date steady and transient rooming houses in Oakland; 12 blocks from Broadway and the rent only $4 per room.

$600—12-room, sunny, housekeeping house; must be sold on account of other business; rent $50; clears $30 to $35 per month.

$700—Have a good, new, 16-room house, steady and transient; $350 cash handles; very little bargain; don't wait too long.

$1500—22-room house; housekeeping suites; choice choice in residence district; rent $100; clears $30 to $35 per month.

$2600—buys an up-to-date 24-room apartment house with a 5-year lease; located on good street; cars pass the door; this is a steady new house; the rent is reasonable.

$850—New house of 30 rooms; hot and cold water in all rooms; well located on corner; long lease and making good money; rent right.

$500—Cigar, tobacco, books and stationery store; 1500; rent $15 per month; good place for some elderly man.

$500—Stationery, confectionery, cigars and tobacco; furniture 2 rooms; close in, at transfer corner; good cash trade; rent only $22.50 and the good place; see owner, 5535 E. 10th St., near 40th ave.; see owner Sunday, 1 to 5 p. m.

A. D. ATHERTON, 1114 BROADWAY.

EDWIN E. PARKER,
625-6 FIRST NATIONAL BANK BLDG.

ROOMING HOUSES—2 rooms; rent $20; makes good living for owner; downtown; price $125.

ROOMING HOUSE—Nice house, good living, clean business for woman; place is O. K. and worth the price asked, $1900; rent only $32; downtown.

625-6 FIRST NATIONAL BANK BLDG.

ROOMING HOUSES FOR SALE (Continued)

Farnsworth

has every desirable property in Oakland for sale. 303-9 First National Bank Bldg.

FOR LEASE—Unfurnished, 35, 29 and 15 rooms, well equipped rooming-house; also several desirable furnished houses; exclusive, Mitchell Furniture Company, 1017 Broadway, Oakland.

FOR SALE—Rooming-house of 12 rooms, furnished; snap if taken at once. 1375 1/2 Broadway.

FOR SALE—Small rooming house. Inquire room 3, 1265 Harrison.

Must Sell This Week

36 rooms, newly furnished; elegant; $4500; 2 blocks from Key Route. 1 1/2 year lease; owner sick, cause of selling; Box 5372, Tribune.

NICE furnished 18 rooms; 10. rented $100; 2 blocks from Key Route. 1 1/2 year lease; owner sick, cause of selling; Box 5372, Tribune.

ROOMING-HOUSE, 27 rooms; 4 house-keeping suites; $350 cash; a snap. Chicago House, 9th st., near Broadway.

Spilker's Specials
$225—5 rms.; housekeeping; rent $35.
$250—5 rms.; housekeeping; rent $40.
$250—5 rms.; housekeeping; rent $40.
$250—5 rms.; housekeeping; rent $40.
$250—5 rms.; housekeeping; rent $40.
$250—5 rms.; housekeeping; rent $40.
$250—5 rms.; housekeeping; rent $40.
$250—5 rms.; housekeeping; rent $40.
$250—5 rms.; housekeeping; rent $40.
$250—5 rms.; housekeeping; rent $40.

APARTMENT HOUSES
$1000—24 rms.; 8 apts.; rent $80.
$1200—24 rms.; 8 apts.; rent $84.
$1500—40 rms.; corner; rent $125.
$2500—60 rms.; corner; rent $150.
$5000—50 rms.; small; rent $250.
See this crackling good house in boarding houses. SPILKER & CO., 280 Bacon Block, Oakland 779.

SEE this 48-room, corner house; most all outside rooms; low rent and lease; doing an excellent business, both transient and steady; bargain; yours for $1250. Spilker & Co., 280 Bacon Block, Oakland 779.

23-RM modern house, newly furnished; owner leaving on account of sickness; no reasonable offer refused. The Winston, corner 9th and Washington.

ROOMING HOUSES
$450—ROOMING house, 10 rooms, bath; rent $22.50; downtown; rent $100; will sell, going in other business; well furnished. Box B-648, Tribune.

ROOMING HOUSES WANTED

WANTED TO LEASE—AN APT. HOUSE OR ROOMING HOUSE, OR WILL WAIT FOR OWNER TO BUILD. BOX 5372, TRIBUNE.

WANTED—Small, classy rooming house, 9 to 12 rooms; central location; clean; for cash; no agents. Box 3790, Tribune.

APARTMENT HOUSES FOR SALE

EDWIN E. PARKER,
625-6 FIRST NATIONAL BANK BLDG.

APARTMENT HOUSES—2-3-4 rooms; 46-room house; Lake Merritt; money; rent $225; price $5500. Call at office for information.

ROOMING HOUSE—40 rooms; near station; 4-year lease; transient apt. permanent; great location; rent $125; price $2800.

APARTMENT HOUSE—18 apartments, 2-3 rooms; elegant; 3-year lease; steam heat; elite location; 6-year lease; easy rent; call at office.

APARTMENT HOUSE—40 rooms; well furnished; 3-year lease; 6-year lease; fine business proposition; Key Route; rent $170; sell for $3700.

EDWIN E. PARKER,
625-6 FIRST NATIONAL BANK BLDG.

HOUSE 70 ROOMS—2-3-4-RM. APTS.
5-year lease; $350 month profit; steam and hot water plant; elevator; 2nd floor; Marshall-Stearns wall paper; dishes, linen, silverware, hair mattresses, best bedding, electric flat iron, etc.; 100 ft. front; 100 ft. deep; decorated; is finest apartment house in Oakland. You will admit fact when you see this place. Buy for Europe to settle estate; $3500; cash. This investment, YOU MUST HAVE THE MONEY. Don't overlook this.

EDWIN E. PARKER,
625-6 FIRST NATIONAL BANK BLDG.

BOARDING HOUSES FOR SALE

CENTRALLY LOCATED hotel, dining room and kitchen, doing good business; for sale; reasonable if taken at once; no account sickness. Box 3708, Tribune.

LOTS FOR SALE

A LARGE LOT
For sale at a very low price, with plenty of room for a well equipped hotel, ideal climate, close to the foothills, surrounded by orchards and high-class residences. Electric cars pass the property and P. electric trains will leave you in S. F. in 40 minutes. Price 30 ft. x 100 ft. streets, cement curbs, sidewalks and all other city conveniences completed. $10,000 in cash, balance by note, subject to your requirements. Write for particulars to Breed & Bancroft, 1102 Broadway, Oakland.

A Bargain in Acreage

7 acres on the Redwood road, almost adjoining property selling for $15 to $20 a front foot; near car line, school and bus line; 100 ft. front; 100 ft. deep. My price $1200 for a quick sale.

W. M. E. PETERSON,
1212 Broadway, Oakland.

A BARGAIN—Lot 65x135, 234 ave., opposite water company's reservoir; fine view, warm belt; includes street work; can be divided; terms, only $30 front foot. E. Haschell, 1592 23d ave., or phone Merritt 2852.

Building Lot

Fine corner in East Oakland, 115 feet frontage; will cut into five 100 ft. lots. Equity $3100. Will take auto and some cash for equity.

S. & F. R. Gray
369 12th st., opp. Hotel St. Mark.

BIG SNAP

B. P. Heights, 50x100, on car line, 1 block from new Key Route, 2nd and 3rd; $1850; one-third cash. Box 618, Tribune.

BARGAIN

100x270 feet, handy to E. 14th st. electric cars and S. F. local; all improvements completed. Box B-603, Tribune.

Corner Lot Bargain

Best selection in Fourth Ave. Terrace; size 55x125, level; $29 per foot. Owner, Box 3762, Tribune.

CORNER lot, 2 blocks Hudson st. station; $1150 cash bargain. Box B-629, Tribune.

FINE business corner at Key Route station; 62x50 ft. front; average depth 100 ft. If improved will make first-class investment; good speculation; 1 worth $1000 in business property; $100 per ft. must be sold. Price $4000; terms. This must be sold. Box 3792, Tribune.

HAVE lot on Division st., 4th-ave. Extension, way below market price. Box E. Haschell, 1592 23d ave., or phone Merritt 2852.

HAVE equity in lot on Evans st., 4th-ave. Extension, cheap. Box B-684, Tribune.

LOT, 38x100, on corner of Francisco and Coates, one block east of San Pablo ave.; $800; easy terms. Owner, 1205 Francisco st., Berkeley.

LOTS for sale in heights of Fremont tract, 60x115; $400, part cash. Owner, 3901 E. 14th st.

ON Grand ave., near Lake Merritt—1 have 170 ft. frontage which is finest apartment house site in Oakland; will sell any part from $50 ft. up to $50 per ft. on terms; adjoining property is much higher than this. Address box B-637, Tribune.

50x118 FEET.
Will sell this large lot with fruit trees at a bargain ($1375); street work, sewers, cement curb, sidewalk and all other conveniences completed; handy to cars and S. F. electric. Box B-684, Tribune.

ONE of the best corners in Oakland, Flatmont, with marine view, at $30 per front foot. Owner, Box 3770, Tribune.

HOLCOMB REALTY COMPANY,
2000 Pacific ave., Oakland, Cal.

LOTS FOR SALE (Continued)

OWNER of choice lots in Fourth Ave. Terrace, 100 ft. front, 100 ft. deep, on easy terms. Box B-782, Tribune.

TWELVE lots, 40x110, 3 corners; nicely located; bargain for quick sale. Box B-782, Tribune, Oakland.

$1000 CASH, balance on terms to suit buyer, will buy 140 ft. main thoroughfare; located on E. 14th st., Oakland; 100 feet; located on E. 14th st., Oakland; in center of town. For full information address A. E. King, 1356 Post st., San Francisco.

$850—MUST sell lot at once, 4th-ave. Heights; only $275 down; balance $10 month. Owner, box B-624, Tribune.

PROPERTY TO EXCHANGE

AN INSIDE BUSINESS CORNER
$60,000—100-ft. corner, right in business center; $20,000 bank loan arranged; exchange for cheap country land; submit early. Box 3792, Tribune.

LAYMAN REAL ESTATE CO.,
1214-1216 Broadway, Oakland.

AAA—Near Vacaville; 10 acres of the best alfalfa or orchard land, all level; will sell for $1000; 100 ft. front, 100 ft. deep; around Oakland. Box 3792, Tribune.

A 520-ACRE stock ranch in Lake Co., value $3200; will exchange for Berkeley, or Oakland property. Call 1403 Josephine st., Berkeley.

CENTRAL UNIMPROVED BLOCK
$60,000—Thirty 6-room houses, main thoroughfare; a splendid property; exchange for business property and pay difference or assume.

LAYMAN REAL ESTATE CO.,
1214-1216 Broadway, Oakland.

DENVER PROPERTY.
Eight-room house for sale or trade. Owner, 4450 Regent.

ELBART 12-room modern home in Piedmont; 100 ft. front, 100 ft. deep; 100 ft. deep;

Classified Business Directory

This directory embraces a classified list of trades and professions arranged alphabetically for ready reference.

Home of Connelley's Liquor Cure

where, in the past 15 years, over 10,000 cases of liquor diseases have been successfully treated. Consultation free. Write for list of testimonials from prominent men. All medicines taken internally.

NO HYPODERMIC INJECTIONS.

Connelley's Liquor Cure Inst.

1127 Twenty-Sixth Ave., Oakland

HIGGINBOTHAM'S STABLES

9th and Broadway
HIGH-GRADE LIVERY—Special attention given to boarders.
Heavy work horses for hire. Business horses and buggies by the month. Phone—Oakland 1234, A-5434.

Take No Chances!
Always buy your Ostrich Plumes
at The Bentley Ostrich Farm, Oakland. Always new stock. Always superior quality.
Always lower in price.

Phone Berkeley 1531.

George C. Pape

Designer, manufacturer and builder of Greenhouses, Greenhouse Heating and Ventilating Apparatus.

2001 Addison St., Berkeley, Cal.

Horse Traders

Come to us when you want to buy or sell horses.
See us and be treated right. We also have buggies for hire.

RICHARD & ARMOUR

429 Third St., Oakland

SHOE DEALERS

Men's Shoes

Half Soled 75c

All other repairing done at proportionately low prices. WE USE BEST OF MATERIALS.

SHOES FOR CRIPPLES MADE TO ORDER.

CUT RATE SHOE FACTORY.

(Next to Owl Drug Store).

SIGNS K-F SIGN CO.

WE PAINT SIGNS OF ALL KINDS.

114 Franklin St.

PHONE HOME A-1377.

OAKLAND

S. J. GRAY

EXPERT SPECIALIST—Maker of lasts, casts and shoes for crippled and deformed feet and for all feet difficult to fit. ONLY FIRST CLASS WORK SOLICITED. Factory 526 16th St., Oakland, Cal.

LOCKSMITHS.

DOOR-OPENERS and keys; lawn-mowers and aluminum were repaired. Key
Works, 361 Clay; phone Oakland 6717.
A 2574.

DRAYAGE AND STORAGE.

JAS. HENNEBERGER does all kinds of draying. Office, 428 6th St.; phone Oakland 564. A 1564; Res. Oak. 4080. A 2746.

SAN FRANCISCO prices on job printing, bindery and photo engraving discounted from 10% to 20%. Call up Oakland 628 for estimator of Oakland Tribune.

COAST ORE AND CHEMICAL CO.

Metallurgists, assaying of ores, chemical analysis, expert tests. Laboratory, 922 Webster St., A. J. Best, supt.

LITTLE hungry? Why not have a squab or chicken dinner? We make a specialty of them; price $5. 704 Broadway.

SARATOGA HOUSE—Furnished rooms,
$1.50 per week and up. 670 Broadway;
R. Casadebat, prop.

J. C. WILSON & CO.

MEMBERS

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

THE STOCK AND BOND EX-CHANGE, SAN FRANCISCO

Main office, Mills building, San Francisco. Branch offices, Palace Hotel,
San Francisco; Hotel Alexander,
Los Angeles; U. S. Grant Hotel, San Diego. Private wire, Chicago and New York.

PATENT ATTORNEYS

CARLOS P. GRIFFIN, Patent Attorney, admirer U. S. Patent Office. 704 Pacific
Bldg., S. F.; phone Kearny 4815.

H. SCHROEDER—Patent attorney; U. S. and foreign patents. First National Bank Bldg.

LAUNDRIES

Union Rough-Dry

LAUNDRY—Oakland, 3555, Home A-2959
ALL ORDERS IN QUICK SERVICE.

Three Dozen for $1

PRIVATE SANITARIUM

WANTED—Old lady to care for; comfortable home provided at reasonable price; best of references. Mrs. J. May, 4115 Gilbert St., Oakland.

DAY & CONTRACT WORK

WINDMILLS, pumps, valves and all kinds of repair work done. 719 44th St., Oakland.

OLD GOLD AND DIAMONDS

WANTED

HIGHEST prices paid for old gold and diamonds. M. J. Schenfeld, 1099 Broadway.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT

Audited and handled monthly labor Co., phone Merritt 3351.

in THE TRIBune.

WHEAT PRICES ON WAY UP GRADE

Continuance of Wet Weather in the Argentine Has Effect.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Unsettled regarding the continuance of wet weather in the Argentine put wheat prices today on the upgrade. The opening was 4 to 1/2 higher. May started at 100 1/2 to 100 3/4 and 101 1/4.

The close was steady at 100 1/4 for May, a net gain of 1/2.

Short covering gave a stronger tone to corn.
May opened unchanged to 1/2 up at 64 1/2 to 65 and was closed at 64 1/2 to 65.

The close was steady, with May 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 lower at 64 1/2 to 65.

In oats the market was changing from December to May by commission houses. May started the same as last night to higher and was closed at 100 1/2 to 101 1/4.

Weakness in the long market spread to provisions. First prices were unchanged to 1/2 down, with May delivery $16.52 1/2 to $16.70 for ribs.

Wheat—December, 95 1/4; May, 100 1/4;
July, 101 1/4;
Rye—December, 63 1/4 to 63 1/2; May, 64 1/4 to 64 1/2;
July, 64 1/4 to 64 1/2;
Corn—January, $16.07 1/2; May, $16.52;
December, $16.07 1/2; January, $16.27 1/2;
May, $16.52;
Ribs—January, $8.42 1/2 to $8.48; May, $8.70;
Rye—No. 2, $1.12 1/2 to $1.14;
Timothy—$14.00 to $14.25;
Clover—$13.50 to $13.75.

Superior Court
Calendar

DEPARTMENT ONE.

Hon. T. W. Harris, Judge.

F. N. Heaney, Clerk.

Monday, November 27.

34405—Anderson vs. Clout.

34237—In re petition for discharge First Church
Nazarene of Oakland.

29808—Globe-More Co. vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

34889—Wheeler vs. Kenworthy.

SAN FRANCISCO STOCK AND BOND EXCHANGE

J. C. Wilson, Stockbroker.

MISCELLANEOUS BONDS

California Electric Co. 5% 100 101 1/2

Contra Costa Water 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5% 100 101 1/2

STREET LEVELS
SAGGING TENDENCY

Majority of More Active Issues
Affected by the Day's Irregularities.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Stock movements were irregular at the opening today with a sagging tendency in the majority of the more active issues. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

Some inactive stocks were strong. Western Union, International Harvester fell back 3/4, American Tobacco and U. S. Steel and Coca-Cola were strong. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed heavy. Professional operators sold stocks freely and there were some speculative purchases. The market was affected by the day's irregularities.

The market closed

BEAUTIFY CITY, IS PLEA OF FORESTER

G. Morris Homans Points Out the Benefits to Be Derived.

Tree planting in park strips between the curb and sidewalk is the easiest, surest and cheapest way to beautify a city. The more beautiful a city is made in any particular section of a city, the more rapid is the rise in property values. Ultimately, this means more money in the pockets of all the citizens, and especially of those who own homes, according to State Forester G. Morris Homans, who goes on to say:

"There are many who think city landscape improvement should be left to the respective individual property owners. A little study and consideration on your part will convince you of the fallacy. Some people are enterprising, others are not. Some own their own homes, others do not. But even if every one were active in beautifying the strip in front of his property, still it would be better to have the city do the work, for most people have neither the time nor the experience necessary to obtain results. Moreover, there is no one tree, nor group of trees, nor one method of planting, which the well-meaning citizens could, unless organized, agree upon. In some cities improvement associations, formed of the progressive and public spirited citizens, either on one street or in some particular neighborhood, have rendered most excellent service. If the city is large enough the services of a trained gardener should be secured. There are many smaller cities and towns, however, not yet able to secure the services of an expert, that are in great need of a more uniform system of street ornamentation.

"The first thing to decide is the species or species of trees to be planted. Then the trees must be such as will flourish in city conditions of smoke, gas, etc. The stem must be erect and straight, the crown compact and symmetrical. Do not select trees of untidy habits, that always shedding long leaves or fruit. The trees must not be brittle, for each tree, growing alone, gets the full force of the wind and storms. The tree to be chosen must not be one that tends to disrupt the pavement, curb, sidewalk and sewer with its roots."

DIVORCE PROCTOR IS KANSAS CITY'S LATEST

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 25.—A "divorce proctor," whose salary is to be paid from a fund raised by the reform organizations of Kansas City, to cope with the divorce evil, is to be installed here Monday next. This office was established as a result of criticism of the divorce machinery of this county. Mismatched persons, taking advantage of it, have come to Kansas City from various points and have been granted separations on slight pretext and after a short residence. The proctor will have power to summon witnesses, to go into other states and take depositions and to cross-examine witnesses at the trial of persons who seek legal separations. Judges, attorneys and the reform leaders interested predict the office will become general in the country. The Kansas Bar association has under consideration a plan to appoint proctors in the large cities of that state. The establishment of the office was suggested by Judge Thomas J. Seeborn and approved by the other seven circuit judges of Jackson county, Missouri, before whom divorce trials are held here. When an effort to name a proctor was made, however, the county commissioner held that the court could not legally make the appointment. Outside forces then took up the question. In the last year the ratio of divorces to marriages in this city was one to four. Fifty divorces were granted in one day at the last term of court and 74 suits were filed on another day.

CROWLEY ESTATE IS INCREASED IN VALUE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The estate of Patrick Crowley, late chief of police of San Francisco, was increased in value from $5170 to $6120 in Judge Hogan's court this morning. Two weeks ago there was an auction sale of the property, consisting of forty-one lots on San Bruno road. Today when the matter came up for final settlement there was more bidding and almost a thousand dollars in addition was realized. The heirs are daughters of the decedent, Edith Lyon, Mary Jane Amthlett, Elizabeth Crowley and Kate Hayes Crowley.

CARPENTERS RE-ENTER THE BUILDING TRADES

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 25.—Because the present convention of the American Federation of Labor has granted the United Brotherhood of Carpenters everything it has asked in the matter of compulsory amalgamation, the organization, with a membership of 200,000, today agreed to re-enter the building trades department and abide by its rulings.

CAPITAL BELLE TO BE BRIDE OF A BOSTONIAN

MISS MARY SOUTHERLAND.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 25.—Miss Mary Southerland, one of the prettiest girls in Washington, is to be married in January to Lewis Bacon of Boston. Miss Southerland is a leader of the younger set and an intimate friend of Helen Taft. She is a daughter of Admiral and Mrs. Southerland. Bacon is a son of Mrs. Francis B. Bacon of Boston and is a stockbroker.

AT 81 YEARS HE HANDLES HORSES

Lucien M. Lindsey Prepares Campaigner, Padishan, for Circuit.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 25.—Lucien M. Lindsey of Spokane, contemporary of Deke and Span in their greatest days and oldest active driver in the world, is at work preparing his campaigner, Padishan, to cover the western circuit in 1912. He is 81 years old and has handled trotting and pacing horses for more than a half century in various parts of America. He holds several records. Lucien is a native of Illinois, born in Cook county in 1830. When nine years of age his parents moved to Iowa, where he remained 10 years, going to the Oregon country in 1849, during the gold excitement on the California coast. Twelve years afterward he moved to Boise, which was then part of Washington. Eph Maynard, driven by Lindsey at Walla Walla, Wash., in 1862, made followers of the trotting world sit up when the animal stepped a mile in 2:52, afterward going a mile in 2:40, equalling the mark set by Dexter at Dexter Park. In the stock yards district of Chicago, following the fire in 1871, Eph Maynard made his mark in 1872, and the time was a record in Oregon for years. Lindsey also drove "Parrot" a mile in 2:30, a new record for Oregon, which was made in the ninth heat of a four-horse race. The veteran had charge of the Reed and Ladd stock farm at Reedville for a number of years and raised Jane L., a trotter that cleaned up everything on the coast and set a mark of 2:19 1/4 in 1884. He has been on the circuit every year since then and despite his age he declares he is good for from 10 to 15 years. His last race this season was at Colfax, Wash., less than five weeks ago. Lindsey is in good health and is as active as a man half his age. He ascribes his strength to keeping regular hours and clean living and following the teachings of the Golden Rule.

JOHN W. HILL FACES ANOTHER ACCUSATION

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—John W. Hill, the man who posed as a victim of amnesia and who later broke down and confessed himself a faker, is accused of an additional crime in a communication received by Detective McGrath today. Mrs. John Bradley, of 1207 Febora street, Los Angeles, declares that she and her husband endorsed a check for Hill for $653 and was forced to make it good and were fleeced of all the money they had.

come

see our 13th street windows this week-- come today if you can, we have a Thanksgiving display that will interest you

A Hundred Styles to Show You
$6.10 up to $125

BUY NOW—PAY LATER

Variety—the largest Price—the lowest

BUY NOW—
PAY LATER

Do not prejudice the quality of this Table by the low price. You will be surprised at its quality and workmanship

Solid oak, 6-foot extension Table—well made and nicely finished, only $19.75

$7.50

We Trust You Privately

It is not necessary for you to pay cash. You may pick out what you want and pay as you can spare it. Your credit is good. Select now and pay after New Years.

Pick Out Your Christmas Gifts Now

Free, In 34 Days

From today we give away the $5000 Bungalow located in Piedmont. —got a ticket?

Room-Size
Axminster
Rugs

In a variety of colors—the biggest Rug value in all California. Size 8:3x10:6 $17.00

Free Rent Dep't
Main Floor
Left of Entrance

Largest Stove Department in Oakland

Air Tight Heater $1.35

We are showing two of the best Coal Heaters for grates on the market. Ask to see them.

The Art Breuner STEEL RANGE

Bears the Breuner trade mark, which is a guarantee of quality. Bakes evenly top and bottom, economical in the use of fuel, burns wood or coal. A Range that gives satisfactory service at a minimum cost. Has top warming oven as shown in cut. Body made of vulcanized steel. Finished Wellsville steel, nickel-plated trimmings, interchangeable key plate section, always insuring a smooth, even flat top.

$39 to $55 according to size of oven

Drapery Department
Main Floor, right of entrance. Drop in and see our New Holiday Drapes and Curtains. Scores of pretty things to show you.

Model
Set up and water coil connected ready for use for only $32.75

Breuner's - Oakland
13th & Franklin Streets

MILLIONS OF TONS SAVED BY WATER

Coal Not Used and the Scenic Beauty Not Hurt by Harnessing Niagara.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 25.—In view of the widespread movement for the conservation of natural resources, some figures given out by the commerce commission of this city about power development along the Niagara river are significant. By the use of only the excess flow of water—without damage to the appearance of the falls—power equivalent to that produced by 6,700,000 tons of coal is turned out every year on the Niagara river. As 6,700,000 tons of coal, at the price prevailing here, would cost about $18,959,000, the utilization by the water for power represents an annual saving of that amount of money. The quantity of water that can be used for power is limited by law and international treaty, so that there is no danger of damage to the scenic beauty of Niagara. The restrictions are such that only a very small proportion of the total flow can be used. The power concerns are also co-operating with the Canadian and New York state governments to make and keep the shore lines beautiful. Of course it is out of the question that the nation will ever permit Niagara's waters to be converted into electricity up to a point where the scenic grandeur of the falls would be affected. But a calculation of the potential energy of this great cataract is illuminating as to the vast water power wealth now going to waste in this country. In the cost of Niagara's coal that could be saved the total amount of water running over the falls represents an annual flood of $203,148,000 and a yearly consumption of 71,280,000 tons of coal. In a period of ten years the total power of Niagara would be worth $2,031,480,000.

JEWISH WOMEN TO AID BENEFIT

Members of B'nai B'rith Auxiliary Will Give Helping Hand.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Prominent Jewish clubwomen, members of the two San Francisco ladies' auxiliaries of the Order B'nai B'rith, are giving a helping hand to the professional vaudeville performance which will be given Sunday evening, December 3, in the Columbia theater, San Francisco, to raise funds for the installing of a swimming tank in the new B'nai B'rith building. In a body, members of Columbia Auxiliary No. 1 and Modin Auxiliary No. 41, Daughters of the Covenant, who are affiliated with B'nai B'rith, are boosting for the performance and aiding in the sale of tickets. Arrangements for the affair have been concluded by the committee in charge and it is predicted that when the curtain rises for the performance the playhouse will be crowded to the doors. The best talent obtainable has been engaged for the occasion and several surprises in the way of novel acts are promised. A feature of the affair will be a souvenir program to be distributed to those who attend the performance. This will contain interesting information concerning the work and ideals of the B'nai B'rith lodges and will be illustrated with half-tones showing members of the gymnastion classes at practice. On committee of fifty, representing the ten local B'nai B'rith lodges of San Francisco has full charge of the affair. Tickets are being sold at 50 cents, $1 and $1.50. Beginning Monday morning, November 27, tickets may be exchanged at the theater box office for seats.

White Sewing Machine

O. 1122 PHONES Home A-3112

The machines used in the Oakland Schools are the White Rotary. New Machines Sold on Easy Payments. Liberal Discounts for Cash. Good drop machines as cheap as... $8.00 Wilcox & Gibbs... 12.00 Latest Singer Drop-Head... 14.00 Wheeler & Wilson... 15.00 White Rotaries from... 20.00 Box top machines from two dollars up with all attachments. All machines cash or time. Renting Specialty.

White Sewing Machine Co.
470 11TH ST., OAKLAND.

ATTENTION
NEGLECT OF TEETH
MEANS POOR HEALTH
SPECIAL PRICES UNTIL NOVEMBER 31
PLATES, $5.00. CROWNS, $4.00
BRIDGE WORK, $4.00. FILLINGS, 50c up

White Cross Dental Parlors
555 Broadway, Cor 7th St., over
Osgood's Drug Store.
Hours: 9 to 7, Sat.-day night until 8.
Sundays, 10-12. GERMAN SPOKEN.
DR. SCHOENWALD, CH. NHOON.

Extra Fine Chocolates
Extra Fine Ice Cream
Extra Fine Tamales
Extra Fine Hot Drinks

FREE DELIVERY.
Call us at any time, and place your order, and we will send you the purest, freshest and most delicious ice cream or sherbet you ever tasted.

KEY ROUTE CANDY STORE
(Key Route Arcade)
BROADWAY, Bet. 22d and 23rd
Phone Oakland 3610.

NEW MARVELOUS MICROSCOPE

Prices, $2.50, $5.00, $7.50, $10.00
Free Demonstration Daily
Sunset Photo Supply Co.
895 MARKET STREET,
SAN FRANCISCO

Here is Oakland and Los Angeles and San Diego

now you can go Santa Fe

The equipment is new — The dining cars operated on same plane as the California Limited — The Schedule fast — and Our employees are courteous. Superior service is what you Seek — and That is what we give.

Schedule

"The Angel"

Lo Oakland	4:00 pm
Lo Berkeley	4:05 pm
Ar Los Angeles	8:45 am
Ar San Diego	1:10 pm

"The Saint"

Lo San Diego	1:10 pm
Lo Los Angeles	5:15 pm
Ar Berkeley	9:44 am
Ar Oakland	9:50 am

J. J. Warner, General Agent, 1112 Broadway, Oakland Telephone: A-425; Oakland 425

go Santa Fe

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS IN THE
BIG RETURNS FOR THE MONEY

The Boys' Shop is Making a Specialty of CORDUROY PANTS

Our Boys' and Youths' Pants are made of the very best quality of corduroy in the very best way. Every pair is sold with our guarantee not to rip, which insures good wear.

Corduroy Knickerbockers; ages 3 to 17 years ..... 95c

Corduroy Long Pants for every-day wear ..... $1.95

Corduroy Youths' Pants;
college cut, peg tops ..... $2.95

We give 2x Green Trading Stamps

Money-Back Smith
WASHINGTON STREET CORNER TENTH